Memories and Ambitions

When I was a kid
I used to listen to Lyons,
Always glad that I did.
Taught Philatelic secrets
By Stevens,
Boosted along by the late C. H. Stone,
Signed into the "Big League"
By B. L. Drew.
Learned more philatelic secrets—
Thro Meyer.
For he was the right bower—
For Bartels and Power.
Then I "Farmed" out to Marks
And now
I REPRESENT MYSELF.

OTTO HAKER

SO I MUST WRITE A "BETTER BOOK" TO MAKE THE BEATEN PATH TO MY DOOR.

Tell me your philatelic troubles—so I may help you cover them up. It does not matter, whether you have 30,000 varieties, or less—or Collect Rarities, Oddities, Covers, Pairs, Strips, Blocks, or Specialize I will have something you will buy.

The Dragnets will get busy
You will never have a better chance
Your collection to enhance!

Look up my ads May 31st to June 21st and watch for others—lots more under my hat. My approvals are going to be Popular Because They are So Good.

Your move—Paper, pen and ink. Tip the keys—or call "Imogene." She is faster! I want to hear from you, write me TODAY. I thank you for the courtesy.

M. P. A. CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the M. P. A. was held in Minneapolis, August 12. The following officers were elected: Pres., J. E. Guest, Minneapolis, Minn.; Vice Pres., A. A. Jones, Herring, Ill.; Sec., H. E. Day, Newport, Vt.; Treas., Otto C. Reymann, Philadelphia, Pa.; Int. Sec., Victor Rotnem, Minneapolis, and Directors, A. W. Dunning, W. J. Slater and Elmer F. Smith.

There was a majority of votes cast for raising the dues to $1 annually and in favor of allowing Canadian directors to run as candidates for directors of the Association.

The reports of the officers showed the society to be prospering and the outlook very bright. The M. P. A. is rapidly forging ahead. Thru the management of Victor Rotnem the M. P. A. sales department has been especially attractive and prosperous.

UNITED STATES 30c, 90c 1857-60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

Regarding the imperforate 30c orange, Luff's book quotes a well known philatelist who says he bought an imperforate 30c orange at the New York post office in 1860 and that he distinctly remembers having used one on a letter containing some photographs. Luff's book also states:—"The most important evidence in favor of this stamp is furnished by a copy which was purchased by Messrs. Morgenthau & Co. in the summer of 1899. This copy is on a letter sent from New York to Lyons, France. The cancellation covers a large portion of the stamp and is dated October 2nd, 1860. The stamp has fine margins on three sides and shows a portion of the adjoining stamp at the left. It is printed in the peculiar brown-orange shade in which the imperforate copies are always found. It establishes, beyond doubt, the use of the thirty-cent stamp in imperforate condition."

Unfortunately this cover does not establish anything except that someone trimmed the perforations from a perforated 30c and used it as an "imperf", or else that the stamp was never used on that, or any other cover, at all. True, $1,000 was bid for this cover at the Worthington sale but investigation threw such doubts upon its genuineness that its sale was not consummated. Another cover in the Worthington collection bore a perforated 30c in the same shade as the alleged imperforate. The reader should always bear in mind that the 30c and 90c sheets were normally imperforate along the pane line between the 10th and 11th vertical rows so that right side edge of the stamps in the 10th row of the left pane and the left side edge of the stamps in the first row of the right pane are normally imperforate. The present writer has not noted any 30c or 90c perforated along the pane line although copies of the lower values of the series perforated along the pane line are occasionally found.

No pairs or blocks of the imperforate 90c, nor any blocks of the 24c and 30c imperforate have come to the writer's attention, but it is common knowledge that the Crawford collection contained a horizontal pair of the 24c and a similar pair of the 30c, both unused. The 30c pair was in the brownish hue characteristic of the stamps from the (first?) imperforate trial sheet. This hue is unlike that sometimes found on perforated 30c orange that have turned brownish from what is commonly called oxidation.

It may be well to mention here a fact regarding the imperforate hues that seems to have escaped attention. If the brownish hue of the imperforate 30c was the color approved for the 30c stamps why were not the stamps printed in this same hue? Are we to suppose the difference in color between the trial sheet and the printed stamps was too slight to make any material difference or, should we believe the trial sheet in brownish orange was rejected and that another trial sheet in the color of the issued perforated stamps was submitted before the orange 30c were printed for use? If there was a trial sheet printed in the orange hue of the stamps it necessarily follows that there may be orange 30c imperforates in existence distinct from the brownish orange imperforates usually accepted as being the only genuine imperforates. As a matter of fact, neither the 24c nor the 90c imperforates are in the exact shades of the stamps of those denominations.

The Steinmetz correspondence clearly indicates that there were two distinct orange colors used but does not definitely state the second color was submitted for approval in the form of an imperforate trial printing. The Toppan, Carpenter letter of July 11, 1860 says:—"We believe that the inclosed buff tint could be more advantageously printed than any hue of yellow, and cancelling such a stamp would be easy and thorough." This refers to the first buff stamp submitted for approval, and in the present writer's opinion was the brownish orange of the "genuine" imperforates. Replying to the above letter, the Department wrote on July 13th:—"It is well to adopt the buff instead of the black color for the Thirty-cent stamp, though I hope you may be able to infuse a more lively tint than appears in the specimen submitted by you." We cannot tell whether the copy submitted was a die proof or a single copy cut from a "Bargain Approvals"

Summer time is cleaning house time for many dealers. With somewhat decreased business, an opportunity is afforded to take appraisal of stock. Many slightly defective copies are put aside during the winter and these are now being added to my only approval series, known for several years as "Bargain Approvals." I have just added to this series my remaining stock of United States Colonies, mostly in excellent condition, but all prices very low.
"Bargain Approvals" are sent to those who can spend $2.00 or more at a time. If you spend less, ask for my price-list.
Reference is required from all who have not had an approval account with me within the past two years. The most satisfactory reference is the names of two stamp dealers, from whom approval selections have recently been had. [93&7 sheet. The Department's objection to the buff color was well founded, for the brown-orange stamps have a decidedly "dead" appearance.

The Toppan, Carpenter letter of July 16th refers to an entirely different hue of orange,—"We have the honor to inclose twenty stamps of the Thirty Cents rate printed in the orange buff which we purpose using henceforth if approved by the Postmaster General. You have desired a more lively tint than that submitted by us on the 11th inst., and we have found that all yellow buffs are open to the objection which arises from a want of brilliancy and effect. This orange buff prints clearly, as you may observe, and, while distinct from both the red and brown stamps, does not resemble too much the ordinary yellow tint of envelopes. It can also be readily effaced."

Replying to this letter on July 18th, the Department wrote:—"Your letter of the 16th inst., with enclosures is received. Relying much on your own good taste and judgment as to colors, the Postmaster General approves the 'orange buff' which you propose for the Thirty-cent stamps and begs you will hasten their delivery." Assuming the twenty stamps submitted for approval in orange buff were from an imperforate sheet, if any of them are still in existence, we cannot maintain that only the brownish orange 30c are genuine imperforates.

On July 30th, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. advised the Department:—"I have the honor to inform you that we will be prepared to deliver the new Thirty Cents stamps tomorrow to the amount of two hundred and eighty thousand and henceforth as the department may require." The reader will note that two weeks elapsed from the date when the twenty stamps in orange buff were submitted to the time when the first printing of 30c stamps for regular issue was ready. Such a lapse of time would indicate there were no orange buff 30c printed for regular issue until after the approval of the twenty trial prints on July 18th, and that the twenty "stamps" submitted were in fact ungummed imperforate—color trials only.

A proof impression from the 90c die was submitted for approval on July 9, 1860. On July 11th, the engravers were asked to make certain changes in it, among others to introduce prominently the figures "90". On July 13th, the Department withdrew objections to the design and wrote,—"The black will not do for the Ninety-cent stamp. Can you not prepare a delicate pink which would look well, and be at once distinguishable from all other colors in use?" On July 14th, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. advised the Department:—"We will endeavor to produce a pink such as you recommend for the Ninety-cent stamp. * * * A plate shall be prepared at once and samples of colors submitted." And on July 30th they wrote:—"We have been earnestly endeavoring to obtain a pink tint for the Ninety Cents and trust to be able to forward you tomorrow a satisfactory sample. This color is exceedingly difficult to get to print well." This was followed two days later by a letter in which they said:—"We have the honor to inclose samples of colors marked from No. 1 to No. 9 inclusive. * * * We have spared no effort to produce a good pink and Nos. 1 and 2 are the best obtained. You will observe that these light red colors do not give the effect which a deeper tint will present. We suggest Nos. 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 as most worthy of examination. No. 7 is the handsomest of them all and gives the most decided effect to the engraving. Though a blue, it differs considerably in appearance from the One-cent stamp, while the form and character of the stamp itself are utterly distinct."

On August 3rd the Department replied:—"Your letter of 1st inst., enclosing samples of colors for the Ninety-cent stamps is received. Yielding to your suggestion, the Postmaster General adopts the blue color." Replying again on August 4th, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. wrote:—"We are pleased to learn the Postmaster General has adopted the blue color for the Ninety-cent stamps. In our opinion it is preferable to all the others.* * * We will be prepared to furnish about 300,000 Ninety Cents stamps on the 13th inst."

Luff gives the dates of issue of the 30c orange and the 90c blue as August 12th and August 13, 1860, respectively. On August 2nd a letter from the Post Office Department to John A. Dix, postmaster at New York, states:—"I have directed 10,000 of the Thirty-cent stamps to be sent to your office. The Ninety-Cent stamps will be ready in a few days. Please inform me what number of the latter you desire to be supplied with." On the same day a similar letter was sent to seven other cities; the quantities of 30c stamps ordered sent to each being 8,000 to Philadelphia and 5,000 each to Cincinnati, St. Louis, New Orleans, Boston, Baltimore and Chicago. This indicates the date of issue of the 30c to have been about August 3rd and of the 90c about August 13, 1860.

The reprinted 30c and 90c of 1875 were made from the original plates containing 200 subjects and can readily be identified from the originals by the perforation—12 instead of 15. The 90c is a fairly good match for the shade of the original stamps but the reprinted 30c is quite yellow and not like the 1860 printing. Being printed from the original plates, all the varieties found on the stamps occur also on the reprints. Ten thousand of each value were reprinted but only 480 of the 30c and 454 of the 90c were sold.

In conclusion, the writer of this article wishes to thank Mr. Steinmetz and Mr. Luff for their courtesy in permitting him to draw so freely from their material and to express his gratitude to all other collectors and dealers for their interest and kindness in loaning stamps and other data for use in preparing the articles on these two greatly beloved stamps. If the articles prove of help to the beginner in philately, to the advanced collector, or to the United States specialist, the writer will feel amply rewarded for the time and labor expended upon them.

THE JAPAN PEACE STAMPS.

We have already chronicled the new set of Japan peace stamps, but a letter from R. Yokohori gives us some information worth using. The design for the 1½ and 4 sen was executed by Somei Yuki and the one for the 3 and 10 sen by Saburosuke Okada. The stamps were all printed at the Government Printing Bureau on white unwatermarked paper, being perforated 12½ for the 1½ and 4 sen and 13½x13 for the 3 and 10 sen.

Our correspondent wishes to have our impartial criticism of this set. We have no criticism to offer, in fact we have already described it as a very beautiful production. The stamps are a distinct contribution to the art in stamp collecting.

Reference has been made to the special cancellation stamp and this will be used only during the month of July and be applied to matter only upon special request of the senders.

READY TO RESUME

Having enjoyed the hospitality of the members of the St. Louis Philatelic Society who entertained the Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society, we are now ready to resume business as stated in our last advertisement. There were no bargains or good old U. S. to be picked up on our trip. Everybody wants to buy them and no one has any for Sale. This state of affairs means that we will have to watch the Auction Sales and replenish our stock. Our next Sale will be soon. If you do not receive our catalogs regularly, "BETTER GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

CONVENTION AFTERMATH.

(Editorial Crowded Out Last Week.)

The city of Providence, Rhode Island, was selected as the place for the next convention with unanimous approval. Mr. A. B. Slater, Providence, in behalf of the local society of his city, tendered the invitation and no other city was named seriously. Here, let it be said that any misgivings that may have been held heretofore at the wisdom of selecting St. Louis because of its weather in August gave way to surprise at the delightful conditions that prevailed. In fact, the weather certainly was of the best brand and could not have been more pleasant. It would be ungrateful not to express the thanks of the delegates at the varied entertainment by the St. Louis hosts. So satisfactory were the pleasures of the days and nights that the visitors while partaking of the entertainment, perhaps as a matter of course, were impressed by the intelligent capacity of the St. Louisans as dispensers of hospitality. In addition to the scheduled events of the programme, there were surprises of happy kind interspersed with the advertised features. Too, personal attention was given the strangers to an extent that made them feel that they were imposing on good nature; and the votes of thanks to the St. Louis society and the ladies who welcomed the visiting feminine circle were never more heartily carried. On Monday, the out-of-town members registered as they arrived and met the St. Louis collectors. They were given a handsome badge on which a metal replica of the twenty-cent St. Louis provisional was the pendant; and programmes were distributed that showed reproductions of Plates I, II and III of the St. Louis "bear" stamps. Tuesday afternoon, automobiles were at the disposal of members to see the attractions of St. Louis, not forgetting a visit to the "Bevo" plant where many had their first introduction to this temperance drink. At night, the members foregathered at the Fashion Show at Forest Park in the beautiful municipal open-air theatre of St. Louis. The crowning event, in some respects, was the all-day boat ride on the Mississippi River on the steamer Saint Paul. The business sessions on the boats certainly were productive of results. The same night, an illustrated lecture on "The Charm of Stamp Collecting" and "What Philately Teaches" was given by Mr. Henry A. Diamant. The spacious hall was crowded and 630 persons gave attentive ear and eye to the pictures and the remarks of Mr. Diamant and of this number, 420 were adults. A more receptive audience would have been hard to find and each of those present carried away a souvenir of a packet of stamps. The auction sale was held later, with Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer on the rostrum, but it was impossible to complete the sale that evening and a second session of the sale was held the following afternoon. The climax of the entertainment was the banquet at the Planters' Hotel on Thursday evening, presided over by Mr. Diamant. As "extras" he had engaged a number of clever cabaret performers and he presented each of the speakers at his table, a handsome silver medal. Messrs. Wolsieffer, Hatfield, Severn, Davis, Scott and Slater were the recipients. At a seemly hour, the banquet was adjourned and the visiting members began to make their reluctant adieux to their St. Louis associates, who for a long time will be remembered for their goodness. Saint Louis' star in the philatelic firmament shines forth more brightly than ever before, so say we all.

THE COVER FOR WHOLE No. 1500.

The cover for whole number 1500 will be a philatelic treat. The design will consist of portions of—we came near naming the number of stamps but this detail must be worked out by you. Before us lies the author's sketch and all the stamps are illustrated in Scott's Standard Catalog with one exception, the stamp taken for the central feature—a U. S. stamp and easy to name.

For the ten best solutions we shall give copies of Poole's completed Dictionary. Prints of the design are now obtainable and will be sent anyone who will send us postage to cover sending.

When you send in your answer, give the countries alphabetically and use Scott's A6 or A12, as the case may be, in naming the stamps. We want the replies uniform. Who will get on the honor roll?

EDITORIAL.

Effects—Echoes of the recent convention of the American Philatelic Society convention at St. Louis are heard and the publicity that has resulted from the meeting is still in circulation. Mr. H. A. Diamant says: "I was astonished to receive about ten or twelve letters from points in Arkansas and Kansas. From the tone of the letters I infer that the Sunday Republic's article and the news items of last week were reprinted in country papers." Plans for the publicity campaign by the A. P. S. are being formulated and it will not be long before practical results are evolved. By-the-way, in one of the schedules of "coming conventions" in a St. Louis hand-book, the American Philatelic Society was named as intending to hold "a convention of 9 stamp collectors." Just how the 9 was arrived at puzzled the experts on typographical errors.

Arrivals—The new playing card stamps, with no denomination expressed, which comes in the category of "tax-paids", has made its appearance but there has been a provisional playing card stamp, the "7" black surcharge with the additional overprint, "8 Cts." in red, which comes both normal and inverted. Mr. J. P. Coveleski, Ancon, Canal Zone, sends a new commemorative issue of Panama: "The stamp bears a view of the historical ruins of an old church that stands to-day, the 'Catedral de la Antigua Panama.' The stamps are issued in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the founding of old Panama City, Aug. 15th, 1519, which was destroyed by Morgan, the buccaneer, in 1671. The celebration takes place this day, Aug. 15th, 1919, throughout the Republic of Panama; and the stamps are not to be used on mail addressed outside of Panama. There are only 50,000 stamps of this issue which will continue for thirty days, when any remainders will be destroyed. Only five sheets or five hundred stamps will be sold to each person, upon a written request to the postmaster, Panama City, R. P." The stamp, bi-colored, orange and black, is surcharged in blue, "1519—1919. 2 Centesimos," and its original denomination is 2½c. Dr. C. W. Hennan, commenting on the Federalsburg, Md., precanceled envelopes, shows envelopes from Ritzville, Washington, with various precancellations.

Problem—A question of conduct has been presented by an esteemed reader who as a "seeker after truth," as he styles himself quite properly, turns his lantern on our columns. He knows that this Pilaster of Probity never trifles with the truth. "What, never? Well, hardly ever." He writes: "As a 'seeker after truth' I am impelled to ask the opinion not only of the editor of the collectors' 'guide, counsellor and friend,' but also that of such of its readers—both clerical and lay—as care to voice their opinions upon the following question. (The consensus of opinion, if followed, may save more than one 'brand from the burning.') This is the question: We will suppose a collector to have received from his post office a package requiring postage of (say) $6.42, the amount being made up by a $5, two 50 cent, a 30 cent, a 10 cent and two 1 cent stamps. The last four stamps are on the back of the address tag and the first three upon the face of the tag. The stamps on the back of the tag are properly canceled but the five dollar stamp and the two fifty cent stamps have entirely escaped cancellation. In fact they are 'mint' except for being stuck on the tag. Is the collector ethically justified in taking these uncanceled stamps and using them for postage? If not, is he ethically justified in offering them for sale as 'unused but without gum?' It is said that there are two sides to every question and I believe that this one is no exception to the rule. I know a man whom I would trust with my knife, my wife or my life and this man feels perfectly justified in using for postage or selling as unused stamps which he has every reason to know have already done postal duty but have escaped cancellation." We know that the government considers the stamp that has paid postage and not been canceled as one that may not be used again and we suppose would prosecute the one who wilfully would use an unmarked stamp the second time. If we had to answer the questions on the run, we should say no to the first and yes to the second. The first contemplates an unlawful act while "unused without gum" as a philatelic description is not misleading to many of us. The collector is concerned merely in the fact that the surface of the stamp is not marred and that the original gum is missing from the back.

View—By request:—Observations on the character of certain stamps out of the beaten track of U. S. issues are sometimes of a nature to make the thinking collector pause to wonder if any information about them that may be unfavorable is suppressed. Occasionally, the report is received that the existence of fancy varieties and experimental asides is due to the activity of some one who had influence with this or that bank note company. Different of the essays, for want of a better term, have been tainted with the suspicion of having been the creations of some one who had access to the "works" of the company. Yet, who will say, flat-footedly that these things are to be rejected because of their suspected origin. Hints are given from time to time that collectors should hesitate to pay high prices for these varieties; and the warning may be all right. However, the main division of collectors gives little attention to these ornaments and for that reason is not an investor in them; so far as they are concerned the place for the stamps in question is in the reference works. The collectors who buy such stamps usually know just what they are buying; and are even better informed, perhaps, about them than the seller. Any damage done by the kind of specimens in mind is not great. If it could be announced with authority that some of the stamps were goats, the effect would be of benefit but it seems impossible to get a writer to publicly affirm that some of the stamps are unworthy or recognition. In an advanced circle of students, here and there, a good line on the standing of the different emissions of the kind may be had but to our knowledge there is no one who will give specific information about them backed by definite details.

Point—In discussing the prices on U. S. stamps, Mr. David Plotz thinks that the element of finds should be considered and we suppose that this angle is not to be ignored. Yet those who have seen the manner in which "finds," etc., have been easily absorbed with little or no effect on the general market do not attach much importance to this factor. In fact, a dealer has just informed us that a big find in any desirable U. S. stamps stimulates business in the stamps at prices that are firmer than usual instead of softer.

NEW QUEBEC REVENUE STAMPS.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

Through the courtesy of Mr. J. F. Regin, Comptroller of Provincial Revenue, I have received information concerning a new issue of revenue stamps for the Province of Quebec.

The new labels are "Prohibition" stamps, and of course are used in connection with the sale of liquors. These stamps are strikingly handsome, and are of large size, 43x46 mm. The value appears in the upper and lower corners, and also in the centre, where it appears in a colorless circle 16 mm. in diameter. Above in Roman caps, is Province Quebec; at left, Liquor; right, Liquers; bottom, Prohibition. Background of lathe work, which is beautifully engine-turned.

1c orange.	50c Roman sepia.
2c mineral-blue.	$1 foliage green.
5c Mars orange.	$5 dark green.
10c Mars yellow.	$10 dark violet.
20c red-orange.

Colors from the "Color Nomenclature". The stamps were engraved and printed by the British American Bank Note Company. The central background of the dollar values is obliquely shaded, instead of colorless, as in the cent values, and in the case of the 1c stamp, the central numeral is underscored. The date of issue was May 1, 1919.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—"On the principle that 'every knock is a boost' may I ask whether the publishers of the Standard Catalogue consider it a wise policy to price in used condition such stamps as Hayti No. 219-227, 244 and 247? Also, does not the foot note after No. 218 apply equally as well to No. 143-154, and if so, why give special importance to the varieties of surcharge of the former and not to the latter? Also, what is the idea in pricing Nicaragua No. 300 and 301 used both at 5 cents, or No. 354 used, higher than either No. 352 or 353 used? Of course the pricing of a catalogue is at best a difficult matter, but why not compare with French and English Catalogues and eliminate some of these glaring inconsistencies and inaccuracies?"—A. W. DUNNING.

—R. L.—Your freak envelopes are worth about 10c each.

—J. A. B.—If in the name of "efficiency" you believe it would be well to shorten the firm name of the Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co., how would it do to make your check out to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS? This would be satisfactory to us.

—For real fairness of spirit, we commend you to the Western Stamp Co. of Omaha, Neb. Upon receipt of some ad copy from a company of the same name in Minneapolis, we consulted the Omaha firm as to their attitude in connection with our acceptance of the Minneapolis business. Mr. Whipple, the manager, replied, "So long as the firm is doing business in another state, we shall not attempt to dictate to you in this matter."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from A. S. Davenport, H. Elmer Crede.

—Max Levy informs us that Uruguay will soon issue (if it has not already done so) some peace stamps. One of them will bear the portrait of President Wilson, another President Poincare, while the kings of Belgium, England and Italy will also be featured.

—B. A. Turner, Greensburg, Ind., can get no replies to letters sent Fern Hawk, York, Pa. H. C. Naschke, Austin, Texas, is similarly situated as regards J. W. Hagen, Racine, Wis. L. W. Bealer has now secured satisfactory returns from Ray Haas, Indianapolis, Ind.

This Coming Season

will probably be the busiest I have ever had. Choice early United States are in great demand and I shall have all that one man can do in distributing them to my customers.

If you have favored me with a share of your patronage in the past be assured that your wants will not be overlooked. If you are a new customer do not expect to receive service ahead of those who have done business with me for years, but let me know what you wish and I will endeavor to please you also.

But,—if you are a serious collector and desire to obtain exceptional items at reasonable prices don't write to me on a postal card. If your business is not important enough for you to write me a real letter about it, it isn't important enough to receive my attention. I am always glad to submit anything I have to responsible collectors on approval, and if the stamps or the prices do not meet with your approval I do not expect nor want you to purchase.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our notes of some weeks back we mentioned the fact that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing had been experimenting with a new perforating machine and at that time one of our correspondents informed us that stamps of a different perforation from the normal 11 would possibly be issued. We wrote the Bureau and they informed us that it was true that they were experimenting but that none would be issued other than those perforated 11. It will be recalled that at the time we questioned their statement and wondered why the Bureau would scrap perfectly good stamps perforated on this new machine just because the perforations were of a different gauge.

Mr. H. W. Porter now sends us for our inspection panes from plates Nos. 10032 and 10052 of the 1c offset print perforated 12½. These must have, of course, been printed previous to March last, for it was the latter part of that month that the offset method of printing was discontinued. Mr. Porter states that these sheets come mixed in packages with the same stamps perforated 11. All of these seem to have been placed on sale in one city and Mr. Porter says the supply is not large enough to last a week providing the greater part of the unopened packages contain stamps with this 12½ perforation. The sheets so far noted are Nos. 9983, 9993, 10001, 10032 and 10052. We have asked the Bureau for information relative to quantities, denominations, places of issue, etc., and will give full notes as soon as received. In the meantime we can only advise our many correspondents to keep a sharp lookout, for almost anything is likely to be turned out from Washington.

1919, Offset print, Unwatermarked, Perf. 12½.
1c dark green.

Mr. B. K. Miller also reports that he has obtained the SW pane from sheet No. 9993, which, by the way, is one of the 1600 subject plates. He advises that only 10 panes of this stamp are known so far, although we question this last statement.

The Economist Stamp Company brings our attention to another most interesting variety which they state they have located. This consists of a block from the 2c sheets of 170 rotary print, imperforated vertically and perforated 11 horizontally. Their block shows the center guide line running north and south.

In further reference to our recent chronicle wherein we questioned the existence of the 3c circular die envelope printed in green, Mr. Theo. B. Platt writes that he has located such a stamp torn from the envelope in a "bluish green" shade. Mr. P. E. Bryant also sends for our inspection a similar variety in "bluish green" and this copy positively is a changling. We must again say that until we see an undoubted specimen we must doubt its existence. If any reader has such a variety we will gladly pay registration both ways for the pleasure of seeing it and being able to say definitely that such an error exists.

While on the subject of envelopes it is of interest to mention that Mr. Francois Dessert has located the 2c circular die in a most unusual light pink shade. It seems to be almost more than a shade. Some of our envelope specialists would probably classify it as a pink.

Mr. A. C. Reukueff sends us a copy of the playing card provisional "8 cts." in red on the blue, series of 1894 stamp, recently issued by the Bureau, cancelled in three lines "8 c—R P C Co—4-1-19". He shows us a similar stamp with the latter cancellation double. These are most interesting but now that the Bureau has turned them into 8c stamps by means of a surcharge, we can hardly call the second surcharge applied by the playing card company much more than a cancellation. This was not the case, however, previous to the Bureau surcharge, for then the privately applied surcharge was the only thing about the stamp that indicated whether it was used to pay a two, seven or eight cents tax.

Under date of August 15, 1919, the office of the Third Asst. Postmaster General sends out the following notice which will be of interest to those sending to Shanghai for the recently issued surcharged series.

Washington, August 15, 1919.

1. Owing to fluctuating exchange rates for "Mexican" or local money current in Shanghai it is impossible to calculate in advance the exact cost of postage stamps surcharged "Shanghai, China", when orders are received there a month later. To avoid delay and misunderstanding it is suggested that persons ordering these stamps remit to the United States postal agent, Shanghai, domestic money orders at the rate of $5.64, the total surcharged value of the stamps, for each complete set desired. The postal agent will convert the money orders into local currency at the prevailing rate of exchange, and in addition to the full sets ordered will send other values, of denominations such as purchasers may indicate, to equal the full amount of the Mexican or local money received, less the cost of return postage and registration.

2. If full sets are not desired, the amount remitted should equal the total surcharged value of the stamps ordered.

3. International money orders or international reply coupons can not be accepted for these stamps.

4. This notice supersedes section 23, page 30, 1919 Postal Guide.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Assistant Postmaster General.

We also wish to thank Mr. W. J. Stanton for a letter of interest.

BAVARIA.—Mr. Th. Allard advises us that the Bavarian stamps will be surcharged "Freistaat Bayern".

BRAZIL.—We are advised by Miss Cora H. Fosalba that the new Brazilian official set described in the issue for July 26, is on paper horizontally watermarked CASA DA MOEDA, in sheets of 50 stamps, five horizontal lines of ten stamps each, from which 40 have from one to two and a half letters watermarked and the other 10 have no watermark, with the following exception: the eighth stamp in the top line has one "1" as control watermark. This will be very rare.

BR. SOMALILAND.—Mr. Hugo Griebert has shown us new colors of the following stamps of this colony. ½, 1, 2, 2½, 3, 4, 6, 8 and 12 annas and at the same time advises that the 2, 3 and 5 rupees have appeared.

CHILE.—We are indebted to Miss Cora H. Fosalba for the following:

"There are nine very distinctly blue colors, also many shades in the Chilian stamp No. 131, chiefly sky blue, ultramarine, bluish violet, deep blue, dark blue, slate blue and Prussian blue. In the center, there are four different portraits of General O'Higgins. The difportrait type, and the 3 öre, numeral, se tenant. These, we understand, were issued some months ago for use in automatic machines, and they are now obsolete owing to the postal rates having been increased in Denmark. As from July 1 the new rates are: post cards and local letters, 10 öre; other letters, 15 öre; registered letters, 30 öre—an increase of 3 öre in each case.—Stamp Collecting.

NYASALAND.—Mr. Hugo Griebert has shown us ½ and 1d in duller colors than heretofore.

PARAGUAY.—Miss Cora H. Fosalba gives us the following information regarding the stamps of this country:—

There are some imperforate stamps not catalogued:—All the commemorative series of 1911, except the No. 203; all the series of 1913, except Nos. 216 and 219; and the postage dues of 1914, Nos 405, 406, 407, 410 and 412.

Statistics of the stamps recently surcharged: "Habilitado-1918" on 405, 424,400; 408, 170,100; 409, 179,750; 410, 444,600; No. 410 surcharged "Habilitado—1918-5 centavos", 300,000; No. 211 surcharged "Habilitado en 0.30—1918" 1,000,000 and No. 371 surcharged "Habilitado—1918-5 cents 5" 2,450.

ST. HELENA.—Messrs. Alfred Smith & Son have shown us the new "War Tax" stamp, referred to last week. The overprinted words are left and right, respectively, of the portrait on the 1d value, below which is a large "1d." in heavy black type.—Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—Th. Allard advises us that on July 1st the postal rates were raised from 7 öre to 10 öre for post-cards and letters in local traffic and from 12 to 15 öre for other letters, weight up to 20 gram. The registered letters cost thus now 25 öre for registered letters in local traffic and 30 öre for other registered letters. The stamps of 7, 12 and 27 values are withdrawn from circulation.

Air-post.—An airpost service between Stockholm and Göteborg will be started at the end of July or in August. The postal rates are the ordinary rates plus 20 öre for express and Kr 1 for air-post postage. It is not determined if special

MR. DIAMANT REPLIES.

(The annexed communication from H. A. Diamant deals with a matter to which we referred editorially a short time ago. We publish Mr. Diamant's comment willingly but at the same time desire to maintain the position that we assumed. It is simply this:—Dealers who are members of the American Philatelic Society should be willing to accept membership in that organization as a sufficient basis for the establishment of a business relationship. If under present conditions this is not possible steps should be taken to make it possible. Every member joining our national society is investigated and the references used to gain membership in the A. P. S. should be as gilt edged as references used by collectors in securing stamps on approval.—W. O. W.)

Your editorial regarding the integrity and financial responsibility of stamp collectors who belong to the American Philatelic Society requires an answer from me.

1st:—The auction sale was not a society sale. The stamps were solicited by me and the sale advertised only to take place during Convention week.

2nd:—Twenty-eight hundred catalogues were distributed not only to the members of the American Philatelic Society but to any collector whose address I could secure through various sources.

3rd:—Owners of stamps exact prompt payment. It is business policy that care should be taken and that buyers should be financially responsible. As I undertook the work without any profit to myself for labor in cataloging and distributing, I deemed it necessary to follow the practice of other auctioneers.

I hardly think there is any need of argument over this matter. You will admit that there are members of some societies who are not prompt in paying bills, and care should be taken in admitting members to societies. I hope that your editorial will be conducive of good results and that my unintentional reflecton (if it can be so called) on the integrity of society members, will not be seriously considered by collectors unknown to each other personally or by reputation.

(ENLARGED) OF EVERY TYPE OF THE GENERAL ISSUES
In Their (Approximate) Standard Colors; INCLUDING ALSO
A Plate-Proof from an Identified Section of the Original De La Rue Electrotype of the FIVE CENTS altered to "TEN"

THIS set of fac simile DIE PROOFS, comprising every stamp of the General Issue of the CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA is intended as an advance courier to the STORY OF THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS, by AUGUST DIETZ, EDWARD S. KNAPP, GERALD S. CURTIS, H. P. ATHERTON, and WM. S. AHERN, in collaboration with the leading students and collectors of Confederates in America. The work is now in preparation. Definite announcements will appear in the press. ¶ These DIE PROOFS represent a goal achieved, a task completed, such as perhaps no one in any country ever attempted: the re-drawing, into their minutest detail of dot and line, and the re-engraving of a complete issue of lithographed, steel-plate and typographed stamps!

Price, per Set, $2.50, Postpaid.

Set, with the De la Rue Plate-Proof Autographed by FRANK BAPTIST, who printed these stamps at Archer & Daly's in 1862, $3.50.

URUGUAY.—Miss Cora H. Fosalba reports that she has found some very interesting essays, in imperforate blocks, as follows: No. 182 in bistre brown, dark slate green, gray, apple green, blue green, steel blue and rose; and No. 183 in vermilion, carmine, chocolate, steel blue, blue green, bluish gray and slate blue, all directly from plates number 1115 to 1128 engraved by the "Compania de Billetes de Banco de Buenos Aires".

Change of color in Uruguayan stamps: Number 199 purple, 200 lilac-rose, 201 apple green, 203 carmine and vermilion, 204 light yellow, 205 bluish pearl and Prussian blue, 207 chestnut and dark chocolate, 210 carmine.

VIRGIN ISLANDS.—Messrs. Bright & Son have shown us a copy of the ½d in a shade of blue-green and we understand is being printed from plate 6.

JOYOUS STAMP COLLECTORS.

The following editorial appeared in the Globe-Democrat of Aug. 21st.:

We have with us this week a convention entitled to the much-abused adjective "unique". The American Philatelic Society is in session here. It is not trying to ascertain a way to reduce the cost of living without hurting anybody. It is not peculiarly interested in the relations of capital and labor. It is not discussing the nationalization of railways and key industries. It is not concerned about the definition of intoxicating liquor. It is only indirectly concerned in the League of Nations, with or without reservations, or interpretations. Their only interest as philatelists in the peace treaty is as to the variety of stamps that the new countries put out. These philatelists are, of course, human beings and as such are interested in all matters we have mentioned. But they are not bound together by common sentiment on such questions. They are of various vocations, but it is their joyous avocation that is responsible for the society and its session. This is their common ground, and while there may be individual pride over size of collections or over the possession of especially rare stamps, there is no unseemly rivalry among them and no possibility of dissensions.

Their enthusiasm passeth the understanding of the cynical outsider, to whom any kind of stamp is merely as a yellow primrose by the river's brim. It is true that a stamp collection has its value, but no mercenary impulses move the collectors. It is a specialty far more intricate than the outsider imagines. Philatelists are not content with merely gathering the stamps of all countries. They must have samples of all stamps issued in the history of any country. They have their "first editions" also, usually in blocks of unused stamps. They collect stamps of the same denomination issued by the same country, where there are delicate differences in shades of the same general color. No doubt they have even taken advantage of the difference in quality of the paper and the character and amount of the mucilage. Some of Mr. Burleson's supposed efforts at economy in production of stamps may have been really designed to help the collectors. The old newspaper story of the careful shopper who put her finger on a particular stamp in a large sheet and asked for it may not have been a joke at all. Perhaps she was an expert.

Stamp collecting seems to be a joyous avocation, as it is certainly the most innocent imaginable. It is regrettable that more people have not a taste for it.

Who Can Help Us With the One Cent 1851?

Our work on the plates of the ONE CENT BLUE, 1851, is nearing completion; and we are willing to pay exceptional prices for further copies. PAIRS OR BETTER particularly needed.

We buy these stamps in any condition that may help us in our study but naturally prefer to pay exorbitant prices for prime copies. Those who have pieces not for sale will assist by loaning them for a short time; we pay registration both ways, of course.

Singles showing margin, center line or imprint especially desired. The one cent, perforated, 1857, is wanted, too.

WANTED, all fine U. S. previous to 1880; and we will buy entire collections.

THE STAMPS OF LIVONIA.

By JAMES F. HAMILL.

Livonia, or Lettland, is one of the many states of Russia to have declared its independence as a direct result of the war of 1914-18. The Lettish people inhabit the southern half of Livonia and all of Courland, and it was for these sections, it seems, that the stamps were issued. Of course, parts of these sections were still under the Bolshevik regime and did not use Livonian, or Lettish, stamps. They, therefore, were confined chiefly to the southern part of this region, namely, Courland, in and about the city of Libau, an important seaport and commercial center of 68,000 inhabitants on the Baltic Sea. This city was founded in 1201 by Albert, Bishop of Livonia, and has since become a thriving metropolis.

However, when this new state's boundaries are finally incorporated, they will no doubt include the great city of Riga in Livonia, which will undoubtedly become its capital. Riga has 228,000 inhabitants and is a world-famed seaport, lying directly on the commercial routes of the Baltic Sea.

The stamps thus far issued are certainly of a provisional nature and more definite issues should be expected any time, as these stamps do not cover the entire section named.

There have been five issues of stamps for this country so far, and all are of poor execution. The design for the first four issues is the same throughout, namely, an emblem of three heads of wheat within a circle enclosed in a row of wavy lines very much like the rays of the sun. This emblem rests on a spherical line and on each side is a small object representing (I presume) a leaf. Above the emblem is the word "Latvija" (Livonia), and below it the value in numerals. On each side of the value is the word "kap.", an abbreviation of the Lettish word for the Russian kopeck, the coin in use.

In the first issue, there was but one solitary value—the 5 kapeika carmine. Evidently the government was in a great hurry for postal adhesives, for the stamp was "run off" on the most available paper at hand—German field maps. Since Livonia had been under occupation by the Germans for some time, it was natural that this sort of material was available. According to Scott, this stamp was issued both imperforate and perforate 11½. In this issue, both leaves in the design have four points.

The second issue consisted of three values—5k carmine, 10k dark blue, and 15k dark green—with the same design as the first issue but re-drawn. The wheat-heads are thicker, the leaf at the lower left has five points instead of four, and there are minor changes in other parts of the design. This issue was printed on heavy, coarse paper with ruled lines, apparently writing-paper.

Three new values were added to the set in the third issue—the 20k deep orange, 35k dark brown and 50k purple, all of which retained the re-drawn design. The absence of a period after the left "kap" may be noted in the 20k orange. The colors of the 5, 10 and 15k remained unchanged. This issue was printed on thin silk paper.

The fourth and last issue of the stamps of this design brought out two new values also—the 3k violet and 75k light green. Altogether, this issue comprised eight values, all of which were printed on paper watermarked a honeycomb, and with re-drawn design.

In speaking of issues two, three and four, it might be well to state that the stamps were printed in sheets of 100 and only perforated through the center of the sheet horizontally. It will be readily seen, therefore, that the greater part of these stamps will come imperforate, while only a few will appear "part perforate 10".

Passing on to the fifth issue, we find a new design upon the stamps issued in commemoration of the liberation and freedom of Riga. There are three values—5kap red, 15kap dark green, and 35kap brown. These stamps also are poorly executed. The design, which is the same throughout, shows in the background the outline of the city, while in the foreground a male figure is depicted protecting a female figure from a serpent which is coiled about a human skull in the lower right hand corner of the stamp. These stamps likewise are imperforate and are on watermarked honeycomb paper.

Whether or not these issues served for all purposes, remains to be seen. Apparently no dues, special deliveries or express stamps have been issued yet, but as these series are most certainly of a provisional character, we may look forward any day to the appearance of a general issue for the whole Livonian State, and its subsequent issues.

EDGEWOOD 39 — DOVER 32.

Four weeks have passed since we published our last summary and the figures given below show that even though it be summertime splendid work has been done in securing new subscriptions. It will be noted that the Edgewood Stamp Co. has secured a total of 374 subscriptions in eleven months, 39 coming in during the month of August. Chas. Christensen and the Covert Stamp Co. with 96 and 95 respectively, are both likely to reach the hundred mark in the month remaining. Two months ago L. B. Dover began a campaign for new subscriptions and 32 received during August (with a total of 49) is an indication of what may be expected during the coming season. There are seven firms to whom we desire to give special credit for work done during the last month, the record including all subscriptions received up to August 29:—

COLLECTING INTEREST INTENSE.

By RICHARD SPILLANE.

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

Persons who collect all classes and kinds of postage stamps are called philatelists. Persons who collect all classes and kinds of coins are called numismatists. Unthinking persons laugh at these collectors as faddists.

There never was a time in the history of the world, perhaps, when the interest of the collectors was so intense as now. For new nations have been born as never before and new stamps are coming forth to demand their attention.

One of the department heads of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, of New York, has a stamp collection of remarkable variety. In it is a stamp of a rare issue. When Paris was besieged by the Prussians in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 the French communicated with the outside world by means of balloons. A letter sent from Paris to the father of the collector, who was in London, bore a "balloon" stamp. The balloon met disaster near the English Channel. Later some of the mail matter was picked up floating on the waves. The letter addressed to the collector's father was one of the bits retrieved. It was forwarded to him and now the son has the water-stained letter and envelope and the precious stamp.

A great difficulty school teachers have to contend with is the inattention of children. The pupil is inattentive because the subject does not interest him. Few teachers have the art of stirring the imagination of the young and making them eager to learn. Philatelists point out that children find much of interest in stamps, and that through the remarkable variety of stamps recently issued much more desire might be stirred in the young to study geography and history.

To tell a child a dozen or two dozen new nations have been created in Europe or the Near East and point to them on a map is not the same as to have a child look over a queer lot of stamps, struggle with what is printed or pictured thereon and have his curiosity aroused. Czecho-Slovakia means something if the youngster has something from there. He is likely to look at the map intently and fix Czecho-Slovakia in his mind. So too, with every other land, old and new.

At least that is the belief of philatelists. They say this has a decided value outside of school, for if we are to be

READY TO RESUME

Having enjoyed the hospitality of the members of the St. Louis Philatelic Society who entertained the Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society, we are now ready to resume business as stated in our last advertisement. There were no bargains or good old U. S. to be picked up on our trip. Everybody wants to buy them and no one has any for Sale. This state of affairs means that we will have to watch the Auction Sales and replenish our stock. Our next Sale will be soon. If you do not receive our catalogs regularly, "BETTER GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

STAMP AUCTIONS

world-trading people we must educate our children better as to the geographical divisions of the earth and the different nations and races. The trouble with the school today, they say with truth, is that teachers try to make children fit its rigid forms, instead of making the school fit the many varieties of children, so far as possible. To make the school fit the child, every garnishment or attraction that will make study of a subject more attractive, should be employed. History and geography can be made fascinating if presented properly. The stamp collection, the philatelist argues, is one "approach."

From a strictly business viewpoint the philatelist idea is worthy of notice. No nation expends so much on public education as the United States. It is not the child's fault so much as it is the fault of the system if youngsters come from school without a good groundwork of knowledge. Children are by nature inquisitive and acquisitive. The destructiveness of a child is explained not infrequently by desire to know what is inside of the thing he destroys.

It is inevitable that in the world trade to which America falls heir or develops by reason of the war, great numbers of the youngsters at school today will go to distant lands on business of one kind or other. Geography, history, languages take on new importance commercially.

UNIVERSAL SAFETY MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The first stamp of this series is an early Butler & Carpenter production, being one of the sixteen match stamps first issued in 1864. The design is quite attractive and its history rather unusual: the stamp having been issued for a Boston firm but used most extensively by another firm in New Jersey.

It is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size bearing "U" and "S" in circles in the upper corners and "1—1" in similar circles in the lower corners. Outside these circles are labels bearing the usual inscriptions, that at the bottom reading SAFETY MATCHES.

In the center is a pedestal labeled "U. S. M. Co." on which rests a lighted "lamp of learning" symbolical of the American Athens with "Boston" above it and "Mass." below the pedestal.

Regarding this stamp the Boston Book states as follows:—

Die approved, Oct. 1, 1864.
First Issued, Nov., 1864.
Last issued, Aug., 1875.
9,286,580 issued in black on old paper.
9,434,620 issued in black on silk paper.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).

"Until December 31, 1864, this company was controlled by one Jenkins; on that date it passed to Cyrus Carpenter & Co.; both of these firms were of Boston, Mass. After July, 1867, it was transferred to the Eagle Match Co. (W. L. Heazleton & Co.), of Trenton, N. J., and again, on September 27, 1868, to the firm of Hendrickson & Leigh, also of Trenton, N. J. None of these companies or individuals made any change in the die. It afterwards became the property of Leigh & Palmer and they were succeeded by H. Leigh; both of these parties, who were also of Trenton, N. J., had the die altered to suit their business."

The Boston directory for 1865 lists the Universal Safety Match Co. at Roxbury and John P. Jewett, Agent. In 1866, the same address appears with D. B. Brooks & Bro., Agents, and in 1867 Jewett is again listed as agent of the Universal Patent Safety Match Co. at Roxbury. Apparently the stamp was used in Boston less than three years and only on the old paper there. For the succeeding four years it was used on old paper in Trenton and all of the silk paper were also used in Trenton.

The firm of Hendrickson & Leigh was composed of Israel Hendrickson, Jr., and Hutchinson Leigh. They first appear in the Trenton directories as grocers in 1867-68. From 1869 to 1875 they are listed as manufacturers of matches and paper boxes on Stockton St., near Front. The brick building they occupied at 123 S. Stockton St., is still standing and even now—fifty years later—is occupied by a paper box factory.

LEIGH & PALMER.

This firm succeeded Hendrickson & Leigh about 1875 and appears in the Trenton directories for 1876 and 1877 making paper boxes and matches at the Stockton St. factory. It consisted of Hutchinson Leigh and Joshua K. Palmer who is again listed in the directories for 1878 and 1879, but without occupation. His connection with the business probably lasted less than two years. The Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Jan. 28, 1876.
First issued, Feb., 1876.
Last issued, prior to Oct. 1, 1880.
3,139,500 issued in black on silk, pink and watermarked paper.

The Leigh & Palmer stamps were printed from a new plate made by altering the old U. S. M. Co. die. The address is changed to Trenton, N. J.; "U. S. M. Co." is erased from the pedestal; LEIGH & PALMER replaces SAFETY MATCHES and there are other minor changes. The new plate was made by the National Bank Note Co. and the stamps on silk and pink paper were printed by that concern. They may also have printed some or all of the stamps on watermarked paper. There are no definite indications that the American Bank Note Co. printed any of these stamps.

H. LEIGH.

Mr. Hutchinson Leigh first appears as sole owner of the paper box and match factory on Stockton St., Trenton, in the directory for 1878 and is listed as a match manufacturer at that address as late as 1887. His stamp is from a new plate made by altering the Leigh & Palmer die by changing the firm name and filling in the spaces at the ends of the label containing H. LEIGH with small ornaments. The plate was made by the Bureau and all the H. Leigh stamps were printed there. The Boston Book states:—

First issued, June 21, 1881.
Last issued, May 31, 1883.
7,560,000 issued in blue on watermarked paper.

The stamp runs remarkably close in shade and perhaps the entire issue of 36,000 sheets represented only a few printings.

EDITORIAL.

Distributed—The statement that was made some months ago that a perforation of 12½ was being tried experimentally on a batch of one cent stamps will be remembered by some of our readers. At the time, the department admitted that a number of sheets had been run through a machine that gauged 12½ but added that a perforation of this size had not been adopted. The one cent surface print has been sent out in plate-number 10052 that we know of, with the 12½ perforation. Previously, we remarked that a comparatively large number of the one-cent stamps had been perforated according to the new gauge and that it was probable that they would be supplied to post offices. We said, too, that one or more denominations either of the documentary or proprietary stamps of the new issue had also been perforated likewise. If the 12½ perforation comes later as a standard, we suppose that the early plate-number would have to be depended upon to show the "experimental" sheets.

Advised—In reference to the "I Polska Wystawa Marek" translation that was commented upon in recent issues, Mr. C. Stopa, Chicago, gives a few particulars. He says that instead of "First Polish Issue of Stamps," as one correspondent had it, the inscription is: "First Polish Exhibition of Stamps," as referring to the commemorative set of the Polish congress of 1919. Mr. Stopa thinks that it is possible that some of the stamps that are coming so prolifically from abroad may not have the full national sanction that the simon-pure postage stamp should have and that in consequence, the inscription is more important in some cases as proving governmental authorization than might be thought at first. Private enterprise could take the guise of the national product on the surface, but in reality the governmental monopoly may not be infringed upon, postally.

Succession—An old friend writes: "I have a nephew attending the University in California and am gradually allowing my mantle of philately to fall upon his younger shoulders. He appears to be a real collector and it has been quite a pleasure to send him, gradually, as I am doing periodically, big bunches of the mass of duplicates that I possessed." It gratifies us to know that there are old collectors who set about systematically to inculcate a liking for philately on the part of the younger folks by actually giving away quantities of their duplicates that, we know, are of a grade that is worth having.

Missed—Several subjects that called for comment in connection with the recent convention of the American Philatelic Society come to mind. The aerial flight from St. Louis to Chicago that was scheduled for August 19th, 1919, as a philatelic feature was postponed, much to the regret of the committee. That the plans could not be put into practice certainly may not be attributed to any lapse on the part of St. Louis. The menu of the banquet held at the Planters' Hotel, August 21st, was printed on the reverse side of a sheet that bore an impression from the "revamped" plate of the five cent, altered to ten cent, Confederate 1862, containing seventy subjects. The menu was a philatelic conception and cleverly handled stamp collecting terms in a gastronomic way.

Aid—We now have an opportunity to speak further of the monumental labors of Mr. Aug. Dietz of Richmond, Virginia, and his co-workers on the forthcoming history of the stamps of the Confederacy. A word or two was promised several weeks ago but the convention news had precedence over all else. We are much interested in the coming event that is so tantalizingly casting its shadow before and through the consideration of Mr. Dietz, we are enabled to tell of the book from its inception. Mr. Dietz says: "When I first took up this work my intention was to keep within the limited scope of telling the story of the Confederate Postage Stamp as I gathered the threads from the reminiscent chats of the two men under whom I served 'my apprenticeship.' The thing 'grew on me' as I proceeded and gripped me with irresistable force to gather all the fragments and build something worth while and that would last,—far beyond an hour's reading. The end of the trail is in sight but still there are fragments I haven't found, perhaps not vitally necessary to the whole, but worth having. The idea suggested itself that some of these fragments might be brought to light and incorporated in the structure and that collectors could be called upon to tell whatever they may know about Confederates,—authenticated, documented dates and facts." We know that we have among our readers a number of keen students of the stamps and affairs of the Confederacy and we feel confident that they will listen responsively to Mr. Dietz' words. The thought of being helpful in the production of a great work is compensation indeed to the constructive mind. We shall follow with interest the finishing touches to the book of the year whose production is now assured.

Remedy—A reader, Mr. Edward J. Andelfinger, New York, read of the disastrous experience of Mr. Albert J. Moore, Kennebunk, Maine, who suffered the loss of a package of postage stamps which are called third class matter by the department, through the oversight of his local postmaster in insuring them. We said that Mr. Moore probably could not obtain redress in view of the ruling of the authorities. Our correspondent says: "Referring to your editorial under the heading, 'Tough,' in the issue of August 16th, may I be allowed to suggest that there is a remedy in a case of this kind. The claimant may sue the postmaster personally for the loss occasioned by the latter's ignorance."

Efficiency—From Mr. Raymond S. Williams, Hartford, Conn., we have the following modern instance which he says is a fact: "In calling at the West Hartford Post Office, I placed a letter on the counter and asked for ten one-cent stamps, whereupon the postmaster very kindly said: 'Are you going to post that letter?' Upon my answering in the affirmative, he said: 'Well, I will give you eight one-cent stamps and one two-cent stamp and please put the two-cent stamp on the envelope, as, if you place the two cent stamps on the envelope, I shall have to use my stamp twice in cancellation.'" Raise the P. M.'s salary.

Welcome—When a back-slider returns, either penitent at the thought of his philatelic lapses or brazen over his absence, there is much rejoicing in the philatelic vine-yard and copious libations of grape-juice are poured out. Now comes S. W. Hacker, editor of the Peru, Nebraska, Pointer, who writes: "I have done nothing with stamps for the past twenty years but have always kept up my interest therein. Lately, I have become actively engaged in collecting again but find I am lost without some literature on the subject." All will be forgiven if editor Hacker will run philatelic fillers in his newspaper as occasion allows. In passing, it is to be said that there are a number of editors on our list and now that we are all pulling to reach the golden shores of philately, we ask that they help us in general publicity work. Even the most conscientious editor must admit that stamp items may be dressed up attractively for the public eye.

TELEGRAPH STAMPS

Since the taking over, by the Government, of the Telegraph Companies, Telegraph Stamps have become increasingly popular.

We offer for sale, in its entirety, the finest collection of Telegraph Stamps in existence. This collection has been many years in the making, and contains many rare and unique pieces.

All issues are well represented by singles, pairs, blocks and complete booklets in many cases. There are also many rare unlisted varieties.

"NEUROPE" STAMPS.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

During the war stamps issued by our navies and armies in occupation rose to fabulous prices on the stamp market, and they are still rising.

A couple of British occupation stamps for Baghdad, sold at the post office there for 3 annas in September 1917, are worth to-day $750. Two stamps issued by our troops in Togo at $2 face value could not be bought at $2500. today—there would be a good demand at that price, but there is no supply. Only two of each are known, and the two fortunate possessors (the King owns a specimen of each) are not likely to sell.

Since the armistice a new period of remarkable stamp issues has begun—stamps that reflect the new political and general conditions leading up to and establishing peace conditions.

The New Europe, or "Neurope," stamps, to use a word which I coined some months ago and which has been generally adopted to describe this group of stamps, already include a number of rarities. Here is an Austrian stamp of 10 kronen (less than 50c at the present rate of exchange) which was overprinted by the Italian at Trieste in November last. Its price to-day is $750, while the similar 10 kronen stamp overprinted at Trent is worth more than double that amount. Of the latter only eleven authentic copies are known and most, if not all, of these are now in the collections of high personages or of Italian museums.

* * * * *

The value of many "Neurope" stamps has risen 100 to 1,000 per cent. in six months. For example, the Ukrainians during their brief occupation of Stanislau, the capital of Galicia, surcharged the Austrian stamps they captured there. The complete set of seventeen stamps I bought for a little under $85. seven or eight weeks ago cannot now be bought much under $500.

Since last November the newly independent Poland has issued over 100 varieties of stamps, some of which are already scarce, and only last week the regular issue of Poland came to hand, one of the denominations of which brings the portrait of Paderewski into our stamp albums.

But the remarkable investment value in "Neurope" stamps is only one phase of the interest in these new issues. A casual stroll round the Stamp Exhibition shows how these stamps have added enormously to the educational value of stamp collecting. Here, the boy collector can learn and understand more of the Peace Settlement than from the Treaty itself. Here are the stamps designed by the famous Czech artist Alfonse Mucha for Czecho-Slovakia, which can be bought from 2c upwards.

A striking design appears on the Lubliana issue for the province of Carniola, which is to be part of South Slavia; it shows a nude young giant breaking free from the fetters which have oppressed him for generations. A full set in this design costs but 60c at present. Then there is a series for Croatia and another for Serbia and all these will soon be obsolete, for an issue is in preparation for use throughout the whole of South-Slavia.

The new geography, in the absence of the new maps, is best learned from the stamp album. The boy is father to the man in knowledge of the whereabouts of Esthonia, Lithuania, the Ukraine, Croatia. How many of my readers, apart from stamp enthusiasts, could tell offhand where is Cilicia and where is the Republic of Georgia?

The instructional value of the stamp album has as yet been insufficiently appreciated by our educational authorities, but among the new methods coming into vogue since the war I have been invited to work out a series of definite courses of instruction which will shortly bring the stamp album prominently into the schools and will, I trust, lighten the monotony of dull teaching methods and prove of some real practical service to education.—Daily Mail.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—C. V. Webb, secretary of the S. P. A., has changed his address from Reading, Pa., to Box 65, Painesville, Ohio. Correspondents will please note.

—"P. G. Valois, Victoriaville, Que., Can." is being used as an address for the securing of approval selections. Mr. Valois replied to a letter addressed him as follows:—"This request must be somebodyelse's doing. The party who wrote the letter knows me very well and even the number of my P. O. box." Wm. F. Ferguson, who gives us this information, says that the original request was all typewritten. Beware of Victoriaville.

—We have received greetings from Harry E. Huber of Pittsburgh, who is on a visit to the Dominican Republic. At the time he was at Sanchez on his way to San Dominica City.

—Several correspondents have given us their experiences in procuring the U. S. stamps at the Shanghai Agency. Herman W. Boers writes us that for a remittance of $5 he secured a complete set lacking the 7c and 12c—the latter being used for postage. He suggests that with the fluctuation that exists in the price of silver, collectors will do well to remit something over $5 in order to secure a complete set. Any left-over money could be taken up in duplicates.

This Coming Season

will probably be the busiest I have ever had. Choice early United States are in great demand and I shall have all that one man can do in distributing them to my customers.

If you have favored me with a share of your patronage in the past be assured that your wants will not be overlooked. If you are a new customer do not expect to receive service ahead of those who have done business with me for years, but let me know what you wish and I will endeavor to please you also.

But,—if you are a serious collector and desire to obtain exceptional items at reasonable prices don't write to me on a postal card. If your business is not important enough for you to write me a real letter about it, it isn't important enough to receive my attention. I am always glad to submit anything I have to responsible collectors on approval, and if the stamps or the prices do not meet with your approval I do not expect nor want you to purchase.

MR. U. S. SPECIALIST:—
I would rather, any day, buy unusual items in the way of early or late United States Postage or Revenue stamps than I would sell for my main interest is centered in my collection. I, however, through my extensive philatelic correspondents am almost daily locating new and unusual things and these are first offered to those specialists on my mailing list. You are not required to buy nor are you supposed to make a deposit. You simply tell me what you collect and when I run into what is likely to interest you I drop you a line. If not interested put my letter in the waste basket, if interested, send your check. I cannot send on approval for of some items I may have but ten and there may be a 100 that wants them, hence, first come first served. Please remember, I only want the ADVANCED SPECIALIST.
I was in many cases the first to have the many recently issued minor varieties and errors and if you are not on my mailing list you are likely to miss some of the good things.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.
The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our issue of last week we mentioned the fact that the 1c offset print had been located, perforated 12½ instead of the normal 11. On investigation we find that these stamps were perforated on the Rosback perforating machine which was on trial at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. If your editor remembers correctly, this machine enabled the Bureau to perforate several sheets at the same time instead of one sheet at the time as at present. The machine evidently did not meet the expectations of the officials for we learn that it has been returned to the owners. In all, 6,641 sheets were perforated, each sheet consisting of four hundred subjects, making 2,656,400 stamps in all.

Although the Bureau informs us that no other denomination except the 1c stamp was so perforated, they make no mention that all of these stamps were postage and not revenue. Mr. John E. Lord, who is acquainted with the designer of this machine, was informed by him that he was at the Bureau at the time the machine was in operation and that not only postage stamps were perforated but also the current 1c documentary. How many were postage and how many were revenue we cannot say, but we do know that all of the postage stamps were placed on sale in Washington and that the supply did not last long. The supply at the main office became exhausted in a couple days and those at the branches did not last much longer. We will await with interest advice that the 1c documentary with this perforation has been located and we trust any of our readers finding such a specimen will inform us at once.

Mr. Wm. A. Geiger informs us that while recently passing through Washington he stopped at the post office to obtain a few stamps to mail some postals and on examination found that these had a different perforation. He inquired of the clerk for information and was informed that the Washington post office had been using the engraved stamps for some time but that recently a few of the offset had been sent through. It therefore looks to us as if all of the perforated 11 offset 1c stamps on hand had been issued by the Bureau some weeks back and that these perforated 12½ stamps had been put aside awaiting detailed instruction as to what disposition should be made of them. It will be recalled that your editor published a letter some weeks back wherein he was officially informed that no stamps other than the perf. 11 had been issued. This looks as if the Bureau knew at the time that these experimental stamps were still in their possession and therefore could rightly say that they had not been issued. They, however, did not tell us that such stamps were on hand, which means that when we want definite information we must so word our question that there can be no doubt as to what we want.

As a matter of record the following letter from the Bureau will be of interest:—

"Treasury Department,
Bureau of Engraving and Printing,
Washington, D. C., August 29, 1919.
Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr.,
P. O. B. 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your letter of the 26th inst. in which you state that you have received a pane of one hundred 1c green offset stamps, perforated about 12½, and that you would like to be advised as to the number to be printed, where they were to be distributed and incidently mention if any other values were perforated in that way.

In reply I beg to state that there were 6,641 four hundred subject sheets perforated on the Rosback perforating machine which was on trial in this Bureau. The total output was delivered to the Washington Post Office. The perforating machine was not used on any other denomination and has been returned to the Rosback Company.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) JAMES L. WILMETH,
Director."

Mr. George Soulman, that wide awake collector who sends us items of interest almost weekly, this time shows us a block of four of the 1c blue proprietary stamp which has a decided scratch on the plate. This occurred on the entire lot of 100 panes in exactly the same position. Its location is in the upper left pane, stamps Nos. 38-39 and Nos. 48-49. The scratch, which is quite strong, runs diagonally from the upper left corner of the block towards the lower right corner.

We desire to make this weekly chronicle just as interesting and full of new information as possible and we would like to locate even more friends than we have at present, who will write us promptly on the finding of anything out of the beaten path. During the last year we do not recall a single new United States variety that was listed elsewhere ahead of the WEEKLY and we hope our many readers will help us to keep up this good record.

ARGENTINE.—Mr. F. L. Onken reports that the current 2c stamp is now on paper watermarked EV and submits to us a copy for inspection. The watermarking is in double line capitals.

BAVARIA.—Mr. Max R. Kress has shown us copies of the 2½ and 7½pfg stamps of Germany surcharged with German characters in two lines in black the meaning of which he advises is Free State of Bavaria. He also calls our attention to the fact that there are 5 and 10pfg stamps that bear this same overprint. Mr. Kress adds that the 10pfg Germanian type postal cards both single and double have the same overprint and the Bavarian postal, single, has the overprint VOLKSSAAT BAYERN in black in two lines. Mr. A. O. Tittmann reports that these stamps are being used in Palatinate (Pfalz) a part of Bavaria on the left bank of the Rhine and at present held by the French.

BELGIUM.—Stamp Collecting notes that the new stamp of 10c value contains the head of King Albert and that there is to be a special stamp for Liege showing the coat of arms of that town of splendid memory and the entire series is to run concurrently with the present issue. There is also to be a new "Postage Due" issue—these labels being urgently required.

BOSNIA.—Mr. A. O. Tittmann advises that he has received a postcard from Serajevo, which bore the 2 and 10h Austro-Bosnian stamps without any overprint. Both are perforated. This would make it appear that the Bosnians are using up the old Austrian stock without going to the trouble of overprinting it.

ESTHONIA.—Mr. Th. Allard advises us that new stamps have been issued with values expressed in "penni" instead of kopek. First there was issued a 5 penni stamp, yellow brown, the design showing two sea gulls flying over the sea and inscribed "Eesti Wabariik" at the foot. The design not being approved, the stamps were withdrawn after being on sale three days. The whole number printed was 30,000. The stamp was imperforate and the size of the design 18x25 mm. Further was issued a 5 penni stamp, yellow, imperforate, the design showing a large 5 and over the top "Eesti" and below "Post." The size of the design was 16½x21 mm. The stamp was soon sold out even while the old kopek stamps were still in use. Another new stamp of the same design as the latest 5 penni was issued but perforated. Perforation 11½x11½, printed on very thin paper. The first of July a new stamp was issued of the 35 penni value with the same design and description as the Eesti Wabariik stamp mentioned above, but the size only measures 15x21 mm. It is printed in blue on thin paper and imperforate. The first issue has been discovered in many different shades and with small plate errors. The 35 kopec has been found printed on both sides.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—Mr. C. L. Harte-Lovelace advises us that the new type of the 4c stamp is now at hand and that it is printed by a single instead of double process, in sheets of 240 instead of 120. It has a thin bar and thick white space to the central design under "Malay" instead of vice versa. There are also other differences, but these are enough to distinguish the two types; type was in use from February to May of this year. Mr. Harte-Lovelace also advises the new 10c, blue, has been issued.

KEDAH.—Mr. C. L. Harte-Lovelace sends us the information that owing to a shortage of stamps in this country Straits Settlements are being used there officially pro tem.

LEVANT (Roumanian P. O.).—Apropos of the reopening of the British Post Office in Smyrna and Constantinople, it is stated that Roumania has also arranged for the reinstatement of her local agency and that the current Roumanian stamps have been overprinted with the word "Constantinople" in a circle, in red.—Stamp Collecting.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. A. O. Tittmann sends us the following information:—

"I received a few days ago from Bluefields, the current 20c stamp with the overprint 'Vale 5 Centavos' in black in two lines. My correspondent writes me that the Bluefields post-office has been without stamps since April and that the new supply from Granada in the interior has not yet arrived. At first 1, 4 and 5 centavos, revenue stamps were used, but these are exhausted, at least the 5 cts. value, so the 20 cts. postage stamp was converted into a provisional 5 cts. From this information and the appearance of the overprint, which also lacks the words 'de Cordoba', it would seem that the printing was done locally, and the stamp may turn out to be a good one."

ORANGE RIVER COLONY.—R. J. C. Brown calls our attention to an irregularity that he has noticed in a copy of No. 43. The large "2" has a short vertical line from the right end of the heavy bottom line in the normal type but the one he submits shows this short line entirely missing.

ROUMANIA.—Mr. Arthur W. Rothchild (member London Stamp Club), of 19 Albany Street, Regent's Park, N. W. 1, writes:—

"In reply to your inquiry as to the meaning of the surcharge of a 'monogram in a circle,' as overprinted last autumn on the Roumanian 1, 5, and 10 bani values of the 1908-9 series, I venture to suggest the following explanation:—

POSTS, TELEGRAPHS (and) TELEPHONES UNITED (under the Reign of King) FERDINAND I.

"These stamps were issued to commemorate the recapture of the former Roumanian territories of Transylvania and Banat from Hungary, Bucovina from Austria, Bessarabia from Russia, and Dobrudja from Bulgaria, which five Provinces, being incorporate with the old mother country, now almost entirely represent the reconstituted old kingdom of 'Dacia', the cradle of the Roumanian nation.

"The uniform administration of the postal, telegraph, and telephone services of the new 'Greater Roumania,' under the rule of King Ferdinand I, is therefore made known by the aforesaid commemorative set of postage stamps, which will, no doubt, soon be superseded by a permanent representative issue of the 'monogram' stamps."—Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—From July 1 the postal rates were raised. From that date a postcard and letter in local traffic costs 10 öre (formerly 7 öre) and another letter 15 öre instead of 12 öre. The registration fee is as before, 15 öre; thus a registered letter, weighing below 20 gr., costs 30 öre. The 7, 12, and 27 öre stamps have been withdrawn. A 3 öre stamp, adhesive as well as official, has been issued in brown colour in current types. An air-post route between Stockholm and Göteborg will be organized at the end of the summer. The postage will be the usual postage plus 20 öre for express delivery and 1kr for air-postage. Thus a letter below 20 gr. costs 1.35 kr. It is not determined if a special air-post stamp will be issued. —Stamp Collecting.

SWITZERLAND.—We are indebted to Messrs. J. R. Nichols and Frank Kocker for submitting the new stamps of this country. They are oblong in shape and measure 26x41 mm. and each is of different design.

7½, Ed. Vallet, J. Sprenger.
10, P. Th. Robert, J. Sprenger.
15, B. Raumberger, J. Sprenger.

URUGUAY.—Mr. Fred L. Onken sends us copies of two new stamps from this country. The 5c blue is of the type referred to in issue 1491 and has in a frame at the top "Republica O del Uruguay" in two lines, while at the bottom is the "Correos" and just below "5 centisimos 5". The middle of the stamp has a picture of the Hill of Montevideo and the sun above the frame. The other is the 8c value and is brown with a picture of the Liberty Statue in the middle printed in blue, 1914 on the lower left and 1919 on the lower right. The same wording is at the top as in the first stamp, although of smaller printing, and the value is at the bottom.

THE COVER FOR WHOLE No. 1500.

The cover for whole number 1500 will be a philatelic treat. The design will consist of portions of—we came near naming the number of stamps but this detail must be worked out by you. Before us lies the author's sketch and all the stamps are illustrated in Scott's Standard Catalog with one exception, the stamp taken for the central feature—a U. S. stamp and easy to name.

For the ten best solutions we shall give copies of Poole's completed Dictionary. Prints of the design are now obtainable and will be sent anyone who will send us postage to cover sending.

When you send in your answer, give the countries alphabetically and use Scott's A6 or A12, as the case may be, in naming the stamps. We want the replies uniform. Who will get on the honor roll?

NASSAU STAMP CO.

6 Nassau St., New York City

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE 3 CENTS OF 1851.

By EARLY BYRD.

About every second collector one meets these days announces himself as a specialist in the 3 cents stamp of 1851, but when you begin to poke into him for new information regarding the stamp it usually develops that "he isn't interested in the fly-speck varieties" but really is collecting nice impressions of black, blue, red or green postmarks. Generally he quite overlooks plate varieties that are more obvious than those in many other stamps with which he is quite familiar.

Just why the highly respected compilers of our leading catalog think it desirable to list the variety of 5c New York with one extra line at the bottom but fail to list the Three Cents red with two extra lines at the side, or, for that matter, the variety with double outer line at the bottom, history faileth to relate, but there isn't a chance on earth they would make the mistake of sending you any of the better known varieties if you sent along the catalog price of the stamp with a request for a fine copy.

The most satisfactory way to study the stamp is from a lot of original covers, which fortunately still may be picked up from time to time at only a few times catalog price, say three to five times. Given five hundred to a thousand covers that have not been previously sorted over and in a very short time you will discover that the designation "1851" is a misnomer. The 3c of 1851 is brown, or orange brown. It was in use only a few months, at a time when prepayment of postage with stamps was not compulsory. It is so far from being a common stamp that there are a good many dealers who do not know it when they see it, and not one collector in a dozen possesses a copy. A rose carmine color succeeded the orange-brown in 1852. I have seen a few copies used in December, 1851; and very early in 1852 they were in general supply at all the large postoffices. These stamps are not difficult to identify as the color is bright and the impressions generally clear and fine. A small printing in another color was made in 1852 but I think the stamps, which are of a bright brick-red, could not be identified off cover.

The years 1853 and 1854 showed a vastly different output than the preceding issues. Instead of the clear, bright colors of 1851 and 1852 the printings ranged from muddy lake (no pun intended) to pale rose. The plates were worn and dirty, and showed it. Printings seem to have been very numerous, and no two of them alike.

1855 printings have at least the advantage of uniformity. The color is a dull orange red and one quickly learns to identify it. All of the recuts or retouches show up clearly on the printings of this year, so to my mind they are particularly desirable for study purposes.

Late in 1855 printings from new plates made their appearance. These were in a new lot of shades of red which ranged from a pale lilac brown to deep claret or lake.

Practically all of the stamps from 1851 to 1855 had double lines at the sides, while the stamps from the new plates show only single side lines. The imperforate stamps from these plates are scarcer than the others, as the older plates seem to have been cleaned up in 1856 and new printings made from them which were issued in 1857 until the first perforated stamps made their appearance, some time in July.

While practically all of the 3c stamps printed between '51 and '56 showed two lines at each side, there are some notable exceptions. These were described in detail some years ago by Dr. Carroll Chase, who it is now reasonable to hope may complete the publication of his work on these stamps. The exceptions are a few stamps showing only one line on one side and two lines on the other side of a stamp; those showing three lines on one side and but two on the other; and those showing four lines on one side and two on the other.

According to Dr. Chase, unless I have misread him, the stamps with four frame lines at right are 600 times as scarce as an unclassified 3c '51; those with three lines on the left are 200 times as scarce; those with three lines on the right side are about 250 times; those with only one side line at right are as

DUPLICATES WANTED

I am in the market for anything in United States stamps that is in really fine condition, be it a single stamp, a thousand copies of a stamp or a highly specialized collection. If you have what I want, price can easily be agreed upon, as I know fine things now command fine prices. I can guarantee as good results as auction and no delay.

I prefer to have you let me know what you have and your price. If I am interested, I will have you send your stamps by registered mail or express and I will mail my report within 24 hours of receipt. Ready funds are always available for prompt remittances, whether the bill is 50 cents or $5,000.00.

Remember, I mean business but also remember I want stamps in fine condition only. "The House of Satisfaction." [96&8 scarce as those with four side lines; and those with one side line at left about 300 times. Multiply those figures by the catalog value and you have what would be the approximate value of these varieties if all collectors recognized and sought them; but as for every thousand collectors who are satisfied to represent the 3c '51 in their albums with a nickel's worth of mutilated or heavily cancelled reddish paper, there are about 25 who want and are willing to pay for these varieties the actual market value drops down to a fraction of the figure indicated. A 3c '51 with one recut line sold above $15.00 at a New York auction last season. That recut line may have been one of the extra side line varieties or merely a single recut in one of the "triangles". In any event the stamps with extra side lines are major and easily recognized varieties next in importance to the principal varieties of color.

Shifts, or double transfers, I rate next to the extra line varieties. There are a number of these interesting varieties, some of them very easy to identify when encountered, others requiring the trained eye of the student. Most prominent is that showing the "line through Three Cents". It is generally called a $5 stamp, but anyone with a nice copy to dispose of at a ten per cent advance on that figure can address the merchandise to me in care of the editor of the WEEKLY and get a quick return.

Another interesting stamp is that showing the triple shift, described a few months ago by Mr. H. P. Atherton. The upper left rosette has three centers, and the rays of the lower right rosette show quite clearly on Washington's shoulder.

There are several shifts showing two rings in the center of one or more rosettes, and several at least which show a clearly doubled outer line at the bottom of the stamps. Shifts showing more or less duplication in the labels at top or bottom are more difficult to identify and consequently of less interest.

A minor plate variety that is easily identified is the one known as the "gash on the shoulder". It is a nearly horizontal curving line just above the button on Washington's shoulder. This is found in almost all the printings from one of the early plates, both in the original state and in the 1857 issues, both perforated and imperf.

When it comes to the minor varieties of recuts, their name is legion. There are about as many varieties of recut labels, triangles, and diamond blocks, as there were stamps in each of the first three plates. Sometimes lines that should be parallel converge; sometimes lines that should stop, keep right on going and so join the labels and diamond blocks, or the triangles and diamond blocks; and other lines that should keep on going to an obvious destination, stop short and leave breaks in the recuttings of the side lines. One of the oddest of the recuts is that running across the top and half way down the side of the upper left diamond block. The commonest form of recut triangle is that showing one short vertical line down the left side of the upper left triangle; more difficult to find are those with two to five recut vertical lines. These little retouch marks are of great value to anyone plating the stamps. They command fair premiums in some cases, but their greatest value lies in the fun to be had in studying them out.

Most collectors of the 3c '51 pay more attention to cancellations than to anything else. A bright green gridiron cancellation will stir envy in the breast of any non-possessor, while a good green town cancellation comes next. Not far behind are the red gridiron and town marks, for though red was the commonest color used in cancelling the '47 issue it was not often employed on the '51 issue. Boston used a red town cancellation an a black "PAID" and frequently both marks fell on the stamps, but the "PAID" was such a blobby affair as seldom to be attractive.

Blue town and black town cancellations are both common, but blue grids are far scarcer than black ones.

Numerals, especially when in colors other than black, are desirable, and an occasional oddity turns up in the form of "5" or "10" from the '47 issue.

Railroad, steamboat, steamship cancellations are scarce and desirable. Particularly interesting are some of the private post cancellations from California and the far West, such as "Boise & Salt Lake City Express", "Via Nicaragua In Advance of the Mails". Another popular marking is the "U. S. Express Mail, to Boston", or "to New York". Any of these command premiums of from one to five Dollars from real fans on cancellations.

Pairs, strips and blocks of the 3c '51 were held at no great premium until recently. Good pairs were to be had for a few cents, and even a used block of four was nothing to brag about. Now a decent pair fetches from 50c up, and passable strips from 50c to $1 per stamp. Blocks, I guess, are framed and sent to the Metropolitan. At least I haven't seen one in a dealer's stock in the past two years.

If you have an accumulation of 3c '51's, give yourself a surprise by looking them over for fine, lightly cancelled copies, with four good margins; in a hundred stamps you may find five fine copies. If you find you have more such copies than you need and are willing to accept double catalog for them, address yourself to the writer, care WEEKLY.

"USE YOUR EYES."

The Philatelic Institute of London, of which Fred J. Melville is the promotor, is issuing a series of tests for its pupils. One before us deals with a recent discovery that a new plate has been made for the 4c Federated Malay States stamp. This stamp was first printed from a key and a duty plate as shown by a thick line around the key plate. The later stamp is printed from a single plate and the central device is enclosed within a thin border line. The card upon which the stamps are mounted bears the inscription "Use Your Eyes," accompanied by a paragraph of instructions, with ample space for the student's comment and signature. Mr. Melville writes that this is only one of a number of tests in connection with the Institute course of instruction in stamp collecting.

COMMUNICATION.

Kindly publish this article for the information and benefit of collectors and dealers.

There are a number of Panama stamps Scott's catalog Nos. 191-192-193-196-201-202 which were used for revenue, and are finding their way into the markets as postally used stamps.

I have seen a number of the above stamps with the following described cancellations:

The Nos. 191-192-193 bear a cancellation with a three ring circle. The outer circle is 46 mm. in diameter and is wider than the others. There is a distance of 1 mm. between the outer circle and the one next to it. The inner circle is 33 mm. in diameter, and between the both inner circles are the words REPUBLICA DE PANAMA above, and TESORERIA GENERAL below, 2 mm. high and 2 mm. wide, having an asterisk between Republica de Panama, and Tesoreria General. The Panama coat of arms are in center. Ink used for cancellation is "violet." The marking is without date, month or year.

The Nos. 196-201-202 bear cancellations of the business houses, in different colors of ink. Many have Chinese characters, and names, and some are cancelled with different pencil marks, — also with pen and ink.

The stamps above described used for revenue purposes are being sold cheap. I believe that when a collector buys a postage stamp, he should get a postage stamp for his money, and not a revenue stamp.

"DOES NOT ANSWER LETTERS!"

From time to time paragraphs have appeared in the WEEKLY stating that "so-and-so" does not answer letters. In the past we have run these items without investigation, as we have been physically unable to undertake correspondence in relation to claims. A different policy must be established for the coming season.

The WEEKLY, as a newspaper, cannot undertake the work of a collecting agency. It tries to satisfy itself as to the reliability of its advertisers, but it cannot do this with regard to its 8,000 subscribers.

We place ourselves in a very delicate position when we publicly reflect in any way upon the business integrity of any individual. We may get by in ninety-nine cases only to be hauled up sharply on the hundredth, and where an apology or retraction would not satisfy.

The advertising of approval sheet frauds must be done in such a way as will be safe and the clearing house established by Philatelic Gossip seems a move in the right direction. Mr. Dworak has undertaken the work for the good of Philately and when he reports a party we shall be satisfied that publicity is warranted.

Patrons should bear in mind that cases cannot be investigated without expense and loss of time. Send your complaints to Philatelic Gossip, Denison, Kans., and enclose some postage to oil the machinery.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The Hussman Stamp Co. reports the find of a cover upon which is a block of eleven 5c 1851. As a block of twelve, it is minus the upper left-hand corner stamp. This find is surely unique.

—Henry Mohler writes us as follows from Shanghai, China:—"The newly surcharged U. S. stamps on sale here can only be purchased with Mexican money. To buy unsurcharged stamps one must have U. S. money. The reason for this is that when they had the unsurcharged stamps the P. O. would set a rate for a week or so, while the bank rate would change every day. This system did not suit some of the people and upon complaints being made to Washington the surcharged stamps resulted."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from J. L. Weber, E. D. Swartout, John A. Solomon, Lucien B. Wellborn, Maitland Milliken.

—The well-known Baltimore firm of H. E. Harris & Co. will hereafter be located at 56 Cummings Rd., Boston, Mass. The change is noted in their advertisement elsewhere in this issue. We welcome Mr. Harris to the Hub of the universe and believe he will get his share of Boston business. The firm makes a specialty of the new stamps of all European countries.

—If anybody has had unsatisfactory dealing with The Hermes Stamp Co., Box 76, Cape Cottage, Me., write Axel Johansen, who will settle the company's debts.

—Carl Young calls our attention to the fact that G. Masovcich of Trieste is putting out a price list in which he brazenly offers counterfeits of the rare 10kr Venezia Giulia. He says the surcharging is a "perfect imitation."

$1050 FOR HAWKER FLIGHT STAMP.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Lieut. Col. Halford of the Air Ministry yesterday paid $1,050 at auction for a stamp souvenir of Harry G. Hawker's attempted transatlantic flight. The stamp, inclosed in an album, bears the signatures of all the famous Atlantic fliers and is initialed on the back by the Postmaster General of Newfoundland, Sir John Alcock, Sir A. Whitten Brown, and Harry G. Hawker.

WILCOX, SMITH & CO. WITH US AGAIN.

After an absence of a few weeks Wilcox, Smith & Co., of Dunedin, New Zealand, return to our advertising columns. The firm writes us that the results from their first trial run were wonderfully satisfactory. This long-established firm is well known in Australia, having been engaged in the stamp business for over thirty-five years. Our dealer patrons who wish to establish relations with Australia and its stamp trade will do well to make a correspondent of Wilcox, Smith & Co.

EDITORIAL.

News—Through the good offices of several of our friends we have been enabled to give our readers particulars in the development of details in the printing of our stamps and the information given in our columns about the 12½ perforation was singularly interesting in the light of the appearance of the one cent surface printed stamps, in this perforation, in the post offices. We now have been told that the machine on which the stamps perforated 12½ were treated has not been accepted by the authorities, not because of defects of any kind whatever, but evidently because the department is perfecting a perforating machine, probably for use in connection with the four hundred subject circular plates, the making of which has been announced, on which the perforating will be done on the same machine that performs the printing. This would indicate the probability that the stamps then will be printed from a roll of paper instead of sheets. Developments will be awaited.

Continued—We have been favored with further particulars of the printing, so far as the perforating is concerned, from the man who did all the perforating 12½ on the "Rosback" machine; and here we may say that there is another denomination of the set, of which "perhaps half" of the number of the one cent that were issued, were produced. We understand that thirty packages of 50,000 each of the one cent were available; and another source supplies the figures, 1,386,400. It would seem that there are enough of the perforation variety to meet the demands. Here is a sidelight on a question that has entered the minds of many collectors: "We do not suppose that there is any law that would prevent anyone from securing the imperforate stamps and having them perforated, but the post office department has informed us that they do not approve of such methods and in fact would do everything in its power to prevent the production of stamps under these conditions." The further statement is made that millions of stamps yearly are destroyed because of some little mechanical imperfection arising in the process of manufacture. The "Rosbacks" certainly are called experimental perforations, advisedly.

Frights—From Brigadier-General H. H. Bandholtz of the "American Commission to Negotiate Peace," Budapest, Hungary, we have received a complete set of five of "Bolshevist special design stamps of Hungary." We learn that they were in use from June 12th to August 2nd, 1919, and it is said that "they seem to be very scarce unused and rarities used." Our informant says: "The Bolshevist government under Bela Kun was in power from last March 21st to August 2nd and also turned out surcharges, always red, of the 1916-18 issue with changes in some of the denominations. The set (20) consisted of 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 15, 20, 25, 40, 45, 50 and 95 heller; and 1, 1.20, 1.40, 2, 3, 5 and 10 kroner." Brigadier-General Bandholtz, who is the American member of the Interallied Mission of General Officers to the certain section of Europe, says that he has no statistics of the number of Bolshevist Hungarians in question and it is just as well, as while the set is a bi-colored, portrait gallery on watermarked paper, the faces are too large for the frames and some of them are grotesque in their suggestion of fierceness. The pictures of Marx, Petofi, Martinovics, Dozsa and Engels are on the 20, 45, 60, 75 and 80 filler, respectively; and the stamps are lithographed.

Pronounced—It is something to arouse our jaded interest in double prints, etc., of our stamps in these days of unconventional philatelic productions, but Mr. Lyman J. Seely, Hammondsport, New York, submits a double print of the current one cent documentary revenue that hits our sense of the bizarre between the eyes. It is difficult to find the original design of the stamp, as the second impression (perhaps there is even a third) clouds the first in a way to make the heart of the oddity lover rejoice. As Mr. Seely says: "This speaks for itself." The stamp is not a sight for sore eyes; in fact, it makes well eyes sore to look at it for any length of time.

Forbear—In his goodness of soul, Mr. Eugene Tillens, Jr., Shreveport, Louisiana, arises to say a kind word: "Referring to the 'blotting out of existence' of stamps, I, too, have wailed and gnashed my teeth over just such examples of Prussian 'efficiency', but why should we blame the P. O. C., who has been forced to bear the brunt of our wrath in many another instance? By referring to Sec. 539 of the Postal Laws and Regulations, we find: 'Postmasters shall cancel stamps on mail matter by the use of cancelling ink furnished by the department and shall thoroughly and completely deface the stamps.' Perhaps, the poor chap was doing only his darnedest to hold his job." The postal clerk is a friend to the collector, as a rule, and it is a cruel and unnecessary pastime to heave rocks at him when occasionally his hands shake in applying the dauber.

Growing—More notice than ever before is being taken of philately and its value as a "hobby" seems to be a popular theme with the publicists at present. Mr. H. E. Deats, Flemington, New Jersey, writes: "In the Scientific American for August 23rd, page 108, is an editorial 'Hobbies and Hobbyists,' which is worth reading and perhaps reprinting. There must be a philatelist on the staff." A copy of the paper was sent us by Mr. A. W. Filstrup, Benton Harbor, Michigan, and we enjoyed the article, as it reflected philatelic phases true to life.

Mentioned—From Mr. W. F. King we have received a copy of the Postage Stamp of Denver, but it is not a descendant of the old Stamp of that city; and it has not the slightest philatelic flavor of the collector who from the name of the periodical anticipated a treat. We have been given a sheet of paper that enclosed mail from the Army of Occupation in Germany on which we find a German watermark and the printed inscription, "American Expeditionary Forces, Young Men's Christian Association, Army of Occupation." On an old printed circular sent out by a large New York City Sugar refinery, in one of the Hussey local stamped wrappers, under date of August 17th, 1858, the enterprising statement is made at the end of the advertisement: "Postage on our circulars always prepaid."

Next—The succeeding number will be our 1500th issue of this paper; and readers may depend upon receiving a number that will cause the season to open with a bang. While, incidentally, we shall pat ourselves on the back because of the evidence of our longevity, yet underlying all this is the desire to start the best season that philately will know, with a whoop.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Milton P. Lyons, Jr., announces this week a change in his office. Hereafter he will be located at 34 S. 18th St., Philadelphia, where he has two nice large office rooms. Our congratulations to Mr. Lyons.

—We welcome back to our columns this week L. W. Charlat, 537 Fifth Ave., N. Y. City. Mr. Charlat, who was established in the stamp business in 1899, is an old advertiser who has been with us from time to time and has now taken space for the coming season. He will be found regularly on page 5. In recent months he has found it quite impossible to handle additional business efficiently, owing to lack of help due to war conditions. Mr. Charlat writes us that the demand for fine stamps is strong.

—Bright & Son are under contract to complete this month the purchase of their premises at 164 Strand, London. The purchase price is about $50,000 and this shows the faith the firm has in the stability of the stamp trade.

—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. states that they can get no replies to letters mailed R. T. Goode of Salem, Ore. Similar complaints have been registered against this party in the past.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from James F. Hamill, Victor R. Wailly, D. W. Millen, J. F. Hofstetter.

FULTON STAMP CO., 729 6TH AVENUE, COR. 42 ST., NEW YORK CITY.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

SMALL STAR WATERMARK.—One of the types of star watermarks found in British colonial stamps, so named in contradistinction from "large" and "broad" stars of somewhat similar design.

S. M. P.—These letters appear at the top of the design of the stamps issued for local use in Medellin, Colombia, in 1894.

SMIRNE.—The Italian rendering of Smyrna as shown overprinted on stamps supplied for the use of the Italian post office in that city.

SMYRNA.—An important city of Turkey in Asia of the greatest antiquity. The Italian and Russian governments have both issued specially overprinted stamps for the use of their consular offices established in the city.

SMYRNE.—The French form of Smyrna as overprinted on Russian stamps issued for use there.

S. O.—An overprint, meaning "Stamp Office", found on the 2c rose stamps of the 1882 issue for Hong Kong. These stamps were intended for some specific revenue purpose, but were allowed to be used for postage without question.

SOBREPORTE.—The inscription shown on the postage due stamps of Colombia meaning, literally, "over-postage".

SOCIEDADE PORTUGUEZA DA CRUZ VERMELHA.—The inscription shown on the private stamp used by the Red Cross Society of Portugal.

SOL (plural, Soles).—The unit of value in Peru which is worth about 48c in American money.

SOLDO (plural, Soldi).—The value expressed upon the stamps of Tuscany and the early issues of Austrian Italy. In Tuscany the soldo, twenty of which were equal to a lira, was worth about 1c in United States currency, while the soldo of Austrian Italy, 100 of which equalled a florin, had a value of less than half a cent.

SOMALI COAST.—(See French Somali Coast.)

SOMALIA ITALIANA.—(Italian Somaliland.) An overprint applied to Italian postage due stamps in 1909 for use in the colony of Benadir.

SOMALIA ITALIANA MERIDIONALE.—An overprint shown on Italian postage due stamps used in Benadir in 1906. It means "Southern Italian Somaliland".

SOMALILAND PROTECTORATE.—A portion of Somaliland with a coast line of 450 miles which has been a British protectorate since 1884. Special postage stamps were not issued until 1903.

SOMERSET HOUSE.—The headquarters of the Inland Revenue department in Great Britain. Here all the imprimatur sheets of the postage stamps are kept and all business appertaining to stamps is transacted.

SOM UBESORGET AABNET AF POST DEPARTEMENTET.—The inscription on the Return Letter stamps of Norway which were affixed to letters which could not be delivered and, therefore, had to be returned to the senders.

SOM UINDLOST AABNET AF POST DEPARTMENTET.—The inscription on similar stamps of Norway which were affixed to letters returned to senders on account of the fact that they had not been called for.

SONORA.—An important state in the north-western portion of Mexico at which the now well-known "white and green seal" provisional stamps were issued in 1913.

SONGPY.—The value shown on one of the stamps issued in Siam in 1883. A songpy, 16 of which were equal to a tical, was worth about 2c in American money.

SORUTH.—An Indian state in the peninsula of Kathiawar more generally known to geographers as Junaghar or Junagarh. Its first postage stamps were issued in 1864.

SOUDAN.—An overprint shown on certain stamps of Egypt, in conjunction with Arabic characters, used in the Sudan in 1897.

SOUDAN FAIS.—An overprint found on certain French Colonial stamps of the "Peace and Commerce" type used in French Soudan in 1894. The second word is an abbreviation for "Francais."

SOUDAN FRANCAIS.—The inscription shown on the stamps of French Soudan.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—The centrally situated state of the Australian Commonwealth. Its first postage stamps were issued in 1855.

SOUTH BULGARIA.—(See Eastern Roumelia.

SOUTHERN NIGERIA.—The lower or southern portion of the British colony of Nigeria which issued its own stamps from 1901 until 1914.

SOUTH AMERICAN BANK NOTE COMPANY.—A well-known printing and engraving firm of Buenos Aires which has produced many of the stamps for various South American governments of recent years.

SOWER TYPE.—The general name by which the French stamps of 1903-7 are known on account of the fact that the central figure in the design is an allegorical representation of a Sower.

S. P.—These initials, in the form of a monogram, forms the design of the on and off covers—in exceptionally fine condition are being submitted to my regular customers on approval at reasonable prices. As many of them would fetch much more than current catalog quotations if offered in the open market they will not interest the collector whose interest expires at any discount short of 50%, but for the man who realizes that market value and catalog value are not necessarily identical they are excellent value. In short, they are the sort for which there always is likely to be a lively demand.

In writing me for a selection send as good a reference as you can.

U. S. ERROR

I am the fortunate purchaser of the entire available supply of the 2c unwatermarked, perforated 11 horizontally and imperforated vertically. The 3c in similar shape recently sold at $50 per block and none are now available at any price. Only two panes of 100 exist and all have been placed except two blocks of sixteen and one block of four. Will sever the larger blocks making nine blocks of four for sale.

If interested let me hear from you at once. Those that Powers rightly designates as "pikers" please do not write for these will not sell at $1.69 with the understanding that if Bill Smith offers them at 64c you will receive your money back with interest. I know they are rare for these are the only panes found during the 7 years that the stamp has been in use. They will carry certain guarantee. Glad to hear from serious specialists.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Dr. William Evans has just shown us a most unusual as well as interesting error of perforation. He has located in the Norfolk Post Office, the two lower right panes of 100 each, from sheets Nos. 9191 and 9494, of the 2c unwatermarked, perforated 11 horizontally but imperforate vertically. In other words, there are no vertical perforations whatsoever. This variety was evidently due to the fact that when the sheet was run through the press for the vertical perforations, only the knife was down, and as a result the perforating wheel did not cut the sheet. Of course, when it was run through the machine the other way it was perforated horizontally in the normal manner. The error will without question prove to be of great rarity, and we doubt if more will be found.

We recall that Stanley Gibbons, Inc., found a similar sheet of the 3c some months back and these were placed on the market and sold before we had the opportunity of even seeing them. These varieties are not to be confused with those panes where one row of perforations are blind.

1919 Unwatermarked, Perforated 11,
2c red, imperforate vertically.

We described in an issue of recent date a copy of the 4c NARCOTICS provisional, black rubber stamp surcharge, with the final "S". We have since seen the 5c value and are pleased to be able to inform our readers that this is the St. Louis surcharge and that probably all values through the $1 exist. We are certainly getting together a most complete collection of these "NARCOTIC" stamps and we trust if any of our readers have varieties that we have not chronicled that they will send them for our inspection with as much information relative to the origin of the stamps as possible.

Some months back Mr. A. S. Davenport brought our attention to the fact that the Bureau had surcharged the 1c Documentary for use on cigarette tubes and we mentioned this fact in the WEEKLY.

Mr. Wm. B. McLain now shows us a pair of this variety and we find that the surcharge is in heavy block capitals in two lines reading horizontally across the stamp CIGTTE TUBES. These stamps are used to pay the tax placed upon cigarette tubes by the recent "Act of 1919." The 1c value is the only one so surcharged.

Another piece of news of more than passing interest is the fact that Mr. Percy M. Mann has recently disposed of his very fine air mail cover collection, which was advertised some weeks back in MEKEEL'S. The collection is without the slightest doubt the finest ever gotten together, for Mr. Mann started to collect these at a time when it was a novelty to transport mail through the air. As a result all of the early flights both in America and abroad are represented, together with clippings from the newspapers of the day relative to same. Such a collection as this should have gone to the National Museum or to the museum of some Aero Club, for we doubt if it can ever be duplicated at any price.

In a recent issue we mentioned the 3c circular die envelope printed in the green of the 1c instead of purple, and it will be recalled that at the time we

ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—25c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $10.00, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

doubted its existence. At last we are able to obtain some additional details from our correspondent which seems to confirm our doubts. We are informed that our correspondent on calling at the Cincinnati Post Office was shown by the clerk two of these errors, which he bought, and was advised that the previous party at the window had bought thirteen. It, however, is hard to understand why the clerk sold them to a party he did not know, especially when he was aware that it was printed in the wrong color. The sad part of the tale, however, is yet to come. The lucky purchaser of the two happened shortly after to be riding in his machine in Michigan, became stuck in the mud, and was kindly helped out by a fellow philatelist, from Connecticut, whom he did not know. He had, however, the two error envelopes in his pocket at the time, and gave them both to our New England friend. We have heard many explanations in the past regarding stamp finds, but we must say that this story deserves the blue ribbon. If that lucky Connecticut collector will write us, we will gladly send him a red error to go with his green.

We also wish to thank Dr. George H. Smith, Messrs. Wm. M. Layman, Harold Salzberg, and P. F. Robertson, for notes and clippings of interest.

BERMUDA. — The 'Economist Bulletin reports the addition of the 4d value to the current series. It is the same design and the colors are red on yellow.

BRITISH SOMALILAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has received a supply of the 2r and 3r George on chalky paper. The colors are violet, black and green respectively.

GERMANY. — Otto Frank informs us that the new 35 and 75pf have been issued.

SWEDEN.—As from July 1 the postal rates have been increased as follows:—Post cards and letters for local delivery now cost 10 instead of 7 öre; other letters, 15 instead of 12 öre; registered letters, 30 instead of 27öre.

The 7, 12, and 27 öre have been withdrawn from circulation and a 3 öre, current type, issued in brown.

Mr. Th. Allard, who has kindly sent us an example of the latter, informs us that a regular air-post route will be started within a few weeks between Stockholm and Gothenburg. The postal rates are the ordinary rates, plus 20 öre for express and 1kr for aeroplane postage. Thus a post card will cost 10 öre and 20 öre and 1 kr, i. e., 1.30kr; a letter, 1.35kr; and so on.—Stamp Collecting.

SWITZERLAND. — Lucien B. Wellborn, S. W. Farnsworth and Charles S. Thompson have shown us sets of the new peace stamps. The stamps come fifty to the sheet without marginal imprints.

TURKS AND CAICOS. — Mr. Frank M. Mason shows us a new printing of the one penny WAR stamp. The surcharge is in black and is WAR TAX in two lines. Mr. Mason also calls our attention to the broken "w" which occurs once in each sheet of 60.

TURKEY.—Eight values of the 1916-18 Pictorial type have been surcharged in Turkish characters in black and red from 1pi to 50pi.—Economist Bulletin.

Slightly Damaged U. S.

Postage, Rev. and Dept. Stamps, also some scarce B. N. A. not quite fine, all on sheets at net prices, which are real bargains for collectors who are not too particular about condition.

I have the fine condition stamps, too, for those who are particular and willing to pay accordingly.

Fine U. S. are scarce, and I can't sell at big discounts.

Let me send a selection of the above, and be sure to specify the kind desired, whether ordinary condition or superb condition. If the latter, don't ask for stamps unless prepared to pay the price.

1879-83 stamps issued in the Colombian province of Cauca. The initials are those of Salmon Posso, who was prefect of Altrato at that period.

II. An overprint found on certain Luxemburg stamps intended for official use. The letters signify "Service Publique" (Public Service).

SPANDREL.—The space between the rectangular border of a stamp and the central circle, oval, or other form (not rectangular) enclosing the effigy or central design.

SPAIN.—A kingdom occupying the larger portion of the south-western peninsula of Europe. Postage stamps were first issued in 1850.

SPANISH GUINEA.—A Spanish possession in West Africa on the coast of the Gulf of Guinea. Postage stamps were first issued in 1902.

SPANISH MOROCCO.—Spain, like many other of the European Powers, maintains post offices at certain towns in Morocco. Since 1903 all Spanish stamps used in these offices have been specially overprinted.

SPARTANBURG.—A town of South Carolina. In 1861 the then postmaster caused special 5c stamps to be issued and these later were replaced by the general issue for the Confederate States.

SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMPS.—Special stamps issued by some countries—United States, Canada, Cuba, etc.—to denote payment of the special charge on letters delivered by special messenger ahead of the regular mail delivery.

SPECIMEN.—An overprint found on many stamps intended for distribution as samples of a new or forthcoming issue.

SPECIALISM.—The term applied to the study and collection of the stamps of some particular issue, group or country as distinguished from collecting on more ordinary or "general" lines.

SPECULATIVE ISSUES.—Issues of stamps unnecessary for postal requirements, or made under such circumstances as to give a manifest opening for speculation; therefore made principally with a view to sale to collectors. (See also "Commemorative Stamps".)

SPLIT STAMPS.—Fragments of stamps used postally to represent a portion of their original value. (See also "Bi-sected stamps.")

S. P. M.—An overprint found on many French colonial stamps intended for use in the colony of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

SPOORWEGEN. — The Flemish equivalent of "Chemins de fer" (railways) shown upon all the parcel post stamps of Belgium issued since 1895.

S. P. MEXICANO.—This inscription is shown on the special Carranza commemorative stamps issued in Mexico in June, 1916. The two first letters are for "Servicio Postal" the whole inscription meaning Mexican postal service.

SPRAY OF ROSE.—A watermark found in many British stamps issued during the period 1867-80, the rose being the heraldic emblem of England.

SPRINGBOK.—The head of a springbok—one of the most typical of South African fauna—forms the watermark in the current stamps of the Union of South Africa.

S. R. M.—These initials are shown on some of the stamps of Holstein and refer to the currency—"Skilling Reichs Münze".

S. T.—An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used during the period 1868-74 upon the correspondence of the Superintendent of Telegraphs. They were suppressed in 1874 in favor of the general issue, overprinted "OS", for all government departments.

STADT POST AMT.—The inscription shown on the first stamps of Bremen meaning "Town Post Administration."

STADT POST BASEL.—The only inscription on the stamps of Basle meaning "Town post of Basle".

STADT POST BRIEF.—An inscription shown on the local stamp issued for Hamburg under the auspices of the North German Confederation. It signifies "Town Postage stamp".

STAMPEL.—This word meaning "stamp" is found on some of the newspaper stamps of Austria.

A FEW DON'TS FOR ADVERTISERS.

Don't advertise mixtures.—We do not have the time to adjust complaints, so the good mixture must suffer. Aye, there's the rub—"good."

Don't advertise better than 50% discount unless you definitely name the stamps.—This rule is two years old and works well. You can name 70% or 90% if catalog numbers are given.

Don't name your competitors' prices.—"Price $1, sold by others for $5" is strictly tabooed.

Don't rely on "general" advertising.—Collectors are hungry for prices.

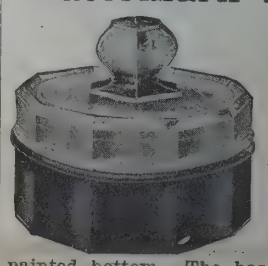
Don't let your ad get stale.—"Twice" is enuff. No paper is read more thoroughly than MEKEEL'S.

Don't murder your ad copy. Take time to write it, use ink, and make description and prices plain.

Don't worry if No. 1500 is late.—It may run to twenty-four pages.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Watermark Detector



In offering the collectors a benzine cup for detecting watermarks, we have taken great precautions to produce a cup that would give absolute satisfaction. Our cup is in a class of its own. We do not offer a common glass vessel with a painted bottom. The base of our cup is made of a specially prepared jet black crystallized glass, while the lid is of clear glass.

This cup cannot be duplicated anywhere at any price. It will be mailed to you for 60 cents, postfree, "NONE BETTER."

PLATE NUMBERS.

A large selection of the later numbers of the Bureau in blocks of six—all four positions. Will be pleased to submit them on approval to anyone supplying satisfactory references.

POSITIONS.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the arrangement of "miniature sheets" by the collecting of marginal corners and line and arrow corners of the panes of all values of current and recent issues. Some of these positions are mighty scarce, but we offer our services along these lines, to the serious collector who doesn't care how he spends his money.

THE SEASON'S PROSPECTS.

By HUGH M. CLARK, Manager Scott Stamp & Coin Co.

(On a recent visit to New York I had an interview with Mr. Clark and found him very enthusiastic in connection with the prospects of the stamp trade the coming season. He was so optimistic that I prevailed upon him to put his opinions in black and white, with the following result. In the course of the interview Mr. Clark backed up his assertions as to the prospects facing the stamp trade by taking out a 6000-line contract for advertising during the coming year. Our subscribers will be interested in reading the views of one who is probably closer to all lines of philatelic activities than any other dealer in the country.—W. O. W.)

Philately in America is experiencing the broadest popularity in its history, and the situation is apparently the same abroad. Never before has there been such a big demand for stamps of all classes, from the cheapest to the most expensive, and this demand is occurring at a time when stocks in the hands of dealers throughout the world are at the lowest point. We might almost say that collectors have absorbed the largest proportion of stamps for collecting purposes. The large percentage of new collectors is, of course, the most important factor in the scarcity of stamps.

The chief cause of the rapid stride of progress which philately has made is, in my opinion, Publicity. Stamps and stamp collecting have received more free advertising in the past four or five years than perhaps throughout the previous half-century. Such work as that of Fred J. Melville, of England, and the American Philatelic Service has resulted in the American news press having carried literally millions of words about philately since the early days of the world war. The reason why the American Philatelic Service and Fred J. Melville have been able to "put this across" was because the events of the war produced hundreds of stamps with human interest stories behind them, and these yarns tickled the news sense of the newspaper editor. Hundreds of "Sunday Specials" and editorial-page fillers were devoted to stamps in this way, and now and then a real news story developed, and collecting found its place on the front page. As other mediums of publicity in America, the juvenile journals should not be overlooked. The Youth's Companion, The American Boy, Boys' Life, St. Nicholas Magazine, and others, have special departments devoted to stamps, and these are important in the work of bringing new collectors into the field to take the place of the older ones who drop out.

Some months ago, the Scott Company moved from its Madison Avenue location, which was rapidly developing into a wholesale district, to its present address, No. 33 West 44th Street. Time has proven that the change was a wise one. The retail shopping district is now tapped,—Fifth Avenue to the east, and Sixth Avenue, Broadway and Seventh Avenue to the west. This enables us to reach readily the casual customer. It has been extremely noticeable that the passer-by who long ago relegated his album to the attic has had his interest re-awakened. The Scott window-display engenders reminiscence. The number of new faces seen in the salesroom is increasing in proportion.

The business has grown in the new location, until now there is need for expansion. Today, the salesrooms and offices occupy 2500 square feet of floor space on the first floor, with the clerical forces taking up much of this space. The expansion planned means the acquiring of the entire second floor of the same building. The clerks will be moved upstairs and the salesrooms will be extended back into the space now occupied for office use. We expect to occupy the second floor about October 1st. The basement is devoted to the storing of our stock of albums and catalogues, and the stockroom today presents an interesting problem for us,—namely, to produce publications as rapidly as they are called for. It will be recalled that the first printing of the 1919 catalogues was quickly exhausted and that a second printing was made a few months ago. The demand for this volume has continued unabated, and the second printing, intended to supply demand until January 1st, is sold out. There will be no third printing of the 1919 catalogue, but work has already begun on preparation for the 1920 edition. The advance sheets will be ready in November and the catalogue will be issued in March, 1920.

The demand for albums has increased commensurate with the scramble for catalogues. To enable us to supply this demand, we have moved our Publication Department, formerly at the lower end of Manhattan, to a new location uptown, having three times the space of the old one. A new edition of the 19th Century album is being prepared. This volume, thoroughly revised and corrected, will be on sale in October. At the same time, a new edition of the 20th Century album is under way, and will appear during December. A striking feature of the 20th Century edition hereafter is that the basis for revision and the addition of supplementary pages will be according to the calendar-year. In other words, the 20th Century edition soon to be issued will contain spaces only for those stamps which have appeared prior to January 1st, 1919. It often requires many months to learn the facts regarding stamp issues, particularly in these Reconstruction days in Europe. A great many of the most recent issues have not been definitely identified and the political future of many territories has not been determined;—hence, the new Scott policy will preclude these radical changes in later editions, which would have to be made if the pages of the 1920 edition were planned to include varieties appearing up to the date of going to press.

It is difficult to state which stamps will probably be most in demand during the coming season. At present, all stamps are in demand, but more particularly those of the United States, early issues, and stamps of the older issues of all foreign countries. There has been a strong liking for the so-called War and Armistice stamps, but the flood of entirely unnecessary and speculative issues has to a large extent disgusted collectors with these recent issues, and we notice they are turning to the older issues, of which more information is available. Poland has probably been the worst offender, having issued nearly two hundred varieties of stamps within the past eight or ten months.

Heretofore, we have confined our advertising to our own publications and to the columns of the juvenile magazines. These mediums will continue to be used, but a policy of expansion has been determined upon and an extensive advertising campaign will be conducted through the philatelic trade press. This campaign includes a 6000-line contract for space to be used in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS during the coming year.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

THE WORLD WIDE HOBBY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

In every country, in every town, almost in every village stamp enthusiasts are to be found. What is there in philately that gives it such worldwide popularity? Perhaps its greatest charm of all is its adaptability. It is not a hobby for the wealthy only, such as the accumulation of old masters, but is for each and everyone of us. Each individual can plan his collection to suit his pocket and on the lines laid down can collect just what he likes. The intelligent collector of small means can form a collection equally as interesting, if not so valuable, as that formed by a wealthy individual and he will certainly obtain as much pleasure from it.

Dollars do not make the best philatelists or always the best collections. The man of limited means but rich in philatelic acumen is at least on equal terms with the wealthy plutocrat whose knowledge of stamps is hardly as great as his love of them. But adaptability alone would not make it a hobby of universal popularity. Where, then, are its fascinations?

To the busy professional man it serves as a real recreation—a pastime of such interest that the cares of business are forgotten, the tired brain is rested without being bored, while it makes time pass pleasantly and profitably without further taxing an already overburdened energy. Its value as a recreation for the busy man is amply proved by the number of captains of industry, successful lawyers, and over-worked journalists who are among its keenest votaries.

For the man of leisure it affords a stimulating occupation—an occupation that demands time and trouble, for really fine specialised collections are not built up by money alone. The items that really matter have to be hunted for while the spice of competition with a "rival" collector only adds to the interest.

To the studious it offers unlimited scope for research, for of no stamps, even those most extensively studied, can it be said that the "last word" has been written; to the old it is a pleasant relaxation, sociable, and a hobby that brings them into contact with the young on common ground, and to the boy it is a hobby full of entrancing delights.

Think of the stirring events depicted on many of the treasures in his album. If he is a lover of animals, and what real boy is not, he will find in his album a fair sized menagerie; ships and boats of all sorts from the primitive native contrivance used in Papua to the up-to-date liner shown on the 10c Pan-American stamp; portraits of heroes who have led their troops to victory; explorers;

A BUTTON SUGGESTION.

(a) The word "Philately" would arouse curiosity and monuments erected to the memory of great men of bygone days; public buildings; people of every clime; flags; maps; the gods of ancient Greece; in fact, the varied designs are alone sufficiently interesting to make stamps desirable objects to collect.
(b) The globe would loosen a flow of explanation.

Postage stamps—old bits of paper as they were contemptuously termed by the scoffers years ago—are rich in memories of history and mythology; they show the progress of the arts and sciences; they link the present with the past; they tell of the things that have been; they mark the progress of mankind; they indicate the growth of empires and the federation of states; they tell of the rise and fall of dynasties; they record the wonderful inventions of modern times; they bear testimony to the civilisation of other decades; they bear honor to great statesmen and national heroes; they record the work of great explorers; and, lastly, they are part and parcel of that greatest of all the wonders of civilisation—the modern postal system, with its marvelous organisation that makes communication between the remotest corners of the world a matter of the utmost simplicity to the individual.

REED & THOMPSON.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This firm was composed of Edmund Reed and John C. Thompson, doing business as the Boston Eagle Match Co.—hence the eagle, which is the most prominent feature of their stamp. The factory was located at East 9th St., corner of Old Harbor, and was in operation about three years. The firm first appears in the Boston directory for 1876-77 and is missing after 1880. A short life and a merry one! They dropped out just about the time the Diamond Match Co. took over the Byam & Carlton business, as might be expected by any one familiar with the history of the match business.

An upright rectangle of the standard 1c size, the stamp is a handsome piece of work and a credit to its engravers, the National Bank Note Co. It is the last match stamp designed by that concern and was first printed by them. Later there was probably at least one printing by the American B. N. Co. and a few may also have been printed by the Bureau. Evidence to prove a Bureau printing has not yet come to the writer's attention.

The Boston Eagle does not resemble other match stamps engraved by the National B. N. Co., but in some details is very much like a few of the American B. N. Co. stamps and it is quite possible that the engraver who cut it had not done work on other National B. N. Co. stamps and worked with the American B. N. Co. after the companies were consolidated. This supposition would account for the resemblance between the Boston Eagle and the Reading Match stamp, particularly in the engraving of the background. The curly-cue ornaments that fill in the triangular spaces between the circular disk containing the eagle and the label at the top containing the inscription ONE CENT, however, are characteristic of many of the National B. N. Co. stamps. The Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, January 29, 1878.
First issued, February, 1878.
Last issued, January 20, 1881.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
3,910,615 issued, all in black on watermarked paper.

SACRIFICE.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

The transport, filled with convalescent wounded, slowly steamed into the harbor. John Burlingame, standing on the upper deck, turned his face toward the land of his birth,—the land for which he had fought, and suffered, and all but died. He was glad—glad—glad—to feel the soft breeze upon his weary face. He slipped his arm about the shoulder of his buddy,—his friend who had given an arm to make the world sane once more.

"Isn't it heavenly, John?"

Robert McBride turned his glowing face toward that of his friend. "There's the Statue, and the good old smells of home!"

John Burlingame pressed his friend closer.

"It is all worth while, Bob,—all. It has been worthy of sacrifice. I know how they'll look at us, and want to do things for us,—but all I want is to get home,—home to my mother!"

The tears were in his voice, and his friend swallowed hard.

"It'll be only a few days, old chap, and then we'll have our discharges. And then—then for home!"

The two boys were silent as the steamer docked. Then they marched off, together, their arms about each other's necks. There were women there who turned away with wet eyes as the boys marched by two's upon the dock. There were men who spoke not at all, nor cheered. One cried out as his boy was carried off the ship on a stretcher.

The days were long before the discharges came,—long for both,—for all. And when they came there was a wild hurrah. The train bore both lads into the West, for a day's journey. McBride was to continue his trip for another day. John Burlingame, after a hasty farewell on the platform, was taken in charge by his brother.

"Oh, Billy! It's good to be home again,—home!" he said, radiantly. "I know mother will be waiting to see us. She couldn't stand the journey, I know, so I didn't wire until we were ready to leave. And all the things at home—Ruth—and old Nell!"

"All well, John, all well," declared Bob, cheerily.

"And the collection?" asked John, with a laugh.

"Fine! Just grand! I have picked up some good things in the last year, which, with those you sent over, have made the outfit look good. There have been our own stamps, too,—varieties, and perforations, and plate-numbers,—and I've started a little collection of postmark varieties on U. S. No. 210. I must have a hundred of them nearly. And they are scarce, too. I've still a Masonic cancellation to find."

John's face glowed.

"Mother!"

The tall woman in grey took her son into her arms and kissed him. Then she spoke, falteringly—"My boy! My dear boy!" She did not give way further, but her shaking hands patted his cheek. Then her son spoke out:

"I want to go to my room, and Bob will dig up the collection for me."

He laughed boyishly, his face shining with his smile.

"It's so good to be home, mother!"

The brother slipped his arm about John's waist as they went up the stairs together. Entering the room, John walked toward the window, through which the clear fresh breeze was blowing. He drew a long breath. Then, turning away, he said:

"Now, Billie, drag 'er down!" and laughed.

Billie opened the album and began to turn the pages.

"Here's a new ten cents of '47. I picked it up on a sheet one of the boys had here. It's a beauty, too,—red cancellation, just on the south-east corner. And here's that Canada twelve pence, imperf., you sent over,—a gem. Got it in London Some stamp, boy! Oh, yes! and here's the new Cape triangular,—the six-pence. I got that at a bargain. Faded a bit, but a gem, with red and black cancellations. Queer, isn't it, how the two should be on it?"

"Yes, and the od six-pence, with the clip on the side?" John was enthusiastic in his recollection.

"That's saved, John,—every one of the discards has been hinged on the supplementary sheets. That was a great idea,—giving up our old printed album, and taking to the blank."

They turned the leaves, Billie talking rapidly and describing the stamps that had come to him in his brother's absence.

The last page was turned. Then John Burlingame, with shaking hands, groped for his brother, found him, and clung steadfastly, trembling. No word was said. Finally he straightened. Then he spoke normally, happily:

"We'll carry on, Billie,—you and I."

Outside the door his mother, on her knees with clasped hands, wept silently for her first-born, blinded in the war.

NOTABLE ADVERTISING FEATURES.

We cannot permit this issue to go to press without calling special attention to the patronage of five firms using large space of a page or more. These announcements indicate an aggressiveness that means increased business, and we know our readers will appreciate the many splendid bargains offered.

First and foremost, the big announcement of W. C. Phillips & Co. stands out pre-eminently. Nearly four pages are used and the line of offerings presented is such as to appeal to all our readers. Elsewhere in this number we have advised the holding of this special issue for ready reference in coming weeks, and this advice applies particularly to the multitudinous offers found in the Phillips advertisement. It has been years since so important an advertisement has appeared in the WEEKLY, and the enterprise of this firm stands out as the strong feature of this week's paper.

Following the Phillips Co. very closely in its bid for business is the two-page announcement of the Marks Stamp Co. Elly Marks, the proprietor, has built up a big business in recent years and the name and the fame of the Marks Stamp Co. is known in all stamp circles. We have noted the recent acquisitions made by this firm and since then the company has purchased the Perrin stock, the firm of Perrin & Co. having been active in the stamp trade for over thirty years in New York City. The stock of D. Taussig, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has also been purchased, making no fewer than six stamp stocks purchased from New York stamp dealers in the past two months. The firm is doing a business that covers the continent and from both retail and wholesale standpoints fills an important place in philately.

Our inside cover page is taken by Percy McGraw Mann. His was the first order received and upon it we have built this fine special number. Mr. Mann is an old-time user of space in the WEEKLY, was for a long time editor of our chronicle of new issues, and is an occasional contributor of stamp articles. His advertisement occupies a commanding position and we bespeak for it a careful reading.

A newly incorporated business is represented on page 3 of the cover. We refer to the C. S. Watson Co., East Dedham, Mass., of which W. J. Bleakie is president and C. S. Watson, treasurer. Mr. Watson has been using the WEEKLY during the past two years and now with capital available will branch out along ambitious lines. A Boston office will soon be opened. Mr. Bleakie, the president of the corporation, resides in Sabattus, Me. Primarily a collector, he has one of the finest U. S. and British Colonial collections in existence. He has a specialized lot of blocks on and off the cover. Mr. Watson assures us that while they shall take space in other papers, the WEEKLY will be their mainstay and the firm will be boosters for our paper.

The Western Stamp Co., whose advertisement appears upon the outside page, is not experimenting in the page of space that it uses. A number of these large advertisements have appeared over the firm name, one running late in August and another being promised for October. When a firm takes space by the page there must of necessity be a pulling power that makes it profitable. H. A. Whipple of Omaha is the owner of the company and we appreciate the patronage the firm has extended us.

IN THE CURRENT ISSUE FIELD ALSO

During the past five months I have been so busy disposing of the Robinson collection and other lots of 19th Century issues, I have had no time for newer issues. But a fortunate foreign connection has given me the opportunity to offer something good in British Colonials of recent issues. I am going to add a larger stock of these, but for the present only order from items advertised.

PHILATELY IN THE UNITED STATES.

By CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

(Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., of London, have revived their "Monthly Journal" for the time g in the form of what will be known as the "Monthly Circular." The initial number con- s the following article, which we are pleased to reprint. At the same time we acknowledge pleasure the splendid tribute that Mr. Phillips, the owner, pays to the collecting interest ne United States when he declares "I am of the opinion that real philately—by which I n the study of particular stamps in the greatest detail— has enormously increased in the ed States in the past eight years." Coming from a collector and dealer of his standing, tribute is all the more marked. As indicated last week, Mr. Phillips will soon be in the s, again and will visit not only New York but Boston, Washington and Philadelphia in t of really fine collections of the old issues. It is very fitting that in this magnificent ber of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY we should have the privilege of printing Mr. Phillips' ions upon the stamp business as he found it on his recent visit to this country.—W. O. W.)

Having been requested to value the ious collection of postage stamps ned by my late friend, Mr. Henry J. veen, and mine being the first visit the United States by any British ler since the termination of the war, w notes on the position of Philately, I found it, in New York may prove nterest.

I found some difficulty in obtaining necessary forms to visit the States; Foreign Office passport was easily ained, but there was much more dif- lty in getting the necessary authori- on from the American authorities, o investigate all applications and who uire unusually full particulars of 's nationality back to one's grand- nts, and of the nature of the business he United States.

However, after some weeks, I was e to comply with all formalities, and ft Liverpool in the S. S. "Adriatic" of White Star Line, on Saturday, April 1. We had on board some 3000 Cana- n troops, and made direct for Hali- , Nova Scotia, which we did not ch until Sunday afternoon, April 2, being considerably delayed by fog, ough which we passed for no less n thirty hours. In two and a half irs we disembarked this large body troops, and left for New York.

The effects of the terrible explosion he harbour at Halifax could be seen all sides, but very much reconstruc- n has taken place and many new rks have been built here during the r.

We arrived in New York at 11.30 a. m. Tuesday, April 22nd. During the following days I was entirely en- ed in the valuation of the Duveen lection, which I made in considerable ail, and with due regard to the great preciation that has taken place in early ues of stamps during the past four rs. The collection is specially strong he great rarities and in blocks of four, great bulk being unused. Many of h blocks had to be valued at ten and n twenty times Catalogue price, as ny pieces in this collection in blocks probably unique in this form and in at demand.

I do not consider I am at liberty to te any figures, but I think I may say it it is not at all likely that the col- tion will come on the market. Hav- finished this work, I was at liberty visit some of the leading collectors New York and district, and received nost hearty welcome from old friends, I am pleased to say that I met a num- of the newer school of collectors who have matured since my last visit to New York some eight years ago.

As is only natural, I found the greatest interest taken in the stamps of the United States, and I saw some truly magnificant collections of Postage and Carrier stamps, the early and rare Postmaster stamps, Confederate Locals and Hawaiian Islands.

For instance, one collector, showing me his stamps, drew my attention to the fact that in his issue of 1847 the 5c and 10c alone filled no less than seven volumes of our Oriel albums.

The manner in which such stamps as the 1851 and 1857 issues of the 1c and 3c stamps have been specialised is stupendous; one sees book after book of these fine old stamps in sheets, blocks, plate numbers, margins, transfer varieties and obliterations, all worked out fully as much as our most advanced men have worked out our own stamps.

On the whole I am of opinion that real philately—by which I mean the study of particular stamps in the greatest detail—has enormously increased in the United States in the past eight years. I cannot help but think that a great deal of this advanced work is due to my friend, Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, America's foremost student in philately, whose marvellous plating and studious work is being followed up by many American collectors.

In the last few years several of the very rich Americans have taken up stamp collecting, and are forming special collections of countries and groups of countries on very advanced lines. All this must inevitably tend to a large increase in the market value of old issues. The demand is greater than ever all over the world, and the supplies are practically exhausted. I venture to predict that the next five years will see the greatest increase in the values of early issues of postage stamps that has ever taken place.

I was able to devote about ten days to a thorough inspection of the stocks of stamps held by the leading dealers in New York. In the value and variety of their stocks I should place the leading firms in the following order:—

1. Nassau Stamp Co., who, under the able management of my friend, John Klemann, have become a firm of the first importance, and have handled many of the greatest collections sold in the United States.

2. A. Krassa, who sold his stock to The Scott Stamp and Coin Co., in 1914, but who, in the past five years, has been one of the largest buyers, and indeed surprised me very much by the variety and excellence of his stock.

3. The Scott Stamp & Coin Co., who have made an excellent move in going uptown to 44th Street, where they have the finest and best arranged offices in New York. Under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, this old and world-famous firm has made great strides, and seems to be far ahead of the position it held on my previous visit to the States.

4. Stanley Gibbons, incorporated, who are par excellence the firm for twentieth century stamps.

My old chum and friend, Eustace B. Power, probably knows more about the stamps of the last nineteen years than any other dealer, and has a grand stock of these issues, so much so that I was able to buy from him between £1000 and £2000 of these stamps to fill up gaps in our own stock. Mr. Power has also a wonderful stock of United States stamps, in which he has specialised for over fifteen years, and on which he is recognised as the authority, he having published several books on this subject.

In such stamps as North American Colonies, West Indies, Colonies in Africa, Ceylon, India, etc., I secured every fine copy I could find in New York, and shall have many desirable items to add to our new stock books as they are remade this coming winter.

The last business matter that I had to attend to was the revision of the deed of agreement existing between Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., of London, and Stanley Gibbons, Incorporated, of New York.

Some eight years ago our London house sold its stock in the United States, and the rights of direct trading there to our New York house, all business during the ensuing period having been done through the New York house, and not direct with collectors.

Arrangements have now been made by which Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., of London, have again secured the privilege of dealing direct with advanced collectors in the United States. It is proposed to confine this business chiefly to stamps of the nineteenth century, more especially the rarities and early issues.

Stanley Gibbons, Inc., of New York, will continue to handle the issues of the twentieth century as their speciality, combined with all issues of the United States, and such stock as they possess or may purchase in the nineteenth-century stamps.

Collectors in North America who may wish to receive special selections of rarities in old issues should communicate direct with Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., 391 Strand, London.

Owing to the great demand upon my time I very much regret that I was not able to meet all my old friends, both among collectors and dealers, but time would not admit of this, and I was unable to get a transfer to another steamer, as all berths are booked up long ahead.

I left New York, after a most enjoyable visit, on Saturday, May 17th, on the famous S. S. "Mauretania." I had crossed ante-bellum in this boat; but, alas, the war has caused a woeful alteration in her appearance. The fine dining saloon has been filled with berths for 500 soldiers, and also the smoking-room has been utilised in a like manner. The saloon passengers have to take their meals in relays at fixed hours, but all inconveniences are forgotten when one is returning to dear old England.

I must not fail to mention a piece of news I heard just before I sailed for home. A famous and advanced collector recently died in the Hawaiian Islands, Mr. Waters. He was well known in England and on the Continent, and possessed a very valuable collection of stamps, especially strong in the issues of the Hawaiian Islands, United States, European and British Colonials. Mr. Waters has left his entire collection to his native city of Bremen, Germany. The U. S. Alien Property Custodians have seized the collection, and a suit will have to go to the Courts to decide what shall be done with the bequest. I much doubt if it will ever reach Germany.

DOUBLE PRINTS

We are just breaking a sheet of 3c surface print, double impressions. This sheet shows every stamp in the sheet with a clear double impression and is the finest sheet we have ever seen of this variety. This error is much more rare than the 5c red error ever will be and collectors should get copies of this stamp while it is possible. Printing of this stamp has probably ceased forever.

We have the two plate number blocks of six stamps at $15.00 the block.

Single copies, pairs or strips at $1.50 per stamp.

The straight edge copies at $1.00 per stamp.

An immediate reply might get the sheet before broken at $100.

BLACK BEAUTY Biggest album bargain ever offered. Ask your dealer or let us send you circulars free. $1.25, postage extra. Shipping weight 2 pounds.

FREAK SHEETS

We offer entire sheets current 2c United States with plate number and side marks on sheet but bottom plate number, arrow and all bottom marginal marks are missing. We can supply four different side plate numbers.

Full sheets at $3.50 per sheet.

CHILE—UNUSED

The following offer of Chile, lists most numbers from the third issue to date and collectors will find some excellent stamps at reasonable prices, all unused. We also have several of the missing numbers and will submit any of them on approval to parties known to us.

CHILE COLLECTION.

We have an excellent mounted collection of Chile, containing both used and unused copies together with a nice lot of mint blocks, and used pairs and blocks, besides a few interesting essays and other items of interest to specialists. Price on application.

Block of 98 We have for sale a block of 98 copies, lacking just two stamps of being a full sheet. The biggest block of current $1.00 U. S. Stamps ever captured. This will probably be an unique piece. Condition is very fine and cancellation extremely light. No, it is not cancelled to order.

A CARD OF CONGRATULATIONS.

"We congratulate MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS upon the attainment of another mile-stone in its career, and take pleasure in testifying to its great value as an advertising medium. No other publication has been so productive in returns and this testimonial is cordial and sincere."

The above is a remarkable testimonial to the value of the WEEKLY as an advertising medium, and we have received quite a number of letters in which our patrons have spoken in a very complimentary manner concerning our publication. We do not have very much space at our disposal and can only quote in part from some of the letters at hand. We feel quite sure that these published extracts reflect the sentiments of the large number of signers to the message of congratulation. We quote as follows:—

"Your great and unique achievement of having published 1500 numbers stands as a record hard to beat. You certainly deserve the congratulations and good will of all stamp collectors and dealers for the large amount of service and prestige that you have given to the philatelic cause. My personal endorsement has been extended to you in a practical manner in every issue by one or more of my advertisements, from No. 1, to No. 1500. I do not think that I missed a single number during all that period. I trust that you and I will both be alive to tell a similar story when you double the number, and make it 3000."—P. M. WOLSIEFFER (Philadelphia Stamp Co.).

"Indirectly you have just reminded me that I have welcomed 1500 issues of your paper; that means that each week for 29 years I have received and gone over the paper and I believe that I have a complete file of them. I think you will find an advertisement of mine in the greater number of the copies you have issued. Allow me to congratulate you on the publication of so worthy and much needed publication and to express the hope that it will continue indefinitely."—E. T. PARKER.

"My ads in your paper backed by my stock and experience have built me up a business that gives me all I can possibly attend to. I consider, from my experience, all other advertising mediums as negligible quantities."—F. NOYES.

"I have been carrying an advertisement mostly calling for rare old U. S. stamps for my collection. The results have been excellent and I have obtained many rarities. Your advertisement proposition is certainly worthy of investigation."—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

"My advertisement has appeared in every number of your paper beginning with April, 1909."—FRANK M. MASON.

"We haven't had to use any other medium as the WEEKLY keeps us going full blast both winter and summer."—RUEGER STAMP CO.

"My former stamp business, the Ararat Stamp Co., was entirely built up through advertising in MEEKEEL'S. Six years ago I sold this business and I still advertise in your paper."—VAHAN MOZIAN.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Who Can Help Us With the One Cent 1851?

Our work on the plates of the ONE CENT BLUE, 1851, is nearing completion; and we are willing to pay exceptional prices for further copies. PAIRS OR BETTER particularly needed.

We buy these stamps in any condition that may help us in our study but naturally prefer to pay exorbitant prices for prime copies. Those who have pieces not for sale will assist by loaning them for a short time; we pay registration both ways, of course.

Singles showing margin, center line or imprint especially desired. The one cent, perforated, 1857, is wanted, too.

WANTED, all fine U. S. previous to 1880; and we will buy entire collections.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Androscoggin Stamp Club of Auburn, Me., sets a good example to other stamp societies by presenting no fewer than ten of our books to the Auburn, Me., Public Library. A subscription to the WEEKLY is also included.

—W. F. M.—Try Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular, London, England.

—We have added F. E. Prohaska to the list of those who want a first page location. It now stands:—Edgewood, Apex, Bartels, Mehl, Allen, Poole, Bailey, Voorhees and Prohaska.

—Edwin P. Seebohm advises us of the death of Geo. E. Washburn of San Francisco. Mr. Washburn was an old-time collector-dealer, and has been quite a figure in Golden Gate stamp circles.

—England has a new weekly paper for boys. It is called the Boys' Weekly. In a copy just at hand we note a stamp department with F. Hugh Vallancey as editor.

—Any dealer interested in a wholesale pricelist should procure the one just issued by Bright and Son, 164 Strand, London, England. The list has 16 pages and a wide range of stamps is priced, singly, per dozen, hundred and thousand.

—Several of our subscribers have sent us a circular sent out from Helsingfors, Finland, but printed in English. It is an interesting affair, and we shall reprint it, in whole or in part, in an early number. A collector by the name of Jarnefelt is using this circular as a means of disposing of what he terms "rare entires", but dealing especially with a Finnish cover bearing the historic date, June 28, 1919, for which he asks the modest sum of one dollar. A mere paragraph cannot do justice to the logic and grammar of the circular in question.

—The Philatelic Society of Pittsburgh has in the hands of the printer a manuscript on the U. S. 3c purple, which will soon appear in the form of a handbook at 10c. Another booklet will be announced soon.

—"The annual meeting of the New Haven Philatelic Society was held Sept. 11 and the following were elected as officers for the ensuing year:—Pres., M. Ray Sanborn; Vice Pres., E. B. Brown; Treas., C. H. Miller; Sec., E. A. Young. The Society is in a prosperous condition and plans for many activities during the season. A permanent exhibition case has been secured in the New Haven Public Library and members will show portions of their collections from time to time in an effort to create interest in local philately."—E. A. YOUNG, Sec.

—In a news bulletin of the International Postmark Society sent out by Ralph W. Porter, 2551 S. Hoover St., Los Angeles, Calif., there appears a list of twenty-five forestry cancellations. A copy of the bulletin can no doubt be obtained for a stamp.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. J. Stephens, Charles E. Carman, C. D. Skinner, Jr., and Edward W. Rose.

—George W. Linn of Columbus, the proprietor of the well-known stamp firm bearing his name, was in New York recently and secured a block of ninety-eight of the current $1 U. S. used. Mr. Linn considers it the largest used block of this stamp known. It is not a cancelled-to-order block.

—We are listing this week the historical catalog of "Stamps of New Europe," the second edition of which has been published by Mr. Melville. The book is a splendid chronicle of the stamps of the hour and the copious illustrations are very interesting. Send in a new name to our list with 50c and you may have the book free. The price of the book is 20c at this office.

—We are informed by R. Yokohori that the Philatelic Society of Japan has recently decided to publish a third edition of the Standard Catalog of the Postage Stamps of Japan. It will also undertake to publish a Japanese album along the lines of the catalog.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from James Nicholson, Harry B. Mason, Wm. E. Dowser, Otto Haker.

—Our congratulations to Mr. W. S. Aldrich, the St. Joseph, Mo., dealer. Wedding cards are at hand announcing the marriage of Mr. Aldrich and Mrs. Lucile Sevier Goerner at Denver, Colo., Monday, Sept. 15.

EST. 1891 MARKS STAMP CO., Toronto, Canada

OLDEST AND LARGEST STAMP FIRM IN BR. NORTH AMERICA

APPROVALS

PREPAREDNESS is the main requisite of the approval business. In this respect our approval department is "second to none." Recent large purchases enable us to offer—29,000 VARIETIES—by countries at net prices. We also have net general selections or 50% and 60% books. Send us Bank or Commercial reference and list of countries you collect. A trial will convince the most exacting buyer. The list above shows the quality of our stock.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC --- CHILE --- PARAGUAY --- URUGUAY

An exceptionally large opportune purchase of South American stamps (see elsewhere in this issue) makes it possible for us to quote this large list of real bargains that should interest every collector and dealer from the Beginner to the Specialist. Arranged in order of Scott's 1919 Catalog, it will be easy for you to order. Some stamps limited, so order NOW. Preference given with cash orders. Postage is 3c EXTRA on all orders under $1.00. 5% discount on RETAIL orders over $10.00—10% on $25.00 orders. WHOLESALE prices strictly NET—CASH WITH ORDER. Good copies—Low prices, and anything returnable if unsatisfactory. Could we be more fair? * means unused. Thrift or W. S. Stamps, Liberty or Victory Bonds accepted at par.

WHY NOT SEND US YOUR WANT LIST OF THESE, OR OTHER, COUNTRIES? SATISFACTION YOUR GUARANTEE.

PARAGUAY.

OUR GREATEST SUCCESS.

Before you lies a great paper.

We have a justifiable pride as we scan its contents, for it breathes an optimism that cannot be repressed. Our advertising pages are fairly bursting with bargains. We are convinced that in no trade can more enterprise be found than in the stamp trade.

The WEEKLY staff, the dealer and the subscriber have made No. 1500 possible. Two of the trinity have much to show in the way of results and it is now up to the subscriber to complete his part with a strong advertising patronage. Suggestion:—

"Keep this paper near you for the next two months and profit by its bargains."

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Personal—We do not have to dwell upon the reason for the manifestation of rejoicing and congratulation by a special issue of unusual size and scope of contents. The fact that fifteen hundred numbers of this paper have been published is sufficient explanation for a burst of enthusiasm on our part, and the knowledge that a good number of our readers are interested in this achievement warms our own feelings on the subject. For fifteen hundred weeks, or roughly, thirty years, our sheet has appeared through thick and thin. During this long period of time there have been fat years; and there have been lean ones, when conditions were so perverse that they put enterprise and persistence to the test. With a clean record so far as sequence of issue is concerned and with a commendable average of regularity, we pause for a few minutes to enjoy a measure of self-approval on the score of accomplishment. Any advertising advantage that comes from attaining a goal that heretofore has never been reached in the realm of philatelic publishing, we are entitled to enlarge upon, we suppose, especially when our success is dependent upon or a consequence of that of stamp collecting, in its broadest sense. So, when we speak of the personal side of our record, we know that likewise we are paying tribute to the substance and permanence of philately. It is a satisfaction to find that our milestone is reached at a time when collecting interest runs high. There is no need now for sophistical claims to prove the dominance of philately, as it is apparent that the great wave of collecting enthusiasm is carrying all obstacles before it. Too, it is washing away the indifference with which a large percentage of the general public regards the collecting of stamps. Never has a stamp season been "opened" more auspiciously by the WEEKLY than this one.

Expressed—Several of our friends have been kind enough to write us their sentiments about the suggestions carried by the 1500th issue of a weekly publication devoted to a pursuit that is not catalogued among the "regular" avocations. We are impressed by their greetings and their words of praise bring the blush of pride to our brazen cheeks. One correspondent says that the influence of the example of our coming each week for fifteen hundred times has had a sustaining force on collecting that cannot be estimated. He thinks that we "are all too modest" and that support of our paper should not be an individual matter but one that should engage the aid of all who are interested in the welfare of philately; and adds: "The debt of gratitude is not owed by you for having extracted nourishment enough to sustain existence for so many years but philately's for having the tremendous impetus of a private project that does so much public good." Let us draw the curtain here.

Slow—The advertising columns of this number show the present vast commercial estate of collecting. While we are gratified that so splendid a representation of the business side is gathered on our columns, yet we wish to go beyond the selfish limits of crowded advertising columns and say that with all their enterprise dealers in stamps have been remiss in not organizing themselves into a powerful, recognized body for mutual expansion and protection. This declaration comes home to us when we find other lines in which the investment does not compare with philately's are highly organized to repel aggressions from all points of the compass. We believe that the American Stamp Dealers' Association is doing excellent work, but we have been told that the support that it has received is by no means commensurate with the strength of dealing interests. It is the duty of dealers to rally to the standard of this society that already is established so that they may know that a sentinel watches over the dealers' camp. The dealers' interests and those of the collectors are not always identical, and now that the collectors' societies have made a start in the right direction, the dealers should do the same.

Working—The Publicity Committee recently appointed by President Wilson of the American Philatelic Society is already justifying its existence; and Mr. Diamant, the energetic chairman of the committee, has submitted, we understand, a tentative proposal that embraces lines of procedure that combine enterprise and originality. In view of the interest engendered by the illustrated lecture at St. Louis during the convention (we are told that seventeen new members were admitted to the local society there at the last meeting) the idea of amplifying the use of the pictured stamps becomes attractive. Lectures, illustrated by, say, fifty slides and prepared to the number of twelve, given under the auspices of the branch societies, not to mention others, would have great possibilities. The distribution of stamps to the boys would be a feature of these occasions and the fund to be drawn on for the expenses of distributions of the kind should be a liberal one. We like the lecture suggestion, which if worked out will provide an effective advertising feature. The publicity plans are being considered by Mr. Diamant's committee and we have had the privilege of looking over a draft of the different schemes that are being devised; and here we may say without anticipating any of the proposals of the committee that they seem to be both practical and reasonable.

Ah—From Mr. Wilson D. Wood, Kansas City, Mo., we have received a clipping that intrigues us greatly. It is from the Star of his city, and bears a Salina, Kansas, date-line. The story is told that a man of Salina "began when a small boy to save old stamps, and his collection was a large, heavy one when Mr. Bryan visited that city about twenty years ago. Hearing of the collection, he found the boy and paid him $700 for it." To continue: "Mr. Harris used the money to go into business for himself and has been going ever since. He is now the proprietor of the Salina steam laundry, and the $700 is still a part of the assets on which he is conducting the business. Mr. Harris says that Mr. Bryan's collection of stamps—to which he is still adding—is valued at $35,000." We have a crony who traveled extensively with William Jennings Bryan and from what he tells us the one-time "Boy Orator of the Platte" assuredly did not pay $700 twenty years ago for any stamp collection, even a "heavy" one; and that he has not a stamp collection valued at $35,000; and his arguments to prove his contentions will not be given space here. Mr. Wood says: "This is the best recommendation I have as yet seen for Mr. Bryan, and I think that if publicity had been given this side of his character at the proper time, the few extra votes necessary to put him over might have been forthcoming." We admire the genius of the Star's young man; and his work bespeaks both art and artifice. It sometimes happens that wild recitals of this description have some foundation in fact and it would be interesting to know what basis the story has; and if it is proved that William J. Bryan has a collection at all, we will eat humble pie.

AIR POST STAMPS.

Special stamps for use in the transatlantic airpost have been prepared by the Newfoundland Postoffice, in two separate types. That for the Handley-Page service consists of the 15-cent (Cabot series) surcharged "Transatlantic Air Post, 1919-$1," while the Sopwith Martinsyde stamp is the current 3-cent (Caribou Head), the same that was used to frank the letters carried by Hawker and Grieve on their flight.

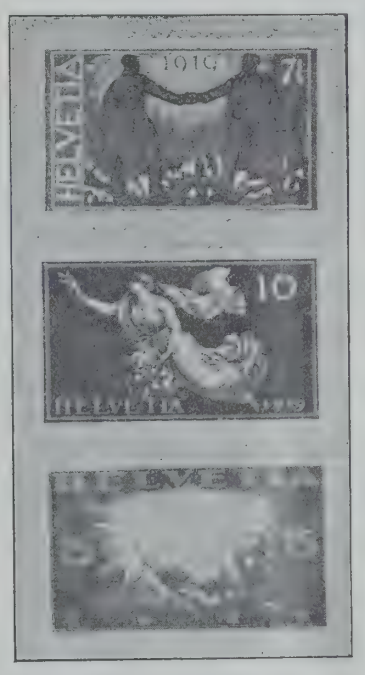
The historic stamp bearing the imprint "First Transatlantic Air Post, May, 1919," will be eagerly sought after by stamp collectors, as only 200 specimens exist. The original printing had the date "April" instead of May.

The latest novelty in aerial stamps hails from Tunis, where the 35-cent postage stamp has been converted to aerial use by means of a winged overprint, resembling the badge of the R. A. F., and the words "Poste Aerienne." Switzerland, too, has utilized the badge of the national air corps, a winged propeller, to distinguish the special 50-cent stamp employed in the air post service between Zurich and Lausanne.

Three stamps of the face values 75 centimes black, 1 franc blue and 1 franc 25 centimes red, for use in the French air post, are being prepared by the Government stamp printery. The design, by M. Leon Ruffe, shows a portrait of Captain Guynemer inset above views of the airdrome at Issy-le-Moulineaux and of an airplane flying over the Seine. These stamps will not be issued to the public, but will be affixed by the postal officials to denote supplementary charges for letters carried by airplane. Belgium has also a series of aerial postage stamps in course of production.—London Times.

THE NEW SWISS PEACE STAMPS.

We illustrate herewith the new peace stamps just issued by Switzerland. Mr. A. Koechlin of Berne sent us a specimen set issued August 1 and consisting of three values:—7½, 10 and 15c.



The issue is a so-called "limited one", to the extent for 4,500,000 copies of each value. The issue is limited in that any re-issue will not be allowed. The stamps were originally intended for inland mail but they have found their way into use for foreign postage.

1000 Varieties -- WAR -- RED CROSS -- CHARITY STAMPS

This list should interest all 20th collectors, whether making special War collections or not.

We offer in this list about 1000 varieties of War, War Charity, Red Cross stamps. It's the largest and most complete list of these, ever issued on this side, to our knowledge. We have bought as carefully as possible for our own and customers' protection, and averaging it up we believe the prices quoted will compare favorably with any yet made. Our extensive connections enable us to buy to as good advantage as any dealer, and most of these goods we have imported as near direct as possible. We have other items not offered here and many others will arrive by the time this list is issued. The great demand, uncertain supply, our distance from same, will cause us to run out of some things and so we ask you to kindly add a small second choice order when possible. In every case we'll send the first choice unless sold out. Offers have been classified and arranged for your convenience as much as is possible.

W. C. PHILLIPS & CO., Box 1012, HARTFORD, CONN.

$5 U. S. FREE

$5 green 1916
$5 green and black 1918

Either one of these $5 (your choice) free with an order of $10 or more from this list of offers.

This list is full of good stamps, "hard-to-get" ones. Space will not permit going into detail but we will mention the Scandinavians, Russian rubles, French and Portuguese Colonials. There are many others just as good. It's full of desirable high values. The discount is liberal on most items, but cost price rather than catalog has governed our pricing. There never was a time in the history of stamp collecting when catalog prices meant as little as today, so do not make the mistake of placing too much faith in Scott cat. values which are a year old. We try to list only items we think our stock and supply will meet, but it's impossible to anticipate runs on special things and so we ask you to kindly give a small second choice order when possible. All stamps are good average to fine shape and money back if not O. K. This sign means unused (*); all others used. Cat. prices given thus (50c) in some cases.

SPECIAL SNAPS

In this column we list a few items we are able to offer at much less than usual prices, through favorable purchases, etc. All are desirable goods, and we repeat the prices are SPECIAL, and many of the offers will not be made again by us at these figures. POSITIVELY not over TWO copies of any one stamp to a customer. Do not order more, please.

WAR APPROVAL BOOKS.

For those who do not have much of a line of these stamps we have made up some books of cheaper and medium priced items. Customers known to us or others who give some proof of responsibility can have selections sent to choose from. These books will change but will run about the same as listed.

No. 1A	European War Issues only, Austria to Hungary. Only issues of the older states $16.00
No. 1B	Same as above, but including higher priced items. Many sets .....$35 and up
No. 2A	European War Issues only, Hungary to Turkey. Many in sets $15.00
No. 2B	Same, but higher priced stamps, etc. A good lot of Roumania, etc. ..$25.00 and up
No. 3A	New Europe—Only countries that were born from War. Cheaper issues $8.00
No. 3B	New Europe—As above, but the scarcer values, etc. Many complete sets $25 and up
No. 4A	French Cols.—Red Cross issues mostly. A nice lot, & Red Cr. near cplt $10 and up
No. 5A	Italian Issues—Issues of Italian Occ. and Colonies only. Cheaper values ...$12.00
No. 5B	Same as above, but a better line Some very scarce stamps, Trent, Trieste, etc., etc. ..... $50 and up
No. 6A	BRITISH COLS. — Mostly War Tax and a nice line of the cheaper issues 8.00
SPECIAL	While the above books are classified and cover the run of War issues pretty close, we have some large books, really collections of these stamps, we will submit to those who wish to purchase $25 or more at a time. Their value runs from about $150. up, and we have made heavy sales from them. On account of the absence of catalogs, etc., these are very convenient for those who wish to see before buying. Special selections of wants, and rare items will be sent those who mean business. Prompt returns required as we are unable in many cases to obtain enough goods to meet our demands, and wish to hold as much unsold stock in hand as possible for orders.

1919 Series of Approval Books

Our celebrated "Jumbo" books, Mounted collections, approval books by countries, special books, etc. Approvals for all classes and kinds of collectors. A partial list follows.

1919 Series of "Jumbo" Books

A brand new series just made up. Better than ever before. In the few years we have put out these books they have proved the most popular series in America. It's not uncommon for us to make sales of $15. to $25. from a couple of books, and sales of $5. from a book are the usual thing, which shows their popularity and quality. Books contain about 400 stamps each, about 10,000 var. in the series. Priced net from 1c up, usually at about half catalog, but in many cases less. Will average 50% of list. An extra 10% discount on sales of $3. and 20% on $5. or more.

KING ALBERT AND HIS HELMET

The design of the new "Liberation" Stamps of Belgium, portraying King Albert wearing the active service casque of the Belgian Army is the work of a Brussels artist, M. Jean de Bast, who during the German occupation rendered invaluable assistance to the allied secret service by the preparation of fac-simile passports and cards of identity, executed with such ingenuity as to completely deceive the German military authorities. He also undertook at great personal risk the illustration of a clandestine journal, L' Ame Belge, even venturing so far as to introduce his own initials into the different designs.

By a regrettable oversight the heroic city of Liége was not included amongst those represented upon the pictorial stamps issued at Havre in 1915 as a memorial to the devastated glories of Belgium. This omission has now been rectified by the issue on July 21st of a 25 centimes stamp representing the "Perron Liégeois." At present this stamp is only sold at post offices in Liége itself, but in due course it will be taken into general use.

Apropos of the reference to an impending issue of Rhineland occupation stamps by the Belgian Government, it appears that certain values of the current Belgian series have already appeared overprinted with the town names of Malmedy and Eupen in the district of Aix-la-Chapelle, just across the frontier.—West End Philatelist.

CUBA.

Cuba, the "Pearl of the Antilles!" Discovered by Columbus, who thought it the mainland of Asia, colonized by the Spanish, partially occupied by the English, restored to Spain, again taken by the English and returned once more, and finally rendered a free Republic by the United States, which stands as her guardian; such is the checkered career in brief of the Republic of Cuba, with countless details of misery and misrule omitted.

Our review of its postal history comes mostly under the Spanish rule preceding its successful revolt against oppression and exploitation for the benefit of the Spaniards alone. The first stamp issue was in 1855, when the Spanish government prepared a single colonial set of three stamps for use in Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. This was identical in design with the Spanish issue of that year and printed upon the same blue paper with watermark of a chain of loops. The distinguishing features of the two issues were the colors and values. The colonial issue was expressed in "reales plata fuerte," or coined silver reales rather than paper money, the value of this real being 12½ cents American. The ½r stamp was not used in the Philippines, and the 1 and 2r used in the three colonies can only be distinguished when bearing a legible postmark. The usual cancellation of an oval filled with network was common to the three colonies and stamps bearing this can, of course, only be properly placed when on a cover showing the place of mailing. Thus the first issue of Cuba has to be "certified," so to speak, by a proper postmark or accompanying cover if the collector be over particular; if not, he cannot be sure his stamp was not bought or used elsewhere. This issue was announced for January 1, 1855, but was delayed until about the first of May, because of difficulty in getting the watermarked paper at the National Stamp Factory in Madrid, where the stamps were made.

The next issue, the 2r stamp bearing the surcharge "Y¼," has been the source of countless arguments for years. It was created for temporary use on the establishment of a local rate of ¼r for the delivery of city mail within the limits of Havana. The stumbling block has been the letter "Y", which in Spanish can be either the conjunction "and" or the initial of "Ynterior" meaning "interior, internal, local." To those who read it "and" the stamp was of course a "2¼r" value. But a letter from the Director of Posts to the Governor, stating that all arrangements had been made for the local postal service, asked permission to print "200,000 of the stamps at present intended to serve for the franking of correspondence, using those of the kind that is least required, and printing upon them a letter Y and ¼, as it is necessary to create stamps for the prepayment of postage for the letters and packets to be circulated in this manner, with an expressed value of one cuartillo." The regulations permitted the mailing of letters and packets irrespective of weight, provided they bore a stamp of ¼ real (one cuartillo). There is, therefore, no doubt from the rate and the quotation that the surcharged stamp is a ¼ real stamp and the "Y" does not mean "and"; besides, there was never any 2¼r rate. As an initial, therefore, the "Y" is undoubtedly for "Ynterior," its use in this manner for "I" being an old Spanish custom, particularly in documents and with proper names.

The stamps were issued November 19, 1855. They were surcharged in sheets of 100, though the 2r stamps were printed in sheets of 170, ten rows of seventeen, and there are practically 100 minor varieties, due to types, length of bar and spacing. But the main varieties occur in the letter Y, one of which is considerably narrower than the other. The number of each type per sheet is unknown, but they are supposed to have been in the ratio of four or five narrow ones to one of the wider form.

The stamps with the "loops" watermark having been imitated in Spain, a new yellowish paper with a watermark of crossed lines was adopted, and the Colonial issue appeared on this in Cuba about September, 1856. But this paper was soon discarded for unwatermarked white wove, and as the consignment of the former was evidenly not large, we find the stamps on the latter paper appearing early in 1857.

A new lot of ¼r surcharged stamps was required and printed about the beginning of 1858, to the number of 100,000. They were made from the new stock of 2r stamps on unwatermarked paper and have a uniform letter "Y" differing slightly from the previous two. There are minor variations in each of the one hundred settings as before. A further supply of 100,000 of these surcharges was printed early in 1860, thus making a total of 200,000 as in the 1855 issue. But finally, in 1862, a permanent ¼r stamp was prepared at Madrid in the design of the Spanish issue of 1860, and this was issued in Havana toward the end of 1862.

On January 1, 1864, all previous issues became obsolete and a new set in one design, corresponding to the new Spanish stamps of the same date, was put in use and continued for two years. Meanwhile, the currency had been changed from reales and pesos to the decimal system of 100 centimos to an escudo. As the escudo equalled four reales, the equivalents of the previous stamps would have been respectively 50, 25, 12½ and 6¼ centimos for the 2, 1, ½ and ¼ reales. A slight benefit of reduction apparently took place, for we find the new stamps issued on January 1, 1866, are respectively 40, 20, 10 and 5 centimos. The design was unchanged from the previous one, but the new denominations and the date "1866" were inserted in the lower label of the stamp. The 5c stamps for the local city postage became exhausted before the end of the year and recourse was had to remainders of the 1864 issue of ¼r stamps, which were surcharged with the figures "66" (1866) to render them "habilitado" or "usable" for the remainder of the year. The surcharge was issued in November.

On January 1, 1867, a new issue of the same four values, in the same design and colors, with only the change of date from 1866 to 1867, appeared. Again, on January 1, 1868, another new issue in the usual four values but in a new and special design appeared. These stamps were headed "Ultramar" or "Overseas," the first time any reference to the Colonies or outlying possessions appears. They were restricted to Cuba and Puerto Rico, however, and were not used in the Philippines. The same design was adapted to Fernando Po, but this had the name on the stamp. The corners of the design had the four letters C O R R, standing for "CORREOS" or "postage," and the value label bore the date "1868." The 10c and 20c were bisected and used for half values.

In September, 1868, a revolution in Spain drove Queen Isabella from the throne and a Republican government was installed. Before Republican stamps were issued the previous royalist issues were surcharged "Habilitado por la Nacion" and handstamps were sent to Cuba for this purpose. There is some question as to whether the Cuban stamps were actually put in circulation with this surcharge or whether such used copies as are known were not cancelled "par complaisance." If issued they probably appeared about December, 1868. It is stated that they were unknown until 1872 in the philatelic world, at any rate.

In spite of the somewhat abrupt dismissal of Queen Isabella in 1868 a new issue for the Colonies bearing her portrait appeared on January 1, 1869, and these were issued both with and without the "Habilitado" overprint, the majority being without. They were like the 1868 issue with the date changed to "1869." The 10c and 20c stamps were again bisected and used for half values. On February 1, 1870, the Republican issue for the Colonies appeared. It copied the Spanish design, but the heading was "correos" instead of "communicaciones" and the date "1870" appears. The same four values were employed and the 10c and 20c were split and used for half values as before. Although withdrawn on January 31, 1871, the 10c was reissued on November 21, 1873, to fill a need for that value, and the 10c and 20c on June 27, 1874, for the same purpose, but the can only be told by the postmark. May 5, 1870, a decree prohibited the use of split stamps unless authorized.

On February 1, 1871, another new issue in a special design, representing a seated female with olive branch leaning on the arms of Spain, appeared for Cuba and Puerto Rico, with the heading "Ultramar 1871." In this issue we have another change of currency to the peso of 100 centimos, five pesetas being equal to a dollar. The four values of 12, 25 and 50 centimos and 1 peseta therefore represent 2½, 5, 10 and 20 cents American. In spite of the prohibition we find the 25c cut in half and used for the 12½ value.

The "restoration" having put King Amadeus on the throne of Spain December 4, 1870, it was natural to look for a change in the Colonial stamps, but a set bearing his portrait did not appear until February 1, 1873, and eleven days later he resigned his authority! The new set bore the inscription "Ultramar Ano 1873," and the lowest value appeared as 12½c instead of 12c. The 50c is known imperforate, and the 25c and 1p were bisected and used for half values. It was this set that was first overprinted with the "paraphe" or flourish that was to be used only in Puerto Rico in consequence of speculators buying stamps in one island and selling in the other to make a profit on the difference in value of the currency in the two colonies. The Puerto Rico overprints were issued on July 15, 1873, and for the next four years the "Ultramar" stamps used without overprint were employed in Cuba only.—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

GERMANY'S NEW STAMPS.

Several readers have been good enough to send us descriptions and reproductions of the designs for new German postage stamps, recently approved by the National Assembly at Weimar. If these are to be taken as a criterion, the standard of art in Germany has deteriorated. More than four thousand drawings were submitted, mainly on Cubist and Futurist lines, and twenty-eight were selected as suitable for reproduction. As artistic efforts they are, for the most part, crude in the extreme, so much so that in some cases it is difficult to recognize what they are intended to represent. All are of an allegorical nature, and represent the re-birth of the German nation. As in the case of the French postage stamps of 1870, an attempt has evidently been made to secure designs of non-political and non-controversial nature for the first stamps of the German Republic.

The subjects of the three winning designs, for each of which 2,000 marks was awarded, were: 10 pfennigs, an oak tree sprouting with young shoots (by Hugo Frank, of Stuttgart), 15 pfennigs, a similar subject (by Ernest Bohm, of Charlottenburg); and 25 pfennigs, a bas-relief on the ancient Egyptian style, depicting a young mason bearing bricks on a tray and with a trowel beside him (by Georges Mathey, of Berlin). Another approved design shows a Phoenix arising from the ashes. These stamps, which are uniformly inscribed "Deutsch National Versammlung, 1919," will shortly replace "the horrid-looking design of Germania," whose militarist aspect was condemned by the Reichstag as far back as June, 1918.

A correspondent of the Times, in that prophetic vein so beloved of certain philatelic journalists, says "there is likely to be a separate issue for the new Rhineland State, but what will be done in the case of Bavaria and Wurtemberg, who have throughout retained the right to issue their own postage stamps, is not yet apparent. At present two separate series are current in Bavaria, under the Red Republic, the first comprising stamps with the portrait of the ex-Regent overprinted 'Volkstaat Bayern' in two lines of Gothic type, and the second the Germania type of the German Empire, with the imprint 'Friestaat Bayern' in two lines."—Stamp Collecting.

THE NEW POLISH STAMPS.

(This article reprinted from the London Telegraph is by F. J. Melville and shows the kind of publicity work that the energetic head of the Junior Philatelic Society is doing in behalf of philately. There never was a time when newspaper editors were so hungry for philatelic matter as now. It is up to you to do what you can locally.—W. O. W.)

In the few months that have elapsed since the armistice, the Polish postal authorities have indulged in an orgy of provisional stamp issues. These stamps have reflected the unsettled conditions prevailing throughout the country, and are teaching collectors more of the geography of Poland than they learned from news telegrams during the war.

From widely different parts of the country temporary stamps have been issued, generally created by overprinting former Russian, German and Austrian stamps, which have been commandeered and converted into Polish stamps.

Such issues are somewhat embarrassing to the collector, for they have to distinguish between the German Warsaw stamps, overprinted "Polish Posts" ("Poczta Polska," or "Polska Poczta"), at such widely distant points as Warsaw, Plonsk, Brzoziny, Sieradz, Grodzisk, Otwock, Kalisz, Wlocawek, Ostroleka, Ostrow, Lencyca.

The Austrian stamps have been similarly overprinted in the South, notably at Lublin and Mylsinece.

Early in the present year stamps of a definitive design were issued, but these also have proved to be of a temporary character. A unique feature of this issue was its occurrence in two distinct currencies, one in fennig and marks, for use in the former Russian Poland, which has lately been under German domination, and the other in heller and korona, which has been current in South Poland, where the Austrians have held sway.

I have received the new issue, which is said to be a combined issue for the whole of Poland. So far there are six denominations to hand, three bearing different representations of the Polish eagle, and the other three portray the leaders of the new government. On the 15-fennig is a profile of M. Paderewski, president of the council of ministers; on the 20-fennig is M. Trompczynski, president of the parliament, and on the 25-fennig M. Pilsudski, president of the Polish republic. The portrait of M. Paderewski is a pleasing addition to the postage stamp portrait gallery.

The photograph from which the above halftone was made was kindly loaned by the Public Ledger of Philadelphia.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, an old favourite, contains a varied assortment of advertisements. I cannot, and never could understand why American dealers can afford to pay the huge advertisement rates they do and yet advertise 10c and 25c lots. I notice that Stanley Gibbons, Inc., advertise a packet of 1,000 varieties of Hayti. In the near future I suppose we shall have printed albums for every country. Would that we could go back to the old days when a Haytian stamp was a rarity, but those days have gone forever, so why repine, but still I do not like to think of the collector of the future exhibiting his collection of Hayti, and having to dispatch his albums by goods train.

The Marks Stamp Co. of Toronto advertising a packet say, "Many small countries, represented, such as Fiji, Samoa, Seychelles, etc.," while a little later along comes Canada! The Epsom Canadians won't like that.

Some of the American names are delightful; the Pamunkey Stamp Co. is issuing a monthly list. Good luck to it. I hope that Ma is likewise well.

Quoting a dealer, M. W. S. N. says: "I notice that you are trying to correct conditions that allow of improvement in philately and I wish you all success in your mission. I have long been of the opinion that there has been too much jealousy in the trade and bickering among collectors and small stuff of the kind and I have tried as best I could to help matters."

I guess that now some of the smaller stuff will start another bicker.

American dealers have evidently the same difficulty in catering for the "small stuff" as do their European brethren. I notice that one firm in Ohio advertises 100 different French Colonials for 70c, while in the same column an opposition Ohio concern boosts 75 varieties for 1.25c. How happy could I be with either.

As readers know, the advertisement columns of any paper will always afford me amusement; the other day, in one of the leading dailies, I think the Times, I saw somebody offering a Hawker Newfoundland stamp—best offer over £100 securing it!

Just my rotten luck to have only £99 in the bank.

I like every month to give my readers at the end of my allotted space, a real good philatelic tip, I feel they deserve it after wading through two columns of C. C. This month I recommend the first two issues of Mauritius as being worth hanging on to.

Finishing a sentence, with a what-do-you-call-it, reminds me that a nice little V.A.D. once finished a sentence with three thing a m'jigs as follows:—

"What book would you like to be read to, out of?"

No wonder I had a relapse.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

STAMPALIA.—One of the Aegean islands which has been supplied with special stamps by the Italian government since 1913.

STAMP ALBUMS.—(See Album.)

STAMP BOOKLETS.—Many countries now issue their low value stamps in the shape of small booklets for the convenience of people wishing to carry stamps with them. As a rule these books consist of a few sheets or leaves of six or eight stamps, separated by grease proof paper to prevent their sticking together, the whole being bound in thin card covers.

STAMP DUTY. — An inscription found upon various fiscal stamps or overprinted or engraved on postage stamps to denote their use for fiscal as well as postal purposes.

STAMP MONEY.—(See Encased Postage Stamps and Currency Stamps.)

STAMP MOUNTS.—(or hinges).—(See Mounts.)

STAR WATERMARK.—A watermark shown in the stamps of many British colonies, either alone or in conjunction with certain letters; those of New Zealand, for instance, watermarked with the letters "NZ" over a star.

STAR AND CRESCENT.—A watermarked device shown in many of the stamps of Egypt and the Sudan.

II. A device forming an important part of the design of many of the stamps of Turkey.

STATE.—An inscription shown on the official stamps of the United States issued in 1873 which were appropriated to the special use of the department of State.

STATE SECURITY.—An inscription shown on the special Life Insurance Department stamps of New Zealand.

STATIONERY.—From a philatelic point of view, "stationery" embraces all stamped envelopes, postcards, wrappers, etc., issued officially and sold at a post office.

STATI PARM. — An inscription shown on the 1852-4 stamps of Parma, the second word being an abbreviation for "Parmensi".

STATI PARMENSI.—The inscription shown on the stamps of Parma, issued by the provisional government and meaning "State of Parma".

STEEL ENGRAVING.—(See Line-engraving.)

STEINMEYER'S POST.—A semi-official postal service organised in Charleston in 1858-59 which delivered letters in the district served by the local post office on payment of a special fee of 2c.

STEINMEYER'S CITY POST.—The inscription shown on the stamps issued in connection with Steinmeyer's Post.

STELLA CLAVISQUE MAVIS INDICI.—The motto shown on the Jubilee stamps issued in Mauritius in 1898 meaning "The Star and Key of the Indian Ocean".

STELLALAND.—A short-lived South African republic formed in 1882 by a number of Boer adventurers. Postage stamps were issued on Feb. 1st, 1884, but they were in use a very short time, for in 1885 the territory was incorporated by the British government with Bechuanaland.

STEMPEL.—A word shown on some of the newspaper stamps of Austria which means "stamp".

STEREOTYPE.—A reproduction of the original design made by means of a papier-maché or other mould in type-metal. (See also Electrotyped).

S. THOME E PRINCIPE.—The Portuguese rendering of St. Thomas and Prince as shown upon the stamps of that colony.

STOCKHOLM.—The capital of Sweden for which, in 1856 and 1862, special stamps were issued by the government for payment of the postal charges for the delivery of local, or drop letters within the precincts of the city.

STOTINKI.—The value shown upon most of the stamps of Bulgaria. There are 100 stotinki in the leva and 5 stotinki are worth about 1c in American money.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—A British colony in the East Indies consisting of Settlements on the Malay Peninsula, Cocos Is., and Labuan. Postage stamps were first issued in 1867.

STRIP.—A single row of three or more stamps joined together either vertically or horizontally.

S. U.—An overprint, sometimes in conjunction with a crescent and star, found upon certain stamps of the Straits Settlements and India issued for use in Sungei Ujong.

SUCRE.—The unit of value in Ecuador. A sucre is divided into 100 centavos and has a value of about 48c in American money.

SUDAN.—A British protectorate in Africa, between Egypt and Uganda. Postage stamps were first issued on March 1st, 1897.

SULPHURETTED. — Changed in color by the action of fumes of sulphur; not infrequently seen in the case of stamps printed in vermilion or some other color containing any form of mercury. These stamps are liable to turn brown or black, and such specimens used to be erroneously termed oxidised.

SUEZ CANAL COMPANY.—During the construction of the Suez Canal, and just prior to its completion, the Company undertaking the work made use of four stamps for the conveyance of letters written to or by those engaged upon the undertaking between the different towns or stations along the Canal; previously the Company had carried postal matter of this kind without charge. These stamps were issued in July, 1868, and are believed to have remained current for about five weeks; their use was then discontinued at the instance of the Egyptian government. The stamps are inscribed "Canal Maritime de Suez" and show a steamer as the central design.

SUNAR.—A variation of the spelling "sanar" shown on certain Afghanistan stamps issued since 1874.

SUNGEI UJONG.—One of the native dependent states of the Straits Settlements. Postage stamps were first issued in 1878 and when the special issues became obsolete in 1895, the stamps of Negri Sembilan were used. These, in turn, were superseded in 1900 by the stamps issued for the whole of the Federated Malay States.

SUOMI.—The Swedish name for Finland shown upon the 1890 issue of stamps for that country and again resuscitated in 1918 when the first stamps for the new kingdom appeared.

SURCHARGE.—Used by collectors in the sense of overprint but usually as meaning an overprint which confirms or alters the value or designation of value of the stamp. (See also overprint).

SURCHARGE POSTAGE.—An overprint found on certain stamps of Grenada intended for use as postage due labels. The word "surcharge" is very generally used by Post Office Departments as indicating the extra or over charge due on unpaid or insufficiently prepaid mail, so that its appropriateness in this particular instance is obvious.

SURFACE COLORED PAPER.—Paper colored on one side only (the face) previous to having a postage stamp design printed on it.

SURFACED PAPER.—(See Chalk-surfaced paper.)

SURFACE PRINTING.—(See Typography.)

SURINAM.—A Dutch possession in Guiana. Postage stamps were first issued in 1873.

SURINAME.—The Dutch equivalent for Surinam as shown upon all the stamps of that colony.

SUSCIPERE ET FINIRE. — The motto shown upon the early stamps of Hanover meaning "To undertake and to finish".

SUSSE PERFORATIONS.—An unofficial perforation found on certain French stamps issued in 1861. These stamps were perforated by Messrs. Susse Bros., a firm of stationers in Paris, by a machine invented by them. They perforated stamps for customers without charge, contenting themselves with the discount of 2% allowed by the Government to vendors of stamps. This perforation made very large holes with a gauge of about 7.

SVERIGE.—The Swedish rendering of Sweden as shown upon all the stamps of that country.

SWAN RIVER SETTLEMENT.—An old name for Western Australia, sometimes found in old albums and stamp catalogues.

SWAZIELAND.—A South African native state now included in the Transvaal. From Oct. 18th, 1889, until Nov. 7th, 1895 it used postage stamps of its own.

BARGAIN STAMPS

Fine Stamps, Covers, Curios

In buying many collections I find I have on hand many rare stamps not quite fine, that catalog dollars each, of U. S. postage and Revenue, British N. A., British Colonials, early issues of Europe, S. A., Australia, etc. Now if you are not particular as to condition, and wish to fill those vacant spaces in old issues, try some of these Bargain Books of rare stamps, slightly damaged, at low net prices.

I have sold several collectors $200 to $250 worth. At my prices they are good space-fillers, and to own the same stamps in fine condition means a big outlay, and frequently the same stamp is impossible to obtain in perfect condition.

To collectors who must have the A1 condition stamps, I have them, too, but they cost a whole lot more money.
Advise me which you wish to see, and will do my best to please you.

I HAVE SOME FINE U. S. 1847 ISSUE ON ORIGINAL COVERS, ALSO OTHER U. S. AND SOME B. N. A. COVERS OF HIGH GRADE.

I am in the market to buy scarce U. S. or B. N. A. stamps at reasonable prices.

Bear in mind I am headquarters for Indian relics, old arms, odd and rare weapons.

BOLSHEVISM BUMPED.

By J. F. RITTER.

The old saying that "Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do," reminds me of a recently reported conversation between the Arch Fiend and Kaiser Wilhelm. "That saying about 'idle hands'," observed the devil moodily, "does not apply to people who collect stamps. The fools who stick pieces of colored paper in books are never idle. They merely look up when I appear, and tell me to go to—well, to go home. It's sickening!"

Now as the Kaiser created Bolshevism and the Evil One created the Kaiser, the conclusion follows that Philately and Bolshevism are antagonistic terms, hence we have in the former a true antidote for the latter.

Why not? Bolshevism is a thing of violence, a thing without order and sequence. Consequently, no true Philatelist could accept its doctrines.

Could you, for example, imagine a collector of British Colonials casting a vile, acid-vomiting bomb against a building which, for all that he knows to the contrary, may have within its walls trunks containing letters decorated with rare and priceless stamps?

Could a "Condition Crank" calmly insert a knife between the ribs of an unresisting diplomat while realizing that the gentleman's pocket may contain envelopes adorned with war and reconstruction stamps? Even a child would realize that blood ruins and disfigures good stamps.

Could a specialist in U. S. issues deliberately and with malice aforethought, wedge a crowbar beneath the foundations of a Government building heedless of the fact that by so doing he may be loosening the bolts and rivets of a perforating machine? Would he do aught to make the centering of U. S. issues worse than it is at present?

Again, your true Philatelist must, in the very nature of things, be an optimist. Argue with him as you will that the rare Mauritius, for instance, will never grace the pages of his album; he will close his eyes and dream of packets of musty letters in the trunk in Grandfather's attic. And if he should not be the fortunate possessor of a living grandparent, he would not strain at adopting one.

No, say what you will, Philately and Bolshevism are opposite terms; when one enters at the door, the other goes out at the window. Your Philatelist may wear goggle glasses, he may droop in one shoulder from the habit of carrying about a stamp album, he may even be late in coming to meals on rainy days—all these things may be said of him and more, but the fact remains that he is a being of order and a foe to violence, and the chances are always that he has been so from his youth up.

WHERE IS CHRISTMAS ID.?

(Chas. S. Thompson sends us a specimen of this label. We shall know more about this queer article later. Mr. Thompson's description cannot be improved upon.—W. O. W.)

A new label, alleged to be a postage stamp, has just come to hand. It is alleged to emanate from Christmas Island, and bears that inscription at bottom. In addition, it is inscribed "Central Pacific Cocoanut Plantations, Ltd. Mail Boat Service" and each corner bears the figure 5. The printing has evidently been done by the three-color process, judging by the multiplicity of colors which the stamp shows. The design is pleasing, and shows a two-masted schooner, and setting sun; and palm trees on a coral islet, while a red-tailed tropic-bird (Phaëthon rubricauda) appears in the foreground. In size the stamp is 24.5 x 37 mm., and is perforated about 13. The figures of value in corners are orange-red, but the stamp itself can only be described as "chromatic", for it is a shattered rainbow of color.

SOME FIRSTS IN "POSTS".

By LOWELL J. RAGATZ.

The following paragraphs from "Ein Buch fuer die Wundrichen", written by Adolph Zimmermann, and published in two volumes by Raimund Schillig of Berlin in 1889, may prove of interest to some of your readers as they did to me. I have translated them, following the original closely:—

"The first letter posts were established in the cities of the Hanseatic League early in the thirteenth century. A chain of letter posts followed, connecting Austria with Lombardy, in the reign of Emporer Maximilian, which history says were organized by the princes of Thurn and Taxis. Representatives of the same house established another chain of offices from Vienna to Brussels, which was the most distant part of the domains of Charles V. This family continues to hold to this day certain rights with our imperial postal system, their posts being entirely distinct from those established by the crown and, as it were, in some measure in rivalry with them.

"In England, in early times, public letters were sent by messengers, who, in the reign of Henry III, wore royal livery. These couriers had to provide themselves with horses until the reign of Edward I, when posts were established where horses were to be had for hire. Edward IV, when engaged in war with Scotland, had dispatches conveyed to his camp with great speed by means of a system of relay of horses, which, however, fell into disuse on the restoration of peace.

"Camden mentions the office of 'master of the posts' as existing in England in 1581, but the duties of that officer were probably connected exclusively with the supply of post horses. The posts at first were meant for the conveyance of government dispatches alone, but soon permission was extended to private persons to make use of them.

"A foreign post for the conveyance of letters between London and the continent seems to have been established by foreign merchants in the fifteenth century, and certain disputes which arose with the Flemish and the Italians regarding the right of appointing a postmaster were referred to the privy council. This led to the institution of a 'chief postmaster', who should have charge of both the English and outgoing and incoming foreign mail.

"The American postoffice was one of the earliest institutions in the new world, being provided for by legislation in the charter colony of Massachusetts in 1639 and in the royal colony of Virginia in 1657. A monthly post between New York and Boston (in Massachusetts) was established in 1672." (Bd. 1, seiten 15 und 16)

"Post cards were invented by Professor Emanuel Herman of Vienna. They were used in England, Germany, and Switzerland in 1870, and are now in use in most countries. By the Act of June 8, 1872, the Postmaster General of the United States was authorized and directed to issue post cards to the people at one cent each. They were first issued in May, 1873. In some countries, a card is attached on which an answer can be sent. These cards cost double the price of one." (Bd. 1, seite 173)

"The first postage stamps in the United States were issued in accordance with the Act of Congress, approved March 3, 1847. They were of two values, five and ten cents, and the date of first sale was named as July 1, but there was some delay in the work and the time went over a month. On August 5, the Hon. Henry Shaw of Lanesborough, Mass., the father of the late famous Henry Shaw, Jr., ('Josh Billings'), called to see Postmaster General Johnson on business. While there, several sheets were delivered from the printer. Mr. Johnson handed them to his visitor for his inspection, and Mr. Shaw purchased two of the stamps, the first two ever issued. The five cent stamp he kept as a curiosity—the ten cent he presented to Governor Briggs of his own state." (Bd. 2, seite 59)

I don't know how much truth there is in the last paragraph, but it at least makes interesting reading.

Early United States

on and off covers—in exceptionally fine condition are being submitted to my regular customers on approval at reasonable prices. As many of them would fetch much more than current catalog quotations if offered in the open market they will not interest the collector whose interest expires at any discount short of 50%, but for the man who realizes that market value and catalog value are not necessarily identical they are excellent value. In short, they are the sort for which there always is likely to be a lively demand.

In writing me for a selection send as good a reference as you can.

UNITED STATES

I will pay full collectors' prices for anything unusual in the way of United States Stamps used or unused, off or on cover, in fine condition. I do not care if your holdings consist of single specimens or a collection, providing you have really rare items. For instance, I will gladly pay $950.00 for a sheet of the 5c error imperforated. I will pay $300.00 for a fine block of the 4c 1918 on blue paper with gum or a similar block of the 8c. Unusual prices paid for early issues especially pairs, strips and blocks.

I am designated by some as a "Camouflaged" Dealer, but I still claim that I fall in the Collector category. My main interest is centered in my collection and I never dispose of a specimen that my collection requires. It is true that I sell my duplicates for it is often necessary to purchase a quantity of these in order to obtain what is wanted for my own collection. Because of the fact that it is not necessary for me to make a profit on a transaction enables me to pay top notch prices. During the last several months I have purchased nearly twenty-five collections and accumulations and I have no doubt that most of these people obtained offers elsewhere before closing with me. Therefore, if you have anything in the way of unusual U. S. consult me before selling. The best of bank or commercial references furnished if required.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

Note!

Mr. Smith, the editor of the foreign issues chronicle, is out on home guard duty and is located at the Armory in Charlestown, Boston. It will be three weeks before he can resume his stampic activities.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. F. W. Armstrong writes to inform us that the lower left hand pane of the 1c from plate No. 9987 has had the plate number recut. In other words, he advises that he has two panes, one showing the number normal and the other recut. He does not mention as to how the figures are recut, but we might state that this is the first time to our knowledge where impressions have been issued from the plate and later more impressions after a recutting.

Mr. P. M. Mann has shown us two sheets of the 1c surface print perforated 11 unwatermarked printed in a very light, washed out green shade. These are without doubt printed from an uninked roller. It will be recalled that similar varieties occur in the case of the 3c printed by the same method.

Mr. A. S. Davenport sends for our inspection copies of several denominations of the current Documentary stamps with a manuscript "F.D." surcharged, used in New York. While these will hardly be given formal recognition, nevertheless, they were used in paying "Future Delivery" tax and are of interest as such. He has seen the 1c, 2c, 4c, 10c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 and $2.00 so surcharged.

The same gentleman has also shown us a copy of the $3.00 Documentary series of 1914 in a very peculiar shade of purplish blue. It differs so greatly from the normal that it may almost be classified as a new variety.

We have recently learned that Peoria, Ill., and Newark, N. J., issued Provisional "Narcotic" revenues and we hope to present further details regarding these issues in our next number. Dr. L. A. Thompson informs us that the Boston Collector of Internal Revenue did not issue a provisional series, as those with the Bureau overprint arrived in ample time to meet their demands.

After much correspondence and many personal inquiries your Editor has at last gotten together a most complete list of the Playing Card Revenues issued under the Act of 1917, which Act carried the 7c rate. This detailed list will be presented in our next issue and we sincerely hope that if any of our readers are in a position to add to it that they will advise us promptly. We will follow this list with one showing the varieties which we have located used, under the Act of 1919. This is not quite as complete as the former, due to the fact that these varieties have been out but a few months and we have not as yet been so fortunate as to locate all of them. It will also give us great pleasure to chronicle at an early date, in one list, all of the provisional "Narcotics" known today. We well realize that there are some few cities that issued these stamps unknown to ourselves, and if any of our readers have any data on varieties which we have not chronicled we will consider it a favor if so advised.

We wish to thank Messrs. E. H Draper, George Soulman, as well as the Gray Stamp Company, for additional notes of interest.

BERMUDA.—J. A. Galbraith has shown us a specimen of the new 4d carmine on yellow, ship type.

CYDONIA.—Another new name for the stamp album. This time the Greeks are the guilty persons. They have been entrusted with the administration of the territory, formerly Turkish, known as the Sandjak of Karassi, on the west coast of Asia Minor, opposite the island of Mytilene.

One of their first acts has been to signalize their occupation of the territory by issuing a series of provisional stamps for Aivaly, or Cydonia, which is in the villayet of Hondavendighiar, in the Sandjak of Karassi.

Now there is no Cydonia on our atlas. There is, of course, Sidon (modern Saida), the ancient seaport of the Phoenicians which figures in Biblical history and which is twenty-five miles south of Beyrout, Syria. But this is not Cydonie of the Greek occupation. According to M. Champion, Cydonia has thirty thousand inhabitants, so that it is a fairly important town, and our informant states that 4,000 copies of various Turkish stamps, discovered in the post office, have been overprinted with the words "Occupation Grecque Cydonie."

The issue in question comprises three denominations, viz., 10, 20 paras, 1pi 50 paras.—Stamp Collecting.

ESTHONIA.—In addition to the 5 penni stamps of the "seagull" type, there is also one of 35 penni, in the same design and inscription, in blue. Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. believe these are a commemorative issue, but have been unable to learn exactly what event they commemorate. It has been determined, however, that the reason for their being on sale for only a very short time was not that they were intentionally withdrawn, but that they were a strictly limited commemorative issue and very quickly sold out.

From Mr. Th. Allard we learn that a few—one thousand copies, to be exact—of the Russian Arms stamps have been overprinted with the words EESTI POST for use in Esthonia.—Stamp Collecting.

FRANCE.—Mr. W. T. Wilson kindly shows us a copy of the current 15c value, imperforate, which was actually issued thus. Mr. Wilson says that the sheet of 15c was on the "GC" paper and had the millésime 8. It must not be confused with the so-called imperforate current type of French stamps which were stolen from the printers some time back.—Stamp Collecting.

JAPAN.—In addition to the new set of peace stamps four values have been issued in the designs of the current set to supplement the thirteen values already in use. Our esteemed correspondent, R. Yokohori, informs us that the parcel post rates were slightly increased April 15 and it was necessary in consequence to issue some new values for this service. Mr. Yokohori states that there were difficulties in the selection of colors, but the outcome is as follows: 6s brown, 8s gray, 30s ochre, 50s dark brown. The 6 and 8 are in the design of the current 4s, while the 30 and 50 are like the current 1y stamp. Our correspondent cannot state whether these new values have been surcharged for use at the Japanese post offices in China, but he presumes that this will be done. We are indebted to Theodore Siddall and T. Maki for information.

KERMANSHAH.—The regular 1Kr Persian stamp, issue of 1911, has been surcharged 12 and 14 Chahis provisionally. These were issued during the Turkish Occupation and only 2,000 copies of each were printed.—Economist Bulletin.

PERU.—We take the following from the Madrid Filatélico: "Mr. Manuel Buenano sends us the stamps lately issued in this country; they are really a second printing of the original stamps, for they only present a very small difference in the shades. The 1 centavo, which used to be orange and blue, is now orange and black; the 2c was green and black and it is now green, yellow, and black; the 4c is carmine instead of rose-pink, keeping its black centre; while the 50c, which was dark violet and black, is now violet and black."—Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—On January 1st next the Swedish Post Office will take over the production of its stamps, and a complete new set will be issued in three different designs, one with a portrait of King Oscar, one shewing a posthorn and crown, and the third with a lion.—Whitfield King & Co.'s List.

WURTEMBERG.—Current officials of both types have been surcharged VOLKSSTAAT at the top and WURTEMBURG at the bottom. All told 10 values, 2½pfg to 50pfg of Scott type "O1" and 11 values type O2, 2½pfg to 1 mark, all on watermarked paper.

A new 35pfg value official stamp has been issued in both types as Scott's O1 and O2. The 2½pfg same type has been surcharged with a large figüre 2 in purple. We have not seen this same stamp unsurcharged. All of the above are on watermarked paper.—Economist Bulletin.

Whisperings and Whimperings of a Philatelic Nut

Edited by COTTON C. DOYLE.

Vol. I No. 5. September 27, 1919. Price: Postfree.

Modesty.

We are deeply gratified over the extensive use readers are making of our query dept. and feel immensely flattered that so many of the queries show the reader's confidence in the vast amount of philatelic knowledge on tap here. Easy questions like, "What is a rare Stamp?" do not induce our best efforts. What we thrive on are the hard problems. Therefore, when you can't find out what you want to know anywhere else tell us what's keeping you awake nights and we'll either prescribe milk and goobers—one quart of each—to be taken simultaneously, or else we'll load up a couple of pipes for a siege and root through Luff or Nankivell, or Bacon, or What's-his-name, or Goodwin until we find the desired information, even if it takes us fifteen or twenty minutes.

Of course, we don't usually tell where we get our decisions, for often it's so much more difficult to find the facts in the other fellow's book than it would be to write the book ourselves that after the alleged facts are located we feel entitled to all the credit. This arrangement may not seem entirely fair but just so long as this dept. continues to be outrageously profitable, we shall not let any question of fairness interfere with our happiness. So fire away, fellows, and ask us the hard ones.

Philimericks.

There was an old stamp of Kentucky,
On a letter from Dickie to duckie.
A dealer paid cash,
(They are seldom so rash),
'Twas a fake, and the faker was lucky.

A cute little stamp comes from Cuba;
It is shaped like an inverted tuba;
Lying flat on its back,
It goes clickety-clack.
What queer stamps folks use down in Cuba?

There was an old stamp of Killarney,
With a picture of chili con carne.
'Twas as rare as the deuce,
But never in use,
So don't bite—this is nothing but Blarney.

Great and Unparalleled.

Philimerick Contest!

First, last and only chance to earn a fine stamp catalogued at not less than one dollar by the simple and pleasant exercise of a small amount of brain power and literary ingenuity! From one to five prizes are hereby offered for the best Philimerick sent to the editor before the clock strikes twelve midnight on December 31, 1919. Each prize will consist of a fine stamp from the editor's accumulation and each will be mounted on a suitable piece of card-board over the editor's personal autograph, written by himself. All Philimericks sent in will become the property of the editor to be used as he sees fit. The prize winners will be published in due season and the awards will be awarded as soon after January 1, 1920, as may be possible. There are no conditions whatever. Any contestant may send in as many Philimericks as he—or she—can think of, borrow, or steal. They do not have to be original. They should not contain too much sense. In fact, the more nonsensical they are the better chance they will have of winning a prize. A Philimerick is a limerick with a stampic flavor. Write, print or scrawl your entry and mail it to Cotton C. Doyle, in care of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

Query Dept.

Ruggles of Red Gap:—Glad to welcome you, old dear. Your M & M queries have been referred to Mr. West who says he has bought several of the imperf. blue Corning & Tappan perfumery stamps and got stung every time. There's a reason for the imperf. in black but no apparent reason for the blue imperfs. except that someone who was overstocked with perforates had a pair of scissors handy and needed the money.

Yes, indeed, the catalog arrangement of the Dr. Swett medicine stamps is apt to make anyone perspire freely. The black stamp—No. 5511—occurs only cut to shape with a die. All are used but none are cancelled. No. 5513 came next. It is perforated in rectangular form and is most frequently found unused—often with gum. No. 5512 is No. 5513 cut to shape like No. 5511 with a die. A few perforations often remain at the top, bottom or ends owing to the size of the cutting die. Copies of the green stamps on which the paper has a slight brownish stain are probably used, but these are exceptional.

Louise, Salem:—The 3c vermilion of 1887, U. S. A., has never been very scarce unused but nice used copies are rather difficult to find and covers bearing it used before 1891 are rarely seen. It was seldom used on letters because the letter rate was 2c during its currency. Probably it was most often used on circulars and this is why it usually bears the "package" cancellation of the larger cities. It was printed from plate No. 421 which was also used to print some of the 3c green of the re-engraved type, hence the vermilion exists only as a "re-engraved" stamp. We have never tried to make 3c vermilions from 3c greens by a Florida water or cologne bath and do not think it can be done. If this sort of kafoozelum appeals to you why not try witch hazel? If it would work anywhere it ought to work in Salem.

Mebbe So, I Dunno.

By A. D. HESIVE.

They tell me these here U. S. cuts
Will pacify the stamp craved muts,
That there won't be no use no more
To yell and screech and pace the floor,
An' all the philatelic hicks
Will put away their knocks and kicks,
Well, mebbe so, I dunno.

They tell me this here P. O. D.
May end it for philately,
That certain laws of this great land
Will soon be changed, we understand,
An' stead of treating us so rough
Will let us picture all our stuff,
Well, mebbe so, I dunno.

There's Johnny Bull, I'm told by some,
Has always had the best of fun,
He sends us pictures of our stamps;
Some class him with the reg'lar scamps,
To beat our laws he must be mad,
While others say he ain't so bad,
Well, mebbe so, I dunno.

"It is the law," they tell us guys,
"To keep forgers from getting wise,"
An' now when all the stamp bugs cry,
"John can forge as well as I",
Some say they'll hear our great demand
An' say they didn't understand,
Well, mebbe so, I dunno.

Parody on Slams of Life, with apologies to the author.

Correspondence.

Ken Bluemeadow, Hartford:—We note that McVittles was mistaken about the Putnam Wolf cancellation and thank you for informing us the animal in question is undoubtedly a fox. Your energy in discovering that Mr. Dudley Fox was postmaster at Hockanum, Conn., in 1866, where the cancellation was used is commendable, but you might have kept quiet about it being forty miles from Hockanum to the Wolf Den in Pomfret.

W. Atch, Waterbury: — From what you say it would appear the unique Waterbury cancellations should be credited to Charles W. Gillette, postmaster at Waterbury about 1866. Now we shall not be satisfied until we find a 3c '61 on the original cover with a safety razor cancellation in crimson.

HOW TO OBTAIN "NARCOTICS".

We have received from Wm. A. Sisson of St. Louis a letter from the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington which refers to a matter of general interest. Mr. Sisson wanted to know where he could buy the narcotic stamps and the rules relative to their purchase. This letter from H. M. Gaylord, deputy commissioner, is informative:—

"Reference is made to your letter in which you requested to be informed as to the procedure to be followed by you in order to secure ten each of the narcotic stamps listed on Form 786.

You are advised that these stamps are furnished only to persons registered as importers, manufacturers, producers, or compounders. Registration in this class necessitates the payment of special tax at the rate of $24 per annum.

Accordingly it is impossible to furnish you with the stamps desired unless you are registered under the law as an importer or a manufacturer. Persons so registered will be required to render monthly returns in which must be shown the disposition of all stamps secured from the collector."

The above monograph, of the same size as the publications of the Royal Philatelic Society, will be published in October. Owing to the very costly production the issue will be small, and orders for this work should be sent in as early as possible. The price will be £2 post free. Bound copies and an "Edition de Luxe," the latter printed on special paper, can be supplied at slightly above cost price. The "Edition de Luxe" is extremely small, and orders for this should reach me IMMEDIATELY.

THE JAPANESE PEACE STAMPS.

We have already referred to the handsome set of stamps issued by Japan to celebrate the return of peace. There are two designs and the most attractive is the one illustrated herewith. There are four values, 1½, 3, 4, and 10 sen, and the above design is used on the 3 and 10 sen. Without a doubt this set is the most attractive of any issued for many a moon.

THE UKRAINE TRIDENT.

A communication from the Ukraine Press Bureau to the Times of July 14th disposes of the picturesque fable, hitherto universally accepted, that the triform device on the Ukraine stamps represents "the sacred candelabra of St. Sophia, at Kieff." It appears that the Trident is actually taken from the coat of arms of the Grand Duke St. Wolodymir, of Kieff. The device is found on the gold and silver coins of his reign and also on certain ancient tiles discovered in the ruins of the Desjatin Church of St. Wolodymir at Kieff. The Central Ruda of the Ukraine decreed that it should be adopted as the national emblem of the entire Ukraine Republic. —West End Phil.

S. P. A. ANNUAL CONVENTION.

By H. S. SWENSEN.

The annual convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans was held at San Francisco, Aug. 26, 27, 28 and 29, 1919, and the officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:—

President, C. W. Kissenger, Reading, Pa.; Vice Pres., C. W. Arp, San Francisco, Cal.; Secretary, C. V. Webb, Reading, Pa.; Treasurer, F. W. Coning, New Brunswick, N. J.; Sales Manager, H. S. Swensen, Minneapolis, Minn.; Exchange Manager, E. T. Wallis, Indianapolis, Ind.; International Secretary, Jos. Stern, New York; Attorney, L. M. Lang, Philadelphia, Pa.; Publicity Manager, Parke M. Lawrence, Conneauteville, Pa.; Librarian, W. R. Ricketts, Wilksbarre, Pa.; Asst. Librarian, Samuel Bennett, N. J.; Auction Manager, M. Ohlman, New York; Trustees, Chas. S. Turrill, San Francisco, Cal., E. H. Thompson, Portland, Me., John G. Bassler, Madison, Wis. Next Convention site, Pittsburgh, Pa.; official organ, The Stamp Herald.

In the absence of Secretary Webb, Mr. E. T. Wallis of Indianapolis was made secretary of the Convention.

President C. W. Kissenger of Reading, Pa., presided at all the sessions of the Convention and his address was a leading feature. He reviewed philatelic conditions during the past year and called attention to the importance of uniting the forces of the society in a forward publicity movement which would further the interests of Philately.

Taking cue from the President's suggestions, the delegates quickly did much constructive work.

Mr. Charles Turrill, a prominent collector of San Francisco, presented a resolution which called for the abolition of the present restrictions in the Federal laws which prohibit the illustration of the stamps of the United States.

The resolution also called for action to be taken by the society to exercise its influence to remove such restrictions and that it use proper propaganda in that behalf, and that copies of the resolutions be transmitted to members of Congress, the Postmaster General and the President of the United States.

The resolution was unanimously adopted and a publicity committee was authorized to carry it into effect if possible. The society will ask other philatelic organizations to co-operate in the movement.

The convention authorized the payment in full of all losses sustained by members in the Sales and Exchange departments. A life membership was created, the price of which was fixed at $20.00. Moneys from this fund may be used to liquidate deficits in any other department.

The laws of the association were strengthened by amendment and made more workable, especially with respect to the expulsion of undesirable members.

Charles Sidney Thompson of Los Angeles, Cal., urged that all philatelic societies should adopt a uniform rule that all counterfeit stamps circulated should be marked or designated in some way to show their character.

The reports of the various officers disclosed that the society is growing steadily.

The local societies of Berkeley and Oakland tendered the delegates a most sumptuous dinner at Oakland and on the closing day of the convention, an elaborate banquet was given by the various societies of San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley at Hotel Clift in San Francisco. Mr. A. H. Weber, the well known philatelic expert and collector of Berkeley, presided.

Various trips and forms of entertainment were afforded the delegates by the local collectors. The convention was a thorough success from every point of view. Some of the visiting members prolonged their visit to enjoy the "coming in" of the Pacific Armada, and also to enjoy the hospitality of C. W. Arp, who entertained the members of the San Francisco Philatelic society and visiting delegates at his luxurious home.

Many of the delegates took advantag of the rare treat of viewing the special ized collections which were exhibited a the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Oaklan on Friday evening, Aug. 29. Many rar philatelic gems dazzled the eyes of th visitors.

Some of the delegates were privilege to peep into the philatelic chambers o Mr. A. H. Weber. His possessions ar lodged in hundreds of volumes, and in clude many rare items seldom if eve seen. While Mr. Weber's collection i general in character, it out-specialize many specialized collections we hav seen.

We shall not soon forget our visit t the Pacific Coast and the rare and generous hospitality accorded us.

CARLTON RUSSELL, 97 Waldeck St., Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; W. L. ALDRICH, Supt. of Auctions; S. G. BIXBY, 12 Parker St., Malden, Mass., Supt. of Sales and Bourse.

Sept. 16, 1919.

The 427th (regular) meeting of the society was held this evening. In the absence of the Secretary Mr. E. M. Carpenter was appointed Secretary pro tem. The minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. The library committee made a report of the latest additions to the library. Letters from Messrs. A. B. Slater and R. S. Emerson were read. The latter promised to exhibit his U. S. stamps of the 1849 issue at the October meeting and Mr. Slater will show his stamps of the same issue and his Providence stamps if he can possibly get to the meeting. Either of these exhibits is worth seeing and we hope to have both. Messrs. M. A. Lawton, N. A. Georganitas and W. H. Nicholas were elected to membership. The application of Kenneth W. Robie for junior membership, proposed by A. W. Dunning, was posted.

There was an auction directly after the business meeting, after which Mr. Waldo Farrar showed his collection of the stamps of India, among which there are very many odd and interesting items. There were 28 present, the meeting being adjourned at 9.45 P. M.

OUR COVER DESIGN.

We offer a complete Dictionary to each of the ten contestants who do the best work on our cover design, executed by Lloyd M. Coe, Bridgeport, Ct., and a very creditable piece of work. What stamps are there represented? All but one, a U. S. stamp, are illustrated in Scott's catalog.

Whatever form your solution may take, please submit a list of countries in alphabetical order and give A4 or R3, as the case may be, for easy reference. We shall have so many entries that this rule must be complied with. Extra copies of No. 1500 are 10c each.

Meritorious work in connection with solution submitted will win honorable mention. All solutions must be in by Oct. 31. Now for a matching of memory, patience and persistency!

All entries or inquiries concerning the contest should be addressed to Charles E. Severn, 713 Oxford Bdg., Chicago, Ill. Do not address them to either Beverly or Portland.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

HOW CAN WE STAND THE PACE?

By BILL BLOSS.

Ten years ago, a general collection was a possibility. It was not an easy matter to acquire a nice, large collection with any degree of completeness, but a possibility. Today it is an almost impossible feat.

Ten years ago, if a man had ten thousand varieties, he had a good collection. Recently I had the pleasure of looking through a collection of seventeen thousand varieties of twentieth century only, and the owner confessed that he had given up all hopes of bringing it as near completion as the average collector of means could formerly hope to. He spends money within all bounds of reason—pays high prices—but he finds it hard to keep up with the flood of new issues.

George Ade once said that Lake Superior would run dry if tapped in enough places. Certainly to-day the general collector, even though he be possessed of millions, and have the income of a street car conductor or a plumber, will go broke if he tries to buy them all.

What is this going to do to stamp collecting?

Are the boys going to take up the hobby, and keep it up, as in the good old days, when they find they are facing the job of acquiring some fifty thousand varieties, costing more than that number of dollars?

After all, it is the general collectors who have made stamp collecting what it is. They were the pioneers, and while they may not have done the research that the specialists have, they have advertised the hobby and caused it to spread over the earth.

To the man or boy now starting our hobby, only two channels are open to him; to take what he can get, and be satisfied, or to specialize.

Nearly eighty years ago the first stamp was printed.

What a task is before the new collector who tries to get that eighty years' output of varieties.

Is it any wonder that collectors turn from their albums when they come upon notes in the catalog to the effect that only a limited number of this stamp was printed, and none were placed on sale.

Every day, almost, we see a new series from some place we never heard of, even in George Barr McCutcheon's works, or Gullible's Travels, and then they come imperforate, perforated, inverted, twisted and squehawed, with both plain and nobby treads.

Still casting an eye on that shiny side of the cloud, the fellow who does start a general collection has a bigger field to work with now, and his ten thousand will look just as pretty. Certainly he can get them easier than he could ten years ago, for he has a far larger field to select from.

There was a time when a thousand varieties cost about four dollars—that is, not so very long ago. To-day they still cost about that, but it is because labor has advanced, not because the thousand varieties are so rare.

And after all, these new things have a significance. They show the world's progress. They are more interesting than the ordinary stamps just issued because the native sons tired of looking at the old designs.

So when the new 20th Century album comes out, I'm going to buy one and start filling it up—with the same sensation I have when I stand on the edge of a pool of icy water, ready to make the plunge, and wondering just how cold it really is. I'm going to shut my eyes, hold my nose and go to it.

But I'm not going to ever expect to fill all the spaces—because it can't be done. I'm just going to content myself with the stamps I can get without having to pawn the family beefsteak.

All the general collector needs to find real happiness in his hobby, is the adjustment of his mind to meet existing conditions. If he can get over that old dread of the empty space, and see instead, the beauty of the stamps he has, he will be happy.

"It's a great life if you don't weaken," as the mess sergeant told the boys when he passed them another shot of corned wooly. The first hundred years are the hardest. The fellow who groans over the provisionals of to-day should cheer up. There are very few coming from South America these days.

NEW BRITISH COLONIAL PRINTINGS.

Some time ago it was exclusively stated in Stamp Collecting that sweeping changes were imminent in regard to the postage stamps of various British Colonies. The statement was made on semi-official authority, but circumstances intervened which obviated the feared revolution. However, there is still the prospect of a fairly considerable range of novelties, to be brought about in the near future, by the probable appearance of many Colonial stamps on an entirely new kind of paper.

It will be remembered that this journal was the first to herald the sensational appearance of the "white backs"—stamps printed on surface-coloured paper instead of paper coloured through, as formerly. We are now able to report that new printings of various values of the Colonies mentioned below have recently been consigned to the respective Dominions, and, while it is stated that there is no alteration in the colours of these stamps, we have some reason to believe that they will be found to be on a new and improved paper as follows:—

Bahamas (2½d, 4d, and 5s K. G.); Barbados (1d, 2d, 3d and 3s); British Honduras (3c and 2 dollars); Ceylon (as below); Gambia (½d, 1d, 3d and 4d); Gibraltar (2½d, 1s and 2s); Grenada (6d); Hong Kong; Jamaica; Johore (2, 4, 5, 10, 25 and 50 cents and 1 dollar); Kedah; Nigeria (4d, 6d, 1s and £1); Seychelles; Sierra Leone (2½d, 4d, 9d, 2s and 5s); St. Kitts-Nevis (½d and 1d Arms); St. Lucia; Straits Settlements (1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 10, 21, 25, 30 and 50 cents, 1, 2, 5, 25 and 100 dollars); Turks and Caicos Islands.—Stamp Collecting.

OUR APPROVAL DEPARTMENT

With our present stock we are able to send out approvals to the beginner with only a few hundred varieties, or the advanced collector having thousands of specimens—and assure the same satisfaction. As we have no counter trade—everything must be sold through the mails—leaving no chance for our stock being picked over before approvals are made up. Approval customers have first pick of all choice stamps.

We offer no small premiums as an inducement to applicants—instead we have a profit sharing plan—wherein our customers can receive a premium of real value based on their own purchases.

Our line of books and sheets will interest you, over 18,000 varieties being in stock. May we not send you a selection? Just state grade of stamps wanted.

Reference required—if a minor, parent's signature preferred.

JUGO-SLAVIA.

By JAMES F. HAMILL.

One of the largest nations to be reborn through the great European struggle is what is known as Jugo-Slavia, and one which, after many years of slumber under Austrian tyranny and oppression, has at last awakened and broken its bonds and come forth like a slave into the enlightening sun of freedom.

It has been claimed by some that the people of Jugo-Slavia were hostile to the Allies and to the aims of the United States in the war, but such needs emphatic contradiction. It is a matter of history that the Jugo-Slavs, like the Poles and Czecho-Slovaks, not only surrendered to the Allied troops at every possible opportunity, after being compelled as subjects of the dual monarchy to serve in the ranks of the Austro-Hungarian army, but also volunteered to fight against their oppressors. The Jugo-Slav divisions formed in Russia after their voluntary surrender fought with the utmost bravery against the Germans, the Austro-Hungarians and the Bulgars in the Dobrudja, while the valiant conduct of the Jugo-Slav troops during the Allied offensive in Macedonia, which routed the Bulgarian army, was repeatedly mentioned in the Allied communiques.

The union of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, for such is Jugo-Slavia, has been officially recognized by the United States Government and is represented in this country by their Minister, Mr. S. Y. Grouitch.

I think it is needless to go into details about their boundaries, excepting to state that Jugo-Slavia comprises the territory of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Crotia and Slavonia, and it is thought likely that the states of Serbia and Montenegro, also, will go to make up the new nation.

Although at present there are only the two main territory divisions, i. e., (1) Bosnia and Herzegovina, and (2) Crotia and Slavonia, yet Jugo-Slav stamps were issued by three distinct districts, namely (1) Bosnia and Herzegovina, (2) Crotia, and (3) Slavonia, and it is my purpose to take up the various issues as above stated.

Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Bosnia and Herzegovina, is the most south-westerly province of Austria, with an area of 1,568 square miles and a population of 19,702. Its capital is Sarajevo, a town which has gone down into history as the scene of the murder of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his consort in 1914, and, therefore, as the starting point for the great world's conflict.

The Jugo-Slav stamps, as a whole, have consisted in the regular adhesives of the various provinces suitably overprinted. In Bosnia and Herzegovina, the pictorial issue of 1906 was chosen and surcharged DRZAVA S. H. S.—1918—BOSNA I HERCEGOVINA, some in Roman letters and some in native Cyrillian, in three lines, and on the smaller stamps (high values), in two lines. On some the original value at each side of the stamp was obliterated by printing black squares, or blocks, over them and then a new value was printed in the center of the stamp. The following is a list of those with Roman letter overprint:—3h olive green, 10h carmine, 20h dark brown, 25h deep blue, 60h on 50h dull violet, 90h on 35h myrtle green, 2k gray green, and 4k on 1k maroon. Those with Cyrillian surcharge are:—5h dark green, 30h green, 40h orange, 45h brown red, 50h dull violet, 80h on 6h orange brown, 3k on 3h olive green, and 10k on 2h violet. One error occurs in this set, namely in the 80h on 6h orange brown (Cyrillian type), where the square block over the left "6" was omitted.

A set similar to the above has just lately appeared, consisting of the Bosnia and Herzegovinian stamps of 1912-17, overprinted KRALJEVSTVO—S. H. S., and with a square shaped object partly obliterating the head of Francis Joseph. In some cases the original values are obliterated by square blocks and a new one printed. With the exception of the 45h on 80h and the 80h values, all are of the 1912-14 issue, while those two values are of the 1916-17 output. Those with Cyrillian surcharge are:—3h claret, 20h on 35h myrtle green, 45h on 80h orange brown, and 60h brown violet. Those with Roman letter overprint

CANCELLATION COLLECTION

I have a bargain for some collector who is just entering the interesting and popular field of odd and colored cancellations. This collection is mounted on album pages but would not interest the collector who already has a good start.

It contains many designs and sets of numerals and letters covering issues from 1851 to 1898. Many scarce and unusual items are included and the time it would take today to sort out such a lot would amount to more than the price.

1475 STAMPS, PRICE $100.00.

The first check or remittance by telegram takes it, subject to return if unsatisfactory.

are:—5h green, 10h on 6h dark gray, 25h ultramarine, 50h on 72h dark blue, and 80h orange brown. I feel confident this is only the beginning of the set and that the complete issue will appear before long.

The four Bosnian newspaper stamps, namely 2h ultramarine, 6h violet, 10h rose, and 20h green, which were originally issued imperforate, were seized by the Jugo-Slavs and perforated 11½ for convenience in use, no doubt. Imperforate copies of the 2h ultramarine and 6h violet were also seized and overprinted "3" and "5", respectively, with square blocks obliterating the original value at each side.

Doubtless, what will prove the rarest of this issue are the special delivery and charity stamps in this issue, which were likewise surcharged as the pictorial 1906 issue. Scott's 181 and 182, special delivery, were thus overprinted, the 2h vermilion in Cyrillian, and the 5h deep green in the Roman lettering, DRZAVA—S. H. S. The 1916 charities, the 10h Prussian blue depicting a blind soldier, and the 15h red brown with wounded soldier, were surcharged DRZAVA—S. H. S., the first with the Cyrillian type and the second with the Roman.

The same surcharge was applied to the Bosnian dues of 1916, the overprint on the heller values being in black and on the krone values in red. The entire set of thirteen values, from 2h to 3k, received the surcharge which was alternately in the Cyrillian and Roman type, beginning on the 2h with the former and ending with the latter on the 3k.

DEATH OF GEORGE J. CARTER.

We are informed by E. H. Gammans of the sudden death of the Brooklyn dealer, George J. Carter. It occurred Sunday, Sept. 21. Only two or three days previously he had sent copy for the adlets which appeared Sept. 27. Mr. Carter's death was very unexpected. We have no story of his philatelic activities, but they extend over a long period of years, both as a dealer and collector. He was particularly interested in U. S. revenues, his album being a conspicuous example of his enthusiasm for these issues. He leaves a wide circle of friends and acquaintances and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY joins in the sympathy that will be extended to Mr. Carter's family.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The 11th edition of Bright & Sons' "A B C" descriptive priced catalog of the world's postage stamps Part 3 has appeared, and a review copy is before us. The catalog covers the countries of the world with the exception of Europe and the Colonies of European countries. It has been thoroughly revised up to the date of going to press and is well illustrated. The price is 70c postfree and it may be obtained from the publishers, 164 Strand, London, England. We shall not attempt to deal with prices quoted, but will call attention to the fact that the stamps of the United States are fully illustrated and their listing occupies twenty-four pages.

UNION MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

For beauty and effectiveness none of the Detroit match stamps can equal the stamp of the Union Match Co. As long as there are collectors of U. S. revenues, this lovely little adhesive will hold a high place in the regard of those to whom the private die issues make a special appeal. Nearly five million were issued and a few hundreds probably still exist so it is not likely ever to be much of a rarity or beyond the reach of the ordinary collector. Moreover, many of the copies available are in better condition than we expect to find the match stamps. The Detroit directories contain the following references:—

1879—Union Match Splint Co., foot of 13th St., Geo. Hargreaves, Pres., Geo. Upton, Sec.

1880—Union Match Co., 32 Moffett Bldg., T. C. Owen Pres., J. H. Meacham Sec. & Treas. Factory 21st & Hammond Sts.

1881—Tubal C. Owen lawyer, James H. Meacham publisher.

These references indicate a short existence and this is corroborated by the data given in the Boston Book:—

Die approved, September, 1880.
First issued, September, 1880.
Last issued, November 23, 1881.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
4,929,000 issued, all in black on watermarked paper.

There are several interesting facts to be noted in regard to the Union stamp. It is one of the few and probably the last of the match stamps engraved by the American Bank Note Co.; it was printed both by that company and by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington; and its design is closely copied from the Wm. Bond Anchor Match stamp, (a National Bank Note Co. product), the general arrangement and the ornamentation being identical with the latter. Bond's anchor is replaced by the head of a young deer and the inscriptions are suitably altered, the figure "1" replacing the "4" in each corner circle. The reader will note also that the position of the words denoting value is reversed, ONE appearing at the right and CENT at the left instead of the usual arrangement with the inscriptions reading from left to right.

Stamps showing imprints can be identified as being either American or Bureau prints and those showing guide lines are quite certainly Bureau prints but at present there is no way of separating other copies. Probably all the Union stamps were printed from the one plate which originally bore the American B. N. Co. imprint No. 127.

Whether or not there was any connection between the Union Match Splint Co. and the Union Match Co. the writer cannot say. Match splints are the matches before they are dipped in the combustible material that forms the striking head. The Diamond Match Co. appears in the Detroit directory for 1881 as owning the Richardson factory and the directory for 1877 gives the Richardson Match Co. and the Union Mills Co. at the same address with the same officers. The last Schmitt & Schmittdiehl stamps were also issued in 1881. The reader may draw his own conclusions.

INTERESTING IF TRUE.

(This article appeared in a recent issue of the "Providence Journal." This paper has the reputation of being reliable and there is no doubt but what there is truth in the facts stated. Just how much may be known later on. Anyway, we think it advisable to publish this clipping as a matter of philatelic interest, and any further information will be welcomed. —W. O. W.)

A few weeks ago a man who claimed to be the South American representative of a bank note company, visited the manager of the stamp company—a firm which does a business of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. As a matter of fact, the "South American representative" did not actually represent the bank note company, which is a reputable firm which has sometimes manufactured stamps for Latin-American Governments. The man actually represented the South American Government, and the bank note company had no knowledge of his plan. To the stamp company manager the "South American representative" outlined this proposition:

"The Government of X— has placed with the Z— Bank Note Company a contract for printing a series of five stamps—200,000 copies of each denomination. If you will pay $50,000 to the Z— Bank Note Company and represent to that company that the money is really coming from the Government of X—, I will guarantee you the following:

"The 1,000,000 uncancelled stamps—200,000 of each value—will be delivered to Postmaster General of the Government of X—.

"The Postmaster General, upon receipt of information that the Z— Bank Note Company has received $50,000 through you, will mail to you 5000 letters prepayed with the new stamps—1000 letters with each of the denomination. These letters will pass through the mails in the ordinary way to you, so that every stamp will be lightly cancelled with part of the postmark of the capital of the Government of X—.

"The other 1,995,000 stamps will be sent forward to you in their mint (uncancelled) condition and you may dispose of them in any way you wish to dealers and collectors. The plates from which these stamps are to be printed will be defaced, so that no more of them can be made, and these spoiled plates will be turned over to you by the Z— Bank Note Company."

The stamp manager informed the "South American representative" that his company would have nothing to do with the scheme, and the visitor departed, presumably to try his luck elsewhere.

The $50,000 which the "South American representative" asked the stamp manager to pay for the privilege of cornering the supply of this stamp issue is in excess of the actual face value of the entire lot of 1,000,000 stamps.

But the "South American representative" knew that the stamp company manager could hide from the philatelic public the information as to the exact number of stamps issued. Moreover, inasmuch as only 1000 of each denomination would be postally used, such a supply of cancelled copies would be small in comparison with collectors' demands, and thus there would be a nice premium on each used copy, and the stamp company would profit through the sale of these cancelled stamps. And the unused copies would always have a philatelic value equal to or greater than their face value. Thus, by judicious handling, the stamp company could get back its $50,000 and a large sum besides; while the South American Government would have to pay only for the cost of printing the stamps.

EDITORIAL.

Remembered—Our big number last week made something of an impression and a number of our readers have remarked upon the energy and enterprise that compassed an issue of its size. Yes, we think that our managing editor who had charge of the advertising and our business manager under whose eye the printing was done are entitled to consideration. The advertising pages of the number were eloquent testimony to the well-being of commercial philately and the advertising contents were a directory of the stamp dealers in America and to an extent, elsewhere. It was a task to obtain all this advertising and shape it up; and then, it was no easy trick to get it properly into type. The reading contents of the issue were not neglected; and many think that we celebrated fittingly our longevity as marked by the 1500th number. We believe that it is advisable to have a big number every now and then, if for nothing more than to offer concrete evidence that there is an expansiveness about stamp collecting that all outsiders and some collectors themselves, do not realize.

Offered—"If you continue to comment as you have occasionally in the past upon the great jumps in price taken practically by all good stamps," writes a dealer in the front lines, "I think that you should always emphasize the concurrence of prime condition with advanced prices, or else some mischief will be done. The present prices are something of a seven days' wonder and all that, and are well worth your eye, but they should be named only in the same breath with fine condition." Very well and truly said as stamps in ordinary and characterless condition do not rise above the level of price mediocrity. The old collection with many good stamps will be appraised at the low prices of some years ago; and we regret that such is the case, for the sake of argument, as while appreciating to the full the seemly stamp, we are of the opinion that some collectors do not exercise a "sweet reasonableness" in their condition and exactions. We wish that the general average of condition demands were higher even though the high spots that a few partizans touch in the name of condition are much too elevated.

Right—A question of ethics, not to say moral principles, is presented by Mr. L. W. Morrissey, Takoma Park, D. C., who calls attention to the following description of a lot in an auction catalogue of stamps recently sold: Lot No. 543, Hawaii, 1859-65, numerals, 8 counterfeits. Mr. Morrissey says: "I haven't looked further through the catalogue and I don't know the general philatelic sentiment concerning the sale of counterfeit stamps but it does seem to me that the dissemination of counterfeits under any guise to the collecting fraternity is a most reprehensible practice and cannot be too strongly condemned and discouraged. I am surprised that any respectable dealer or auctioneer would be a party to it. Counterfeits probably have a proper place in museums and the files of recognized counterfeit detectors but the sale of the stamps in question does not appear to be so restricted. There are already enough obstacles in the way of securing new postal laws or rulings which will permit the use of United States postage stamp illustrations, without having philatelists appear as dealers in counterfeits." Mr. Morrissey's points are well taken and may not be successfully countered. We do not think that any apologist will try to put a different phase on the question or defend the public sale of counterfeits. We have no doubt but that the auctioneer who offered the Hawaiian numerals did so mechanically. Attention only need be directed to this ill-advised course to cause it to be abandoned. It is known that counterfeits in some cases have a value for reference or study purposes but it is beside the question to vend them in open market.

Generous—A sage M. D. takes us down a peg. He writes: "I read with a smile your description of an evening at Nutt Knoll where Count Lapp de Booz and philatelic cronies are detained for the time being, as I am connected with a 'rest cure,' as you see. Now, it happens that in the searching history of each of the mental cases that come under our notice there has never been a patient with stamp collecting predilections. Consequently, it may be argued that stamps are a foil from mental enervation or distortion. However, if you will spend some time under our care, I think that the readers of your column will greatly benefit. You will be given a special rate and you can pay in Confederate covers." All of our Confederates have been lured from us by Messrs. Ashbrook, Ritchey, Knapp, et al., and so there is no chance for us to have a well-earned rest.

Advertising—As Mr. L. J. Ragatz says: "Here is positive proof that the designer of this ad is a stamp collector,—note the model letter-head, 'The Scott Stamp & Coin Co., Inc.'" Reference is made to a page ad in the Saturday Evening Post of September 13th, 1919, of the Russia Cement Co., in the foreground of which on a desk in the pictured announcement lies a sheet of paper on which, as close scrutiny reveals, is the legend aforesaid. Even though the name of the stamp company is limned none too plainly, we say that the ad that the Scott Stamp and Coin Co. receives is worth a good bit. Huzza, say we, to the illustrator and we should like him to tell us in confidence just why and how he selected from his teeming mind the name of a stamp firm for preferment in the big ad under discussion.

Ideas—While on the subject of advertising, we may say a few words applicable to our own columns. A good many years ago, we contributed many advertising axioms to Printers' Ink, on the following lines: "The paper that in itself is a success is the one most likely to make the ads in it successful" and "If the best of mediums could make every ad in it pay, it would not be large enough to contain all the advertising that would be offered it." Here we have the ad and the medium and both must be right before good results will come to the advertiser. The best thing about most stamp ads is the stamps in connection with their prices mentioned in them. The best way to make a stamp ad distinctive is to name an attractive stamp in it at a low price. The new advertiser is the one who needs a helping hand as the old space-user can take care of himself and moreover is settled in his business routine. The new advertiser must be persistent if he has the same stamps for sale that hundreds of dealers had before him and dozens have to-day. Under ordinary conditions he has a long road to travel before he may rest at the half-way house to the summit, success. The quality of his stamps and their prices is the only means of shortening the climb.

WE WANT TO BUY

Of course, we want to buy collections, rarities and all early issues in FINE CONDITION.
But we are also in the market for cheap stamps in quantity, even the 1c stamps, and we are prepared to purchase from 100 to 10,000 copies of each variety.
If you have anything for sale it will pay you to communicate with us.

One of the scarcest of War stamps
Price $45.00, o. g., fine copy.

We were very lucky to get a small quantity (less than a sheet of 100) from the Captain of a Trans-Atlantic steamer coming from Trieste, he told us that this stamp was very scarce and printed few to complete the set of 19 varieties. He had them from the Commander of the Austrian army in retreat. We advertised in MEKEEL'S at $2.25 each, and sold great many, especially to English collectors, then we raised the price to $12.50. We have at present only 9 copies left, the first 8 orders at $45.00 each will get them—the 9th copy is not for sale.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. Karl Koslowski sends for our inspection two most unusual margins taken from sheets of the 1c surface print, perforated 11. We say "margins" for unfortunately the stamps had to be detached for it seems that they were found in the Pontiac Post Office among a large lot of precancelled stamps which had been especially prepared for the Oakland Motor Car Company and consequently the clerk was unable to remove the sheets in question and as a result simply tore off the margin. On one of the margins we find the 1c plate number in green, No. 9517, and about half an inch away we find inverted a purple plate number, No. 9533, which is a direct impression from the 3c plate. On another sheet margin we have the same 1c plate number, No. 9517, in green in connection with a part of a direct impression of the 3c stamp in purple. These second purple impressions, certainly are not offsets but are direct impressions from the roller.

Mr. Frank Clark Cosby has shown us the upper left pane from sheet No. 9250 of the 1c surface print, perforated 11 wherein we find a large smear or blotch covering several stamps. Mr. Cosby tells us that he saw several sheets and that each one showed the identical imperfection. We are under the impression that this was caused by something hardening on the rubber roller which prevented it from taking up the right amount of ink from the plate to be transferred to the paper. We have seen similar varieties in the 3c offset print.

Mr. J. W. Welch informs us that he has located the 2c current series Documentary showing a distinct double impression. To quote from his letter, "I had the good fortune today to stumble onto two sheets of the 2c current documentary showing a wonderful double impression from the bottom up through the entire sheet. The bottom row is normal, the double impression or shift starts in the middle of the stamps in the next row from the bottom of pane and is wonderfully distinct all through the sheet. This gives me blocks showing the normal variety and the shift in combination.

These sheets were discovered by me accidentally as I was looking over some mail on the mail desk in our office. The mail clerk was perforating the stamps with the firm's initials and unfortunately had perforated the sheets showing the shift. They missed three, however, in the middle of one of the sheets."

It will be recalled that these revenues are printed by the offset method and as a result the double prints occur in the same manner as in the case of the 1c and 3c postage. To date we know of the following of the current series of documentary stamps with double print, 1c, 2c, 3c and 40c.

Mr. W. A. Langdon has located an envelope showing the 2c circular die in red in its proper place in the upper right corner but on the left of the envelope we find the oval 1c value inverted, half showing on the face and half on the back. Several weeks back we mentioned quite a number of similar freaks. It seems that the envelope printers used a lot of paper that had evidently been put aside as waste.

Swamped!

So many requests for fine old U. S. have been received in response to my recent advertisements that I am obliged to ask those good fellows who intend to write me for a selection, but have not yet done so to wait until about October 15th. It will not be possible for me to take care of the orders now on hand until then.

When you write, unless you wish your letter deposited carefully in the waste-basket, unanswered, send the kind of a reference you would want if a collector unknown to you should ask you to send him $100, $500 or $1,000 worth of high grade stamps.

ELLIOTT PERRY
HIMSELF
Box 328. WESTFIELD, NEW JERSEY

UNITED STATES

I will pay full collectors' prices for anything unusual in the way of United States Stamps used or unused, off or on cover, in fine condition. I do not care if your holdings consist of single specimens or a collection, providing you have really rare items. For instance, I will gladly pay $950.00 for a sheet of the 5c error imperforated. I will pay $300.00 for a fine block of the 4c 1918 on blue paper with gum or a similar block of the 8c. Unusual prices paid for early issues especially pairs, strips and blocks.

I am designated by some as a "Camouflaged" Dealer, but I still claim that I fall in the Collector category. My main interest is centered in my collection and I never dispose of a specimen that my collection requires. It is true that I sell my duplicates for it is often necessary to purchase a quantity of these in order to obtain what is wanted for my own collection. Because of the fact that it is not necessary for me to make a profit on a transaction enables me to pay top notch prices. During the last several months I have purchased nearly twenty-five collections and accumulations and I have no doubt that most of these people obtained offers elsewhere before closing with me. Therefore, if you have anything in the way of unusual U. S. consult me before selling. The best of bank or commercial references furnished if required.

I Want to Buy
BRITISH NORTH AMERICA

Or any other early issues of foreign stamps. B. N. A. Collection worth from $1,000 to $10,000 preferred. If you do not care to sell but have a few nice pieces of early foreign (imperf. preferred) you would like to exchange for fine U. S., I have a number of choice items. How about a perfectly centered block of four 24c 1857? Or, a block of 1c, 1857, showing Types I, II and III? Or, some 5c Buff in shades and odd Cancellations? Please put cash prices on what you offer; I will do the same. Not interested in exchanging early U. S. for 20th Century on a basis of catalog prices.

UNSOLICITED

From one of the largest dealers in the country comes the following: "So far I am just 'tickled to death' with your approval service and will say that everything is nice and clean and in the right condition for the most fastidious."

From another: "Your wholesale approval selections are always most welcome with us. They fill a gap which selections from other dealers have failed to fill. Furthermore, we find your prices very satisfactory and it has broken to a great extent our idea that a progressive dealer must buy his stock in foreign markets."

Comment is Unnecessary.

Your editor has received numerous letters regarding the provisional Playing Card stamps and complying with many requests we take pleasure in producing a list of those types of the 2c blue series of 1894 which were surcharged for use under the "Act of 1917". The list is by no means complete and we will gladly welcome additions. Copies of practically all these varieties are in the collection of your editor and their acquisition and information regarding them is due in a large measure to Messrs. Davenport, Mason, Mark, Belanger and others.

Your editor would like to have submitted to him for chronicle any types that have been omitted. We hope to prepare a list very shortly of the "7c" surcharges on the new 1918 type of Playing Card Stamp and also a list of the "8" provisionals. Our material so far, however, is scanty and we would welcome information upon the subject.

ANGOLA.—Mr. W. H. Jopling, of Camborne, informs us that he has on hand copies of the recent surcharges of this Portuguese colony, viz: 2½c on 100 reis, D. Manuel, "Republica" and 2½c on 100 reis, D. Carlos; both with inverted overprint and double surcharge.—Stamp Collecting.

AUSTRIA.—The first stamps of the new Austria consisted of stamps of the old règime, overprinted "Deutschösterreich" (German Austria), the overprint reading diagonally across the stamp. Within the past few weeks these have been superseded by a new series, in definitive designs, and bearing the name "Deutsch-österreich" in Gothic lettering. On the 3, 6, and 12 heller stamps the design is a bugle; the 5, 10, 25, 45 heller and 1 krone stamps depict the new coat of arms of the German-Austrian State; and the remaining values, 20, 30, 40, and 50 heller, bear an allegorical design. The three designs are by Josef Franz Renner, and the stamps are printed at the State printing establishment at Vienna in sheets of 120 stamps.—Stamp Collecting.

BAVARIA.—Mr. Huntington Moffat has shown us two values, viz.: 10 and 15pf

RUSH B. SMITH, NORRISTOWN, DEAD.

Norristown, Pa., Sept. 24.—Rush B. Smith died suddenly today at his home, 1349 Powel St. He was an extensive real estate owner, among his holdings being apartment houses, here and in Philadelphia. He was president of the Perless Paper Company and for more than quarter of a century was president of the Norristown School Board.

Mr. Smith, possibly in the seventies, was a real collector of the old school. Collected for many years and during that time accumulated a very fine collection, especially strong in rare revenues. Had such items as the 50c and $1 Proprietary on both the green and violet papers as well as the $5 on violet paper. I recall Mr. Smith's mentioning this latter especially, for I had been hunting for the same stamp on green paper for him for several years. Was an active member of the Phila. State Club up until a few years ago and his many friends in this vicinity will miss him.—Philip H. Ward, Jr.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Our longtime advertiser, W. Weber, has removed from Rochester, N. Y., to Buffalo. His new address will be noted in his regular adlet space.

—The Lynn Philatelic Society will hold its fourth annual banquet on Tuesday evening, October 14, at the King Joy Co. restaurant, 311 Union St., Lynn, Mass. The managing editor has been invited to attend.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Jules E. Cagnon, Mrs. M. E. Aitken, F. W. Lynes, Ernest Heberlein, M. P. Hynes.

—Grant Squires, renewing his subscription to the Weekly, writes us as follows:—"It may be of interest to you to know that I also possess a copy of the 90c '69 on the original cover. It was addressed from Boston to Calcutta in April, 1870".

Croatia.

From Bosnia and Herzegovina we will next go to the provinces of Croatia and Slavonia, of which Agram, a city of cathedrals and universities, with a population of 61,000, is capital. It is also thought likely that Agram will become the capital of the entire Jugo-Slav state.

Taking up the issues of Croatia first, we find here that the current Hungarian stamps have been seized and overprinted S. H. S.—HRVATSKA. The first issue was on the Hungarian stamps of 1913, Scott's type A4 and only the 6f olive green and 50f lake on blue are reported as having been thus overprinted. Both stamps of the 1916 issue, viz.: 10f violet and 15f red, with portraits of the king and queen, were also surcharged. The same overprint was applied on the issue of 1916-18, the Reaper and House of Parliament types, and we have the following list: 2f orange brown, 3f red lilac, 5f green, 6f greenish blue, 10f rose red, 15f violet, 20f dark brown, 25f blue, 35f brown, 40f olive green, (all Reaper type); and 50f red violet, 75f dark blue, 80f olive green, 1k deep red, 2k bistre brown, 3k indigo and dark violet, 5k red brown and brown, and 10k lilac and red lilac, (all House of Parliament type). The issue of 1918, Reaper type with colored numerals on white ground, 10f rose and 15f violet, were likewise surcharged. In this overprint errors have also been seen; the 2h, 6h and 15h with inverted surcharge, and the 2h with double overprint. This surcharge is composed of three lines; the first is merely a bar at the top center of the stamp which is used sometimes to obliterate "Magyar kir. posta", but more often the value "filler"; the second line is S. H. S. in large capitals, which falls in the center of the stamp; and the third line is the word HRVATSKA which sometimes obliterates the value "filler", but more often the words "Magyar kir. posta", always falling at the extreme bottom of the stamp. The above described surcharge was the one applied to the first and second issues, and to the third issue Reaper type, but a slightly different overprint was adopted for the House of Parliament values which required a larger surcharge. This also was one of three lines; the first line, HRVATSKA fell at the extreme top of the stamps and served to obliterate "Magyar kir. posta"; the S. H. S. of the second line again fell in the center of the stamp, and—in the three "filler" values—the third line was a bar obliterating the word "filler", at the bottom of the stamp. The surcharge was practically the same on the "krone" values, excepting the letters of HRVATSKA and S. H. S. were smaller and closer together, and the value "krona" was obliterated by "kruna" (singular) and "krune" (plural), instead of a bar.

On the next issue, the stamps of 1918, bearing a portrait of King Charles in crown and coronation robe, a surcharge was placed so that the worthy Charles' crown was obliterated by a wheel-shaped ornament, the word "filler" by bars, the "Magyar kir. posta" by HRVATSKA, and again S. H. S. was in the center of the stamp. Three values are reported thus surcharged, the 10f carmine, 20f gray brown, and 25f blue.

Queen Zita was the next to suffer. The 40f olive green, bearing her portrait, was next seized, HRVATSKA placed over "Magyar kir. posta", a floral ornament over her crown, S. H. S. in the center of the stamp, under that two fancy bars were placed so that one of them obliterated her name, and a bar placed at the bottom over "filler". This value is the only one of this series seen and reported so far as having received this overprint.

The next issue was one of their own, and was apparently a jubilee set. The design was a nude man breaking his chains, with S. H. S. in the corners, HRVATSKA at the top, and "29 LISTO PADA 1918" below. There were four values—10f claret, 20f violet, 25f blue, and 45f olive gray; but this series must not be confused with the Laibach issue of Slavonia which also bears the portrait of a slave breaking his chains.

The latest issue is really the first general one to come from the mint; this set consists of ten values:—2f brown orange, 3f violet, and 5f green (Goddess of Peace); 10f red, 20f black brown, 25f deep blue, and 45f dark olive green (Sailor with flag); and 1k carmine rose, 3k dark violet, and 5k deep brown (Eagles). All these stamps bear the inscription DRZAVNA POSTA—S. H. S.—HRVATSKA employed in their designs, and are perforated 11½.

There was also a variety of charity, special delivery, newspapers and dues issued from this region of Croatia. The regular charity issue of Hungary of 1916-17, 10f rose red, 15f dull violet, and 40f brown carmine, were overprinted with the standard surcharge, HRVATSKA—S. H. S., as was the 2f gray green and red special delivery stamp. The Hungarian newspaper stamp of 1914—(2f) orange—was the recipient of the same overprint, but with the coming of the general issue of postal adhesives, a regular newspaper stamp was issued, a 2f yellow value, having as its design S. H. S. in a circle in the center, DRZ. POSTA—HRVATSKA above, and with the numerals in both lower corners; this stamp was issued imperforate. The complete set of 1915-16 Hungarian postage dues, 1f to 100f, likewise was surcharged HRVATSKA—S. H. S.

Apparently no one has come upon a complete and perfect translation of the surcharges on the Bosnian and Hungarian stamps as yet. We do know that the letters "S. H. S." signify "Serbia, Croatia, Slavonia", but what DRZAVA, HRVATSKA, and KRALJEVSTVO, mean, remains to be discovered. I also know how difficult it is to procure well centered copies of the surcharge on the Hungarian stamps, and in some cases they are almost rarities.

I have only listed such stamps from Croatia as have actually appeared, but for many good and sufficient reasons, I feel confident a great many other values were similarly overprinted with the standard surcharge, all of which will no doubt appear in time.

Slavonia.

After listing the generous supply of stamps Croatia has given the collector, we are more than willing to turn to the third and last district that issued stamps for Jugo-Slavia, namely, Slavonia. The only town worth mentioning in this province, which is incorporated with Croatia, is Laibach, a railway center, which figured in Slavonia's first issue of postal adhesives. It was during the summer of 1918, when the Austrians were making their last attempt to break the Italian hold on the Piave, that the strong pro-Allied Slavonians gathered together at Laibach and rebelled against the tyranny of their Austrian masters. They immediately set up a form of government, and among its first official acts was the issue of postage stamps. It is widely known that this rebellion at Laibach was "the last straw that broke the camel's back", and forced the Austrain army to surrender to the Allies. Hence this first set has become known as the "Laibach Rebellion Issue". The issue comprised only six stamps, the 3f violet, 5f green, 10f carmine, 20f dark brown, 25f dark blue, and 40f buff, although I have heard rumors that three or four other values have appeared in Europe. The first three of these stamps are square in shape and depict a nearly nude slave breaking his chains in the rays of the sun of freedom. There is a panel at both the top and bottom of the stamps upon which DRZAVA S. H. S. is inscribed, at the top in Cyrillian and below in Roman type. The three higher values are identical with the lower ones, excepting the stamps are almost twice as high and depict the entire body of the slave, whereas the lower values show only from the waist up.

Some months later, five further values appeared, all higher than the previous ones, but it is not certain whether this is a continuation of the Laibach issue, or a separate set entirely. All five of the stamps are of the same dimensions as the higher values of the Laibach issue, but with different designs. They are the 50f green and 60f dark blue (Peasant with pigeons), 1k vermilion and 2k blue (nude child with palm), and 5k lake (noted man); a vertical pair of this last named value has been discovered imperforate between.

The postage dues of Slavonia are of rather large dimensions and the design is the same throughout. A large numeral is in the center with DRZAVA—S. H. S. in Cyrillian above it, and in Roman below, the whole design being in a leaf-shaped enclosure with a fancy background outside. There are seven values so far:—5f, 10f, 20f, and 50f, all carmine; and 1k, 5k, and 10k, all dark blue.

All the stamps issued from Slavonia are perforate 11½, with the exception of the imperforate variety in the 5k lake postal adhesive.

The issues of Jugo-Slavia number, all told, one hundred and twenty-nine varieties, and it is my honest opinion that there have been sufficient other varieties also issued to bring the number up fully to two hundred. The only explanation we can give of the stamps being surcharged with an overprint in two alphabets, as well as the printed stamps themselves having the same words in their design in the two letterings, is that there is some conglomoration of races in this new country, and where it has been found necessary to print and overprint the stamps in two alphabets, the sets have been taken and surcharged, as near as possible, alternately with the Roman and Cyrillian alphabet. Of course, we all look forward to the time when one general issue shall appear for the entire nation, but in the meantime there is scarcely any doubt but what many more local issues will appear, all to be chronicled from time to time. However, be that as it may, there is no doubt that every collector of these stamps will look forward constantly with a great deal of pleasure to the final day when there shall be a real "union of all Serbs, Croats and Slovenes".

NEW STAMPS OF GERMAN AUSTRIA

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

The provisional issue surcharged "Deutschoesterreich" on the last issue of Austria having been used up, a new set of stamps has been placed on sale. These labels are rather narrow, tall rectangles, 17x26 mm., exactly, and perforated 12½. Up to this writing, twelve values have been issued, in three designs. The higher values, to 20 Kronen, are expected soon.

The 3h, 6h, and 12h have a posthorn for the principal feature of the design. Value appears at bottom, and "Deutsch-österreich" at top, inscriptions being in colorless letters. The name of the engraver, J. F. Renner, appears at bottom, below design, in very small caps.

The 20, 30, 40, and 50 heller show an allegorical design, representing a man, clad in a smith's apron, tending a vine, which probably is intended to represent the infant republic, but suggests barbed-wire entanglements instead, owing to poor drawing. In these denominations the figure of value appears but once, in a rectangular tablet above the word "heller."

The 5, 10, 25, and 45 heller, and the 1 Krone, are of the third design, and it is here that we see the startling transformation that has taken place in the coat-of-arms of the former "Eastern Empire".

The double-headed eagle, looking both east and west, emblematic of empire, has lost his crown and one of his heads, the eastern member. The remaining head is decked with a cap, suggestive of those used by newspaper artists in depicting dignified headgear for majestic members of the safe-movers' union, and other puissant organizations of that ilk.

Instead of the sword and orb which he formerly clutched in his talons, he now holds a sickle and a hammer, emblematic of peaceful husbandry, and knocking!

To an ornithologist the bird appears somewhat emaciated, but this is also in keeping with the shrunken dimensions of the once-extensive empire.

Colors, as named in the color nomenclature, are given below:

5h pure green.
6h yellow-orange.
10h carmine.
12h bluish green.
20h dark green.
25h blue.
30h deep brown.
40h red-violet.
50h blue.
1kr carmine on yellow.

The stamps appear to be surface-printed, and the gum is odoriferous.

53,000 STAMPS HE CAN'T DISPOSE OF.

Stick around the Jugoslavs when they are handing things out, is the up-to-date tip of Lieutenant James E. Reagan, United States Army Sanitary Corps, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Lieutenant Reagan did not stick around to obtain gifts. In fact, he did not know anything about that feature of his acquaintanceship with Prince Ivan Palecek, Governor of the Department of Hrvatske, in the new born republic of Jugoslavia, until he had returned to Paris last July, after 5½ months' service as adjutant and paymaster of the American detachments in Jugoslavia. He was surprised then, and he came back to this country via Hoboken the other day still surprised and perplexed by one item of his baggage.

This was a collection of 53,000 stamps —postage stamps, express stamps, tax stamps and miscellaneous stamps—issued by the republic of Jugoslavia and by the aspiring but short-lived republic of Baranya, which was later incorporated into Jugoslavia. They are uncancelled first issues, originally turned out for the Austro-Hungarian post, but now bearing across their faces the names of the new post-bellum governments. Among the 53,000 there are 51 separate varieties. They arrived at his Paris address as a gift from Prince Palecek and as souvenirs of a pleasant friendship in the Balkans that began, as has many another friendship, over a bottle of champagne.

These stamps have a catalogue value of $15,000, Lieutenant Reagan declares, and adds that if he could have remained longer in Paris after they came he could have placed them on the Bourse. But the stamps are not dealt in on the New York Exchange, and to a stranger in New York and to the stamp collecting world they are just 53,000 bits of brightly colored paper, unless someone can be found who knows the ropes that lead to converting them into cash.—Boston Sunday Post.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUG. 24, 1912.

Of MEKEEL'S WEEKIY STAMP NEWS, published weekly at Portland, Maine, for October 1, 1919.

State of Maine, } ss.
County of Cumberland, }

Before me, a Notary Public, in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared Wm. W. Jewett, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the business manager and treasurer of the MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business manager are:
Publisher, Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co., Portland, Me.
Editor, Charles E. Severn, Chicago, Ill.
Managing Editor, Willard O. Wylie, Beverly, Mass.
Business Manager, Wm. W. Jewett, Portland, Me.

2. That the owners are:
Charles E. Severn, 713 Oxford Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Willard O. Wylie, 31 Pierce Ave., Beverly, Mass.
Wm. W. Jewett, 226 Federal St., Portland, Me.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 percent. or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state). None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the six months preceding the date shown above is (not required). (This information is required from daily publications only.)

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO., 33 W. 44th Street, NEW YORK

EDITORIAL.

Condition—A California collector who admits the soft impeachment that he is a condition crank arises to recite some of his adventures in the stamp wilds. He says that on one occasion he "was very careful to state that I wanted all stamps in perfect condition, no matter what the price." It happened that he was in a hurry and did not look at the stamps when the dealer handed them to him. When he reached home, he found that many of the stamps were not in perfect condition. We quote: "So the next day I returned the stamps. The dealer was furious because it took some time to make up the list and he even had given me a discount from the catalogue. He fumed and snorted and held up several off-centered stamps and asked me what was the matter with them! He said that I ought not to buy stamps from them if I was so particular." Certes, if the dealer can indulge his feeling of independence and ask a customer to get a transfer there is nothing to be said. He may run his business to suit himself and those who wish to do so may steer clear of him. Evidently, our correspondent is not unreasonable as he says: "I have answered about 100 ads since I subscribed in February and only two advertisers sent me stamps that were not in good condition." The position of the advertiser sometimes is a difficult one when an order is received for the stamp offered, provided that it is in perfect condition. If the "perfect" is taken in the strict sense, the stamp that may be in good shape, may yet not meet requirements. The advertiser is in a quandary. If he sends the stamp, under the circumstances, it may come back and then it may not. As there is no standard gauge for noting or measuring defects, even experienced collectors will differ on the gradations of the condition of a stamp; and that is one reason why the approval sheet business is so important a cog in the stamp collecting machine.

Misnamed—A correspondent hits off a subject for "pet peeves" of stamp collectors in the following contribution: "The following is from a price-list of one of the large stamp firms. '50 very fine varieties, like rare China, Japan, Hong Kong, etc. Price, 20c.' Think of it, fifty stamps, some rare, for twenty cents. It makes me wonder what adjective would be used in trying to sell British Guiana, No. 13, only one of which is known to exist." We suppose that the stamp would be "most uniquely unique" in trade parlance. It is fitting that the seller of stamps have a good sense of the perspective and hold his "rares" in leash until worthy game is sighted. The stamp dealer should set about "Preserving the sweetness of proportion and expressing itself beyond expression."

Shattered—In August, 1919, we printed a table of values of foreign coins that caused readers to pepper us with hot shot and made us afraid to show our head until now. The table was not up to the minute by any means; and Mr. Paul O. Garretson gently asked: "Therefore if the ante-bellum values given are as antiquated today as similar statistics would be concerning the price of pork chops, why print them at all?" This remark, Lardinius, is not entirely beside the question. Ah, but let us to more pleasant contemplations; and seek to blame someone else. Mr. A. C. Roessler, that nimble-witted defender of philatelic rights is speaking: "I bought goods in Germany in 1914 for 1,000 marks and the bill was made out accordingly. I tried to pay several times but the censor returned the letters. When postal communication was re-established, I wrote to the man and he sent the bill again in marks which he asked me to pay in dollars at the rate of 24c! A short time ago, English money was higher than U. S. and I paid in British money because the bills were made out that way,—and they should have been. Now, some British dealers ask to be paid in dollars because they get about 20% more. Unless we have a ruling made soon our dealers will get poor cards in every deal." The fluctuations of exchange should be recognized on some equitable basis that would be fair in intention even though it might not always work out invariably justly. Here is a question of financial ethics whose solution may be a simple one when some of our great minds apply themselves to it.

Elusive—From San Francisco, we have a tale of the wanderings of Mr. J. Rausch in search of the recent convention held there. He pursued his quarry from place to place but evidently it just managed to escape him. Be that as it may, the suggestion of Mr. Rausch, the disappointed, is a good one and that is to the effect that the meeting-place when outside the hotel headquarters should be well advertised, as it is better to overemphasize a meeting-place under the circumstances than it is to allow a single attendant to get away.

Suspicious—One of our keenest sleuths, Mr. Ferris Lutes, Saginaw, Michigan, forwards the following disquieting information: "Read the clipping below. I believe that Rip is Count Lapp de Booz in disguise. It is too bad that you did not keep him on your editorial staff. He really was the most COMPETITION AN IMPOSSIBILITY!

$4.00 BUYS the "GENUINE BONANZA" collection of 1,000 DIFFERENT freed-from-paper genuine POSTAGE stamps. NO revenues, telegraphs, locals, envelopes or cut cards. No Seebecks—No Trashy reprints or counterfeits. NOT PADDED with low valued unused French or Portuguese Colonies.

Assembled up to OUR PERFECTED STANDARD from our own immense stock of forty years' accumulation. Better kinds throughout and practically all POSTALLY USED—all others mint—even cat. up to $1.50 each.

A REAL revelation being the UTMOST for the money—our "Get Acquainted" offering of which over 110,000 have been sold to both the dealer and collector. Same price whether you order 1 or a 1000.

We feature no stamps—the whole is an EYE OPENER and contains hundreds of stamps seen in no wholesale stock including plenty of NEW EUROPE bi-colored, triangulars and pictorials.

An imitation is "dear" whether the price is a few dollars or ten. We invite comparison and this lot is offered under the unconditional GUARANTEE of "money back if you want it." LOT CATALOGS $30.

POSTPAID & REGISTERED AT $4.00.

"15 SEPT." SAN SALVADOR.

By H. M. WICKMAN.

When the overprinted "15 Sept." of San Salvador appeared, immediately there came upon the market a number of imitations, nearly all dealers had a few copies.

At that time I gave you correspondence which I had received from the Postal authorities in the city of San Salvador, which advised that no overprint was placed upon the watermarked stamps.

In securing these stamps for comparison I find that at the first glance one would pass them along as genuine, but upon closer inspection you will find there is a vast difference.

The distance between the years 1821 and 1909, is one millimeter more, also, that in the date "15", there should be a white space between the figures "1" and "5" of one millimeter, nor should the type show signs of wear.

The ink is of a lighter shade on this stamp.

In comparing a true copy please note that the figure "5" is on the lefthand outer edge of the building and, the figure "1" placed on the green leaving one millimeter of white space between them, and, the two figures "1" of the year date are directly over and under the letter "S".

The stamps at that time were printed in rows of four; on the first two stamps at the left, the letter "i" in the overprint covers the door of the building; on the third stamp it is raised so that it shows a white square; on the fourth, a good view of the door may be had.

If you possess a copy not measuring up to this, please pass it over to your Society to be placed in their book of imitations.

The stamp is genuine but the overprint is not, and it behooves every one to become familiar with stamps placed upon the market for Chicanery.

sensible writer you ever had." The following despatch appeared in the Detroit Free Press of September 21st, 1919: "Greaseball, Conn.: Revenue officers piped a school of catfish staggering with their fins in Sapp Creek, sampled the water and immediately went coo-coo. Followed the creek to where it made a bend in Rip Milliken's cellar and found Rip boiling the glue off a vatload of old-fashioned postage stamps. Rip put up an awful battle as long as his postage lasted but the revenue fellows beat him into the third zone and locked him up. The judge told the old boy to stick to postal cards." Here is a pretty kettle of fish. Can it be that the Count has eluded the watchful eye of the retainers at Nutt Knoll and has yielded to the seductions of the old life? We reported that he was fortifying himself against the drought by buying up great quantities of cheap unused stamps whose original gum contains an alcoholic content. Yet, we find it hard to believe that the urbane Count Lapp de Booz should adopt the rough-and-ready appellation of Rip Milliken, but the Count has been known to do strange things in his day. We are not yet ready to dismiss the subject before we ask consideration of the latest report that has reached us from one of the big stamp auctioneers. It seems that a "man about thirty-five, with black eyes and hair and a fidgeting manner and weight about 160 pounds" bought "so crazily" at his sale about all the unused blocks, or better, in it that he indeed was a local irritant and the observed of all observers. He was unknown to all the habitues of the auction room and when asked his name by the auctioneer, he said "Blue". The mysterious stranger never called for his purchases and the auctioneer sounds a warning against this "irresponsible individual." Is it possible that "Blue" was misunderstood for "Booz" The Count's enunciation of familiar words has been thick at times; and then the penchant for original gum. We wish that we really knew that strange creature, Count Lapp de Booz.

Swamped!

So many requests for fine old U. S. have been received in response to my recent advertisements that I am obliged to ask those good fellows who intend to write me for a selection, but have not yet done so to wait until about October 15th. It will not be possible for me to take care of the orders now on hand until then.

When you write, unless you wish your letter deposited carefully in the waste-basket, unanswered, send the kind of a reference you would want if a collector unknown to you should ask you to send him $100, $500 or $1,000 worth of high grade stamps.

ELLIOTT PERRY
HIMSELF
Box 823. WESTFIELD, NEW JERSEY

UNITED STATES

In a recent issue I mentioned that I had secured the entire available supply of the 2c engraved part perf. These are now all gone and none are for sale at any price. I, however, have since secured from a Denver gentleman a half sheet of the 3c also part perforated and by the time these notes appear they will most likely be gone for I am offering them at less than the price obtained for the only other sheet known.

I simply mention this to show you that if you are an ADVANCED COLLECTOR of the issues of our country, you are losing out if you are not on my list. I was the first to have the compounds, the perf. 12½, the 20c part perf., the black error envelope, the red error envelope, the imperf. rotary coils, etc. Has any dealer been able to supply all of these things? As we say in the South, "I reckon not." Therefore, drop me a line, tell me what you collect in U. S. and I will do the rest. No old issues for sale at present.

You ask, how do I get in FIRST on all these things. Because I pay the price. If you have anything to sell in U. S., see me before closing. Best of commercial, bank or dealer reference.

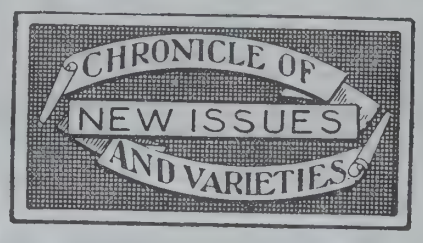
How about a perfectly centered block of four 24c 1857? Or, a block of 1c, 1857, showing Types I, II and III? Or, some 5c Buff in shades and odd Cancellations? Please put cash prices on what you offer; I will do the same. Not interested in exchanging early U. S. for 20th Century on a basis of catalog prices.

L. J. SEELY, HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.



Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States.—In a recent chronicle we mentioned the finding of two sheets of 2c unwatermarked, imperforated vertically and perforated 11 horizontally, and as a matter of record desire to state that the plate numbers as given at the time were transcribed incorrectly. These should have read No. 9191 and No. 9442 instead of No. 9191 and No. 9494 as given. It may be of interest to mention that the first sheet was somewhat off center, while the second sheet was fairly well centered.

As a result of the finding of the above, your editor has been able to locate the left half of the sheet from the lower left pane of plate No. 8206 of the 3c engraved, type I, unwatermarked, imperforated horizontally and perforated 11 vertically. This part of sheet was found in Denver some months back, and if I remember rightly was mentioned in the Weekly at the time. Very shortly after, an entire pane was found in Cleveland, and this was broken up by a New York dealer. This part sheet, which, by the way, your editor has acquired, is printed from a worn plate, and as a result some of the stamps in the center are of a very light shade, while those at the bottom are quite dark.

Mr. P. F. Robertson writes to inform us that he is the fortunate finder of a pane from sheet No. 9171 of the 2c perforated 11, unwatermarked showing a distinct double impression. We have not seen the variety and consequently can furnish no details until we have had the pleasure of viewing the stamp. We found in Philadelphia sometime back the same stamp in what we at first thought was a double impression, but on closer inspection came to the conclusion that it was simply a blurred print on dry paper.

One or two other things have recently been brought to our attention in the way of further errors of envelopes, current engraved stamps printed on the back, etc., but we hesitate to mention them until we have seen the varieties with our own eyes, for we recall our experience in recently listing the 3c circular die envelope printed in green. After a great amount of correspondence, have at last run down the story, have found the gentleman supposed to have purchased the variety at the Cincinnati Post Office, and he tells me that they are nothing more than the 3c green of the seventies some having been turned back for redemption.

We wish especially to thank Mr. F. L. Belanger for a very large and extended list of the provisional Playing Card stamps, but these were all mentioned in the list which we gave in last week's issue with the exception of one minor variety, namely, the stamp of the Standard Playing Card Co. in purple with the figure "7" omitted.

We are also pleased to acknowledge notes of interest from Mrs. W. E. Underwood and Messrs. C. M. Breder, Nathan Relin and P. J. Kranz.

Belgium.—Adjt. Henry Hooreman informs us that this Country will soon run riot in varieties of postage dues. He writes:—"After the issue of 1915 had been surcharged with name of city and date 1919, as has already been chronicled, the information now comes that the older issue will be overprinted. The values of the old issue to be surcharged are 5c pale green, 10c pale rose, 20c olive green, 30c pale blue and 50c dark gray. With all the names of places and different years to come, a complete collection becomes impossible. These stamps will be surcharged and when used they will be cancelled as an ordinary stamp is."

Cilicia.—An interesting lot of provisional stamps that were recently issued in Cilicia (Asia Minor) under French régime, has just reached us. There are at least sixty to seventy varieties, some of which are already fetching very high prices. So far five distinctly different issues can be traced. The French Authorities made use of all the Turkish stamps, some recent issues, others forty years old, found in various Post Offices, and all were overprinted with handstamps of which three varieties are known so far. The overprint consists of the word "CILICIE", and it is a blessing that inverted or double surcharges have not been chronicled yet. The fifth issue bears the word "CILICIE" in very small Gothic type and the letters "T.E.O." (Occupation of Enemy Territory). We have noticed the following varieties:—

1. Stop after "O" dropped.
2. First "i" of "Cilicie" raised.
3. "ilic" badly damaged.
4. "Cilicte" for "Cilicie".

The above varieties occur once in each setting of twenty stamps. A great many varieties of these Cilicia difficulties and conditions generally are much better known there than here. The stamps are therefore more appreciated by American philatelists.—Griebert's Notes.

SUNSHINE STAMP SERVICE

THIS WEEK'S NOVELTY

Great Britain 1890 Commemorative Stamped Envelope and Card Celebrating the Jubilee of the Penny Post. This rare entire sold May 16 to 19 at a shilling each for the benefit of distressed postal employes and did postal service of 1d. The card bears the portrait of Dr. Rowland Hill "Father of Penny Postage" and the 1d blue envelope a series of sketches showing the development of mail handling in the century. Harry Furness immortalized this in a reproduction in caricature (catalogued in 1897 by Morley at 10sh).

ESTHONIA.—Supplementing our previous reference to the somewhat bewildering issues of this State, details are now to hand of a striking new postal label which has just been issued at Reval. It is oblong in format and has, in the center, within an oval, a representation of an ancient galley. Ten rowers are to be discerned, and at the prow of the vessel is an enormous figurehead. The frame in which the transverse oval is set is ornate and is printed in chocolate-brown, while the center is in pale blue—a most pleasing combination.

At the top of the stamp are the words EESTI POST, in fancy capitals, and at the foot "1 Mark 1," in the same style, all in brown.

With regard to the Russian stamps overprinted EESTI POST, Mr. Th. Allard informs us that he believes "the greatest issue of any one value of these was but a thousand or so."—Stamp Collecting.

MESOPOTAMIA.—The Rev. R. E. Mansfield writes from Baghdad, regarding the Mosul provisionals, that there is "a 3 anna stamp which has markings not on the one mostly seen; it is also slightly different in colour, being yellow in the center, whilst the one usually seen is white. There is also a 2½ anna Mosul which has the line missing in the ½ of the 2½, also a few 8 anna Mosul which have the right-hand apostrophe missing after the D. These two latter are very scarce here."—Stamp Collecting.

IS COL. BRYAN NOW COLLECTING?

SALINA, Kas., Sept. 27.—J. W. Harris, proprietor of the Salina Steam Laundry, says that he owes his start in business to a collection of stamps which William J. Bryan bought from him 20 years ago.

Harris, who formerly lived in Hutchinson, started a stamp collection when he was a small boy, and several lucky finds of old stamps added greatly to its value. Twenty years ago, needing money, he heard that Bryan, who was then in Hutchinson, was a stamp collector. He took his collection to Bryan, who, he says, gave him $700 for it. With this money Harris purchased an interest in a laundry and later sold out and started the Salina Steam Laundry.

According to Harris, the collection of stamps owned by Mr. Bryan is worth at a conservative estimate, $35,000.

I want to buy from one to 100 copies each, both used and unused, of Hayti Nos. 155, 157, 175, 176, 234, 235, 244, 247, 281 thro' 287. Honduras, Nos. 297, 306. NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Lieut. Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, who accompanied Capt. Alcock on his historic non-stop flight across the Atlantic, will tell the story of the adventure at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, October 16. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia, of which Jos. A. Steinmetz is the president. Lieut. Brown will be the guest of Mr. Steinmetz, who is also president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania. The local stamp collectors are especially urged to hear the story of the flight.

—"I quote the following from an encyclopedia: 'Christmas Id.—A British island in the Pacific, with some guano deposits. Another Christmas Island annexed to Great Britain in 1888, lies about 250 miles S. W. of Java, is six miles long by four broad, partly volcanic, partly coralline in structure. There is a third Christmas Island off Cape Breton'."—W. HAYWARD.

—There has been an accession to the ranks of the down-town dealers in Chicago in the person of Mr. B. L. Voorhees of LaGrange, Ill., who may be found in a well-equipped office in the Union Bank Building. Mr. Voorhees now gives his undivided attention to the stamp business, and he will make a strong feature of his auction sales, as before.

—"Sept. 27 issue came today, worth waiting for. When you say 'Before you lies a great paper', You sed it! It will be an inspiration to collectors and dealers for a long time."—A. A. LEVE.

—W. T. Wilson, the Birmingham, England, dealer, has sent us some catalogs of his October sale of British Colonials and desires that we shall place them with interested parties. This sale has been advertised in our columns, but we are positive that insufficient emphasis was placed upon the character of the fine lots offered for sale. Such countries as Ceylon, Mauritius, New South Wales and India are listed in a richness that must appeal to the collectors of the rare old issues. Four full page plates of illustrations illuminate the text.

"BILL BLOSS" IN LONDON.

"Bill Bloss" (the pseudonym of a well-known American writer on Philately) has been visiting London and is giving the readers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY his impressions of Philately over here. He was especially struck with the stamp shops and offices in the Strand, and says he has seen nothing in America to compare with these shops. Wherever he went he was cordially welcomed—that, I think, is the most notable characteristic of the London stamp trade—and what surprised him more than anything, he was not urged to buy! "In fact," writes Bill Bloss, "I don't believe the English dealer ever urges his clients to buy his wares—he seems quite reluctant to sell them!"

How true that is. I know dealers in London who are as bad as any antiquary for clinging to their treasures.

Once in a dealer's office in Holborn I witnessed an obstinate and determined refusal on the part of the dealer to sell certain stamps. The customer was eager to buy; his cash was ready, but the dealer was disinclined to sell, and from saying "he would rather keep them" at last got to a very angry refusal to sell them. At last the would-be buyer gave it up and went. Naturally, I asked the dealer why he wouldn't sell. "Oh, I don't like that chap!" was all he would give me by way of explanation.

"Bill Bloss" says that stamp prices on the whole are much the same here as in America for all ordinary lines, rather higher for good stamps, and very much higher for rarities. Which is hardly what one would have expected to hear!—Fortnightly.

UNITED STATES "GRILLED" POSTAL CARDS

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

If one would happen to pick up an old edition of Bright's catalogue of "The World's Postage Stamps, Postcards, Envelopes, etc.," Part II Postcards, Envelopes, etc., one would find under United States Post Cards: "1873 1 cent brown (with grille)" and "1875-9 1 cent black (with grille)", etc.

These were listed as varieties of the normal cards.

Many collectors, as well as I, have pondered over the list and the reason for it and perhaps, like I did, searched and searched for a postal card with a "grille" on the imprinted stamp of the likeness of the grille on the postage stamps of 1867-1870.

Never finding any, I made inquiries through the philatelic press and by correspondence with collectors of postal cards. Not an inkling did I learn about any "grilled" cards. Later, when I compiled a list of United States postal cards, I felt convinced that "there ain't no such animal" as a postal card with grille, so I eliminated all mention of them from my list.

Soon afterward the tenth edition of Bright's catalogue appeared (dated 1914) and its list of U. S. postal cards was found to be re-arranged in accordance with my list which had been published a short time previously. And the "grilled" cards were left out.

For several years I continued to ponder over the whys and wherefores of the former lists containing grille postal cards, but did not arrive at any satisfactory conclusion in what I am pleased to call my mind. During this year, however, the matter has been explained to me and one of the "grilled" cards has been shown to me and I have also found several of them in my collection.

There appears to be considerable differences in the texture of paper and we find many varieties in the postal card paper, not only in the early days of the postal card but at the present time. I had noted smooth finished card and rough card; sometimes so rough that I deemed the card worthy of being an exceptional variety. I had also noted that when a card was immersed in water it caused the finish to soak off, leaving a porous surface showing the weave of the screen upon which the card, in its pulp state, was made. In other words, the size was removed.

I have one of the "grille" postal cards before me as I write. The surface of the card is indented with little depressions about the size of a pin point, all set out in diagonal rows and very close together. The space between each depression is not much larger than the depression itself. At first glance one thinks the depressions are diamond shaped, owing to the diagonal row formation, but while the impression thus arrived at is probably the correct one, nevertheless the furthest point of the indentation is curved or blunt. The grill is very lightly impressed.

In paper making, especially for heavy paper, there are very many different kinds of rollers for the paper to pass under and over, and the finer the paper, the more rollers. While these rollers are mostly of very highly polished iron, or iron with a brass covering, some of them, for various purposes in the manufacture of paper, have corrugated surfaces which produce ribs or grills. I am, therefore, inclined to believe that the grilled postal card is due to the manner in which the card was made and not a "grille" applied for a specific safety purpose like the adhesive postage stamps were grilled.

The advisability of listing the "grille" cards is an open question. I find I have the small Lincoln card (red) of 1911 with the identical "grille" of the 1875 postal card. In manufacturing the paper, a superior finished product may eliminate the apparent grilled surface of it, so I am of the opinion that the "grille" is due to the "weave" of the paper and that every number of the United States postal cards may be found, if diligently searched for, with "grille."

While I will search out the grilled cards in my collection and always note it as a variety and also include a note in my forthcoming list of postal cards that such varieties of the paper exist, I will not classify such paper differences and make them of catalogue rank, because most of the cards show more or less of

A WORD
ON EMCO PACKETS

Our recent advertisements are bringing inquiries regarding our LARGER PACKETS, both UNMOUNTED and MOUNTED.
Many large purchases of collections and stocks have enabled us to make up our own larger variety packets instead of being dependent on the short European supply.
Condition and variety of countries are especially fine. While it has been difficult to secure the "cheaper" stamps in any quantities, the market is becoming much steadier and we can include many new varieties, War and New Issues, etc., not to be found in packets of equal size offered by any dealer. In fact, we are today supplying over half the leading dealers in the U. S. with EMCO packets.

8,000 VARIETIES AT $199.00

Worth much more considering the class of stamps usually included in a packet of this size. Well filled with the older as well as the newer issues and forms a fine collection. Many high valued stamps included and the catalog value runs very high. Guaranteed to satisfy. Post free and registered. $199.00 Net. Same Packet arranged and mounted on sheets, ready for transferring to any Album, $215.00 Net.

10,000 VARIETIES AT $350.00

Contains 2000 extra desirable and scarcer stamps than our 8000 collection. Practically every stamp issuing country is represented and at the above price makes it the best "Packet Bargain" we have offered in many years. Over 200 varieties WAR stamps alone. A quality first packet.

WANTED! WANTED! WANTED!

United States and Foreign Stamps either used or unused in fine condition only. For such stamps, I will pay the highest market prices.
Mr. Collector, if you contemplate disposing of either your collection or duplicates, write me, or send stamps at your own price. The cash is ready and I mean business.

a "weave" and all the cards are on "wove paper", which can have their "pores" opened by immersion in water. There would be no end to the list of textures of the different cards, due to innumerable and indescribable causes in the manufacture thereof.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Counterfeit $5 W. S. S. have been located in Newark, N. J., and Philadelphia, Pa. Thus far only a few hundred dollars' worth of the bogus stamps have been negotiated, but it is believed that the extent of the fraud will reveal a wide circle of operations.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from George B. Sloane, W. F. Ferguson, M. A. Raymond, Jno. W. Dodge, Harold J. Snyder, C. M. Breder, Louis Wittstock, Jr., W. G. Hoffman, B. H. Drake, A. A. Leve.

—W. L.—For pictures of U. S. stamps get Bright's Catalog. For U. S. stamps at wholesale watch the columns of the WEEKLY.

—Collectors of Yonkers, N. Y., and vicinity who are interested in the formation of a local stamp club will do well to communicate with G. W. Horton, Box 201, Yonkers, N. Y.

—Otto Haker of Toronto, Can., was a recent visitor to Boston, where he made the rounds of the dealers and renewed old acquaintanceships.

—Wm. F. Ferguson calls our attention to the fact that persons doing business with British dealers can save money by using bank drafts instead of P. O. money-orders. We pass this suggestion along as of value to our readers.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

SWEDEN.—An important kingdom of northern Europe. Postage stamps were first issued in July, 1855.

SWITZERLAND.—A confederation or republic of twenty-two cantons in the centre of Europe. Postage stamps were issued in the canton of Zurich in 1843. Other cantons followed suit and in 1850 the first stamps for the whole confederation were issued.

SYDNEY VIEWS.—The popular name given to the early stamps of New South Wales which show a view of the harbor at Sydney.

SYLLABIC CHARACTERS.—These are small native characters shown upon the 1874-5 stamps of Japan to indicate the separate plates used for printing. They, therefore, correspond to the plate-numbers engraved upon so many of the early stamps of Great Britain.

T

T.—An overprint found upon certain stamps of South Australia issued between 1868 and 1874 and used upon the correspondence from the office of the Treasurer. They were suppressed in 1874 in favor of the general issue for the use of all government departments overprinted "OS".

II. An overprint shown upon certain stamps of Bulgaria issued in Rustchuk in 1901 as provisional postage due stamps. The letter stands for "taxe" i.e., tax.

III. The letter "T" overprinted on various stamps of Abyssinia indicates they are postage due stamps.

IV. The letter "T" shown in each of the four corners forms the only inscription shown upon the postage due stamps of the Dominican Republic.

V. The special local stamps of Peru used in Huacho were all overprinted with a large "T" enclosed within a circle.

VI. Many of the stamps of Tasmania were punctured with a large "T" for use on official correspondence.

TABLET.—A square or rectangular block containing an inscription or the indication of value on a postage stamp.

TABLET TYPE.—The name by which the 1875-6 stamps of Afghanistan are very generally known owing to the fact that on this particular issue the value was engraved on an uncolored tablet.

TAHITI.—An island giving name to a small archipelago in mid-Pacific belonging to France. Postage stamps were first issued in 1882 but since about 1894 the special series has been superseded by the issue for the Oceanic Settlements.

TAI-HAN.—The characters overprinted upon the 1895 stamps of Corea mean "Tai-han" or "Empire of Corea".

TAILLE-DOUCE. — (See "Line-engraving.")

TAKCA.—An inscription shown upon the postage due stamps of Bulgaria meaning "Tax".

FORTUNE ON THE WALL—STUCK FAST.

Wallpaper, in part of one room, valued at very close to $300,000, is the record of an old-fashioned home in Albany. The reason for the great value is because under a coat of paint there are many rare United States revenue stamps that are listed in stamp catalogues to be sold at from $50 to $100 apiece. Years ago in Albany, V. R. Powell, a manufacturer, was compelled to attach a proprietary stamp upon every one of a certain article that he manufactured. Later the tax law was repealed and he gave some 2,000 of the stamps, which he no longer needed, to his daughter. Childlike, she attached the entire 2,000 to the wall of her playroom and, as she became of age, the playroom was forgotten and the walls painted over, stamps and all.

Some years later a stamp collector, while visiting at the home, came upon two of the rare stamps in an album in the home. When he inquired about the stamps, he was told that there were about a thousand on the wall of another room in the house. Being an ardent stamp collector, he immediately got busy on the wall and discovered the designs under several coats of paint. Then, to his chagrin, he discovered that the oils in the paint had had a bad effect on the body of the stamps and had absorbed the thin, tissue-like paper that formed their body. There were the impression and the design of the stamps on the wall and no way to get at them, as there was no body to the stamp.

EDGWOOD CLOSES WITH 397.

On October 1 we closed our subscription contest and to the Edgewood Stamp Co. belongs the honor of having secured no fewer than 397 subscriptions. This is a notable achievement and we are under obligations to this firm for the work it has done. Chas. Christensen with 104 and the Covert Stamp Co. with 98 are neck and neck for the second position. We cannot name all our other contestants but invite attention to the honor roll as printed below.

Three months ago L. B. Dover, Overland, Mo., began a campaign for WEEKLY subscriptions and Sept. 13 49 subscriptions were credited. During the past month the firm has led all contestants with 24 new names and with a total of 73 makes a splendid showing. There are four firms to whom we desire to give special credit for work done during the past month, the record including all subscriptions received up to Sept. 30:—

EDGEWOOD STAMP CO.,	23
D. B. NAGLE,	14
CARL REITTER,	13

We are printing this week the names of only those who have secured ten or more subscribers during the entire year, in view of the fact that the list has increased to such proportions. This summary for the year ending Sept. 30, 1919, is as follows:—

WATCH OUT ON REFERENCES.

It is the duty of every dealer to carefully investigate references and in this connection we want to add that no dealer or collector is ever authorized to use MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS or the firm that publishes it as a reference. We have stated this at various times in the past and we desire to reiterate our position. It is true that a personal acquaintance with individual members of the firm will occasionally permit the use of the name of Mr. Severn, Mr. Jewett or the Managing Editor, but this should only be done after proper consent has been secured.

EDITORIAL.

Evidence—"Your great issue impels me," says a publisher who is taking a vacation during the strike in New York, "to say that you deserve well of collectors for giving them tangible proof of the substance of philately. I hope that you will produce several big numbers during the season if for nothing more than the moral effect that they carry. I have sympathy and respect for the collector who must look to the investment merits of stamps sharply, even though I do not care a bobbin for what I may get out of my stamps. The money that I put into them is forgotten in the pleasure of buying the stamps that appeal to me. You are wise in addressing your chief message to the middle class of collectors, the ones who write to the editor, for instance, and earnestly, if not exactly scientifically, devote themselves to their preference." This is interesting to us, coming, as it does, from this busy man who writes us genially every now and then to say that a job he once offered us is still awaiting our acceptance. As we have been editing this sheltered sheet for nigh on to two and twenty years, we shall stick to our knitting for some time yet.

Benighted—A philatelic friend who conducts a progressive shop devoted to the sale of periodicals, toys, etc., in an advanced neighborhood, sells stamps as well. He likes the associations of stamps and does what he can to direct the budding philatelic instinct of his community. It happened that one ardent boy bought a pane of sixty stamps for one dollar at one fell swoop, at this store, and it so happened that several adults were present when the transaction was made. Their bewilderment and curiosity were almost painful to behold. One man insisted that the labels were some kind of trading stamp, and the other men found the explanation of the rudimentary principles of collecting almost too much of a strain for their gigantic intellects. By the wagging heads of the customers, it was seen that they had stumbled on to a mystery that afforded their minds strenuous gymnastics. These men were of general intelligence and successful in their vocations, even though philately was a sealed book to them. What we wish to accomplish is to so advertise stamp collecting among the outside world as to make those who will have none of it know that it exists, at any rate.

Examined—An analysis was made by a stamp dealer recently that reflects intimate thoughts of the man who follows stamps commercially and who knows them better than any other commodity. We have heard how stamp dealers are regarded by collectors and those whose business seems to be more substantial than that of the stamp handler but now we have the views of a dealer on himself and in a measure, his fellow dealers. In effect this dealer said: I played with stamps as a boy, as a youth I collected them and then began to traffic in them. I spent an aggregate of time over them that would be almost unbelievable, if reduced to hours, and I absorbed their suggestions and their possibilities. It may be said that I have studied stamps for twenty years, earnestly and hopefully; and so, after an apprenticeship served faithfully I have gained a knowledge of stamps and conditions surrounding them that stands me in good stead. Out of my experience I am rewarded by the fruits of a successful business. The point is if I had devoted the same amount of time and thought to a more material line, say, iron, linen, or what you will, would I not have achieved a greater success in a dollar sense? I think that I would have, but of course I chose stamps because of a liking for them in the same way that another man selects something for his life work in which he probably has an interest. I maintain that the stamp dealer who makes money deserves every penny he gets, as in all likelihood, he would have done as well, if not better, in another line in which he invested the same care and study.

Query—A reader inquires: "Is Nutt Knoll conducted by my whilom friend, Luce Nutt, graduate of I do not know how many institutions of learning and with a string of degrees that puts to shame the buttons on the tail of the oldest rattler? The last time that I saw Luce Nutt, he was busily working out his theory that he could hold converse with the speaking likenesses on the stamps and thus acquire the wisdom of the ages. If this distinguished gentleman is running the philatelic rest cure that has been mentioned by you at different times, I would give a penny black to hear, unobserved, the midnight discussions of Luce Nutt and Count Lapp de Booz on abstruce philatelic problems. Cannot you sneak a shorthand reporter on them some time for the benefit of your readers who recognize in the Count perhaps the greatest philatelic genius of all times?"

Reverse—There is another side to the picture shown in another paragraph and a wave of philatelic interest manifests itself where it was not especially looked for. Willet H. Cornwell, State Senator, Chicago, told us that he collected stamps some years ago and had dealt in them. He said that Maclay Hoyne, Chicago, State's Attorney, ran a stamp company from Mr. Hoyne's home on Michigan Avenue about the time of the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893. Then, George K. Schmidt, one of Cook County's Assessors, who is Republican Committeeman of the 25th ward, mentioned his collection of stamps and we know that it is a good one. Too, Charles Krutckoff, also an Assessor, is, or was, a subscriber to this paper; and as for Samuel M. Hamilton, Assistant City Attorney, Chicago, he once published a lively stamp paper down in Illinois. So, stamp collecting is not exactly "like hidden lamps in old sepulchral urns."

Hold—A reader upspeaks: "I have often wondered why collectors make such a fuss when once in a while they receive a stamp that is a little mussed up. When you consider all the fine canceled copies that dealers rave about, you must confess that the percentage of mutilated copies is very small; and anyway, after a two cent stamp does its duty in carrying a message for you, why say more? The stamp was bought to be used." Did you notice "the fine canceled copies that dealers rave about"? This neat little counter should smooth away a wrinkle from the brow of the post office clerk.

Off—An Indianapolis reader shows up Burleson by exhibits Nos. 1 and 2. The first is a letter sent special delivery; it was dated May 22nd, 1919, and was nothing more than a three-cent stamped envelope. The fee, as usual, was claimed by office of first address. The other example is a special delivery letter that weighed two ounces and was sent May 22nd, 1919, with only four cents in stamps besides the special delivery. A newspaper clipping tells of one of those hesitating letters that require years to travel a short distance. However, a previous administration deserves the ticket for this. "However, there are just as many sleepy collectors as mail clerks, wadda you think?" asks our correspondent,—but we have not the space to say what we think.

LACOUR'S MATCHES.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

G. W. Gaffit & Co.

For many years collectors have puzzled over the peculiar facts in connection with this stamp and altho the entire truth regarding it may never be known, the information now available will clear up most of the mystery regarding it.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, June 7, 1867.
First issued, July 24, 1867.
Last issued, April, 1872.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
14,050,370 issued on old paper.
2,126,880 issued on silk paper.

"This stamp was ordered by G. W. Gaffitt & Co. of New York, and they were the only parties known in any way in connection with it. This fact also explains the overprint 'G. W. G. & CO' with various dates, which is commonly found on the stamp and the initials are those of this firm. Although not issued until 1867, this overprint is found dated '1865'. Why this is so is an open question."

Let us see if we cannot close that open question. As early as 1843 Mitchell Lacour appears in the New York directories in the match business at 44 Stanton St. In 1844-'46 Michael Lacour is listed in the match business first on Cherry St. and later on John St. From 1850 until 1864 he appears nearly every year, for several years at or near 30th St. and 2nd Avenue and after 1857 at 134 E. 49th St. Except for a short time about 1868 he appears to have been out of the match business after 1864, and is not listed in the directories at all after 1872-'73.

George W. Gaffit is listed on 2nd Avenue not far from 30th St. as early as 1847. From 1855 on his house address was 86 E. 31st St., where Lacour also lived for many years. Commencing about 1858 Gaffit is listed as a match manufacturer at 134 E. 49th St.—the same address as Lacour's factory. The directories for 1865 to 1873 list G. W. Gaffit & Co. as match manufacturers at the 49th St. address. In 1868 the street numbers were changed and No. 134 became No. 218. In 1871-'72 both the Gaffit firm and Lacour had business addresses at 218 E. 49th St. and downtown at 95 Liberty St. Gaffit appears in the directories until about 1880 but is not listed as being in the match business after 1872.

Just what connection between Lacour and Gaffit was the writer has been unable to learn, but it is evident they were business associates. Probably they were related and Lacour may have been the "Co" of G. W. Gaffit & Co. It is significant that the Gaffit firm commenced just after Lacour had apparently gone out of the business.

The first Gaffit overprint was dated 1865 because the Gaffit firm commenced business that year and has nothing to do with when the stamps were issued. Only two overprints have been noted by the writer:—

(a)	(b)
G. W. G. & Co. 1865	G. W. G. & Co. APRIL 1870

Overprint "a" has been noted in red and in black on old paper only. Overprint "b" has been noted in black on old and on silk paper. Stamps without overprints are considerably scarcer than those with them.

No pair of the Lacour-Gaffit stamp has been noted on any paper. Single copies are found on thin, medium and thick old paper, the experimental silk paper of 1870 and the full silk paper used after August, 1871. Copies on the full silk paper are quite scarce, especially without overprint.

A NICARAGUA CHECK LIST.

By OTTO C. REYMAN.

This is a Check List of 1918 and 1919 surcharges on Nicaragua stamps of the issue of 1914. The following stamps are surcharged in three lines with

Vale media centavo de cordoba or Vale 1 centavo de cordoba and are either Scott's type A-24 for the 3, 15 and 25 centavos stamps or Scott's No. A-25 for the 4, 6, 10, 20 and 50 centavos stamps.

Swamped!

So many requests for fine old U. S. have been received in response to my recent advertisements that I am obliged to ask those good fellows who intend to write me for a selection, but have not yet done so to wait until about October 15th. It will not be possible for me to take care of the orders now on hand until then.

When you write, unless you wish your letter deposited carefully in the waste-basket, unanswered, send the kind of a reference you would want if a collector unknown to you should ask you to send him $100, $500 or $1,000 worth of high grade stamps.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. Gerald Mongeon sends us a newspaper clipping wherein the public's attention is called to a counterfeit of the $5 blue, Franklin War Saving Stamp. It seems that the Secret Service men found that several thousand dollars' worth had been sold in Newark.

This counterfeit is made by the photographic process and the stamp is a darker shade of blue than the genuine and is slightly smaller. The horizontal lines beside the portrait of Franklin in the original do not exist in the counterfeit, the background being of shallow color.

Mr. Percy M. Mann mentioned to your editor that he had heard of counterfeit postage stamps having recently been found in Milwaukee but we have been unable to learn any of the details. There is little wonder that we have not had a substantial crop of counterfeit postage stamps for the poorly executed offset prints would have been quite easy to imitate.

In further reference to our recent notes regarding provisional "Narcotic" surcharges from Peoria, Mr. P. F. Robertson now favors us with the set consisting of the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 10, 25 and 40 cents surcharged in large capitals with serifs, in purplish red. The surcharge is applied by means of a rubber stamp to the current series of documentaries.

Through the kindness of Mr. F. L. Belanger we are able to add to the list of "7 cents" provisional playing card stamps given in our chronicle of October 4th.

Used by A. Dougherty.
Surcharged in red in two lines in large capitals "A D 1917".

He also shows us copies of the small Russell Playing Card Co. stamp, surcharge dated "1-1-18," reading up and down with "7 CTS" in large letters and a similar variety reading up with the "7 CTS" in smaller capitals.

Messrs. G. E. Holft, George Soulman and others have sent us notes which are appreciated.

BARANYA.—A set of new stamps has been sent us by C. G. Dietrich. Its genesis is shown in the letter accompanying the set. Mr. Dietrich writes:—"I enclose a set of Baranya stamps for your inspection. This issue was made by the French and Jugo-Slav forces after their occupation of the Hungarian Comitat of Baranya (Siebenburgen), in February and March of the current year. There are no fewer than fifty varieties known. The overprint block was made for twenty-five stamps and the fourth and fifth stamps on the fourth row have the year in considerably smaller figures than the rest. Each sheet of 100 contains therefore eight stamps overprinted with a 1919. This, however, does not apply to the values which were overprinted with the very large 1919 type, such as the 40 on 2 filler, 45 on 5f and 1.05 on 2f." The surcharging is done in black with the exception of the 5f green, which is overprinted in carmine in two lines "1919—Baranya".

BELGIUM.—We have received from Adjt. Henry Hooreman an interesting letter giving us several items of news which we quote:—

"The 10c carmine King Albert with helmet was issued July 19, 1919, and the engravers were J. Enschede & Son, Haarlem, Holland. The first issue has been exhausted and the total number printed is yet unknown. A new printing of several million will appear shortly along with the complete set and every applicant will receive not more than 200 copies of the 1c to 50c values and 50 copies of the 1 to 10 francs.

"The 10c King with helmet was printed in sheets of 5x5 or 25 copies, with a small figure or control at the bottom. Controls 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, the latter figure reversed, and sheets with no control thus furnish seven varieties altogether. As every applicant received only five copies of this stamp, complete sheets are very hard to procure. There are two perforations, 11x11½ and 11½x11½, and there are two shades, vermilion and carmine. The color is fugitive and does not stand water.

"The Liege stamp 25c blue, showing the Terror of Liege or National Emblem of the city, is printed in sheets of ten stamps only. The issue was made in Holland and every applicant received two copies. The total number printed is unknown."

In the parcel post stamps (Yvert & Tellier 1919 No. 72) the inscription of the 1.10 value is shown printed with plural francs-franken, the two national languages, French and Flemish. This has been corrected in a new issue of this stamp so as to read in the singular franc-frank. There is no foundation in the rumor that the inscription franken will be corrected to francs in the higher values. The first 1.10 with francs-franken will become a good stamp, especially unused.

BERMUDA.—An esteemed correspondent in Bermuda sends us a number of interesting minor varieties of the current Ship type stamps, including two very distinct shades of the ½d value, and a photograph of the slight "double shift" described June 29 last year, besides examples with defective impressions of the "War Tax" overprint, which we do not consider worth mentioning in detail.

Double transfers of British Colonial engraved stamps are very seldom to be found, but it should be remembered that the "Ship" design was the work of Messrs. De La Rue & Co., whereas the engravers whose name is usually associated with the production of postage stamps in taille douce are Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co.

These stamps are printed in small sheets of sixty (ten rows of six)—the size usually adopted for steel-plate work for British Colonies. Our Bermuda correspondent says that, soon after the "War Tax" stamps were issued the margins on the left side and top of the sheet were removed to allow it to fit the local overprinting machine.

When these "Ship" stamps were first issued, i. e. June 4, 1910—it was officially stated that the design shows a seventeenth-century ship in full sail, with the Cross of St. George at each mast-head, similar to that which was used on the reverse of the piece known as Hogmoney, described and illustrated on page 101 of the first volume of Sir J. H. Lefroy's "Memorials of the Bermudas."

They were, of course, the first line-engraved stamps issued for our tiny mid-Atlantic Colony, and the "double transfer," slight though it is, will probably not be found in many cases.—Stamp Collecting.

CESKO-SLOVENSKA. — The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 50c value imperforate of a dark blue shade. Also the 25 stamp of the same type perforated. At the same time a stamp of the 30c with a design of an eagle with outstretched wings standing on a pedestal. The figures "30" are in each lower corner and in the background is a double line circle containing "Posta" at the top and "Cesko" on the left lower side and "Slovenska" on the lower right.

GERMAN EAST AFRICA.—1918. Design same as the 1905 issue, but much larger, measuring 27 by 36 mm. Lithographed on white wove paper without watermark.

Perforated 11½.
2½ heller bistre.
4 heller green.
7½ heller red.
15 heller deep ultramarine.
30 heller red lilac.

Above five stamps overprinted G.E.A. in large black Roman capitals 3½ mm. high, beneath which is an additional two line overprint BRITISH OCCUPATION, also in black Roman capitals, but 2¼ mm. high.

Champion's Bulletin Mensuel states that a correspondent of theirs sent on these stamps from Karissimbi, stating that the regular issue of 1905 design having all been used up, and there being no hope of getting a further supply from Germany, the above set was manufactured locally and used for a time, or until the total occupation of the country by the troops of the Allies, when the small supply captured was overprinted as above described. We understand that the consignment sent to Mr. Champion was franked with the overprinted stamps.—American Philatelist.

JAMAICA.—We have been shown by J. A. Galbraith the new 5sh King George in carmine and olive on yellow, watermarked multiple crown and CA.

JAPAN.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us copies of the new 30 and 50 sen dull rose and brown respectively.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Harry E. Huber writes us as follows:—"When the Caribou series of stamps was issued at St. John's, on the 2nd of January, 1919, the odds and ends of the Cabot, Royal and Coronation series which had been on sale up to that time were withdrawn. This was a departure, for commemorative stamps being more or less temporary in issue, are limited in numbers, and generally sold concurrently with stamps of another series.

The Guy and Coronation series have increased very rapidly in value during the past few years, and barring further indents, the higher values of the Caribou series will be very desirable items. The 6c and 8c, especially, were issued in smaller quantities than the 6c of the Canadian Jubilee series, which is now catalogued at 6/6.

A comparison with the Canadian Jubilee series of 1897, as to quantity and present catalogue values, is rather interesting:—"

POLAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the current set of stamps 3f to 5m surcharged LEVANT in red. The surcharge is of one line.

ROUMANIA.—Mr. L. S. Charlick shows us a set of the provisional issues signalizing the Roumanian occupation of Transylvania. These comprise the 10, 15, 20, 40, 50, and 80 filler, and 1 korona values of the Coronation stamps of Hungary, overprinted with a monogram enclosed by a double-lined circle, the words "Regatul Romaniei" being, respectively, above and below the central monogram, left and right of which is a small asterisk. They also have the word "Bani" (on the filler values) or "Leu" (on the 1k) below the device on the 10, 15, 50, 80f and 1k, and above it on the 20 and 40f. Mr. Charlick says the 10 and 15 bani of the "Sower" type have also been issued thus, and a 1 filler. Of the last named there were only thirty-three issued.

We described in detail lately a "Restoration of Roumania" series. Mr. R. Roberts has shown us a set, among which we find yet another new species—viz., the current 5 and 10b (portrait of King Charles), also the same values of the "spinning-wheel" labels, overprinted—in fancy type—in red on the 5b "Timbre de Ajutor," and in black on the others.—Stamp Collecting.

TURKS AND CAICOS.—We have been shown by J. A. Galbraith a new war tax stamp. It consists of the current 3d with WAR TAX in two lines in black at the bottom of the stamp. The surcharge is practically the same as recently applied to the 1d chronicled by us.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Incorporated.

A. W. DUNNING, Pres.; R. N. HALL, Vice Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec.; OSCAR HILL, 60 State St., Boston, Mass., Foreign Sec.; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, 97 Waldeck St., Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; W. L. ALDRICH, Supt. of Auctions; S. G. BIXBY, 159 Green St., Jamaica Plain, Mass., Supt. of Sales and Bourse.

The Society will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 8 p. m. The entertainment will consist of the exhibition of the interesting collection of the stamps of the 1847 issue of the United States which Mr. Robert S. Emerson has gathered together. If it is possible Mr. A. B. Slater will also be at the meeting with his stamps of the same issue and also his "Providence" stamps, which will, of course, add greatly to the evening's entertainment.

The auctioneer informs me that there will be a lot of good auction lots for sale at the meeting. The application of Mr. Kenneth W. Robie, for junior membership, will be voted upon.

The entertainment should bring out a large attendance, as it is not often that we have a chance to see the stamps of this issue in any such shape as either or both of these gentlemen have been able to collect.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

UNITED STATES 1c 1857.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

As it is not possible properly to understand the varieties occurring in this stamp without a knowledge of the imperforate issue which preceded it the writer will summarize the work of Dr. Chase, Wm. L. Stevenson and others to whom much of the credit for our present knowledge of the 1c stamps in use during the decade 1851-1860 is due. Indeed it is only fair to say that any collector familiar with the studies referred to has about as good working knowledge of these stamps as some of the specialists in them and is probably better posted than most collectors of U. S. stamps who do not specialize particularly in the 1851-'57 issues.

Three 1c plates, and only three, are recognized as having been used for the imperforate stamps. These are No. 1, No. 2 and another known as No. 3. All three of them were also used for perforated stamps. How long they were in use after perforation commenced in 1857 is not known, but the indications point to a period not exceeding one year at the most and perhaps for only a few months. Because of this short period of use none of the perforated stamps from these plates are very common and some of them are of a high degree of rarity.

Stamps from these plates can often be identified with little difficulty and the collector who will take the trouble to study his own specimens may find among them a rarity which he had always supposed to be only a common variety.

PLATE No. 1.

The stamps from Plate 1 are all the variety now cataloged as Type IV except one stamp which is No. 4 in the top row of the right pane. The early printings of imperforate stamps from this plate were all Type II except part of the top row of the right pane which were partial to complete Type I—that is, none of the stamps on this first plate show the turned under scrolls forming ball shaped ornaments below the panel containing One Cent except part of the top row of the right pane. These few latter imperforates show part or all of the ball shaped ornaments and therefore are partial or complete Type I. Later printings of the imperforates and all the printings of perforated stamps are without the full scrolls characteristic of Type I.

Several years before any 1c stamps were perforated this first plate was re-entered and was also re-cut. The transfer roll used for re-entering was not rocked in the exact position for all of the stamp designs and this is why so many of the stamps printed from the plate after it was re-entered show the more or less extensive duplication of the design known as "shifts". In its original state the plate showed the curved lines outside the top and bottom labels rather faintly but on the stamps from the re-entered plate these arcs are usually strong, having been re-cut on the individual stamp designs at the time the plate was re-entered. Hence the stamps from the re-entered and re-cut plate are classified as Type IV instead of as Type II.

Except stamp No. 4 from the right pane of the sheet, which was not recut at all, the stamps in the top row of the plate had their lower arc recut; those in the bottom row had the arc of the upper label recut; and most of the other 160 stamps on the plate had both arcs recut. In addition, some of them had slighter recutting in either the top or the bottom label, or in both of these labels. Because of the differences in the recutting, it is quite possible to reconstruct the entire plate.

The recut lines do not show so plainly on the imperforate 1c printed soon after the recutting was done, but in the later imperforate printings they are quite noticeable and the plate was so badly worn when the perforated stamps were printed from it that the recut lines on the latter stamps are easy to distinguish. They appear to have been cut more deeply than the remainder of the design and with not a great deal of care, for they seldom join the original lines perfectly and look too much like what they are—a patch.

All of the perforated stamps printed from plate 1—except stamp No. 4R—are Type IV and the only perforated

5c 1902 IMPERFORATES

I have found this United States stamp to be one of the most sought for varieties of all 20th Century issues—and it is really scarce. Personally, my opinion is that it is catalogued far too low at $4.00 and my prediction is that it will be advanced considerably before long.
If you need the stamp, my advice is to buy now.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Type IV stamps were those printed from this plate.

There is another variety of unusual interest found on Plate 1, the like of which is not known elsewhere on any U. S. stamps. When the plate was originally rocked in part of the first vertical row in the upper left corner was first transferred. Because the stamp designs were placed so far apart that the complete row of ten could not have been rocked on the plate had transferring continued, or for some other reason not known, these designs were erased and the plate was turned half way around, bringing the erased transfers into the lower right corner, upside down. The entire plate was then transferred in the new position. However, the erased designs had not been completely removed and traces of them remained as inverted transfers in the lower right corner of the plate, and may be found in the lower left corner of the left pane of the stamp sheets. They are L 71, L 81 and L 91. By 1857 the plate was so badly worn the traces of these inverted transfers are nearly invisible, but on rare occasions a perforated 1c showing them can be found.

Plate No. 2.

The second 1c plate is stated to have been made in 1855 and probably was not used after 1857. It was badly cracked in the upper right corner and stamps from the upper left corner of the left pane show the crack plainly. The crack starts in stamp No. L 23 and runs up through L 13 and L 2 to the edge of the plate. As the plate was used, the crack opened up more and the irregular line of color formed by it on the three stamps mentioned is wider on the perforated stamps than on the imperforates. It is believed that because of this crack Plate 2 was used as little as possible.

Stamps printed from it do not show much wear and usually are not difficult to identify. With one exception they are all Type II. The arcs at top and bottom are complete; the ball shaped ornaments below the lower arc are entirely missing and there is no evidence of re-entering and recutting.

The most notable variety on this plate is the 99th stamp in the right pane. It was short transferred at both top and bottom so that the arcs are broken, making it a perfect example of Type III—by far the best example of Type III in the imperforate issue. Apparently there were at least two attempts to rock it in, for the design is strongly shifted at the right side. Either imperforate or perforated it is an extremely rare stamp.

This plate was rocked in from the same transfer roll as was plate 1 and the two reliefs on the roller appear in the same order on both of the plates. Relief A is complete at the top and trimmed at the bottom. Relief B is trimmed at both top and bottom. On both reliefs the upper and lower arcs are complete and the ball shaped ornaments below the lower arc have been entirely trimmed away. The stamps in the 1st, 3rd, 5th, 7th, 9th and 10th horizontal rows are from relief A and those from the 2nd, 4th, 6th and 8th rows are from relief B.

Plate No. 3.

The third plate used for imperforate 1c stamps is supposed to have been made late in 1856 and could hardly have been in use more than a few months. All the stamps from it are scarce, either imperforate or perforated, and many of them are rare to very rare. This is the first plate made from a six relief transfer roll and may have been made with the idea that the stamps from it were to be perforated, although perforation did not commence until some time after it was placed in use.

There has been considerable discussion as to just how this plate was made and students are not yet in complete agreement concerning it. The present writer, therefore, will state his own opinion and let it stand or fall as further investigation may decide. He believes the roller was rocked downwards in each vertical row reproducing the six reliefs in the order 1-2-3-4-5-6-3-4-5-6 or else was rocked from bottom to top reproducing the reliefs in the order 6-5-4-3-6-5-4-3-2-1 in each vertical row on the plate. This would make the stamps in the third horizontal row like those in the seventh row; those in the fourth row like those in the eighth row; and those in the fifth row like those in the ninth row, just as occurs in some later 1c, 5c and 24c plates made for perforated stamps.

But when we examine the stamps from the sixth and tenth rows of this third 1c plate, however, we find that although they appear identical at their tops, their lower edges are quite dissimilar. The stamps from the 6th row have the ball shaped ornaments below the lower arc almost completely erased or cut away, while on the stamps from the 10th row these ornaments are absolutely complete and the stamps are what is known as "full scrolls", that is, Type I.

This situation regarding the 6th and 10th row stamps is just the reverse of what we find on the 5c stamps from Plate No. 2 of that stamp. There the 10th row stamps are less complete at the bottom than those in the 6th row; here on the third 1c plate the 10th row stamps are more complete at the bottom than those in the 6th row. And on the 24c plate the stamps in the 6th row and the 10th row have exactly the same degree of completeness.

The plate 3 one cent stamps are apt to puzzle collectors because so frequently they do not accurately fit the catalog descriptions of Types I, II and III. None of the plate 3 stamps were recut and therefore no Type IV is found on this plate, but Types I, II and III all occur on it, in many cases as intermediate or combination types, neither exactly one type as cataloged nor another. They have two distinguishing features; practically always they show traces of the turned under scrolls below the lower panel; the color is deep and quite uniform. The plate was used so little the stamps from it never show signs of wear and as a rule the impressions are wonderfully clear and beautiful.

The stamps in the bottom row have the design considerably cut away at the top and are quite unlike any other Type I one cent. Seventy-five per cent or more of the imperforate Type I found come from this plate, but of the perforated Type I stamps probably less than 10% are from the bottom row of the third plate. The perforated Type I stamps from this plate seem to be nearly as rare as the imperforate Type I but not being appreciated are obtainable at a smaller outlay—when obtainable at all.

The stamps in the top row of plate 3—(Relief No. 1)—are the only stamps on this plate which have the arc, plumes and other details of the top design absolutely complete. They are just as rare as the bottom row "full scroll" stamps but do not have the scrolls below the arc of the lower panel complete. The stamps in the second row—(Relief No. 2)—have the bottom scrolls a bit more complete than the top row stamps and the details of their tops less complete.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO
2160 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

The other 140 stamps on the plate are incomplete at both top and bottom and sometimes the lower arc is very faint, slightly broken or quite invisible, making them fairly good specimens of Type III. These are the only imperforate Type III stamps except the one stamp, (No. 99), on plate 2. They are scarce to rare, both imperforate and perforated, and when perforated should not be confused with the common perforated Type III stamps from later plates.

CATALOG TRANSLATIONS.

Perhaps a "translation" of the catalog into more explicit terms will help the reader to understand it and these 1c stamps better. The imperforate 1c stamps are listed in blue as Nos. 30, 31, 32 and 32b, and in dark blue as Nos. 30a, 31a, 32a, and 32c.

No. 30 represents a few stamps from the top row of plate 1 in its early state before re-entering and recutting. They are usually light blue and when showing the scrolls absolutely complete are very rare. All have the design somewhat shifted. They show the design complete at the top and do not exist perforated.

No. 30a represents the stamps from the bottom row of plate 3. Their tops are incomplete and they are not so rare as No. 30. Perforated specimens are No. 40a.

Nos. 31 and 31a represent stamps from most of plate 1, (first state, light blue), from all of plate 2, (except No. 99R), and some from plate 3.

No. 32 apparently represents No. 99 in plate 2.

No. 32a represents a few stamps from the body of plate 3 which are rare, but not nearly so rare as No. 32.

Nos. 32b and 32c represent stamps from plate 1, (second state, recut), except No. 4R, which would come under 31 or 31a.

The perforated 1c stamps are listed in blue as Nos. 40, 41, 42 and 42c, and in dark blue as Nos. 40a, 41a, 42a and 42d.

No. 40 represents about half the stamps from plate 12. These do not exist imperforate. The design is complete at the top.

No. 40a represents stamps from the bottom row of plate 3. They are much rarer than No. 40. Imperforate specimens are No. 30a.

Nos. 41 and 41a represent stamps from plate 2, except No. 99 R), about half of the stamps on plate 12, some from plate 3, and No. 4 R of plate 1.

Nos. 42 and 42a represent stamps from plates 7, 8, 9, and 10, which do not exist imperforate, and No. 99 R of plate 2. The latter is very much rarer than the former.

No. 42b represents stamps from plates 7, 8, 9 and 10 on paper showing the "hair watermark" like Nos. 63c, 65b, etc.,—the same paper as used on many revenue stamps about 1863.

Nos. 42c and 42d represent stamps from plate 1, except No. 4 R.

WISE & CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This rather unprepossessing adhesive is rightly classed among the rarest of the New York City match stamps. The writer has been able to locate less than a dozen copies and most of them are more or less defective. It is undoubtedly fully as rare as a number of other M & M that are priced several times as much in the current catalogs. In appearance it hardly seems to belong with the match stamps for most of the latter are truly works of art while the Wise is a mediocre production about on a par with the least attractive medicine stamps. Beyond the data given in the Boston Book almost nothing is known of the stamp's history:—

Die approved, January 11, 1869.
First issued, February 20, 1869.
Last issued, February 20, 1869.
210 stamps per sheet, (15x14).
110,000 issued, all printed by Jos. R. Carpenter in black on old paper.

From this data it is evident the stamp was in use only a short time and that there was only one delivery. The entire issue cost the concern only $1,000 and as the stamp tax represented in the neighborhood of 60% of the wholesale price of the matches, the business must have been very small. Nevertheless, the stamp bears the impressive title, "Metropolitan Match Works".

It is a horizontal rectangle of the standard 1c size bearing a full face portrait of Liberty (?) with flowing hair and wearing a Phrygian cap. The usual legends are borne on scrolls at the four sides, the lower one reading WISE & CO. NEW YORK. Near each lower corner is the numeral "1". All are perforated 12 as usual, and as badly as usual, nearly every known copy being more or less off center.

The "Metropolitan Match Works" does not appear in any New York directory. The directory for 1869-70 contains the following:—Sigismond Wise, matches, 229 E. 35th St.

Until 1875 Sigmund Wise appears at the same house address but there is no reference to matches. 1872-73 he is listed as a merchant at 97 Maiden Lane and in 1873-74 as a clerk at the City Hall.

"MEKEEL'S" ARRIVED AND—

I got out my tablet and then my pen
To write down the stamps I'd like to buy then
And, by George, I'm writing yet,
For there are many stamps which are such a good bet
That I've counted my cash again and again,
To see if I could stretch it to include them.
I'll have to give up—but I wish, oh, my!
That I were a millionaire for in my mind's eye
There's a bit of shopping which I would do
The dealers would get all my cash it's true
But oh what a joyful time I would see
With all those dealers sending stamps to me—
But blasted hopes—it cannot be true
Such dreams of bliss will never do
So please tell the dealers to kindly quit
Advertising so many bargains—that I can't "GIT."

H. S. DICKEY, "The Stamp Man."
Written after reading MEKEEL'S No. 1500.

PANAMA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS.

By FREDERICK E. HEYDON.

CHAPTER XI.

First Colon Issue, November, 1903.

In the city of Colon as well as at Panama, the proclamation of the new republic was accompanied by an overprinting of a supply of postage stamps for immediate requirements by means of rubber handstamps; but the work was far more carefully done and the resulting series present a very creditable appearance for work of this sort. Mr. Luff's account of this issue is so accurate and comprehensive that I prefer to quote it with a few slight changes. Five handstamps appear to have been used of the general type which is somewhat larger than that used at Panama. They differ as follows:

REPUBLICA DE

I. Broad M in PANAMA. Small R and narrow B and A in REPUBLICA. Narrow D in DE. Space between REPUBLICA and DE. P of PANAMA is upright. If a ruler or any other article with a straight edge is laid at the right of the N of PANAMA it will touch the right side of the B of REPUBLICA and if laid along the right side of the second A it will touch the top of the L above it.

II. Broad M in PANAMA. Large R and narrow B and A in REPUBLICA. Narrow D in DE. Space between REPUBLICA and DE. Top of the P of PANAMA leans to the right. A straight-edge placed at the right of the N of PANAMA will touch the right side of the B of REPUBLICA but when placed along the right-hand stroke of the second A the line will pass between the L and I above.

III. Broad M in PANAMA. Small R, broad B and narrow A in REPUBLICA. Broad D in DE. No space between REPUBLICA and DE, the two words appearing as one. The third stroke of the N of PANAMA, if extended, would pass through the middle of the B of REPUBLICA.

IV. Narrow M in PANAMA. Broad A in REPUBLICA. Space between REPUBLICA and DE. A line drawn along the right side of the first A of PANAMA will cross the U of REPUBLICA from lower right to upper left, while a line drawn at the right of the N will pass to the right of the vertical stroke of the L of REPUBLICA.

V. Narrow M in PANAMA. Broad A in REPUBLICA. Space between REPUBLICA and DE. A line drawn along the right side of the first A of PANAMA will pass through the middle of the U above and one drawn at right of the N will pass to the left of the vertical stroke of the L of REPUBLICA.

In types I, II and III the surcharge is 5¾ mm. high, while in types IV and V it is only 5¼ mm., the letters of REPUBLICA DE being notably shorter in the last two types.

These handstamps were made of rubber. No. III appears to have been damaged before it was withdrawn from use, as we frequently see impressions showing a crack across the words REPUBLICA DE.

I have already expressed a decided opinion against the serious consideration of varieties of handstamped surcharges due to misplacement, but as a matter of information and for the convenience of specialists who are interested in them, list all such varieties as are known to me, using a tabular arrangement so that any not listed may be readily inserted.

Note.* In all of the Colon issues remainders of the old 1887-1892 issue of the 50c were utilized for surcharging together with the 1892-1896 issue for the other values.

On account of the practice of using the same rubber handstamp on both the magenta and violet pads, the colors of the surcharges are not always clear and at times rather confusing. I am inclined to believe that the color of the surcharge was not considered important, but that any available pad was used. This explains the occurrence of surcharges in blue and blue-black, and it is quite possible that other colors may have been used. In the check list I have thought it best not to distinguish between vertical surcharges reading upward and downward or the various sorts of double surcharges.

The stamps of this issue, so far as the lower values are concerned, are priced far below what their scarcity would warrant. The 1p, however, is a decidedly rare stamp even on the Isthmus and the 50c quite scarce both on wove and pelure paper.

It is interesting to note that while at Panama the 50c bistre-brown of the 1896 issue was invariably surcharged, at Colon the old 50c brown of the 1887-1892 Issue was used. Apparently the remainders of these stamps were all at the Colon post office.

CHAPTER XII.

Second Colon Issue, December, 1903.

The stamps of this issue were overprinted, the surcharge measuring 19½x3 mm., the normal position being horizontal. A brass handstamp was used in place of one of rubber, and this is usually impressed so deeply as to show on back of the stamp and occasionally when held somewhat obliquely, the edge of the handstamp appears as an irregular colored line in the surcharge.

PANAMA

I list all well authenticated values. As inverted and other irregular surcharges are nearly as common as the normal type they certainly do not merit any advanced prices on account of these defects. The stamps, with the exception of the 1p, are far scarcer than the preceding issue, while curiously enough the 1p is less rare although far from common. The variations of double surcharges, such as normal, inverted and diagonal, have been omitted, as has also been done with vertical surcharges reading upward and downward.

CHAPTER XIII.

Third Colon Issue, January-February, 1904.

The third provisional issue which appeared in Colon was, like the two which preceded it, made by surcharging the "map" stamps of the State of Panama, but this time the surcharge was printed. The 1, 2, 5, 10 and 50 centavos appeared in January, 1904, but the 20 centavos and 1 peso were not issued until the next month.

The surcharge consisted of a bar and the words REPUBLICA DE PANAMA in two lines of italic type. There were two arrangements of this surcharge, each set up to cover fifty stamps. In the first arrangement the surcharge covered ten horizontal rows of five stamps each. Normally there was an acute accent on the U of REPUBLICA and the last A of PANAMA Nos. 32 and 37 had a small accent on the A of REPUBLICA; on 34 and 39 the I of REPUBLICA was from a wrong fount, being thicker and appearing to stand more nearly upright than the correct letter; while on eight stamps the final A of PANAMA was without accent. Only the 1 and 2 centavos are known with this setting. The second arrangement was made by taking the twenty-five varieties which constituted the lower half of the setting and placing them at the right side of the upper half. By this transposition the setting became one of five horizontal rows of ten stamps each. In this second arrangement the variety with accent on the A of REPUBLICA were Nos. 17 and 67, that with thick I were Nos. 19 and 69, and Nos. 1, 15, 38, 47, 51, 65, 88 and 97 had no accent on the last A of PANAMA.

A further difference exists due to variation in the distance between the bar and Republica. The distance is normally 3 mm., but on Nos. 41 to 50 and 91 to 100, is only 1 mm.

As this surcharge was printed instead of being handstamped and there is no suggestion of speculative errors, all varieties deserve the consideration of the specialist. The general collector will do well to confine himself to the normal type and PANAMA without accent, as this is the most prominent error and also the commonest, while an example of the other errors on a single value should suffice.

170.	1p lake, surch. black.

A 1c green with dull red surcharge has also been listed, but it seems to me that this is not legitimate, but due entirely to neglect to clean the roller thoroughly before using for carmine.

At the time that the first of the Third Colon Issue stamps appeared they had a companion, 20 centavos, which was surcharged with type "h". The stamp with this surcharge was in use for about one month when it was replaced by the 20 centavos with the italic surcharge ("g"). This surcharge was printed. It was set up to cover a block of ten stamps, five horizontal pairs. There were no prominent varieties in the setting, though each of the ten differed slightly from the others.

EDITORIAL.

Inspired—In the past, philately has had an occasional moment of inspiration but never before has it arisen to the grand height that it now touches as a practical agent for the amelioration of the stricken sections of central Europe. In the fog of foreign exchange fluctuations, the halting resumption of production and the difficulties of transportation, the light of philately shines brightly. As active rehabilitation of devasted or demoralized countries awaits the signing of the treaty of peace, the work of repair is prosecuted only half-heartedly. The delay in accepting the terms as they are (or as they may be) is responsible for a heavy toll of hardship. While argument proceeds, grave danger menaces the new states of Europe because of jangled economic conditions. Production lags, transportation means are inadequate and no money comes in because of the pause. There are few commodities that the stricken or the starving countries can convert into needed cash and it is in this connection that philately, "the unessential pursuit", acquires some of the elements of sublimity. The new stamp issues are a source of income without production, except in a minor measure. Through the liberal purchase by collectors, a gleam of salvation is seen by the sorely tried peoples. The money that comes in is a direct alleviation of the national pains. Great quantities of the new stamps are absorbed by collectors each of whom may know that he is doing an act of humanity by indulging his philatelic bent. Philately surely will be remembered with gratitude by the faltering nations that are the recipients of this ready money and stamp collecting has become a factor in the work of world establishment. Unless philatelic interest is alienated by flagrant abuses in the name of postal expediency by the hard-pressed nations, it will continue to crystallize into dollars. New postal systems require new issues of stamps and philatelists recognize this necessity, but any palpable play for the money of collectors by the coming of stamps made for sale and not for service will spoil the sentiment that is now felt for the stamps in mind. We are proud that philately is doing practical good where it is most needed and it supplies practical aid in the neatest way imaginable.

Received—We have received from Mr. W. W. Walsh, a budget of old stamp papers; and lists of dealers who flourished in the eighties. Mr. Walsh says: "Speaking of old advertisers in the WEEKLY, I think that my ad may be found in some of the earliest numbers. It would be interesting to know what has become of certain of the old concerns. The other day I came across the enclosed mementoes of my boyhood days. I did trading with Stevens and Pierce of Chicago in the early '80's and have often wondered what became of them." Mr. S. C. Stevens died in Chicago not a year ago at the age of nearly eighty and Mr. J. A. Pierce is alive and hearty in Chicago at an advanced age; and he works each day although he severed his stamp connections a good many years ago. A history of mercantile philately in America would be of interest and of some value; and we should like to see such a compilation undertaken.

Again—The proposed society for lovers of philatelic literature has not been forgotten and several correspondents have asked that the question of organization again be broached. We have had a ringing letter from Mr. A. H. Pike, Buffalo, New York, commending the plan and he says that the time is now propitious for making the start. It is not difficult to agree with him as we have noticed that a demand is becoming manifest for works published in years gone by that comparatively speaking have been neglected. Whether a sudden appreciation of the merits of these books has caused the interest or a realization that a philatelic library is a complement of a good collection, we cannot say, although we shall take some credit to ourselves for having fixed attention on philatelic prints by our handbooks. We believe that the collecting of philatelic publications will receive a stimulus this season and we think that the happy period will come when the pretentious and meritorious book will be cordially received. Under the circumstances the society of literature lovers has a growing justification and in view of the fact that Mr. Pike says that he will attend to the preliminaries attending organization we shall hesitate no longer to launch the society; and we shall do what we can to start it off with flying colors. Mr. A. H. Pike may be addressed at 80 Grant Street, Buffalo.

Mixed—As a result of our commen on present day "foreign exchange" we have had several complicated cases sent to us for judgment. As we have only good intentions and no expert knowledge on the subject to support them, we decline to give any decision. We are awaiting authoritative information from someone who is in a position to speak before pressing the inquiry as we feel that it is necessary to arrive at some equitable understanding for the sake of all concerned. It is hoped that a common basis may be found on which all the dealers may stand

Leader—Speaking of the stamp dealers and unity of action, we are glad to publish the following letter from Mr. Eugene Klein, President of the American Stamp Dealers' Association: "The conclusion might be drawn from your editorial on page No. 336 that our body is not representative. I enclose a membership list in which you will see the names of 90% of the prominent stamp dealers of the United States and a large number of your advertisers are listed among the hundred dealers. The activities of the association are not confined to making collections from delinquents but timely warnings are given by means of a confidential bulletin of auction beats, approval substituters, forgers and other frauds. The association also has taken active interest in broader matters such as the censorship of stamp mail during the war and the recent interference by the French military authorities with Swiss mail containing stamps addressed to the United States. The working officers of the body hold regular weekly meetings and the reports of transactions are published in the Bulletin which goes to members only." We congratulate the society on its record and as Mr. Klein says, almost all of the important dealers seem to be among the members; and we predict a sphere of increasing usefulness for this necessary organization.

Wanted—In the American Philatelist, Mr. Stanley B. Ashbrook, Cincinnati, presented some shrewd surmises regarding that mysterious stamp, the ten cent blue, Confederate, with outer line. Really, little is known of this stamp but if indications may be depended upon, by the time that Mr. Ashbrook has dissected the stamp, we will have all its secrets. Pairs, or better, of the stamp are uncommon but Mr. Ashbrook believes that he will succeed in plating the stamp; and hence, he is anxious to see anything of the kind that readers may have. Mr. Ashbrook may be communicated with at 720 Union Trust Building.

IN MEMORIAM — KENNETH L. DAMON.

We are pained to announce the death of Kenneth Leslie Damon, which occurred July 13 at Williamsburg, Mass. Mr. Damon was one of our most ardent subscribers and an occasional advertiser in the WEEKLY. He had had diphtheria a year ago which affected his heart, and on the day in question went in swimming and died almost instantly with heart-trouble. He was nineteen years old and employed in the Northampton National Bank, and of exemplary character. Upon the occasion of his funeral the floral offerings were profuse. A large number of friends were present, including the officials. He loved his stamp collecting and had some valuable books which were so much a part of him that they were buried with him. Mrs. Damon, who gives us these particulars, writes:—"He loved your paper and I want it continued".

U. S. 6c 1910 COIL.

G. E. Richter informs us that he has in his possession a specimen of the 6c 1910 perforated vertically 12, which E. B. Power of Stanley Gibbons Inc. has carefully examined and pronounced good. Mr. Power says that the government issued to the public one roll only of the 6c coil, of which no specimen has heretofore been discovered. The stamp came to Mr. Richter on a letter from Silas Chapman, Jr. of Hartford, postmarked Jan. 21, 1915, which had been laid aside all this time with some other part-perfs. Mr. Chapman cannot explain how it passed through his hands without his knowledge. We hope to have further information concerning this interesting discovery later.

FULTON STAMP CO., 729 6TH AVE., COR. 42 STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are pleased to announce that Springfield, Mass., is to have an up-to-date stamp office. Notice is made elsewhere in this issue in the quarter-page advertisement of H. P. Atherton. With the great collecting interest for which Springfield is famous, this announcement should cause a great deal of satisfaction to the local collectors.

—The New York Sun published the middle of the month a two-column article over the heading "Stamp Collecting a Royal Hobby". While it is rather crudely written, it will nevertheless prove of immense value to philately as a recruiting agency.

—"I want to congratulate you on the magnificent showing of No. 1500. This number certainly marks a step in Philately and you and your confreres are to be congratulated on your enterprise and foresight."—DR. W. L. BABCOCK, one of many.

—Many of our subscribers will remember the William Stamp Co. as a former advertiser in the WEEKLY. The proprietor, Wm. Hebblethwaite, was a firm believer in our publication. Quite recently Mr. Hebblethwaite died, but the business is being conducted at the old stand by A. A. Green, who before the war was the manager of the business. Now, after several years of service, he has returned to resume the management of the affairs of the firm. Mr. Green had five years of service in highly confidential war work and we have no doubt that in the near future many of our newer subscribers will become acquainted with him.

—We are informed by C. M. Tyler of Pittsburgh, Pa., that 59 attended the last meeting of the local stamp club. Mr. Tyler adds:—"Philately is booming here."

—The next regular meeting of the Rhode Island Society will be held Tuesday, Oct. 28, Room 236, Industrial Trust Bdg., Providence. There will be an exhibit of 20th Century foreign.

—"Precancel collectors may be interested to know that a set of precancels of Springfield, Missouri has been issued from 1c to 30c.—C. C. CHALFANT.

—Percy McG. Mann gives us this experience:—"I recently sent out a selection of stamps on approval, value $10.55, registration and postage being 14c. 25c was the amount purchased and 24c was remitted, the stamps being returned by ordinary mail. The envelope was unsealed and postage on the return was paid with 2c instead of 4c. Is it any wonder I don't like an approval business? The selection was requested." We consider this conduct very reprehensible and feel like naming the party. Anyway we have him on the list for future consideration.

—The Lynn Philatelic Society of Lynn, Mass., held a most successful anniversary banquet on Tuesday evening, October 14, at the King Joy restaurant in that city. Some twenty-five members with ladies were present. The president of the Society, G. H. Brown, acted as master of ceremonies. Willard O. Wylie, the Managing Editor of the WEEKLY, was the guest of honor and made a short address on "The Lure of Stamp Collecting", treating the subject from the standpoint of friendships, fraternities, finds and finance. The club has issued a printed program of its proposed entertainments for the coming season. It has at the present time fifty-two members.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Arthur B. Moss (2), Lon F. McQuitty, Albert Lee, Walter Hartman, J. H. Massey, Theodore Siddall, Wm. Adams, O. W. Lindquist, Sam White, Joseph Ward, Harold L. Hock.

—Cecil F. Blogg, secretary of the Tacoma Branch of the Washington State Philatelic Society, writes us that the interest in philately is very strong throughout the northwest. The local Y. M. C. A. is forming a junior stamp club to be under the direction of the W. S. P. S. The Prince of Wales was invited to attend a meeting of the Tacoma Society and a letter of regrets was duly received with the statement that His Royal Highness was returning east through Canada and "will not be in the United States until the middle of November".

THE 30c 1857-60 "IMPERFORATE."

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

A very regrettable error of fact occurred in the mss. of the 30c-90c 1857-60 rticle recently published under my name. The statement that the sale of the imperforate 30c on cover from the Worthington collection was not consummated is entirely incorrect. The opinion of one of the best known authorities in America regarding this item was accepted by the purchaser and the sale was consummated.

At the time the article was written I was aware of the adverse criticism of the stamp and cover and that was the basis of the statement I made, but I was not aware of the favorable opinion or that the purchaser accepted this opinion and the cover.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Objection has been taken to some of my advertisements in that I have mentioned that I was the first to have certain varieties of U. S. errors, and certain collectors think that I am taking credit which is not due me. Any broad-minded person reading my advertisements would not possibly think that I personally found all these varieties, and reference to my chronicle will show that I have always given full credit to those making the discoveries. My advertisements are not written to mislead anyone and I desire to correct the impression that exists in certain quarters.

PROMPTNESS

Is still a virtue. In many instances I reply by return mail or within 24 hours of the receipt of an order but I cannot always do so and sometimes I cannot reply for a month. Mr. Goodfellow of Seattle asks for a selection of 1847 fives and tens, shades, cancellations, covers, etc. If I should send him all these I had to make his selections from and he kept the selection only ten days it would be several weeks before I could send the same selection to anyone else.

I try to please all customers whose requests are reasonable but I am often "long" on customers and "short" on the stamps they want and this tends to slow down my service. If you ask for a selection of old U. S. postage, revenues or M. & M. I will take care of you as soon as I can, UNLESS you write on a postal card or neglect to send satisfactory reference. Then I won't take care of you at all!

Be reasonable and I'll give you a shot at the many good things that come my way.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. George Ward Linn informs us that a personal friend of his has located at the Columbus Post Office a pane of one hundred of the 1c green, engraved, imperforate horizontally and perforated 11 vertically. It will be recalled that the 3c value is also known in a similar condition while the 2c has been chronicled imperforate vertically.

1919 Engraved, Unwatermarked.
1c green, imperf. horizontally, perf. 11 vertically.

Mr. A. C. Roessler in his "News" prints a very interesting letter from the Rosback Company of Benton Harbor, Mich., relative to the perforating machine which they recently had on trial in Washington and from which we obtained our experimental 12½, offset print stamps. It seems that this machine was designed solely for perforating dry printed stamps and as a result with the Bureau again turning out engraved stamps, we are lead to believe that they had no further use for the machine. We have been wondering why it could not be used to advantage on the revenue stamps which are printed by the dry process. It is quite possible that the machine did not perforate as accurately as necessary for we learn that out of 6641 sheets of 400 perforated, nearly half, namely 3175, were spoiled and as a result only 3466 sheets were issued at the Washington Post Office. Again we ask where are the 1c revenues included in this lot which the Rosback representative saw perforated?

Dr. William Evans has just sent us a block of the current 2c unwatermarked, perforated 11, printed from a worn plate in such a light shade of pink that it may almost be classified as a new variety. The shade collector has certainly never had such a merry time as during the last couple of years. We would certainly thank some specialist of first rank to bring Mr. Luff's wonderful work on United States up to date.

Mr. W. T. Robey sends us an interesting block of the 7c black perforated while the sheet was folded. As a result three of the stamps have blank margins at the top about half of an inch high. Mr. George Soulman sends us similar freaks of the 1c and 2c.

Mr. Standish Prescott gives us the first view we have had of the new library size postal, 1c green with portrait of Lincoln. The head is enclosed in an elliptical frame flattened at the bottom. Within the ellipse we find "U. S. Postal Card" in white letters and under the head "Lincoln—1 Cent 1". It is your editor's personal opinion that this is the most attractive postal ever issued by this government.

AUSTRIA.—An entirely new series has just appeared inscribed "Deutsch Osterreich," 3h to 1Kr. There are 12 values and three different designs—Coat of arms, men kneeling and picture of a horn. All are small size and upright. —Economist Bulletin.

BELGIUM.—We are informed by Henry Hooreman that the complete set for 1915 from 1c orange to 10fr brown has been overprinted in two lines ALLEMAGNE—DUITSCHLAND. The surcharge is in two languages, French and Flemish, for use in the German territory occupied by Belgian troops. The date of issue was Sept. 20.

CROATIE-LAIBACH.—Five values of a new design have been received bearing the picture of an infant. All are in gray and upright in shape. The values are 2, 4, 6, 10 and 30 and are probably a newspaper issue.—Economist Bulletin.

GUATEMALA.—Wm. Adams has submitted for our inspection a copy of the 10c orange and blue 1902 with surcharge "Dos Centavos" duplicating the A43 illustrated in Scott's catalog. The overprint is in red.

JAMAICA.—We have received from Paul Dillingham and Geo. A. Goubault specimens of two new war stamps, the ½d green and 3d violet on yellow, having been overprinted "War Stamp" in one line at the bottom in carmine. Only a limited quantity was issued, the 3d having been sold out the first day that it was placed on sale.

JAPAN.—We are advised by Delbert N. Johnson that an aerial postal service will be established between Tokio and Osaka., according to reliable information received by him.

LUXEMBURG.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the current issue of the 10 and 12½c surcharged DROITS DE STATISTIQUE in black and in two lines.

SOUTHERN RUSSIA.—The regular imperf. Russians, 1917-18 issue, are surcharged with new values, viz: 25 on 1K, 25 on 2K, 50 on 3K, 50 on 5K, 1P on 3P. These are surcharged in fancy type. —Economist Bulletin.

SWEDEN.—The Economist Bulletin notes: "A new series will be issued soon for this country, in three designs. One will bear the portrait of King Oscar, one will have the picture of a posthorn and crown and the third will be that of a lion."

TURKS ISLANDS.—We have received from J. Misrahi quite a list of varieties found on the new 1d War Tax stamp. We hardly think it necessary to list them, as without doubt an extended list will be available later.

PAMUNKEY STAMP CO.—F. G. HEFFER.

We have two claims entered against the above firm and no doubt others will be uncovered. We have become firmly convinced of the absolute unreliability (if not dishonesty) of Mr. Heffer and publish this item for the public good.

ON NOV. 1, 1919, I AM OPENING OFFICES IN SPRINGFIELD, MASS., HITCHCOCK BUILDING

UNITED STATES BEFORE 1870, AND CONFEDERATES ON AND OFF COVER CONSTITUTE MY CHIEF STOCK IN TRADE. WHILE I HAVE FEW RARITIES, MY COVERS ARE WORTH LOOKING OVER, AS THEY HAVE BEEN ACCUMULATING FOR SOME FIFTEEN YEARS PAST, ALL BEING SELECTED FOR CANCELLATION, ROUTE, OR SOME MINOR VARIETY OF INTEREST.

HITCHCOCK BUILDING —— SPRINGFIELD —— 318 MAIN STREET
MASSACHUSETTS

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

TAKSE.—An overprint, meaning "Tax", applied to certain stamps of Albania to convert them into postage due samps.

TALENT DE BIEN FAIRE.—The motto shown upon the 5 reis stamp of the 1894 issue of Portugal. It is the family motto of Prince Henry, the Navigator, and means "Faculty of well doing".

TANGA.—The value shown upon many of the stamps of Portuguese India. Sixteen tangas are equal to a rupia and one tanga is equal to about 2c in United States currency.

TAPLING COLLECTION.—The famous collection of postage stamps in the British Museum bequeathed to the British nation by the late Mr. T. K. Tapling in 1891.

TARIF.—A word shown on the 1884 and 1886 postage due stamps of Egypt. It means literally "rate of charge" and refers to the amount to be paid on insufficiently prepaid or unpaid letters.

TAS.—These letters form a watermark in many of the stamps of Tasmania, and are, of course, merely the first three letters of that name.

TASA.—This word is shown upon the postage due stamps of Uruguay and means "tax".

TASMANIA.—An island state of the Commonwealth of Australia. Postage stamps were first issued on Nov. 1st, 1853.

TASSA GAZZETTE.—The inscription shown upon the newspaper stamps of Modena meaning "Newspaper Tax".

TASA POR COBRAR.—An inscription shown upon the postage due stamps of Cuba issued in 1914 meaning "Tax to collect".

TAXA DE FACTAGIU.—This inscription appears upon the parcel post stamps of Roumania and signifies "charge for porterage". These stamps do not represent postage paid but an extra charge made by the post office for the delivery of parcels.

TAXA DE PLATA.—An inscription shown upon the postage due stamps of Roumania meaning literally "money fine".

TAXA DEVIDA.—This inscription appears on all the postage due stamps of Brazil and means "Tax due".

TAXES.—A handstamp overprinted on many of the stamps of Congo. What particular significance it has is questionable. Some authorities claim they are postage due stamps and they are apparently only found in connection with stamps used for this specific purpose. On the other hand the postal auhorities of the Congo will not admit they are special postage due stamps. As stamps with this overprint are very frequently found unused the handstamp can hardly be considered a cancellation.

TAX STAMPS.—Stamps denoting an extra charge levied on letters, etc., which though not capable of prepaying postage by themselves have been a necessary preliminary to the forwarding of the packet. The war tax ("impuesto de guerre") stamps of Spain form an excellent example.

TCHONGKING.—A French possession in the north-east portion of the Indo-China peninsula. Since 1903 contemporary stamps of Indo-China have been specially overprinted for use here.

TCH'ONG K'ING.—An overprint shown on the stamps issued for use in Tchongking in 1906.

TEBETALEN.—This word appears upon the postage due stamps of Belgium and Netherlands and Colonies and means "To pay".

TEGUCIGALPA.—The capital of Honduras. In 1877 the then current stamps of the republic were surcharged with different values for use here pending the arrival of a more ambitious issue which had been ordered but did not arrive until 1878.

TELEGRAFO NACIONAL.—These words appear upon the 1890 Telegraph stamps of the Argentine republic which were allowed to be used for postage. They signify "National Telegraphs".

TELEGRAFOS.—This word meaning "Telegraphs" is inscribed on many of the stamps of Spain, etc., to denote they were available for the prepayment of both postal and telegraph charges.

II. An inscription or overprint shown on certain telegraph stamps of Ecuador, Salvador, etc., which were allowed to be used for postage at different periods.

TELEGRAFOS DEL ESTADO.—An inscription meaning "State Telegraphs" shown upon certain telegraph stamps of Chili which were issued for postal purposes in 1891.

TELEGRAPH STAMPS.—Stamps, adhesive or impressed upon forms or cards, used solely for telegraph purposes.

TELLICO PLAINS.—A small town in Tennessee. In 1861 its then postmaster issued special 5c and 10c stamps, which were later superseded by the general set for the Confederate States.

TERRITORIOS ESPANOLES DEL GOLFO DE GUINEA.—(Spanish territories of the Gulf of Guinea). The inscription shown on the 1909 issue of stamps for Spanish Guinea. On later to "Terrs."

TETE.—A town in Portuguese East Africa which since 1913 has been supplied with its own distinctive stamps.

TETE-BECHE.—A French term applied to stamps printed upside down in relation to one another. They are usually due to the accidental insertion of one or more clichés in a stamp plate wrong way up or, in the case of lithographs, by one or more of the transfers being placed upside down on the stone. Some of the stamps of Grenada, however, were purposely printed with the alternate rows inverted. Tête-bêche stamps must, of course, be collected in pairs as, when separated, the stamps show no peculiarity.

TETUAN.—A Moroccan seaport at which Spain maintains a post office. Since 1908 the stamps used at this office have been overprinted "Tetuan".

T. F.—An overprint found on many of the stamps of the Orange Free State intended for use as telegraph stamps. Many of these were allowed to be used for postage in spite of the special overprint.

THALER.—The value expressed on some of the stamps of Hanover and Oldenburg. A thaler was divided into 30 groschen and had a value of about 72c in American money.

SLAVONIA AND SLOVENE.

By H. Kuh.

The article "Jugo-Slavia" by Mr. James F. Hamill prompts me to make the following comment:

According to records at my disposal (dated 1907) Bosnia and Herzegovina has a population of 1,568,092, while the capital had a population of 38,083, which shows that the figure of 19,702, as given in the article by Mr. Hamill for the whole country is a gross error. I remember distinctly that Sarajevo had in 1902 (during my sojourn there) a population of about 30,000. My records show that the area is 23,262 square miles, while Mr. Hamill gives the country in dispute 1,568 square miles; the records I have at hand—and they are reliable—give Bosnia alone 41,969, with Herzegovina included 51,110 square kilometers. The percentage of inhabitants is as follows: 36 Mohammedans, 42 Greek orthodox, 19 Roman Catholics, the rest are Jews. The Greek orthodox have the same religion as the Servians in the kingdom of Servia and the language spoken is the same.

While the Austro-Hungarian Empire existed the official title of Croatia was "Kraljevina Hrvatska, Slavonia i Dalmatia" meaning Kingdom Croatia Slavonia and Dalmatia. Politically Dalmatia was under Austrian rule and in no way connected with Croatia and Slavonia except by racial and lingual ties, while Croatia and Slavonia were practically under Hungarian rule or sphere.

The capital of Croatia-Slavonia is Zagrek (otherwise known as Agram) and had in the nineties—when I went to school there—already a population of 65,000. Zagrek or Agram is in no way a city of cathedrals and universities, it has—as far as I know—one cathedral and ditto university, the latter being a limited one at that, since it has no medical faculty, and anyone wishing to study medicine has to go out of the country.

Laibach, or in Slovene language Ljubljana, is the capital of Carniola, a country in no way identical with Slavonia, but the language spoken in Carniola is called the Slovene language. The Slovenes call their country Slovenska, the Germans call it KRAIN. This shows plainly that Slavonia and Slovene are two different things. Carniola was under Austrian administration.

Now for the explanation of the meaning of DRZAVA, HRVATSKA, KRALJESTVO—the first word stands for the State, the second for Croatia (HRVAT means Croat, also fight, ergo a fighting people), the third word means Kingdom (KRALJ=King). S. H. S. stands for Srbska Hrvatska Slovenska" DRZAVANA POSTA signifies State post. The letters Z and S require a small hook the shape of a V, in which case the first letter is pronounced like the S in "measure," while the second letter is pronounced like S in "sure" The full meaning is: "State post—Servia, Croatia, Carniola" (or Slovenia if you like it, but on no account Slavonia). The stamps issued with the inscription "29. LISTOPADA" were issued for Croatia only (as far as I know). Listopad, meaning October, namely list standing for leaf, and letter, while pad means to fall, hence fall of leaves, October being the month of falling leaves; 29 being an ordinal number, in this case, a period must follow.

NEW ISSUE CHAT.

By Frederic C. De Puy.

The "noted man" on the 5k of the Slavonia stamps is undoubtedly King Peter of Serbia.

The word Hrvatska means Croatia.

I hope someone else is writing to tell you what Drzava and Kralievina mean, but I think the latter is something like "kingdom". It also occurs on the "Deathmask" and some other stamps of Serbia.

By the way, the "Cyrillic" alphabet used in Serbia and thereabout, is not exactly the same as the Russian alphabet used in Russia. This is a mistake frequently made by philatelic writers. The languages, of course, are quite different. I have been unable to find a Cyrillic dictionary or even a key to that alphabet, but the Russian alphabet is shown in Webster's Dictionary and also in the August 1894 issue of the American Journal of Philately.

It is interesting to note that the "hand—sword—chain" stamps of Russia are the first ones to have the name of that country upon them: (Rossiya). Previous Russian stamps have been inscribed "Postage Stamp" or, in the case of the Romanoff issue, merely "Postage."

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

EARLY LITERATURE AGAIN.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

Never was a statement made but controversy could be aroused over it, even when applied to philatelic history. Only through the interest of those whose memories go back to earliest days can we add to our informative knowledge, after the bits themselves are one with Time.

In a letter of recent date, from which I am permitted to quote, Mr. G. C. Cuenod, of Galveston, Texas, says:

"In the latter part of 1860 or 1861, when a schoolboy, I had a price-list similar to the one referred to in your paper in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for July 26 (Berger Levrault, of Strassburg). It was autographed on a four page sheet of writing paper, and priced many (for the time) stamps. This price-list was issued by M. De La Plante, of Paris. After begging my father for the wherewithal to send an order, as a New Year's gift, he consented, the order was dispatched, and the stamps came duly.

"I am positive this was not later than January 1, 1863. I am sorry I did not save M. De La Plante's list. Years afterward, when I had arrived at manhood's estate, I came across the bill for the stamps, among the files in my father's office."

Mr. Cuenod writes interestingly of his collecting days, in Switzerland. As a citizen of the Republic, he served in the Swiss army on the border, when France was at war with Germany, in 1870-71. "I saw actual fighting," the letter continues. However, Mr. Cuenod had no part in it. His interest still lay along philatelic lines. He says further:

"The French army operating near was compelled to ask admission into Switzerland, and was interned for several months. Hence the issue of the official label on pink paper, 'Militaire Francais,' &c. Alsace-Lorraine stamps seen at that time reawakened my interest in collecting, and after my return home I hunted up my old collection and started again. This was in 1871. I have never lost interest, and my collection still abides with me.

"It may interest you to know that I was personally acquainted with E. Stanley Gibbons, of London, and J. B. Moens, of Brussels."

There has come to me, through the courtesy of a stamp lover, "The Revenue Stamp Catalogue: Being a Descriptive Price-List of All Known Revenue Stamps. Price, 25 cents. New York and London: J. W. Scott & Co., 75 and 77 Nassau Street, New York. 46 Leadenhall Street, London, E. C., England."

I have found the näive statements made in the preface of interest. It is a long hark from 1874,—the issue of this first revenue catalogue,—to this year of grace, if one may term it grace. I quote for the benefit of the interested reader:

"It is with the greatest diffidence that we offer this little work to the Revenue Stamp Collectors of the World, being fully aware of its shortcomings, but when it is considered that this is the first attempt that has been made to classify and arrange the various revenue stamps that have been found dispersed among the postage stamp albums of amateurs, we hope its errors of omission will be pardoned."

The publishers also state "that they will pay 25 cents for the first specimen received of any revenue stamp not catalogued in its pages."

Besides the regular issues of revenue stamps of the United States and foreign countries, the catalogue quotes U. S. medicine stamps, match stamps, and state revenues. No distinction is made of paper, watermark, or perforation. Interest in match stamps now should make a comparison of prices worthy of passing mention.

In 1874 the Thomas Allen match stamp was catalogued by Scott at 50 cents. The latest Scott's lists it at $5. The Barber Match Co., 1c blue, is unchanged in price, however, five cents purchasing the stamp today. But the 1c, blue, Henning & Bonhack, worth 25 cents in 1874 is priced at $10 today. The Brown & Durling 1c green is listed at $1,—the highest price in the catalogue for a match stamp. Scott quotes the stamp in 1919 at $4.

Canada revenues, which are always a favorite with me, seem to be well priced, as a rule, for the varieties quoted. The scarcer stamps, however, have risen in value, while the commoner varieties still continue almost stationary. It were well, then, for the collector of today to possess the varieties, for they will undoubtedly climb to the heights, while the common stamps seek their monetary as well as their philatelic level.

A copy of the Scott Postage stamp catalogue for 1873-4, from the same friendly collector, prices our United States stamps at prices that would make one break commandments. Think of paying $1.25 for an unused 90c 1869, or 50c for a used copy! Or you may care to fill that blank in the 1851 issue with a 30c unused at 25 cents, or a 90c unused at 75c. The choice was yours,—in 1874. An unused New York Postmaster's 5c stamp is listed at $2 unused, and $1 used. But why prolong the pangs? "That was many years ago!"

One of the most delightful bits of philatelic literature that comes to me is Warren H. Colson's little brochure, "Postage Stamps for Advanced Collectors." Mr. Colson writes charmingly, and enriches his output with informative notes of great value to the collector. The little calendar which accompanies his publication each month illustrates some rarity that the average collector would not otherwise be conversant with. Mr. Colson has placed our hobby on a higher level and his work should be appreciated. My file of his publication, almost complete, has given me great pleasure, and it is treasured with the few "items" that have been preserved from the sale of my philatelic library.

It pays to advertise,—especially in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS! Shortly after the publication of a former paper, my philatelic library was sent away en bloc. I am not wholly bereft, however, as a few personal items and presentation bits still abide with me.

A friend who lives in my native state has written at length, describing his philatelic library. He has begun to accumulate duplicates, with the hope of arranging an exchange. This is a not unwise move to make, provided he can find some one with whom to exchange. Literature differs from stamps, and exchanging is not always so easy as one would wish. He has, however, his material well in hand, card catalogued, and he can quickly refer to any "item" at a moment's notice. This is more than could be said of the writer's collection of papers!

My friend has begun to garner the philatelic publications of his own state. The task will not be beyond him, although one bit of literature will never be recovered,—the first issue of "The Detroit Philatelist," back in the very early '90's: The issue was partly completed, and was then destroyed. It was afterward reprinted. I do not think anyone now interested in philately knows aught of this issue. I have seen it,—in fact, possessed several copies, but they were destroyed with other papers when I left the east a decade ago.

The beginner in literature would be well advised to specialize in the papers of his native state. As a rule, nearly everything can be picked up. Some of it may be rare, but Time deals kindly with the earnest collector. He may even see the circulars of Leslie Howard, who was a boyhood idol, living only a few blocks from my home in Detroit. He is well-known, these latter days, however, by his own name,—H. B. Seagrave. I well remember him. I believe the late E. F. Gambs bought the stock and business, including letters, of "Leslie Howard," offering them for sale later to some one ambitious to enter into business. A circular with the familiar name would look good to mine ancient eyes!

STAMPS OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER I.—Historical.

Prince Edward Island, the smallest and most densely populated (48 to the square mile) of the provinces of Canada, lies in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, separated by the Northumberland Strait from the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Its greatest length is 130 miles; its breadth varies from 4 to 34 miles, and it has an area of 2133 square miles, or 1,365,400 acres, nearly all of which are occupied. Its population of more than 105,000 are chiefly of British descent, though there are some Acadians (14,000) and about 300 Indians. The Island is extremely irregular in outline, and some of the inlets penetrate far inland dividing it into three peninsulas. It was discovered by the Cabots, and annexed by France, but little was done towards its settlement until 1715, when its fertility attracted some Acadians from Cape Breton. It was captured by the British in 1755 and finally passed into their undisputed possession in 1763. At first a part of Nova Scotia, it was, in 1768, made a separate colony. The population in 1763 was 4000; but emigration set in and the Acadians were expelled so that in 1768 it had sunk to 1300. Until 1799 it was known as St. John's Island but was then renamed Prince Edward Island, in compliment to the Duke of Kent, who paid it a visit.

The surface of the island is undulating but never exceeds 500 feet, and the soil is so fertile that it is frequently known as the "Garden of the Gulf". Owing to its fertility, agriculture occupies the greater part of the population, though its fisheries are valuable, its oysters in particular being famous. The climate is milder than that of the mainland and freer from togs, though the ports are icebound during the winter months of December to May. Charlottetown (12,000) is the capital, and other towns are Summerside, Georgetown and Souris. A railway traverses the island, which is connected with the mainland by telegraph.

The government is administered by a lieutenant-governor appointed by the Dominion, and a Legislative Assembly of thirty members, elected for four years. The province is represented in the Dominion Parliament by four senators and five members of the House of Commons.

The province joined the Dominion of Canada on July 1st, 1873.

CHAPTER II.—Postal Rates.

Prince Edward Island was the last of the British North American colonies to issue stamps though it was empowered to do so at the same time as the others. No reason accounting for the delay has ever been adduced and it is certainly surprising that with its constant postal relations with the other colonies and its recognition of their postage stamps that Prince Edward Island did not issue stamps until January 1st, 1861. The first Post-Office Act—a somewhat lengthy document—was passed on May 15th, 1851, the most interesting items relating to postal rates being as follows:—

"5. And be it enacted, That in conformity with the agreements made between the Local Governments of British North America, the Colonial postage on letters and packets, not being newspapers or printed pamphlets, magazines or books, entitled to pass at the lower rates hereinafter referred to, shall not exceed the rate of three pence currency the half ounce for any distance within this Island; and the increase of charge on letters weighing over half an ounce shall be regulated according to the British rule and scale of weights; that no transit postage shall be charged on any letter or packet passing through this island, or any part thereof, to any other Colony in British North America, unless it be posted in this Island, and the sender chose to prepay it, nor on any letter or packet from any such Colony, if prepaid there, and that two pence sterling the half ounce shall remain in operation as regards letters by British Mails, to be extended to countries having postal communication with the United Kingdom, unless Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom shall see fit to alter the rate thereon to be changed to threepence currency.

6. And be it enacted, That the prepayment of Colonial postage shall be

QUALITY FIRST.
For years we have been advocating the collection of only good stamps. Thirty years ago we got ourselves into disgrace by discouraging the collection of damaged stamps advertised by an old time dealer at half catalog. Later on we advised against the collection of off centered and straight edged stamps and we are pleased to see that the great champion of collecting these stamps has decided not to send on his U. S. new issue service certain stamps that were off center and straight edged.

Mr. Collector, if you contemplate disposing of either your collection or duplicates, write me, or send stamps at your own price. The cash is ready and I mean business.
H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

optional to the sender; that all Colonial postage received within this Island shall be retained as belonging to it, and that all Colonial postage received within any other of the British North American Colonies may be retained as belonging to such Colony.

12. And be it enacted, That in no case shall the rate of postage for the inland conveyance, within this Island, of letters and packets, not being newspapers, printed pamphlets, magazines, or books, entitled to pass at lower rates, as herein mentioned, exceed the rate of twopence currency per half ounce; and the increase of charge on letters weighing over half an ounce shall be regulated according to the British rule and scale of weights."

The statute above referred to makes no mention of postage stamps, but on March 9th, 1860, an amendment act was passed which not only authorised the issue and use of postage stamps, but entered much more minutely into the postal rates chargeable on letters, etc., to all parts of the world. In the original Act prepayment of postage was optional but in the amended Act prepayment is made obligatory on letters to Great Brtain though payment by means of postage stamps was not specified. Letters which were not prepaid, or only partly prepaid, were subject to fine on delivery, this fine being fixed at "sixpence sterling money of Great Britain" and "said fines and all moneys arising therefrom shall be divided equally between the United Kingdom and this Island."

In the Monthly Journal for 1895 Mr. Donald A. King reproduces this amended Act and the voluminous Instructions to Postmasters and as the matter is of considerable interest we give copious extracts from the latter, viz.:—

"15. All letters transmitted by post within Prince Edward Island to any part of British North America (except Newfoundland, Bermuda, and the West India Islands) will be liable to a uniform rate of threepence currency the half-ounce — payment optional, — the charge to be made in accordance with the following scale:

On a letter not exceeding one-half ounce in weight 1 rate 0s 3d

Exceeding ½ oz. and not exceeding 1 oz. 2 rates 0s 6d

Exceeding 1 oz. and not exceeding 1½ oz. 3 rates 0s 9d

Exceeding 1½ oz. and not exceeding 2 oz. 4 rates 1s 0d

Exceeding 2 oz. and not exceeding 2½ oz. 5 rates 1s 3d

Exceeding 2½ oz. and not exceeding 3 oz. 6 rates 1s 6d

And so on in the same proportion up to 20 ounces, 20 rates, 5s.

16. Unpaid letters to Nova Scotia and Cape Breton are liable to a fine of threepence in addition to the above rates.

17. Letters to be forwarded to Newfoundland or Bermuda are liable to a charge of ninepence currency per rate, 3d of which must be prepaid. Newspapers addressed to the foregoing places are subject to a charge of one penny halfpenny currency, which must be prepaid.

18. Newspapers for British Colonies, via England, as New Zealand, Australia, India, etc., are liable to a charge of twopence sterling each, which must be prepaid.

19. Letters sent by post to the United States, via St. John, New Brunswick, are subject to a charge of sixpence for every letter not exceeding half an ounce.

20. Letters to California are subject to the charge of ninepence each rate.

21. Newspapers to any part of the United States free.

22. Letters forwarded by post, via Halifax, to and from the United States, are subject to the British packet postage charge of sixpence, as well as the Colonial one of threepence,—together ninepence currency on each rate, independent of the United States rate of postage.

23. On letters between any part of Prince Edward Island and the United Kingdom the rate is a uniform charge of sixpence sterling or ninepence currency the half-ounce, at the option of the sender, but letters posted unpaid are liable to a fine of sixpence sterling each, in addition to the postage. Newspapers to any part of the United Kingdom free. Postmasters are permitted to examine newspapers to see that the conditions are complied with, and if violated, to charge letter postage thereon.

REGISTRATION.

26. A Postmaster, on being applied to, to register a letter, will demand a register fee of sixpence currency, in addition to the postage, on all letters for the Colonies, United States, England, etc., and tenpence sterling, in addition to the postage, on all letters passing through England for foreign countries and British Colonies, and will then stamp and number the letter plainly, and enter the address and number of it on the receipt book, envelope the green or coloured sheets (supplied for that purpose), and copy the address thereon, marking the cover in the same way as the letter.

SOLDIERS' AND SEAMANS' LETTERS.

32. Non-commissioned Officers, Captain's stewards, Seamen and Soldiers, while they are employed in Her Majesty's service, can send and receive letters at the rate of one penny each on letters for Canada, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, and one penny sterling each on letters for Newfoundland, West Indies, England, under the following regulations:

(1) The penny must be paid at the time the letter is posted.
(3) The letter must not exceed half an ounce in weight.
(4) The letter must refer solely to the private affairs of the Soldier or Seaman.

48. Printed books, magazines, reviews, and pamphlets (whether British, Colonial, or Foreign) may be transmitted by post between Prince Edward Island and the United Kingdom, at the following rates of postage:

Not exceeding 4 oz. 3d stg.
Not exceeding 8 oz. 6d stg.
Not exceeding 16 oz. 1s stg.
Not exceeding 1½ lbs. 1s 6d stg.

and so on, for every additional fraction of a pound sixpence.

50. Books, pamphlets, or periodical publications may be transmitted by post within this Island, at the rate of one penny per ounce, up to sixteen ounces, beyond which weight no printed book, publication, or pamphlet can be transmitted by post.

57. Books, etc., for Bermuda and Newfoundland are liable to the same rates of postage as above, and must also be paid in advance.

58. The rates of postage (on books,

Mr. King states that the Sessional Papers of this Province, unlike those of the other British North American Colonies, give nothing whatever in the way of post-office reports, with the single exception of the report of 1861 in which rules for the management of the parcel post were printed. Parcels were limited to a weight of three pounds and a size of not more than one foot in length or breadth or six inches in thickness. It was stipulated that parcels must be prepaid, such prepayment to be made by postage stamps and not by money. The rates of postage were as follows:—

For any weight not exceeding 1 lb., 1s 3d.

Over 1 lb. and not exceeding 2 lbs., 2s 6d.

Over 2 lbs. and not exceeding 3 lbs., 3s 9d.

Parcels could be registered on payment of an additional fee of threepence.

In 1868 an arrangement was made with the United States for a reduction of postage from sixpence to fourpence per half ounce, and on letters to California and Oregon from ninepence to sixpence per half ounce. The notice of this change was given in the Royal Gazette as follows:

"His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in Council has been pleased to approve of the following modifications in the postal arrangement between the United States and this Island, viz., On and after the first day of November next, the postage on a single letter shall be fourpence, if prepaid at the mailing office, and ten cents (equal to sixpence) if posted unpaid; and for other than single letters the same charge shall be made for each additional half ounce, or fraction thereof. Letters for British Columbia, California, and Oregon shall be sixpence, if prepaid, per half ounce.

(Signed) THOMAS OWEN,
Postmaster-General.

General Post-office, Charlottetown, P.E.I. October 21st, 1868."

On June 1st, 1870, the postage on single letters to the United Kingdom was reduced to 3d sterling or 4½d currency. The notice in the Royal Gazette referring to this is as follows:—

"REDUCTION OF POSTAGE TO GREAT BRITAIN.

On and after the first of June next, the postage on paid letters for Great Britain will be Three Pence sterling per half ounce, instead of Sixpence sterling as at present.

(Signed) JOHN A. MCDONALD,
Postmaster-General.

General Post-office, Charlottetown. 20th May, 1870."

In 1871 the currency of the Colony was changed to a decimal one, the Statute authorizing the change being passed on April 17th of that year. This Act not only changed the currency but also gave authority for the issue of a series of stamps conforming to the new money as shown below:—

"AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A DECIMAL SYSTEM OF CURRENCY ON THIS ISLAND.

Whereas it is deemed expedient to assimilate the currency of this Island to that of the Dominion of Canada and of the United States of America, and to introduce a decimal system of keeping accounts in the Public Offices in this Colony.

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council, and Assembly, as follows:

1. The unit of account on this Island shall be the dollar of one hundred cents, the value of which dollar shall be on the basis of four hundred and eighty-six cents and two-thirds of a cent to the pound of British sterling money.

2. The accounts of all public offices on this Island shall be changed and kept in the decimal system, which shall go into operation at the times following: For the accounts kept at the Savings Bank at the Public Treasury on the first day of December next, for the accounts kept at all Post-offices, the Money Order Office, and at all Excise Offices, and at all other public offices except the Treasury, on the first day of January next; for all accounts kept at the Public Treasury on the first day of February next.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is hereby authorized to empower the Commissioner for issuing Treasury Notes to have suitable notes of the decimal currency prepared and signed, the same notes to be exchanged with the Colonial Treasurer for the Treasury notes already in circulation, for the purpose of the Act.

4. Gold and silver coin shall be legal tender at the rates set forth in Schedule A here annexed.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is hereby empowered to provide a coinage of copper cents for this Island, and to cause postage stamps of the new denominations to be issued as soon as practicable."

No special amendment was made to the Post-office Act and existing rates were retained after being converted into the new currency.

REMITTANCES ABROAD.

By THORN SMITH.

I note Mr. Ferguson's suggestion re sending money to foreign dealers by draft. Suppose that Mr. Ferguson wanted to buy stamps to the value of 1200 kronen in Austria from a published list and suppose that he went two months ago to his bank and secured a draft at a cost of $28. He sent the draft to the foreign dealer who refused to accept it on such an "aus landiaches Valuta" and forthwith returned. It arrives some 30 days after and Mr. Ferguson goes to the bank to see what can be done about it. It is now worth about $12. and tomorrow $10. What is the next move? Mine is to hold for a rise to par and get about $250. But when? The moral is that one should know what the foreign dealer is going to do with the draft before one secures it.

KING ALBERT A COLLECTOR.

Albert, King of the Belgians, admitted being a stamp collector to a reporter soon after arriving in N. Y. and expressed a strong desire to make a trip to Nassau Street and a few calls incognito at several of the stamp places. However, Mr. Nye objected strongly to his mingling with Nassau St. crowds as the street is narrow and he would not consider it safe.

WAR APPROVALS

for collectors of 20th Century and War issues. No use in our trying to offer here. We have some 2000 var. in stock, for all kinds of pocketbooks. Look up our adv. in the WEEKLY of Sept. 27th. It's still good.

For those who do not have much of a line of these stamps we have made up some books of cheaper and medium priced items. Customers known to us or others who give some proof of responsibility can have selections sent to choose from. These books will change but will run about the same as listed.

No. 1A	European War Issues only, Austria to Hungary. Only issues of the older states $16.00
No. 1B	Same as above, but including higher priced items. Many sets .....$35 and up
No. 2A	European War Issues only, Hungary to Turkey. Many in sets $15.00
No. 2B	Same, but higher priced stamps, etc. A good lot of Roumania, etc. ..$25.00 and up
No. 3A	New Europe—Only countries that were born from War. Cheaper issues $8.00
No. 3B	New Europe—As above, but the scarcer values, etc. Many complete sets $25 and up
No. 4A	French Cols.—Red Cross issues mostly. A nice lot, & Red Cr. near cplt $10 and up
No. 5A	Italian Issues—Issues of Italian Occ. and Colonies only. Cheaper values ...$12.00
No. 5B	Same as above, but a better line Some very scarce stamps, Trent, Trieste, etc., etc. ..... $50 and up
No. 6A	BRITISH COLS.—Mostly War Tax and a nice line of the cheaper issues 8.00

SPECIAL While the above books are classified and cover the run of War issues pretty close, we have some large books, really collections of these stamps, we will submit to those who wish to purchase $25 or more at a time. Their value runs from about $150. up, and we have made heavy sales from them. On account of the absence of catalogs, etc., these are very convenient for those who wish to see before buying. Special selections of wants, and rare items will be sent those who mean business. Prompt returns required as we are unable in many cases to obtain enough goods to meet our demands, and wish to hold as much unsold stock in hand as possible for orders.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

UNITED STATES 1c 1857-60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

Now comes a gap in the sequence of the 1c plates. What happened to plates Nos. 4, 5 and 6, if they ever existed, is still a mystery. It is barely possible some of the stamps assigned to plates Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10 may have come from the three missing plates, or it may be that these plates were identical with the plate known as No. 3, but both of these possibilities are exceedingly unlikely. No stamps bearing the plate numbers 3, 4, 5 or 6 have been noted since intensive study of these 1c issues began. The plate No. 3 stamps are far too rare for the writer to believe they came from more than one plate and the plate 7-8-9-10 stamps are far too common for there to have been three more similar plates and no stamps from the three latter with plate numbers.

The Carpenter letter which refers to the new plates made for perforated stamps in 1857 mentions only three 1c plates, which perhaps are the missing Nos. 4, 5 and 6, or may refer to the first three of the six plates—Nos. 7 to 12 inclusive—known to have been used for the perforated 1c stamps and made after 1856. There is no way of telling which plates were the three referred to. The same letter mentions only six "new" 3c plates, but there were nineteen 3c plates made during and after 1857.

In many respects plate No. 3 belongs to the perforate period 1857-60 rather than to the preceding imperforate period. Throughout these three years many of the 1c to 24c plates were produced from six relief transfers in exactly the same manner as was plate No. 3. Identically the same arrangement is found over and over again—first and second horizontal rows different from each other and from all the others: 3rd, 4th and 5th rows repeated in the 7th, 8th and 9th; 6th and 10th row stamps with identical tops and similar or different bottoms—all the plates with guide dots at the top of the top row and between the 6th and 7th rows. Even if we accept Dr. Chase's theory that these plates were from seven relief transfers used 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 3, 4, 5, 7 in each vertical row, that does not alter the fact that plate No. 3 is far more closely related to the perforated period than to the imperforate. None of the plates made for imperforate stamps bear any resemblance to plate No. 3.

The date of the contract whereby the Carpenter firm was to furnish perforated stamps was February 6, 1857. The writer thinks most collectors will agree with him that the postmaster general did not restrict his whole consideration of the matter to the day when the contract was signed, and that he must have had perforation of the stamps in mind for several months. No doubt the contractors knew what was coming and prepared for it. There were only eighteen days between the date of the contract and the first delivery of perforated stamps, all of which indicates they had been preparing for perforation for a considerable time. For these reasons the present writer favors the Stevenson theory that plate No. 3 was constructed purposely to use for perforated stamps.

PLATES 7, 8, 9, 10.

These plates were in use about three years and the stamps from them are all type III—the commonest variety of the perforated 1c stamp. Although the stamps have sold for ten or fifteen cents a piece in average condition for many years there is still considerable to be learned about them. Dr. Chase says these plates were made from a new transfer roll, while Mr. Stevenson attributes them to the same roller from which plate No. 3 was made. Lack of sufficient material prevents the writer from demonstrating which theory is correct but from the material at hand it would appear the plate 7-8-9-10 stamps are spaced closer together vertically than the plate No. 3 stamps and that all of them therefore could not have come from the same transfer.

The stamps from plates 7, 8, 9, 10 are quite different from any of the stamps on plate No. 3. Every relief on the new roller and every stamp on the plate is a perfect type III, for each relief has the middle of both the upper and the lower arc clearly cut away for about one-third of the length of the arcs. Therefore there are no type I, no type II and no combination or intermediate types on these four plates. Only a very slight trace of the ball shaped ornament characteristic of type I can be found and this only below the right scroll at the bottom of the stamps in the bottom rows.

With a little study the six reliefs can readily be differentiated. The left end of the lower arc stops below the N or the E of ONE, or between those letters, and always stops at the same point on the same relief. The 6th relief is cut away slightly more in the 6th row than in the 10th row and no trace of the ball shaped ornament is found on the stamps from the 6th rows. This relief was damaged at the top over the letters OS of POSTAGE and shows signs of an attempt to repair the damage. The repairing was done by recutting on the die.

One reason why the writer does not believe in Dr. Chase's theory of seven reliefs on these 1c and other plates is because the seven relief theory necessarily also completes the belief that two entirely distinct reliefs—one used only for the 6th rows and the other used only for the 10th rows—both reliefs having top designs so closely identical that the writer cannot tell them apart,—were both damaged and repaired in exactly the same way. As Artemus Ward might say—that iz tu mutch!

These type III stamps differ from all the stamps on the earlier 1c plates in having the ornamental scrolls at the sides partially trimmed away. On the earlier plates—Nos. 1, 2, and 3—the tops and bottoms of the stamps are more or less complete but the side ornaments were not altered. All the stamps from plates 7, 8, 9, 10 are believed to have been perforated but imperforate copies are occasionally seen. In all probability, such imperforates are perforated copies with the perforations trimmed off, even if on the original covers.

OLDEST AND LARGEST STAMP FIRM IN BR. NORTH AMERICA

People had been cutting their stamps apart with shears for ten years before perforated stamps were issued and for a while they kept right on separating them that way to a much greater extent than is generally supposed.

The genuine type III stamps are so rare imperforate and so common perforated that considerable temptation for fraud exists. In order to protect himself from imposition of this kind all the collector needs to know is what the plate 7-8-9-10 stamps look like and that any alleged imperforate type III with side ornaments incomplete like any of the seven varieties on these four plates is either open to suspicion or else is certainly a fraud. Like other plates of the 1857-60 series, these four 1c plates have the stamps very close together vertically and further apart horizontally, so it is possible to obtain fairly satisfactory side margins while good margins at both top and bottom are quite impossible. The faked imperforate type III stamps almost always will be cut close at either top or bottom—if not both.

In order to account for certain peculiarities of these type III stamps and to answer a well-founded criticism of the multiple transfer theory the writer begs lieve to offer the following theory regarding the method by which the multiple transfer rolls were made. The writer's original conception of the multiple transfer rolls—that is, rollers containing several reliefs which were rocked onto the plate as a unit—was that the blank roller was first rocked over the original die two or four or six times as the case might be, in as many different but closely adjacent positions, and thereby there were produced on its circumference several stamp designs in relief, the bottom of the first relief practically touching the top of the second, and so on, and that the alterations in the tops and bottoms of the stamp designs as found on the plates were made by cutting away portions of the reliefs on the roller, thus leaving the intervals between them which became the spaces for perforation on the stamp sheets.

If it were mechanically possible to accomplish this, many of the varieties found on the 1857-60 plates would be perfectly accounted for, but the writer has been informed that the designs could not be rocked so closely together on the transfer roll from a single die, and besides, that method does not afford an adequate explanation for the markings like scratches which occur at the sides of many of the stamps on plates 7, 8, 9, 10. Reliefs No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4, which produced the stamps in the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 7th and 8th horizontal rows, show these markings, particularly at the right side. The marks on each of the three reliefs are distinctly different and must have been on the transfer roll, although they could not have been put on there after the stamp designs had been transferred to it.

What caused these markings, where did they come from, and how did they get on the transfer roll? Obviously they could not have been on a single die used to make multiple relief transfer roll according to the writer's original conception, because then each relief would have had them and they would all be just alike on all the reliefs. But if they were not on the die they could not be on the transfer roll, simply because it is possible only to erase lines on the roller—no lines can be added there.

Study of this problem leads to a consideration of the possibility of there having been a multiple supplementry die used. If, instead of using a single relief transfer to make the plate, a multiple transfer was used, why could not a multiple die have been used to make the multiple transfer instead of a single subject die? No one knows just what did happen, but in order to understand the facts as they are found on the stamps we should consider the explanation that will explain the most facts and by the theory of a multiple die more facts regarding the 1857-60 plates, and in particular the 1c plates Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10, can be explained than by any other theory known to the writer.

This is the theory:—A single transfer was taken from the original single die. This transfer was rocked six times onto a die block large enough to accomodate six stamp designs placed as far apart as was necessary. These six new dies were then cut apart and the surplus metal at their upper and lower ends was removed, after which they were hardened and locked together in a vertical row, making one long multiple die of six units. A six relief transfer was then taken from the six unit die and used to make the plates. Alterations of the stamp designs could be effected on the multiple die or on the multiple transfer, or on both of them. The reliefs could be placed as closely together as was desired and any scratches or alterations on the units of the multiple die would be reproduced on the corresponding units of the multiple transfer and on the corresponding stamp designs on the plate.

By this theory the presence of the side markings on the stamps in the five rows mentioned can be explained, and we now have to consider whether they were accidental or intentional, and what caused them.

A few years ago Mr. Stevenson showed the writer several stamps having the usual characteristics of printings from plates 7, 8, 9, 10 as regards the tops and bottoms of their designs but with the ornamental scrolls at the sides, particularly the right side, either not trimmed at all or else only slightly trimmed, and without the scratches supposed always to be found on stamps from reliefs 2, 3 and 4, except, perhaps, very late impressions from the plates when they were badly worn. These stamps have every appearance of being early printings. They certainly are not from worn plates and if the scratch-like markings had been on the plate from which they were printed these markings would show more clearly on these stamps than they do on most of the printings from the four plates under discussion. The only dated copies the writer has seen are three from the small lot in the Stevenson collection, all used on one cover in May, 1858.

These peculiar type III stamps show indications of attempts to erase the side ornaments but similar erasure markings on stamps from plates 7, 8, 9, 10 which have the side ornaments distinctly trimmed have not been noted. Possibly these stamps are from plates 4, 5 or 6 and these three plates were not used to any extent because this first attempt to alter the side ornaments was not successful. This erasure must have been done either on the multiple die, the transfer roller or the plate. Evidently it was not done on the multiple die, for if it had been done there traces of it would show later. Certainly it was not done on the transfer roll because it is not possible to make scratches on a plate by cutting lines on or off a transfer. There remains only the plate itself. Therefore the writer is obliged to assume these early printings from plates containing only type III stamps to have been printed from one or more plates on which an attempt to erase parts of the side oraments had been made.

The writer has never seen all the stamps from both panes of plate No. 7 and is uncertain whether these type III stamps with side ornaments practically complete are from the left pane of that plate or are from one or more of plates 4, 5 or 6.

After this first attempt to alter the side ornaments, there was a more suc-

AD COPY MUST BE IN FRIDAYS.

For some time we have been up against a proposition that has sorely tried the publishers of the WEEKLY and drastic action is necessary to relieve the situation. All printing establishments are having their setbacks and all publications are feeling the restricted hours of employment and increased cost of production.

With the WEEKLY we have another consideration which we must reckon with. Recent issues have shown us that a 12 paged paper will be frequently required during the coming months. One was necessary last week, here is another and one will be issued again the coming week in order that we may carry a sufficient amount of reading matter.

To get back to the prompt mailings of our paper on Fridays we shall require in the future that ad copy be received not later than the previous Friday. Buffalo, Washington and places east of those cities must mail copy Thursdays, while the Middle West must send it Tuesday or Wednesday.

Where new copy is not received Friday the last advertisement will be repeated. This new schedule will aim to do away with the vexatious delays of past months in mailing our weekly editions.

A few suggestions:—
(1) Send typewritten copy if possible.
(2) Keep a copy of your ad to refer to.
(3) Indicate space wanted on copy.
(4) Run a multiple of 6 lines.

EDITORIAL.

Protean—Early Byrd whose enlightening discourses on the earlier U. S. stamps have been a feature of recent numbers must be painlessly disposed of and buried with philatelic honors. It is a comfort to know, however, that while he has been dematerialized, he reappears in another guise; he is reincarnated in the person of Mr. Lyman J. Seely. Mr. Seely has a penchant for stamp study because he likes the bits of paper; and while he considers his contributions of rather milder value than our readers do, he has found that a number of readers have inquired about Mr. Byrd in connection with further articles on the favorite early issues of our country. We suppose that the scrupulous Mr. Byrd was impelled by a sense of frankness to shed his alias and stand forth in his true colors. Exeunt, Mr. Byrd; enter Mr. Seely, who writes: "So many collectors have written me since the appearance of the notes on the three cent of 1851 to ask what I meant by the 'true Type I' of 1857 that it may not be amiss to describe the stamp though it is known to a great many. Type I of the three cent, 1851, has an outer line at top and bottom and double lines at the sides. This applies to practically all three cent stamps issued between 1851 and the latter part of 1855. Then printings from new plates appeared and these I call Type II, or, if you prefer, Type I-A; they have the outer lines at top and bottom but only single lines at the sides as the inner lines were not recut. Type III without the extra line at top and bottom occurs only in the perforated stamps. The 'true Type I perforated,' therefore refers to stamps from the early plates with extra line or recut inner line accurately speaking, at the sides, as well as outer lines top and bottom. Evidently, some sheets from these early plates were perforated for I have found them on original covers and with the little mark on the coat, known as 'gash on the shoulder.' I am told that the perforated stamps exist without outer lines top and bottom but with both lines at the sides but I have never seen such a thing and cannot understand how it could happen, unless an attempt was made to remove the outer lines top and bottom from an early plate. This is not impossible as I have seen a number of stamps with only faint traces of such outer lines but none of these had double side lines."

Asked—A reader wishes to know where booklet plate-numbers are to be found and in recognition of the growth of interest taken in the booklet varieties, we say a few words on the subject here. In the current two cent booklet, the plate-number is found twice in each booklet, invariably above the topmost right hand stamp. Two of the marginal imprints are to be found in each booklet and the combinations made by the numbers are interesting There is a regular hodgepodge of numbers as we find them consecutively, e. g., 8894 and 8895; the same or 8893 repeated; and irregular, as 8895 and 8191. The foregoing remarks are illustrative of the interesting possibilities of the present two cent booklet stamp and the story of the other issues is replete with engaging suggestion.

Submitted—We are now receiving views of bank men and others on the foreign exchange question which is one that has vital bearing on the international relations of stamp handlers. One reader whose position is such that he may be accepted as an authority inclines to the belief that we have magnified the complications of the present day conditions. He says that if any effort was made to meet an invoice on pre-war terms and through the development of war necessities the money that was sent in payment was returned to the sender, the case was not altered and settlement may now be offered on the original basis. Naturally, late transactions would be made on an understanding as to the payment of funds and he adds that this supposition is supported by the instructions for payment for consignments to other countries that have been issued by a French dealer.

Censorship—We are indebted to Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz for the following sidelight which is not without its historical phase: "With the memory of the censorship of mail still fresh in mind, the following excerpts taken from the 'Writings of Thomas Jefferson,' edited by H. A. Worthington, should be of interest. The set, I may add, was published by Taylor and Maury of Washington, D. C., in 1859. 'Letter from Thomas Jefferson to R. Izard: Paris, September 26, 1785. . . . . Your letter of last January, of which you make mention, never came to my hands. Of course, the papers that are now received are the first and only ones which have come safe. The infidelities of the post offices, both of England and France, are not unknown to you. The former are the more rascally because they retain one's letters, not choosing to take the trouble of copying them. The latter, when they have taken copies are so civil as to send the originals, resealed clumsily with a composition on which they have previously taken the impression of the seal . . . . . I took the liberty of asking you to order me a Charleston newspaper. The French postage is so enormous that I have been obliged to desire that my newspapers from the different states may be sent to the office for Foreign Affairs at New York, and I have requested Mr. Jay to have them always packed in a box and sent by the French packets as merchandise to the care of the American consul at L'Orient, who will send them on by the periodical wagons . . . . ' (Volume 1, pp. 425, 426.)"

Received—We have had a remarkable communication from an esteemed reader that causes us to ponder over the present pressure that is noticeable in philatelic walks. The length of the letter indicates that the writer is concerned over what he considers the scant treatment of the small buyer, comparatively speaking by a dealer here and there. After making the just claim that the collect of limited means matches in his earne regard for philately the wealthy colle tor and has every right to fill bla spaces with second-rate copies if he elects, he says: "I am not crying dow the wealthy collector although he cos the poorer collector many dollars as l does not stop at any price but of cour on the other hand, when the poor collector has to sell his collection, t value of the collection is boosted. Na urally, a collection that is bought by t dealer must yield him a profit; a this is right. It seems to me that w all need one another; and each o should be encouraged to collect as h sees fit and, more to the point, is able The essence of the complaint is th dealers have ignored his request f second quality stamps on approval; an he feels that as he is content to bu poor copies, comparatively, he should r ceive reasonable treatment in the pu suance of his plan. A mass of deta supports the contention of our reade

Without having data of our own on any specific case, we are inclined to see the position of the dealer and our explanation of the slights, real or fancied, is that the dealers are so unusually busy that they have not the time to attend to all branches of their business in the thorough way in which they would ordinarily. We know that dealers are anxious to cultivate avenues for the disposal of stamps that are "off" and it would not seem reasonable that they would ignore a means to get rid of them, under usual conditions.

FULTON STAMP CO., 729 6TH AVE., COR. 42 STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE LOVE OF LIBERTY BROUGHT US HERE.—The motto of the Liberian republic which is shown upon a few of its stamps.

THESSALY.—The largest division of ancient Greece which, in 1355, came under the Turkish yoke. In 1881 Turkey ceded the larger portion of the province to Greece but during the Graeco-Turkish war of 1898 the Turks again occupied the province and issued a special set of postage stamps for its use.

THIBET.—A country of central Asia nominally subject to China, which issued its first set of postage stamps in 1912.

THICK PAPER.—A somewhat misleading description for certain sorts of paper. It is really meant to be used in a comparative sense in distinguishing between stamps of a particular issue printed on two grades of paper described as "thick" and "thin".

THIN PAPER.—(See preceding paragraph.)

THOM, R.—The postmaster of Fredericksburg, Virginia, in 1861, who issued special 5c and 10c stamps prior to the appearance of the regular set for the Confederate States.

THOUGHRA.—(See "Tughra".)

THRACE.—A district of Macedonia for which special stamps are said to have been issued by an autonomous government in 1913 during the interval between the withdrawal of the Bulgarian forces and the taking over of the district by the Greek authorities.

THUNDERBOLTS.—Small spearlike ornaments drawn across the posthorns shown under the Arms on many of the stamps of Russia.

THURN AND TAXIS.—At one time the princes of Thurn and Taxis—a noble house of Austria—possessed a postal monopoly over the whole of Germany, but by the stamp-issuing epoch of 1849-52 many of the states had by purchase, war, or in other ways obtained control over their own postal services. In 1852 special stamps were issued for use in those states and parts of Germany over which Thurn and Taxis still retained postal control. In 1867 these special issues ceased for Prussia purchased the remainder of the monopoly from the then holders.

THURN AND TAXIS.—The inscription shown on the stamps of Thurn and Taxis.

TICAL.—The unit of value in Siam until 1912 which had a nominal value of 32c in American money. Until 1909 the tical was divided into 64 atts but the currency was then changed and the tical was composed of 100 satangs, i. e., cents.

TIENTSIN.—A Chinese city in which France maintains a post office, and in September, 1903, it was instrumental in issuing a number of provisional postage due stamps.

TIERRA DEL FUEGO.—An island at the extreme southern extremity of South America belonging to Argentina (eastern portion) and Chili. A special local stamp of the facial value of 10c was issued here in 1891 to frank letters from the island to the nearest ports of Chili or the Argentine Republic.

TIGER'S HEAD.—The device shown upon most of the stamps of Afghanistan.

TIMBRE.—(Stamp). An overprint shown on certain stamps of Bolivia which were intended for fiscal purposes but were freely used for postage.

TIMBRE IMPERIAL JOURNAUX.—This inscription, signifying "Imperial Journal stamps", appears on the large newspaper stamps of France.

TIMBRE MOVIL.—An inscription shown on certain revenue stamps of Spain, some of which have been used for postage. It means, literally, "movable stamp", i. e., an adhesive as distinguished from an impressed label.

TIMBRE POSTE PROVISOIR.—An inscription shown upon one of the stamps issued by the Russian administration in Crete in 1899. It means, simply, "Provisional postage stamp".

TIMBRE PROPORCIONAL.—An inscription meaning "proportional stamp" shown on certain stamps of Costa Rica which were allowed to be used for postage.

TIMBRU DE BUIE-FACERE.—An inscription shown on some of the Roumanian charity stamps of 1906 meaning, literally, "stamp of benefaction".

TIMOR.—The most important of the chain of islands which stretches eastwards from Java. It has an area of 12,264 square miles and a population of about half a million. The eastern portion of the island belongs to Portugal and for this colony postage stamps were first issued in 1885.

TINTED PAPER.—(See "Surface-colored paper".)

TJANSTE FRIMARKE.—(Service stamp).—The inscription shown upon the current series of official stamps for Sweden.

TJENESTEFRIMARKE.—An inscription, signifying "Service stamps" shown on the official stamps of Sweden issued prior to 1910.

TJENESTE POST FRIMAERKE.—(Service postage stamps).—The inscription shown upon the official stamps for Denmark.

MR. U. S. SPECIALIST:—I certainly would like your name on my mailing list, provided you are an ADVANCED COLLECTOR and are interested in the many unusual varieties which are turning up from the Bureau's products from time to time. I feel confident that my list contains 80% of the more important collectors and it is that other 20% that I am now after.

When your name is on my list do not think that you will get weekly circulars and bulletins. You will hear from me only when I have something that I think will interest you and you will not be called upon to even reply if the item offered is not wanted. Remember, I have no general approvals, but only furnish selected copies or blocks of unusual things. In the last couple of weeks I furnished those interested, with the 2c and 3c part perf. I do not believe that ANY ONE else has been able to offer both varieties for sale.

Incidentally remember that I am always a buyer of anything in the way of unusual U. S. I not only want a block or so for my collection but can always place the balance of any find. The best of bank or commercial reference if required.

WHOLESALE

small wholesale lots of Central Europe sent on approval to responsible dealers. [07
CARL YOUNG, 112 N. 5th St., Phila., Pa.

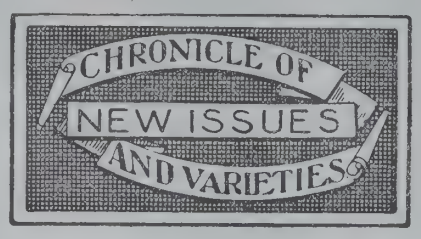
NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A subscriber writes us as follows:—"I have just received the auction catalog of a well-known dealer who takes regular advertising space in the WEEKLY, and I notice that he offers no fewer than five lots in which counterfeits are boldly advertised. It may be that there is no law against a dealer doing this thing, but it seems to me that the ethics of honorable dealing would prohibit any dealer from offering counterfeits in such a public manner."

—A new advertising cancellation is now seen in the mails. It consists of the words "Roosevelt Memorial—Association—October 20 to 27". In the earliest use of this postmark dated New York, Oct. 20, one of these words was spelled "Memoial" and another "Assoctation". It makes an interesting "error."

—"Under the article Slavonia I regret to say that J. F. Hamill is misinformed. He says the only town worth mentioning in Slavonia is Laibach, but this city never belonged to Slavonia but is capital city of the province of Carniola. I should know that because I was born in Slavonia."—MATT SIMUVICH.



Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Several weeks back we brought to the attention of our readers the fact that the Post Office Department was giving serious consideration to the surcharging of the 2c postals and 3c envelopes so that they could be used under the present prevailing rates. There are millions on hand but we are under the impression that the postals will be finally destroyed and the envelopes will be surcharged for official use. In a letter just received from Mr. H. W. Porter we are advised that he was recently informed by one of the "powers that be" that while they have given the matter careful consideration they have not as yet come to any definite conclusion. In the meantime the large offices are holding on to their supplies.

In connection with the change in postal rates it may be of interest to mention that in the case of the 3c booklets, the stamps were removed and sold over the counter in the regular way and credit was given the different offices for the books themselves, at the rate of 1c each.

Mr. N. A. Eddy, Jr., has submitted for our inspection a most unusual oddity in the way of a recut. He has located a block of nine of the current 2c unwatermarked, perforated 11 showing the hair of the head of the center stamp almost entirely reentered. It is quite possible that a hard place in the steel at this point resulted in a poor transfer and therefore likely one of the engravers took his tool and endeavored to cut the hair in its proper place but with poor results. When Mr. Eddy located the variety the margins had been removed from the sheet and consequently he has been unable to furnish us with the plate number.

Mr. George Soulman has located a new variety to add to our recent list of the "7 CENTS" provisional Playing Card Stamps, namely the 2c ultramarine, series of 1894, showing two surcharges in purple, of the well known Standard Playing Card overprint, one of which reads up and the other down. Several copies of this stamp with double surcharge both reading one way have been found but this is the first copy to come to our attention having both the normal and the inverted surcharge.

Mr. F. W. Armstrong now writes to inform us that we were correct in our original assumption that the two plate number blocks of the 1c surface print from sheet #9987 came from the same pane and that therefore we have absolute proof that the Bureau reentered the plate number after they had printed a number of stamps from the plate. As mentioned before, this is the first instance that has been brought to our attention of changes in the plate numbers after the plates had once gone to press.

While as a rule we do not chronicle postmarks, one from New York is of such a unique character that it is well worthy of mention. Enclosed within the rectangular shaped cancellation we read "Roosevelt Memorial Association, October 20 to 27" in three lines. All the mail that has been reaching us from New York City during this week of October 20th has been so postmarked.

Through the kindness of Mr. W. S. Kinsel we are able to chronicle a new provisional Narcotic overprint. This variety comes from Seattle, and we are told that only one denomination of the Documentary stamps were surcharged, namely, the 1c rose. The overprint comes in two colors, in purple and in black and reads in large serifed capital letters in three lines "ACT—NARCOTIC—1918".

1919. Seattle Provisional Narcotic.
(a) 1c rose, purple overprint.
(b) 1c rose, black overprint.

Messrs. Gerald H. Burgess, Charles M. Breader and F. L. Belanger have also favored us with notes of interest.

AITUTAKI.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the 3d surfaced printed stamp of New Zealand surcharged "Aitutaki" in blue.

BELGIUM.—We have been shown by Adjt. Henry Hooreman specimens of the new Belgian surcharges as chronicled last week. The overprinting is rather crudely done. Mr. Hooreman also submits two new Postage Dues, 10c carmine and 20c green, the difference in the design as compared with D2 being that the figure of value is on a white ground instead of black.

CHRISTMAS ID.—We recently chronicled in our news department the appearance of a set of stamps for this Island. We now have further information concerning this place. In the Chicago Blade of March 15, 1919, appeared a group picture of Rev. Emmanuel Rougier and two of his nieces, accompanied by the following story:—

"Father Rougier, who is a French Roman Catholic priest, has just arrived in America from Papeete with his nieces, the Misses Berthe and Alice Rougier, coming from his little kingdom in the middle of the Pacific Ocean on business connected with his purchase of Christmas Island from the British government.

Christmas Island is midway between Honolulu and Papeete and comprises 600,000 acres. Father Rougier has 100,000 cocoanut trees set out. One hundred trees will produce a ton of copra, and copra is worth about $150 a ton, so Father Rougier has something worth while in Christmas Island. He might be a Santa Claus after all, with a big income like that, according to the children on the ship.

Before purchasing Christmas Island, which escaped the epidemic of Spanish Influenza. Father Rougier owned Fanning Island. This he sold to British interests.

Father Rougier lives at Papeete, which has been his home for thirty years."

ESTHONIA.—Bright & Son chronicle the appearance of a 5m, black and orange, imperf. same type as the 1 mark.

FIUME.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a copy of the 30c purple stamp which has the word "Posta" added at the bottom making the reading "Cent. Posta Fiume 30", and add that all values and 10r are issued with the same word added.

ITALY.—Bright & Son has shown us a copy of the 15c stamp printed in black. The type is the same as Scott's No. A48.

LETTLAND.—Bright & Son chronicle the following new items of this country:—25k, grey Imperforate on watermarked paper; 5, 10, 15, 20, 35, and 50k, no watermark, perforated 11½.

MONACO.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us three values, 5c green, 10c red, and 25c blue. The stamp shows a view in the background of a citadel and in the front is a widow with a small child in her arms. At the left side of lower corner is the value while at the lower right corner is 5c, 10c, 25c respectively. The top has the words "Principavte De Monaco" and "Postes" on the upper right side.

NORTH WEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the ½, 3 and 4d values with new corrected setting, all the letter "s" being normal.

NORTH WEST RUSSIAN ARMY.—Bright & Son have shown us the following stamps recently issued for the above mentioned Army:—5k lilac; 10k blue; 15k yellow; 20k rose and 50k green. They are of different designs and are printed on white paper with the exception of the 10k blue which is of a cream color. The 50k green is a very thin paper. All the stamps are about the same size as the issue of 1909.

PERSIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the following of the 1908 type surcharged as follows:—

1c yellow, surch. "Provisoire 1919 1 chahi".
3c green, surch. "Provisoire 1919 3 chahi".
6c violet, surch. "Provisoire 1919 6 chahi".

All are printed in black and in three lines.

POLISH LEVANT.—Bright & Son report the appearance of Polish stamps overprinted "Levant" in red on the perforated set, 3, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 50f and 1, 1½, 2, 2½ and 5 marks.

SIAM.—Mr. K. B. Sieng has heard it rumored that a new issue of stamps is to appear shortly. It has been suggested that a series be printed to be used in connection with the Peace celebration and the reception of the arrival of the second part of the Siamese troops on the 21st to the 23rd of September.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a new printing of the 4c stamp, the color being considerably paler.

URUGUAY.—Fred L. Onken has submitted to us the following values of the Commemorative Issue with Statue of Liberty.

2c crimson and brown.
5c blue and brown.
20c bistre and black.
23c green and black.

At the same time he shows us a copy of the 5m purple and green with an oblong view in the center "Republica O de Uruguay" at the top in two lines and "Correos 5 Milesimos 5" at the bottom in two lines.

U. S. 1c 1857-60.

cessful attempt which, it is believed, took place on the multiple die. To use Mr. Stevenson's words, whoever did it used "little care and a chisel." All the stamps were trimmed at the right side and three of the designs were deeply scratched at this side, thus accounting for the markings usually found on the type III stamps from reliefs 2, 3 and 4. These scratches are much deeper and entirely unlike the erasure markings noted on the type III stamps with the side ornaments unaltered. The scratch-like markings show most clearly on the earlier printings but persist until plates 7, 8, 9, 10 went out of use and traces of them can be found on many of the later printings even when these plates show signs of much wear.

The plate 7 8-9-10 stamps occur in a wide range of shade. They are seldom so light as the early printings from plate 1 imperforate, but will sometimes be found fully as dark as any of the printings from plate 2 or plate 3. Probably because they have been so common they have never been "taken seriously", so to speak, yet if they had been studied more, and more carefully, when they were obtainable at wholesale, the present knowledge of the plates and the stamps of the 1857-60 series would have been obtained years ago, for it appears that the key to an understanding of the construction of these plates lies in these, the commonest and least prized of all the 1c stamps used between 1851 and 1861. The writer is no less guilty of a lack of proper appreciation of them than is any other lover of U. S. stamps.

Plate No. 11.

This plate was probably made in 1860 and evidently was not used very much. Little is known about it. Dr. Chase has said it was made from a transfer having two reliefs, but the writer has seen a vertical strip from the first, second and third rows and all three of the stamps are so different they could hardly have come from only two reliefs. The stamps are type II and resemble printings from the last plate—No. 12. The side ornaments are complete and no copies seen showed any trace of the ball shaped scrolls at the bottom. The stamps in the top row have the design absolutely complete at the top and but slightly trimmed at the bottom. Those in the second row are similarly trimmed at the bottom and the top ornaments are also slightly trimmed. In addition, the outer arc at the top has been extensively cut away. The stamps in the third row are much like those in the first and second rows at the bottom but the upper arc is not cut away so much as on the stamps in the second row.

Plate No. 11 may have been one of the last made from a six relief transfer or one of the first made like the 30c and 90c—with a transfer having three or four reliefs. In the latter event it belongs with the plates last used for the 1857-60 series and is to be distinguished from the preceding plates by having been produced from a transfer having less than six reliefs. For many years to come, no doubt philatelic writers will speculate upon the reasons for the use of so many different kinds of multiple transfers on the plates of this series and upon the reasons for the changes from two reliefs to six and then back again to four and two. A five relief transfer used twice in each vertical row would have been, so it seems, exactly what was required and yet, of all the combinations actually used, that one, apparently the simplest, was not used at all.

Stamps from plate No. 11 and the following plate, like the perforated stamps from plate No. 1, are most unsatisfactory to collect. The design is too tall for the spacing of the perforations and it is hardly possible to find specimens which the perforations do not injure. Usually the top or the bottom of the design is cut into, but if the stamp is perfectly centered then both the top and the bottom of the design will be affected.

(To be concluded.)

TOBAGO.—The most southerly of the Windward islands belonging to Great Britain. Postage stamps were first issued on August 1st, 1879. After 1896 Trinidad stamps were used in Tobago until 1913 when a set appeared bearing the names of both islands.

TOGA.—The native equivalent for Tonga as shown upon the stamps issued for that island in 1897.

TOGO.—An erstwhile colony of the Germans in West Africa which was captured by an Anglo-French force in August, 1914. Postage stamps under German administration were first issued in 1897. Upon the capture of the territory by the French and British the German stamps found there were suitably overprinted.

TOLIMA.—A department of the republic of Colombia. Postage stamps were first issued in 1870.

TOMAN.—The unit of value in Persia. A toman consists of 10 krans and has a nominal worth of about 78c in American money.

TONED PAPER.—This is paper having a more or less pronounced yellow or brownish tinge of color in it without being sufficiently colored to be distinctly yellow or brown.

TONGA.—A group of islands in the southern Pacific which have, since 1899, been recognised as practically a British dependency. Postage stamps were first issued in 1886.

T.-L.—These letters, together with the date, "1 June 1899", were overprinted on the 1d stamp of Tonga of the 1897 issue to mark the marriage of the King. This event took place on the date noted in the overprint, the letters "T-L" being the initials of the names of the King and his bride, viz.:—"Taufa 'ahau—Lavinia".

TONGS, STAMP.—Metal accessories for holding stamps with to prevent the possibility of soiling by the too frequent use of the owner's fingers.

TOO LATE.—The inscription shown upon the Too-late stamps of Victoria.

TOO LATE STAMPS. — Special stamps issued by some countries for the payment of the extra fee demanded for the inclusion of correspondence in a certain mail after the usual hour of posting has passed.

TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.—A Philadelphia firm of printers who engraved and printed the 1851-60 stamps for the United States government.

TORNESE (plural "Tornesi").—The value shown upon some of the stamps of Naples and the Neapolitan Provinces. Three hundred tornesi were equal to a ducat and a tornese was worth a trifle less than a third of a cent in United States currency.

TOSCANO.—The Italian rendering of Tuscany as shown upon the stamps of that state.

TOTOGI G'TOHI.—An inscription shown on most of the current stamps of Tonga signifying, literally, "postage paid".

T. R.—An overprint found upon certain South Australian stamps used during the period 1864-78 upon the correspondence of the department dealing with Titles Registration. These stamps were superseded in 1874 by the general departmental issue overprinted "OS".

TOUGHRA.—(See "Tughra".)

TRANGKA.—The value in which the stamps of Thibet are expressed. A trangka is equal to 6 annas and therefore has a value of 12c in American currency.

TRANSACCIONES.—This word appears on the revenue stamps of Bolivia which were allowed to be used for postage in 1893. It means "transactions" and of course refers to a stamp duty payable on certain business transactions.

TRANSACCIONES SOCIALES.—Appears on the 1871 postal fiscal stamps of Bolivia and means "social transactions".

TRANSITORIA.—This word appears on some of the provisional stamps issued in Mexico in 1913. It means, literally, "in transit", and refers to the transitory or temporary nature of the stamps.

TRANSITO TERRITORIAL. — An overprint shown on certain stamps at Salvador in 1899 meaning, literally, "territorial transit". They were used on letters sent by a transcontinental route via Zacapa.

TRANSVAAL.—A British colony in south-east Africa. It issued its first postage stamps, under Boer authority, in 1869 but since 1913 its special series has been superseded by the issue for the Union of South Africa.

TRANSVRAL ERROR. — A famous error of spelling for "Transvaal" found among the overprinted stamps of 1877.

TRAVANCORE.—A protected state in the extreme south of India. Postage stamps were first issued in 1888.

TREASURY.—Appears on the departmental stamps of the United States issues in 1873 for the use of the Treasury Department.

TREBIZONDE.—A seaport in Asiatic Turkey for which the Russian government issued special stamps in 1909-10.

TRENGGANU.—A town on the eastern coast of the Malay Peninsula which has been under British protection since 1910 and in that year issued a series of postage stamps of its own.

TRESSE.—A circular or oval device on the flap of an envelope in which the lines are shown in relief instead of in recess as in a rosace.

TRICENTARIO CABO FRIO.—Appears on the special stamps issued in Brazil in November, 1915, to commemorate the tercentenary of the discovery of Cape Frio.

TRINIDAD.—The most southerly of the British West Indian islands. Postage stamps were first issued on April 11th, 1851.

TRINIDAD & TOBAGO.—The stamps issued for the combined use of the islands of Trinidad and Tobago since 1913 have been inscribed in this manner.

TRINIDAD, PRINCIPALITY OF.—(See "Principalite de Trinidad".)

TRIPOLI.—One of the seaports of Syria at which Italy maintains a consular post office and at which stamps overprinted "Tripoli di Barberia" are used.

TRIALS.—These are impressions from die, plate or stone, etc., taken to ascertain if the design is correct or to assist in the selection of a suitable color.

TORRES STRAITS.—Stamps bearing this name are occasionally met with but such varieties are entirely bogus.

TRUNCATED STAR.—A small star watermark with broad projections found in connection with the 1868-74 stamps of Queensland.

TSINGTAU.—The foreign settlement of the town of Kiautschou at which the first stamps for Kiautschou were issued in 1900.

TUGHRA.—(French form "Toughra"). The cypher of the Sultan in an ornamental shape, used for heading decrees, on coins, stamps and government buildings, where other governments use the "coat-of-arms". It contains the name of the Sultan and of his father, with the title Khan and the epithet El muzaffar daima meaning "the ever victorious".

TULCAN.—A province of Ecuador in which all the stamps issued in 1902 were provided with a special control mark for the reason explained under "Guayas".

TUMACO.—A port in the republic of Colombia at which special type-set stamps were issued in 1901.

TUNGURAGUA.—A province of Ecuador which marked all stamps issued in 1902 with a dictinctive control device for the reason explained under Guayas.

TUNIS.—A French protectorate of north Africa covering an area of some 45,000 square miles. Postage stamps were first issued in July, 1888.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

TUNISE.—The name shown on all the stamps of Tunis issued since 1906.

TURKESTAN, CHINESE.—A vast region in central Asia subject to China. Owing to differences in currency values, the Chinese stamps used in this territory since 1911 have been distinctively overprinted in native characters.

TURKEY.—The Ottoman Empire, or Turkey, issued its first postage stamps in 1863.

TURKS ISLANDS.—The name under which all the stamps for use in the Turks and Caicos Islands which appeared prior to 1900 were issued.

TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS.—A group of British Islands in the West Indies belonging geographically to the Bahamas but annexed to the government of Jamaica in 1873. The first stamps were issued in 1867 and from that date until 1900 they were inscribed "Turks Islands" only. In the last named year a new set made its appearance giving the name of the colony in full.

TUSCANY.—An Italian province. Postage stamps were first issued on April 1st, 1851. Ten years later these were superseded by the stamps of Sardinia which were, in turn, replaced by the issues for the kingdom of Italy in 1862.

TWEEZERS.—(See "Stamp Tongs".)

TYPE.—A word used generally to mean the design of a stamp but it may also have a more special sense. Thus, if two stamps are described as being of the same type it would mean that the design of both is identical, though they may differ as regards value, paper, color, perforation, etc. Where slight changes have been made the stamps may be said to be of similar type or of the same design but different type meaning that the design has been slightly redrawn or re-engraved.

II. The kind of printer's type used in making an overprint or in which the inscriptions on a stamp are engraved. Such of these as come within the philatelist's ken are lsted under separate headings—Roman, sans-serif type, etc.

TYPESET.—Made up from movable types. Applied principally to designs formed of printer's type and plain or ornamental borders, such as are found in most printing offices, but applicable also to any design made up of separate parts, instead of being all in one piece.

TYPE-WRITTEN.—The exceedingly crude labels which did duty as postage stamps in the Uganda Protectorate from March, 1895, until November, 1896, were produced by means of an ordinary typewriter. On at least one other occasion the typewriter of commerce has been requisitioned in stamp production, for the words "Half-Penny" applied to certain stamps of Tonga in 1896 were overprinted by one of these machines.

TYPOGRAPHY. — Probably more stamps have been produced by typography or surface-printing than by any other process. This method is the exact antithesis of line-engraving, for the lines on the plate are raised instead of being in recess, thus resembling the printer's type from which books, etc., are printed (hence the terms "typography" and "typographed"). In engraving the original die the lines of the design are made to appear in relief (French, en epargne) and from this original as many reproductions as are necessary are made either by stereotyping or electrotyping.

If stereotyping is the method employed the required number of casts or impressions are taken in plaster of Paris or papier-maché. These when hard are used as moulds for making casts in metal which are either clamped together or fixed to a backing of some kind to form the printing plate.

For electrotyping, which is the method more generally employed, the impressions from the original die are made in lead, wax, gutta percha, or other suitable medium and upon this a thin film of copper is deposited by means of a galvanic battery. These "shells" are then backed with type-metal and mounted on a block which now forms the printing plate.

The terms stereos and electros, so frequently met with, are merely abbreviations for stereotypes and electrotypes.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN.

Eric Verrill, army lieutenant, who resided at a prominent hotel in Hartford, Conn., until his arrest Aug. 9. for defrauding the Federal Government and banks out of $63,000 by cashing fraudulent army checks, was sentenced to serve six years at Atlanta Oct. 24. Verrill testified after pleading guilty that he had spent about $14,000 on his collection in eight months.

Soon after arrest his stamp collection and other property were attached by the U. S. Secret Service Agents and is now in the custody of the U. S. Marshall in Hartford. A New York firm had permitted Verrill to take with him an unusually valuable approval selection after numerous substantial cash purchases and the return of other selections. The stamps consisted exclusively of British Colonies, nearly all 19th Century mounted on blue quadrilled pages in booklets. Verrill had made selections from all of them but the booklets are not among the stamps in the custody of the marshall and have not been found. Anyone giving any information will kindly communicate with H. M. Levy, 2 Rector St., New York. A reward is offered.

PRECANCELLED STAMPS OF THE U. S.

By C. W. Herman, M. D.

The term precancel is used to designate such stamps as have been cancelled in sheets or parts of sheets and then separated and affixed to 2nd, 3rd, and 4th class mail. According to the Post Office Department no other method of cancelling may be considered precancelled. The object of precancelling is to save time by cancelling an entire sheet at once. The post office department uses the spelling "precanceled" but in the philatelic press the customary form is "precancelled".

There are many ways of precancelling stamps. One of the first methods of cancelling was accomplished by drawing a line with a pen across the center of each stamp. In this manner an entire row of stamps was cancelled at one time. It will be seen that many varieties would result from this method. Straight lines and wavy lines were used, as were diagonal ones. During this early period, a common ruling pen was used, making lines from ½ mm. to 2 mm. in width. Another well known form of cancelling of this period was that made with a carved cork or other soft wood.

A short time later the Post Office Department discovered that many of the precancelled stamps were being cleaned and used again. To guard against this practice, postmasters began using the so-called "paint brush" cancellation. This consisted of a thick blurred line ranging from 2 mm. to 6 mm. in width. In many cases a greased pencil or a crayon was used. This type usually occurs on the postage dues.

As the demand for precancelled became greater, postmasters began to use rubber stamps of many designs. These included stars, lines, targets and gridirons of different kinds. As the demand still grew, electrotypes and plates came into use. In this way an entire sheet of stamps could be cancelled with one revolution of the press. In order to avoid the expense of a press and printing, some postmasters secured rollers made of rubber, and an impression was made by rolling the same over a sheet of stamps. These roller stamps were used particularly at Christmas time when only a few stamps of each denomination were needed. The first impression of the roller was usually clear, but after using for some time the type had a tendency to spread, producing a blurred impression. This cancellation is still in use. In numerous instances a small printing press has been used.

A printed cancellation was first used by the Burlington, Vt., Post Office. It conformed to the official notice of the government issued in 1901, that each stamp must bear the name of the city and state, with a heavy line printed above and below the name, in the government ink. At present, many types of this printed cancellation are used, conforming to the original notice only as far as city and state are concerned.

Another type commonly used to-day is the oval "Office Killer" used on postage dues and the higher values.

Many colors of ink have been used, among them being black, blue, red, purple, magenta, green, violet, gray, brown and also gray-black paint. The regulation ink used by the goverment, however, is a gray-black.

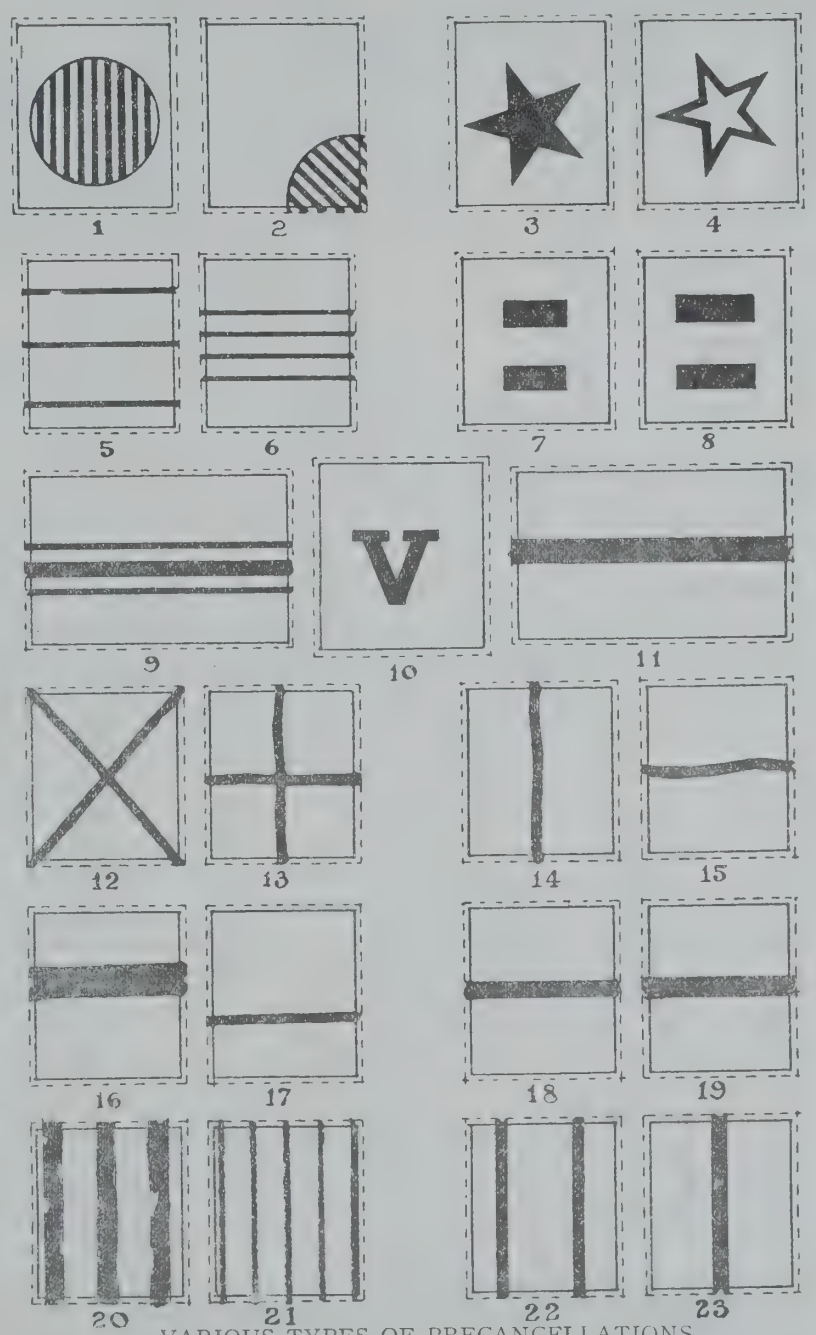
The first precancels known are on the 5c and 10c 1847. Many of the pen cancelled stamps found to-day are in reality precancels. Without a doubt many other types were also used.

Dr. Carroll Chase has the honor of discovering stamps precancelled 1847. In his article in the Philatelic Gazette he gives the following description: A folded letter-sheet postmarked Wheeling, Va., (now W. Va.) and the letter headed Wheeling, Decr. 7, 1847. This letter-sheet was addressed to "Geo. W. Carpenter, Esq., No. 301 Market St., Philadelphia." In the lower left corner of the face of the cover is written the word PAID. This was probably written by the Postmaster. At the top is written in the same ink and the same handwriting as the address "Charge No. 318"—the No. 318 being under the stamp. The cover is postmarked in blue "Wheeling, Va., Dec. 8" and the stamp, a 10 cent



VARIOUS TYPES OF PRECANCELLATIONS.

1847, is cancelled in a gridiron in the same blue, hitting both stamp and cover. In addition the lower left corner of the stamp shows one quarter of a red gridiron that was evidently applied before putting the stamp on the cover. (See figure 2).

Besides this, Dr. Chase has two copies of the 5c 1847 off cover, one of which is cancelled exactly as the 10c described above and the other which is cancelled with a blue "PAID" and the quarter of the red gridiron in one corner. The colors of the cancellations on all three stamps are the same.

Dr. Chase explains the precancellation in the following manner: "The Postmaster at Wheeling, Va., cancelled the 1847 stamps of both values with red ink in sheets by hitting each block of four on the sheet once in the center, so that about one quarter of a red gridiron showed on each stamp. Then when letters were posted with the instruction to charge the postal fee to the account of such and such a post office box-holder (this was a common custom) he cut these precancelled stamps from the sheet and applied them to the letters, after which they took their usual course thru the mail. One reason for doing this may have been to identify such letters anytime before they left his office. It is easy to picture the postmaster going thru the mail before it left and counting letters so stamped to see if his accounts were correct. I might add that my three copies came from widely different sources and that I believe them authentic in every way."

The above description coming from such a source, needs no comment. Dr. Chase is one of the best known authorities on cancellations.

In 1867, James Vick (now Jas. Vick & Sons) of Rochester, N. Y., cancelled the 2c black of that year. The stamps were cancelled with a circular target cancellation and specimens on cover may be found in most of the older precancel collections. A black ink was used. Jas. Vick and Sons used the stamps in sending out their seed catalogs.

Jefferson, Ohio, is reported to have cancelled the 2c brown of 1869 and the 1c blue of 1873. Very little is known of either one of these stamps.

The first precancelled stamp printed to comply with the Post Office Department regulations (issued in 1901) was the 1c, 1882, issued at Burlington, Vt. This printed cancellation consisted of the name of the town and the state, reading either up or down.

Glastonbury, Conn., used a large hand stamped capital G. This letter was 12½ mm. high and 2 mm. thick. It is reported this latter was used by the Williams Shaving Soap Co.

Precancels came into use in many cities in the period between 1890 and 1895. Among the cities using them at this time were Boston, Mass., Salem, Mass., Chicago, Ill., and Brockport, N. Y., also Akron, Ohio. Many cities and towns started using the issue of 1898, and in order to comply with the Post Office regulation regarding dating stamps they recorded the month and the year and the city and state. This was supposed to represent the common office cancellation. Many precancelled stamps had been reused on packages and the Postmasters were of the opinion that dating the stamps would put a stop to this procedure.

THE IRON CITY PERCUSSION MATCH STAMPS.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Griggs & Scott.

The Pittsburgh directories for 1862-64 list Andrew J. Griggs and Chas. R. Griggs as match manufacturers at 33 Strawberry Alley doing business as A. J. Griggs & Bro. In the directories for 1865-69 the firm is listed as Griggs & Scott, consisting of Andrew J. Griggs and Graham Scott, at the same location. The address sometimes appears as 7th and Grant, or as Strawberry Alley near Grant. From 1869 to 1873 the firm consisted solely of Mr. A. J. Griggs, who does not appear in the directories after 1872-73 except as a marble cutter in 1874-75. The name Iron City Match Works is used in connection with the business in 1871-72, 1875-76 and 1877-78.

The directories for 1871-73 list Mr. Geo. W. Davis who is probably the Geo. W. H. Davis listed as a match manufacturer at Strawberry Alley or Grant and 7th Avenue from 1873 to 1878. In 1873-74 the firm appears as Davis & Co. Thereafter it is always G. W. H. Davis & Co. until 1878-79 when the business appears to have ceased for several years.

Regarding the stamp used by all these firms until August, 1875, the Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, Sept. 8, 1864.
First issued, Oct., 1864.
Last issued, Aug., 1875.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).
19,960,000 issued on old paper.
11,067,000 issued on silk paper.

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size and is one of the early Butler & Carpenter productions. Enclosed in a circle is a portrait of Mr. Griggs with "Iron City" above and "Percussion Matches" below. "Griggs & Scott" appears at the left, "Pittsburgh, Pa." at the right and "One Cent" at the bottom, with the numeral "1" in each lower corner. All were printed in black.

The stamps on old paper were used by Griggs & Scott and by A. J. Griggs; those on silk paper were used by A. J. Griggs and by Davis. They are sometimes found with printed cancellation or surcharge in red in three lines:—

(a)	(b)
A. J. G.	D & CO
Apr 3	Jan 6
1871	1874

The overprint (a) has been noted on both old and silk paper with various dates in 1871—(b) is noted only on silk paper with dates in 1873 and 1874. Inverted and double surcharges are known. As copies quite certainly used occur both with and without the overprints it is not possible to state whether the overprint is a surcharge, changing the firm name, or is merely a cancellation.

G. W. H. Davis.

This stamp is altered from the Griggs & Scott die by changing the firm name at the left to read G. W. H. Davis. It was first printed in black by the National Bank Note Co., and as the black stamp is known to exist only on silk paper it probably went out of use before 1879 and exists only as a National print.

The Boston Book states as follows:

Die approved, Oct. 18, 1875.
First issued, Nov., 1875.
Last issued, Jan. 26, 1883.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
1,932,000 issued in black on silk paper.
752,000 issued in carmine on wmk'd paper.

The black Davis exists surcharged or cancelled with an overprint similar to the "b" overprint found on the Griggs & Scott stamp. Copies noted were all dated in 1876 and occur in red, in black and inverted. The red Davis has not been noted with an overprint. The writer believes it was not issued until 1882 or 1883 and was printed only by the Bureau.

Neither Davis, the Iron City Match Works nor any other match concern appears in the Pittsburgh directories from 1879 to 1882, but the directory for 1882-83 lists the Iron City Match Co. at 2500 Jane St. Other information about this concern is lacking but it may be a new firm which purchased the Davis die and used the red stamp. The red stamps are frequently creased, no doubt from having been folded over the edge of the box so that it could not be opened without breaking the stamp. Used in this way it was unnecessary to cancel them.

Oct. 21, 1919.

The society held it regular meeting this evening with Pres. Dunning presiding. Only such business as had to be attended to was transacted as there was such a wealth of entertainment. Mr. Kenneth W. Robie was elected to junior membership and the following names were posted to be voted upon at the November meeting: Messrs. Otto Haker, Clifford D. Harvey, M. D., James B. B. Smith (formerly treasurer of the society), Ernest B. Landin, Dr. Joseph A. Frazier, Jean S. Boyle, Frank I. Morse, H. E. Harris, and Selim Strandberg.

There were 15 members of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society at the meeting, the total attendance at which was 70. Most of the Rhode Island boys came over the road in autos and about half of them dined informally with about ten of our own members at the Hayward. As the secretary wrote me, they came up to see that their president, Mr. A. B. Slater and Mr. R. S. Emerson carried out their part of the program properly, and they certainly did. Mr. Slater was obliged to leave early and consequently had only time to show his "Providence" stamps and the many illustrations connected with their history. He talked for about 40 minutes as he turned the pages of his interesting album and held the attention of everyone in the room. The subject is an interesting one and when put before you by one so thoroughly familiar with it is doubly so.

An auction was held after Mr. Slater had finished and Mr. Emerson was then introduced. He first showed the 1847's belonging to Mr. Slater, calling attention to some of the particularly fine specimens. He then opened his own collection and exhibited the finest lot of these stamps that we are ever likely to see. It was well along towards ten o'clock when he finished and there was not the slightest abatement of interest on the part of those assembled. The entertainment was voted to be a great success and a vote of thanks was given to both the gentlemen for their kindness in coming.

At the November meeting there will be a competitive exhibition of the stamps of Newfoundland for medals offered by Mr. Daniel F. Kelleher.

STAMPS OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER III.—The Pence Issue.

The instructions issued for the guidance of postmasters in 1860 provide for a number of different rates ranging from 1d upwards, yet the first series of stamps comprised but three values—2d, 3d and 6d—which hardly tended to the encouragement of the prepayment of postal charges by means of stamps then ardently desired in official circles. The three stamps were placed on sale on January 1st, 1861, shortly after the publication of a notice in the official Royal Gazette worded as follows:—

"POSTAGE STAMPS.

The public are hereby informed that stamps for the prepayment of letters and packets to be sent by post will, on the 1st of January, 1861, be ready for circulation. The design, colour, and value of each class of stamps are as follows:—

The Queen's Head, profile, green, Six Pence.

The Queen's Head, profile, blue, Three Pence.

The Queen's Head, profile, red, Two Pence.

The blue or red stamp will be received for payment of half the sum it indicates if cut in two diagonally.

These stamps can be had at the General Post-office, Charlottetown, and of all postmasters on the Island.

(Signed) L. C. OWEN,
Postmaster-General.

General Post-office,
December 26th, 1860."

The inadequacy of the series for general postal needs was admitted even before their issue by the authorisation of the bisection of the two lower values.

These three values were followed about a year later by 1d and 9d denominations. The exact date of issue of these two new values is unknown, but dated letters show they were probably on sale quite early in 1862. The necessity for 1d stamps was obvious from the fact that the 2d was allowed to be bisected and a warrant issued in March, 1862, would seem to have been in payment for the new 1d and 9d values for, as Mr. King points out, it is hardly probable new supplies of the 2d, 3d and 6d would have been required at that early date. The 1d value has the Queen's portrait on a background similar to the spandrel ornamentation of the values described above, only with the short lines horizontal instead of vertical. The inscriptions are on the border in the shape of an upright rectangle with rounded corners, while the angles are filled with small floriate ornaments. The head on the 9d is on a similar ground with the inscriptions extending around three sides on a scalloped ribbon. At the base is a wide tablet bearing the inscription NINEPENCE CURRENCY EQUAL TO SIXPENCE STG in uncolored letters on a solid ground.

Later still, a 4d value was added to the series. The date of issue is not known exactly, but the value was probably on sale late in March or early in April, 1869. It is generally inferred that this value was issued to meet the new postal rate to the United States which went into effect on November 1st, 1868. Mr. King heard of a copy on cover postmarked November 29th, 1867, and was inclined to believe from the evidence of a payment warrant that this value might have been issued in 1867; Scott's catalogue gives the date of issue as "1868-70"; while Gibbons' includes it in two series dated "1863-65" and "1867-8" respectively. Reference to the Stamp Collector's Magazine of the period—a journal which made a feature of the listing of new stamps—proves beyond question that this stamp could not have been issued until 1869. In the February number in that year mention is made of a letter from the postmaster stating "that

United States Stamps
AT BARGAIN PRICES.

It is almost impossible to obtain fine copies of United States stamps, consequently most collectors content themselves with second grade copies as space fillers.
To meet this demand we have put up some of the higher grade United States stamps in packets, which we offer at a very liberal discount from catalogue. Only stamps of a better grade are included—no revenues or envelopes, unless so desired. Included in these packets will be found the '57 and '69 issues, also dollar Columbians, the 7c, 24c and 90c 1870-88 stamps, etc. No two packets exactly alike and no duplicates in any package.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

a new stamp, value fourpence, was in preparation, and would be issued in a few weeks", while in the May number the new stamp is described as follows:—

"The expected fourpence has appeared. It is a common-looking stamp, so common, indeed, that an inexperienced amateur might well be excused for suspecting it to be a forgery. The old portrait is made to serve again. It is surrounded by two scrolls inscribed PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND POSTAGE, and another scroll below the portrait bears the value in words; the sides are occupied with a kind of diamond ornament. The colour (in the words of our New England contemporary, who was the first to describe it) is "Black, not deep-black, nor light-black, nor yet gray-black, but just simply black, without qualification."

Specimens of this value must have reached England some time in April to have been included in the May chronicle of the above named journal so that, as we stated above, it was probably issued early in that month or late in March.

All six stamps of this series were printed by Mr. Charles Whiting, of Beaufort House, Strand, London. They are so unattractive looking compared with other British North American stamps that the supposition they were "cheap lithographs" in the eyes of the earlier stamp chronicles is not altogether unwarranted. That they were cheap is borne out by the fact that the earliest supplies were printed at the very low cost of three shillings sterling per 1000 stamps (with no charge for dies and plates) while later on Mr. Whiting's charge was only 2s per 1000. So far as cost of production was concerned they were much the most economical of any of the provincial stamps.

The presumption that they were produced by lithography was very general until 1892 when among the effects of the successors in business of Mr. Whiting some dies and plates of the Prince Edward Island stamps were found proving that the method employed in printing them was the electrotype process. In the London Philatelist for January, 1893, and later, is an interesting article from the pen of Mr. J. A. Tilleard describing the discovery of this philatelic treasure trove together with a dissertation on the stamps themselves. Mr. Tilleard describes the dies and plates as follows:—

"They consisted of the completed dies of the 1d, 2d, 3d and 9d, and of the 1 cent, 3 cents, 4 cents and 6 cents stamp. With them were found an engraving on wood of the head employed for the cents issue, and a reproduction on copper of the same, and also a metal plate of the head used for the pence stamps. In addition to these there was an engraving on brass of a stamp, finished with the exception of the inscription, in form similar to the 3d stamp, although the details of the background are not the same. As the head also varies in several small particulars, I should imagine this was probably prepared before the stamp as issued was finally decided upon, and was not adopted.

The electrotype plates were those of the 2d, 4d, 3 cents and 12 cents, and, in the case of the 3 cents, there were parts of impressions in red and in black pasted on the back of the wooden block. The 2d plate measures 6 by 8¼ inches, and consists of sixty stamps in 6 horizontal rows of ten, the 4d plate measuring 6 by 4½ inches and having 30 stamps in 6 horizontal rows of five. The 3 cents plate measures 10 by 4 5/16 inches, and contains 10 vertical rows of 5 stamps, while that of the 12 cents measures 5 by 8¾ inches, and has 5 horizontal rows of 10."

It is interesting to note in passing that these dies and plates were acquired for the Royal Philatelic Society so that there is no danger of illicit reprints being made at any time. We should also mention that Mr. Tilleard's article is accompanied by a number of particularly interesting impressions made directly from the dies and plates, these impressions showing that the designs themselves were not altogether devoid of merit and that the poorness of the appearance of the issued stamps is due entirely to the cheap method of printing and paper employed.

The 2d denomination was printed in sheets of sixty stamps in six horizontal rows of ten each while all five of the other denominations were printed in small sheets of thirty, arranged in six horizontal rows of five each.

The stamps abound in minor varieties, such as uncolored dots between certain letters, imperfect letters, etc., but as most of these seem to be due to nothing but poor printing and not to inherent defects in the plates, their philatelic importance is not of a very high order.

The first supply sent to the Island, consisting of 2d, 3d, and 6d, had a large perforation gauging 9 which all catalogues recognise as a distinctive variety. Later, supplies were printed on two sorts of papers and with different perforations, the study of which is quite interesting. These are all lumped together in Scott's catalogue as "perf. 11, 11½, and 12 and compound"—a most unilluminating description, and are also erroneously ascribed as having been issued in 1865, whereas the 1d and 9d were issued in 1862. While much has been written of recent years regarding the paper and perforation varieties, frequently as though the writers were imparting entirely new information, it is worthy of note that as far back as 1868 a writer in the Stamp Collector's Magazine accurately described the chief groups into which the stamps are properly classified.

The first series with the large 9 perforation were printed on a yellowish toned paper and the 2d is the only value that provides any variation in shade. The perforation was very unsuitable as the stamps would not separate easily. In many cases they were cut apart with scissors and when they were separated in the normal way the stamps were usually damaged. In fact perfect copies with all the perforations intact, are extremely rare. Mr. King lists the 2d of this issue as existing imperforate horizontally and also vertically. Gibbons' lists a variety as "Imperf. between pair" but this is probably one of the varieties described by Mr. King.

The second supply sent to the Island consisted of the 1d and 9d stamps only and these were also printed on yellowish toned paper but were perforated 11. The 1d varies but slightly in shade but the 9d, like most purple stamps, provides shade varieties. These stamps were issued in 1862.

Later supplies—there are no records of the number of these or the dates they were received in the Island, and Mr. King's deductions made from the payment warrants issued from time to time are highly theoretical—probably dating from 1863 or 1864 until the time of the issue of the 4d value in 1869 were also on yellowish wove paper. These were perforated by a single-line machine having a gauge best described as "11½-12" and all values provide shades. The 1d varies from yellow to orange-buff, the 6d from yellow-green to blue-green, the 9d from lilac to reddish mauve, while the 2d, 3d and 4d show various tints from pale to deep.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

UNITED STATES 1c 1857-60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

PLATE No. 12.

This plate also was probably made in 1860 and on account of having been in use only about one year stamps from it are not common. The transfer from which it was made bore two reliefs, one of which shows the complete design of the stamp with full ornaments at top, bottom and sides and is therefore a perfect type I. The other relief was also complete at the top and sides, but is trimmed somewhat at the bottom and the stamps are type II. The plume-like ornaments in the lower corners are trimmed slightly more than on the reliefs of plate No. 11 noted and there are no traces of the ball shaped ornaments below the lower arc. Perhaps 90% of the perforated type I stamps come from this plate and so far as the writer knows, they are the only perforated type I stamps which have the design complete.

The color is quite uniform, being a dull blue, and the surface of the paper is often decidedly bluish, either from poor wiping of the plate or because the plate was used so little the pores in the surface of the steel retained a little of the ink, as new plates sometimes do.

Dr. Chase gives the arrangement of the types in the horizontal rows on the right pane of the sheet as follows:—

Row 1	Relief B	Type II
Row 2	Relief B	Type II
Row 3	Relief A	Type I
Row 4	Relief B	Type II
Row 5	Relief A	Type I
Row 6	Relief B	Type II
Row 7	Relief A ?	Type I ?
Row 8	Relief B ?	Type II ?
Row 9	Relief A	Type I
Row 10	Relief A	Type I

The arrangement of the left pane is given from the writer's own notes; the missing positions in most cases probably being the same types as occur in the same rows of the right pane:—

Row 1—	?	?	B	B	B	B	B	B	B	B
Row 2—	?	B	B	B	B	B	B	B	B	B
Row 3—	?	A	A	A	A	A	A	A	A	A
Row 4—	?	B	B	B	B	B	A	B	B	B
Row 5—	?	A	A	A	A	A	B	A	A	A
Row 6—	?	B	A	B	A	A	A	B	B	B
Row 7—	?	A	B	A	B	B	B	A	A	A
Row 8—	?	A	A	B	A	A	A	A	B	B
Row 9—	?	B	B	A	B	B	B	A	A	A
Row 10—	?	A	A	A	A	A	A	A	A	A

One of the most peculiar features of this arrangement is that the number of times each relief occurs in each vertical row appears to be just the same in each pane. The regular arrangement in the right pane and the very irregular arrangement in the left pane give exactly the same result— there are just five subjects from each relief in each vertical row. Whether this was intentional or was merely a coincidence the writer is at loss to say. The reader will also note that each "error" or misplaced transfer is corrected by a similar error of the other relief in the next horizontal row, and the correction is always made in the same vertical row. The 9th horizontal row is an "A" row containing five misplaced B reliefs. The 8th row is a "B" row and in it we find five A reliefs similarly misplaced. The same sort of "errors" occur in the 7th and 6th and the 5th and 4th rows. Whatever may have been the reason for this regular irregularity it is quite evident that the Type II stamps from plate No. 1 should be just as rare as the highly prized type I stamps from this plate. As a matter of fact, however, the plate 12 stamps collectible as type I, are four or five times as scarce as the others. This is because many of the type I stamps are so injured by the perforations that they do not show the full design at the bottom and with such specimens it is not possible to determine from which relief they come.

JAPANESE AIR MAIL.

Our esteemed friend R. Yokohori of Tokyo has favored us with the particulars of air-mail development in his country. From the letter received we are able to extract the following particulars:—

"I am very glad to inform you that the first aerial mail service in Japan was attempted October 4 by two aeronauts, Messrs. Mizuta and Yamagata, between the cities of Tokyo and Osaka, a distance of about 400 miles, under the auspices of the Empire Aeronautical Society and with the co-operation of the Department of Communications of Japan. One aeroplane was forced to return on account of a dense fog and the other machine could not fly because of an accident. However, from the standpoint of the Department of Communications, the flight was a notable attempt, in that two special stamps were issued, the current 1½ sen red surcharged in red with an aeroplane and the 3 sen red similarly surcharged with an aeroplane in blue. The flight has now been postponed indefinitely on account of the long continued bad weather, and the aerial mail matter loaded upon the aeroplanes has been sent to its destinations by train. Thus our first aerial mail service, looked forward to with keen anticipation, came to an end in failure. I don't want to say more regarding this offensive situation, but will give you the rules governing the proposed flight."

We cannot take the space to quote these rules, but think the following additional matter by Mr. Yokohori will be of interest:—

"From the first we did not expect special stamps for this service, and we were astonished to find it stated in the newspapers that special stamps would be issued on the day of the flight. I believe there were only 100,000 issued of each value. Anyway, it was difficult to buy them in quantity. I believe their market price will never be cheap, for some stamp dealers in Tokyo are advertising to buy them at about five times face value."

U. S. ENVELOPES

I have just purchased the finest collection of cut square envelopes in the U. S. It contains not only every Scott number from 2301, but more than 25 paper varieties that are not in Scott's lists—many of these are far more worthy of a catalog number than items like 7c Plimpton white and 1c and 2c Die A, cream white, which exist only cut square, while such stamps as 3c Reay in brown are on regular entire envelopes!

I have no need to list what I have as today I have them all!—including 1874 Die C, fawn, unused! Also War complete; P. O. complete.

NEW ISSUE NOTES.

By CHARLES S. THOMPSON.

AUSTRALIA.—A. compound envelope, George type, ½d green x 1d red, has been in use for some time.

AUSTRIA.—Fieldpost, fourth issue. Surface prints, portrait of Charles, "K. U. K. Feldpost" top, numerals in ovals in lower corners. Remainder of design consists of foliate ornaments.

The full set is said to consist of 20 values, but I have received only the following, which have also been surcharged for use in Italy, the surcharged value appearing in the tabulation in parentheses.

1h (2c) blue-gr.	30h (32c) yellow.
2h (3c) orange.	45h (48c) indigo.
3h (4c) olive.	50h (53c) green.
5h (6c) green.	60h (64c) violet.
10h (11c) brown.	80h (85c) red.
20h (22c) red-or.	90h (95c) blk.-violet.
25h (27c) dk. blue.

Whether the higher values are engraved, or if the stamps were surcharged in "bani" for use in Roumania I have been unable to learn. At any rate, these stamps are very inferior productions, judged by the standard of the first sets of field-post stamps.

BELGIUM.—A new 25c stamp has made its appearance. It pictures a monument at Liege, and the stamp was first placed on sale in that city.

BOSNIA.—The newspaper stamps of 1913 have been perforated and sold as regular postage stamps, as letters franked with them indicate. There are two styles of puncture, the regular variety, and the sewing-machine type.

BULGARIA.—Two new stamps, surface prints, have appeared. These are of very poor workmanship, and picture Prince Boris. One received on cover addressed to Los Angeles bears cancellation date of June 16, 1919.

The portrait of the prince appears in a circle with horizontally-lined background, "Tzarstvo Belgareya" (Bulgarian Empire) at top, "Stotenke" at bottom, and numerals of value in lower corners. The date 3. X. 1918 appears above portrait in spandrels below top inscription.

CROATIA.—November 29, 1918, a "jubilee" issue appeared, and these were apparently the first stamps to be issued in Croatia after the armistice. Four values, produced by lithography, constitute the set. The design is not well drawn, but appears to depict a naked woman, kneeling, her head bowed, supporting her right breast with the right hand. Below the "picture" is a coat-of-arms, which is surrounded by the inscription "29 LISTOPADA 1918". "SHS" appears in each upper corner, figures of value in each lower corner. "HRVATSKA" at top indicates their origin.

The used copies received are postmarked "Zagreb/918-Nov.29-N 12/ N 2 N," postmark being of the usual Hungarian type, with name at top and date across middle in one line.

The stamps measure 21.5x26.5 mm., and are perf. 12. There were 100 to the sheet, with the usual marginal imprints opposite each row of stamps on all four sides of the sheet. Two machines were used in the perforating, as the holes are both large and small, smooth and rough.

The issue was small, the number of the 45-heller being especially limited, so that these stamps are quite rare, and are not priced in European war catalogs, nor, in fact, illustrated, altho they are listed.

Colors as follows:

20 heller, lilac.	45h greenish blk.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—Charity Stamps. Three values of the 1906 issue of Bosnia have been surcharged for this purpose, the inscriptions being applied in Cyrillian characters on two stamps, in Roman letters on one. The overprint is in three lines on the larger stamps, 4 lines on the smaller one, and reads "Kraljevstvo* / Srba, Hrvata i Slovenaca / (value).

10 plus 10h on 40h red-orange.
20 plus 10h on 20h dark brown.
45 plus 15h on 1k maroon.
*="KINGDOM."

The original values have been obliterated by square stops.

The Bosnian issue of 1916-17 has been utilized for another series of surcharges, of which I have seen only one, tho I am informed that all have received similar treatment. The 90-heller, dark violet, is surcharged in Cyrillian characters, which read top line "Kraljevstvo"* and below portrait, "S H. S." The latter appears to be "C.X.C." which it really would be in Roman letters.

* Indicating "Kingdom of Serbo-Croatia-Slovenia."

The portrait of Franz Josef is obliterated by a fancy square ornament.

The 1912 issue of Bosnia has been similarly treated, and of this issue I have likewise seen but one, the 6 heller, dark gray, which is surcharged with the same incription, but in Roman letters, and has the old value eliminated by square stops, and the new one, 10h, surcharged between them.

Whether the above two stamps form part of one new series is at present unknown to me, but such may be the case. Both came on letters from Serajevo, and were used with various other issues to pay the heavy postage on 8-ounce letters. One of these bears a 10-heller "chain breaker" which shows both saw-tooth and ordinary straight-line roulettes.

NEW ZEALAND.—Several "post paid" hand-stamps on pieces of cover have just been received by the writer. Whether these are to be regarded as our "permits" or as provisional is not at present known. All hail from Auckland, and are postmarked as ordinary stamps. Two specimens have "1½d." in each upper corner: "Postage Paid" above a circle in centre, which has N.Z. at sides; 3 HALF PENCE below. Bottom inscription in one case reads Auckland; the other "IMP SUPPLY", whatever that may indicate. Two other specimens are compounds, a ½d and a 1d being stamped on each cover. These have "AUCKLAND" diagonally across centre, reading up, to right corner. "POSTAGE PAID N.Z." at left, and value at right.

POLAND.—Levant. The current pfennig-and-Marks issue has been surcharged (all values) "Levant" in Roman caps., red schg., considerably more expanded type being used on the high values.

ROUMANIA.—While the Germans occupied Bucharest they surcharged at least two varieties of Roumanian revenues with the "M. V. i. R" imprint, and used them for postage. Both these stamps are large, 28x31.5 mm., perf. about 13, printed on chalky paper. Centre portrait of Charles; top, "Romania" and "Timbru Fiscal." Value on each side of portrait.

10 bani, buff, red schg. at bottom, single-lined frame, 12 mm. long.
10 bani, grey, red schg., reading vertically up fancy letters, double-lined frame, 23.5 mm long.

The first is postmarked "7 Aug. 917" the second "25 Sep. 917."

SLOVENIA.—The "chain-breaker" type of stamps is now being issued with serpentine or saw-tooth roulette, like the stamps of Greece. Whether all values have thus appeared is not known, but rouletted and perforated stamps have been received on the same envelope, so it is likely that the rouletted varieties will all appear eventually.

UPPER VOLTA.—French colony. This territory is about to be split off the territories of Upper Senegal and Niger, I am informed by a French correspondent, and the stamps of Senegal and Niger will be overprinted and appear in January. The surcharge will likely resemble that of Oubangui-Tchari-Tchad. The chief "city" of the new territory, according to another correspondent, is Ougadougou.

THAT'S RIGHT—KEEP THIS LIST!

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By B. W. H. Poole.

U.

UBANGI-CHARI-TCHAD.—Part of the territory of French Middle Congo now administered as a separate colony and for which special stamps were first issued in 1916.

U. G.—These letters, intended to indicate "Uganda", form the only inscription on the 1895 type-written stamps for the Uganda Protectorate.

UGANDA.—A British protectorate in East Africa. Postage stamps were first issued in 1895 and in 1903 these were superseded by the combined issue for the East Africa and Uganda protectorates.

UKU LETA.—An inscription shown on some of the interisland stamps of the Hawaiian Islands signifying "paid letters".

ULTRAMAR.—Shown upon some of the stamps of Cuba, etc., meaning "beyond the sea".

UNAPPROPRIATED DIES.—A somewhat lax term applied to certain British varieties which should perhaps be more correctly rendered as "Unappropriated plates". These are duty plates with blank labels upon which any required inscription may be afterwards printed so that they can be "appropriated" to any desired purpose.

UNIAO DOS ATIRADORES CIVIS.—An inscription shown upon the private stamps issued in Portugal for the use of the Civilian Rifle Clubs.

UNIE VAN ZUID AFRIKA.—The Dutch equivalent for "Union of South Africa" shown upon all the stamps of that confederation.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—A confederation of the various British colonies in South Africa—Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Transvaal, and Orange River Colony—which since 1910 have been under one administration. During the three years following, the stamps of the various colonies were allowed to be used anywhere within the Union until they were replaced by a general set inscribed "Union of South Africa".

UNION POSTAL UNIVERSAL.—An inscription shown on certain stamps of Colombia, Nicaragua, etc., to show those countries are members of the Universal Postal Union.

UNISSUED.—These are stamps prepared for use and in some instances even distributed to post offices and then, for some reason or other, never placed in circulation.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.—Issued its first governmental postage stamps on August 5th, 1847, though the postmasters of some cities anticipated this important step by issuing stamps under their own authority one or two years previously.

UNITED STATES OF BRAZIL.—(See "Brazil".)

UNITED STATES OF COLOMBIA.—(See "Colombia".)

UNITED STATES OF NEW GRANADA.—(See "Colombia".)

"UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL".—The motto shown upon the stamps issued by the postmaster of St. Louis in 1845.

UNIVERSAL POSTAL UNION.—A confederation or association of most of the countries of the civilized world having mutual arrangements governing the receipt and despatch of international mail matter. It was founded in Berne, Switzerland, in 1874, when delegates from twenty-two countries signed a treaty agreeing to certain fixed charges on certain classes of mail. Most countries are now members of the Union, which retains permanent headquarters at Berne, and meetings are held every five years so that international postal regulations may be revised and amended as required.

DEATH OF F. M. CREHORE.

We have learned the bare fact from Mr. E. M. Carpenter that Mr. F. M. Crehore of Boston, the Hawaiian specialist, died Friday, Oct. 17. While not known as a collector, generally speaking, it is true that Mr. Crehore's collection of Hawaiians was one of the finest in the country.

AD COPY MUST BE IN FRIDAYS.

For some time we have been up against a proposition that has sorely tried the publishers of the WEEKLY and drastic action is necessary to relieve the situation. All printing establishments are having their setbacks and all publications are feeling the restricted hours of employment and increased cost of production.

With the WEEKLY we have another consideration which we must reckon with. Recent issues have shown us that a 12 paged paper will be frequently required during the coming months. In addition to those already published one will be issued again the coming week in order that we may carry a sufficient amount of reading matter.

To get back to the prompt mailings of our paper on Fridays we shall require in the future that ad copy be received not later than the previous Friday. Buffalo, Washington and places east of those cities must mail copy Thursdays, while the Middle West must send it Tuesday or Wednesday.

Where new copy is not received Friday the last advertisement will be repeated. This new schedule will aim to do away with the vexatious delays of past months in mailing our weekly edition.

A few suggestions:—
(1) Send typewritten copy if possible.
(2) Keep a copy of your ad to refer to.
(3) Indicate space wanted on copy.
(4) Run a multiple of 6 lines.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Twist—Why, asks an observant collector, who certainly is a modernist in the school of philately, if you wish philately to be accepted by the general world, do you not give it a broad significance and over-ride the convention that a stamp paper must hew to the line. He maintains that a truly and technical philatelic paper is the proper thing for a limited number of confirmed philatelists, but it is gospel that only a small proportion of the total number of real collectors support a paper of the kind. He says that he has all respect for the publication of this class but if the somewhat general turning to philately on the part of the people is to be given decided direction, he thinks that a journal should make its calculated appeal to them, as in doing so it would still receive the patronage of those who are collectors. He cites the fact that we have a circulation of under ten thousand as proof that the stamp press is not meeting an opportunity that should be taken at the flood. This is something of a new angle and while we must say that we are still under the ten thousand mark, we do not believe that the suggestion of our friend would work out well in practice, even though he offers several more arguments in favor of the proposal. We will admit that this idea coming from one who is a collector who by training and tradition should align himself with the most advanced class in philately is testimony to the changing hour. He wants the stamp papers to be less solid philatelically in order to get the eye of the collecting "prospect" at large. Inferentially, he will forego his own satisfaction for the greater benefit to philately, although we suppose that he would continue to get sustenance from some of the papers published abroad. At least Europe supports the unadulterated stamp paper better than we do. As our mentor has brought up a subject in which we have a vital interest, we shall indulge in a few remarks on it in the subsequent paragraph.

Argued—While it is refreshing to be asked to dilute the philatelic flavor of our columns when we think that we have "popularized" our reading matter to the last notch allowable, yet if we were to enter into competition with general publications, our pretentions would soon pass away as an iridescent dream. We could not compete with the magazines, for instance, that draw upon the talent of the world for the entertainment and edification of readers; and the chief reason for our existence is found in the distinctive, the philatelic note in our columns. If it becomes too faint, the stamp readers will not recognize it and the careless public to whom we are playing will not give us a second glance. What we like to see is the stamp article in the newspaper with a circulation in the tens of thousands, as in that number of readers there are a few collectors in embryo. As for the stamp paper, it must continue to work through its friends in the niche that it has made for itself.

History—We have received as a member of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, a work that makes a deep impression on us; it is a history of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, from April 10th, 1869, to April 10th, 1919, by Baron Percy de Worms, Honorary Assistant Secretary. The work comprises 128 pages, and while a faithful chronicle of the origin, rise and development of the "premier society," it has a broader suggestion and it really is to be said that it is a history of the philatelic times in Great Britain for the last half-century. A few may have read something of the story of the society, but in comparison with the well-rounded recital now given, all such accounts are fragmentary. We like the intimate, personal "atmosphere" of the book and one's respect for the society is added to, even, by the contemplation of its record of achievement and its present progressive estate. The pictures of the past presidents of the Royal Philatelic Society are interesting and impressive and we think that traditionally the society is without a peer. The frontispiece is an excellent portrait of the Patron of the society, King George, which is followed by one of the Prince of Wales, honorary president.

Noticed—Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Madison, Wisconsin, who has been sharing with us items of postal interest that he finds in pursuing his courses of reading, submits as customarily, a fragment that is worth placing on the philatelic spindle, and he asks a question that may appeal to philatelic students of history: "In a study that I am making of the Metternich System, I have had occasion to consult a good many European sources and secondary works covering the years 1815-1830. One of the latter, 'A History of Italian Unity,' by Bolton King (Scribners, N. Y., 1899) contains a very suggestive reference to postal affairs in the peninsula which I have been unable to trace down because available files of Austrian and the various Italian territories state papers are incomplete. I wonder if some of your readers might be able to throw light on what hints at being a most interesting bit of information on the postal service of a century ago. The reference follows: 'Already (shortly after the Congress of Vienna), there were signs of opposition. Piedmont had killed the schemes of an Austrian League, Rome had refused with coolness the alliance which Prince Metternich offered as the best "protection against the Gates of Hell"; the two states joined with Tuscany to reject proposals which would have given him absolute control of the postal communication of the Peninsula.' (Chapter 1, page 12.) Just what was the Austrian proposal and how would it have her control of the posts of the several states? It is surprising how many references to postal affairs a person does find in historical works. Seldom I can pick up a single volume without finding an interesting bit or two on matters connected with the mail service. And then there are those who talk as though the postal system became important only in our day."

Visitor — Mr. Theodore Siddall of Shanghai, China, whose contributions of postal news to our columns have covered a period of many years, was a recent visitor to our Chicago office. Mr. Siddall gave much information about philatelic conditions in the orient where, as elsewhere generally, philately's popularity is gaining. It may be said that "quiet" collectors are to be found in many spots in the east where they would not be looked for exactly; and their collections sometimes are such as to rival those held in the centers of philately. It happened at the time of Mr. Siddall's call, a copy of the Philatelic Monthly, Philadelphia, Pa., February, 1886, chanced to be lying on our desk; and in it were the minutes of the January meeting of the Quaker City Philatelic Society, "Theo. Siddall, Secretary." "Time travels in divers places with divers persons," but what is a mere matter of thirty-five years or so to stamp collectors?

THE HOBBY SUPREME.

A. H. PIKE.

Had it not been for the postage stamp, "my hobby" could never have existed, still it is not the stamps themselves that has held my undivided interest for nearly twenty years. I can look on a wonderful collection of postage stamps with a great deal of pleasure but without envy or covetousness. It is a disputed question whether "your hobby" can give you greater pleasure and satisfaction than "my hobby." We do not want to argue or debate the issue, simply to combine the views. "Your hobby" has thousands of devotees to one of mine, but without "my hobby" it is claimed that your pleasures would have been greatly curtailed and interest greatly lessened.

Perhaps you would not today know the pleasures of philately and your time would be devoted in other channels. If you are an extensive collector you probably possess a dozen or more albums; my "albums" occupy fifty feet of shelving and are increasing at the rate of fifty or more volumes a year. If I should acknowledge that "my hobby" was the collecting of literature, you might, as some I have known, refuse to read further. So for the accommodation of those whose ideas may differ from mine, let me try and present the facts from a different angle.

Out of the billions of tons of printed matter that the presses of the world have produced, only a very small portion is classed by learned men as literature. Following their example, there is every reason why we should consider the printed word of philately in the same light. We are constantly reminded of the hundreds of periodicals that have been born, breathed the breath of life but for a short period and died in infancy an unmourned death. Some have tried to collect stamp papers as they would postage stamps, that is, collect all copies and all varieties regardless of their status or whether they were counterfeits, reprints or imitations.

We would much prefer to look on them not for their rarity or the beauty of their design of cover or the texture of paper or their general condition, but judge them entirely on contents. It is hardly fair to collect them as we would collect postage stamps; there is a sentiment, an association, a world of thought and a storehouse of knowledge in many of them, an emptiness approaching a vacuum in others. We exercise intelligent thought and good judgment in the purchase and arrangement of our stamp collection, and there is every reason why we should use the same reasoning power in our judgment of the printed word. Some are of value for current information, but are worthless for reference; many contain material that is permanent.

The excuse of many who otherwise would be glad to retain many of the better periodicals is that they cannot spare the room they would require This, under certain circumstances, is excusable, still, there are thousands of collectors who could easily spare the space if their library could be so arranged as to be easily accessible. A few publishers consider their periodical of sufficient value to warrant an index; others do not appear to care whether their readers get the full benefit of the material published or not. Even with the annual index of the better class of periodicals it is a tedious and discouraging job to find the data needed, as it requires a long search through the many indexes of the various publications. Cross indexing seems to have been unknown to many compilers, and we find many subjects commencing with unimportant words that are indexed rather than the real subject of the article, making it necessary to read the entire index to find what is wanted.

Publishers as a rule are willing to cater to the majority providing their desires are within reason, so if you and I see chances for certain improvements in the current philatelic press, it is really our duty to help correct them. It is certainly more commendable than faultfinding or boycotting. Publishers, editors and writers from the earliest time to the present have accomplished a wonderful work, far greater than you and I can realize. No one in these days could possibly imagine what the present status of the hobby would be if it had not been for the printed page. You can better appreciate these facts by intelligent reading of some of the earlier works. Take for instance the American Journal of Philately, American Philatelist, Eastern Philatelist, Meropolitan Philatelist, Penn. Phil., P. J. of A., etc., of our own country as well as many from England. The greatest interest for me is to take complete files of these journals and read them from beginning to end, consecutively, noting the discussions as new issues were announced, varieties discovered, official documents published and the complete status of the stamps in question finally decided. All this painstaking work and research by the early philatelists have paved the way to clear sailing for those in this generation and made it possible to correctly catolog the stamps of that period for the edification of future generations.

There are hundreds of collectors who are anxiously waiting for the organization of a truly cosmopolitan literature society composed entirely of those who appreciate the best in our literature. A society that is not exclusive for the "high brows", but one that will admit any honest enthusiast be he young or old, beginner or advanced. Many of these cannot afford a library of their own but would be overjoyed to know that they could help support a national library where they could secure the loan of periodicals when needed, where a complete cumulated index could be consulted and where a real philatelic service could be obtained.

Publishers would be very glad to give publicity to an organization of this kind, for it would relieve them of many of the petty questions continually requiring them to write letters. A national institute and information bureau should be established where a day to day history of philately should be carefully recorded, every item of its various activities and a record complete as to details would serve a purpose far beyond even our own imagination.

If collectors will write me fully their views on this subject, I will volunteer to compile the suggestions and have it ready to turn over to the proper authorities when needed.

UNITED STATES STAMPS.

If you are a specialist in the stamps of the United States, nine times out of ten you have something in your collection that either came from me or passed through my hands. I can make this positive statement for of some rare U. S. items I have had the ENTIRE AVAILABLE SUPPLY and no matter where you purchased them they are indirectly from me. Even now I am negotiating for an unique sheet and naturally if I am successful those upon my mailing list will be given the first opportunity to get in on the ground floor. Others may do the talking but I produce the goods.

If you want the scarce new U. S. varieties, when and as issued the best way to get them is to have you place your name upon my mailing list. This places you under no obligations to buy. It is the advanced collector that I cater to for I have not the time to make up approvals of common stamps, being interested in the rarer varieties only. Of course I am always a buyer at high prices of anything unusually fine in U. S.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address

United States.—We learn with regret that Colonel Green's yacht has been sunk and we have been reliably informed that his wonderful collection of stamps were on board. Our informant states that this included 43 copies of the 24c aeroplane invert, his wonderful lot of plate numbers, the Nelton covers and other items too numerous to mention. We sincerely trust that if this is the case that the greater portion of his rarities are in waterproof safes. Col. Green was one of the heaviest purchasers of fine things at the Worthington Sale and has had the pick of many items that have come upon the market in recent years. It will be a blow to philately if we later learn that these are all lost.

Mr. Frank A. Hollowbush has shown us an oddity, namely an upper plate block of the 1c engraved, perf. 11 on unwatermarked paper from plate No. 10107 wherein we find two capital "F" 's before the number. A single "F" is usually placed upon the flat plates, generally in front of the upper right plate number to denote that the plate is "finished", but this is the first instance that has been brought to our attention of two letters on the same sheet.

While speaking of plate oddities, Mr. W. A. Langdon has sent us the left lower corner block of the 10c perf. 11, unwatermarked, showing the initials of the engraver that laid down the plate, under the first stamp in the last row instead of to the right of this stamp as is customary.

Freak varieties from the offset plates have been sent for our inspection by Messrs. T. B. Mason and William Knostman. The first gentleman has located the 3c showing a distinct curved line under the eye and the latter has found the 1c with phantom arrow, with smudge, etc. These surface printed stamps were turned out in such a manner that it is indeed difficult to find sheets that do not show defects of some kind. A sheet approaching the perfection would indeed be a rarity in itself.

Mr. Cassius S. Clay has been kind enough to secure for us an impression from the rubber stamp used to surcharge the New Orleans provisional "NARCOTIC" at the time before the Bureau varieties had arrived. The word is in small but tall capital letters and was printed in black. We are informed that only the 1c and 2c Documentary were overprinted. We now have quite a few of these provisional issues and will certainly welcome additional news. We want to print a list of these at an early date but intend waiting a little longer until we can hear from one or two of the other larger cities.

The daily newspapers of October 25th announce that the U. S. Senate has passed a bill extending to the widow of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt the customary mail franking privileges. This bill which previously passed the House, will without a doubt have been signed by the President before these notes are printed. Your editor has always considered that these franks properly have their place in a stamp collection and after many years search has gotten together 21 out of the 27 Presidential Franks. This collection includes one of Col. Roosevelt which I know to be a rarity and properly unique.

Argentine Republic.—According to the Times (17.9.19), a series of "Peace" stamps is announced for early issue—the values 2c, 5c, and 12c—in an allegorical design, representing the "Christ of the Andes."

As we have already explained, a temporary scarcity of the watermark stamp paper imported from Italy led to the printing of a small supply of the denominations ½c, 2c and 5c in the current type upon paper of local manufacture, watermarked "S.R.B." four times in the sheet only. Accordingly, about one-tenth of the stamps on each sheet show portions of the watermarked letters, while the remainder are devoid of watermark. —Stamp Collecting.

Bavaria.—C. G. Dietrich writes us:—"I enclose the new set of Bavaria—overprint 'Freistaat Bayern', which supersedes the 'Folksstaat Bayern' on the 1914 issue. As you will notice, the overprint is in considerably larger type than the Folksstaat overprint. So far I have only received the 3, 5, 10, 15, 25 and 80pf values but the remainder up to 20m will be in use now."

Belgium.—We quote from Adjt. Henry Hooreman:—"The 5fr blue with surcharge 'Allemagne-Duitschland' bears 'frank' instead of 'franken' and now the ordinary Belgium postage stamp 5fr has appeared with the Flemish word corrected by the use of the word 'frank' in the 1915 issue. The shade of these two stamps is quite a little different from the 1915 issue. There is a possibility of a change of a similar character in the 1916 2, 3, 4, 5 and 10fr railway stamps."

China.—Several journals have stated that two new denominations, 1½ and 13 cents, are to be issued. The Director General of the Chinese Postal Department informs us that there is no foundation for the rumour, and that no changes or new issues are contemplated. —Whitfield King's Monthly List.

Colombia.—We now learn that the proposed air mail service is an accomplished fact. Recently there was a trial flight, a quantity of Government and private mail being transported. For this occasion a special provisional stamp was issued, consisting of the current 2 centavos rose, overprinted "lo Servizio Postale Aereo". Only two hundred examples are said to have been so earmarked, and the majority of them were used on packets and letters sent to and from the Port of Barranquilla and Bogota, the capital of Colombia.—Stamp Collecting.

Germany.—Otto Frank tells us that three stamps in the new set have just appeared. The designs are all different and the values are 1m 25pf green, 1m 50pf brown and 2m 50pf red violet.

Robert Loebl sends us the following item of news:—"The German National assembly has passed a law fixing the postage on Newspapers, Magazines, etc., at 5pf, an increase of 2pf. On account of this, the 3pf stamps of the Germania type will be withdrawn from circulation, as its use was to pay postage on such matter and this will now be done by the 5pf stamp. Besides the 3 pfennig stamp, it has also been decided to withdraw the 2½ and 7½ pfennig values as their use will be so limited that their retention would become a loss to the government."

Georgia.—All values except the 1 rouble are now issued perforated, and two new values, 10 kopecs blue and 50 kopecs green, have been added to the set. In the consignment just received we found several sheets of the 70 kopecs with one horizontal row of perforations missing.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

Jugo-Slav on Hungary "S.H.S."—Messrs. Bright & Son report the following: 2, 3, 5, 6, 25, 35f, Inverted Overprint; 2, 3, 5, 6, 15, 20, 35f Double Overprint; 10, 20f (Karl), 40f (Zita) but with overprint as used for Harvester type.

NEWFOUNDLAND. — A. C. Roessler writes us that the $1 airpost stamp is now quoted locally at around $2.50. The supply has been cornered.

PORTUGAL.—"You will no doubt be interested to learn that I have on hand the 20c Portugal Ceres issue printed brown on buff instead of brown on green, and also a new 4c green, same colour as the 3½c.

"The letter I received had two 4c stamps, new variety, on it instead of the usual 7½c, so that it is probable that the rate for letters has been altered."—Stamp Collecting.

ROUMANIA (Levant P. O.).—Stamps of the values 5, 10, 15, 25, and 40 bani were overprinted POSTA ROMANA CONSTANTINOPOL in circle with royal monogram. They were, however, in issue only a few weeks, and at present the current Roumanian stamps without this surcharge are being used. There are two distinct shades of the 5 and 10 bani.

Corpl. A. B. Auckland writes from Bucharest:—

"I note a suggestion regarding the reason for the surcharge of the 'monogram in circle' on the 1, 5, and 10 bani stamps of the current issue. I have made inquiries here and am told that the Germans, on occupying Bucharest, seized large stocks of stamps of the 1909 issue, and, as a consequence, the Roumanians, after the armistice, changed the colours of all the stamps with the exception of the 1, 5, and 10 bani values, which they surcharged with the 'monogram in circle'. Those stamps in the original colours or without monogram can no longer be used for franking."—Stamp Collecting.

URUGUAY.—We are indebted to A. C. Roessler for the following information in regard to the numbers on the peace stamps issued:—2c, 600,000; 4c, 400,000; 5c, 500,000; 8c, 300,000; 20c, 100,000; 23c, 100,000.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—W. F. Ferguson of New York sends us a clipping from a Harlem paper giving the particulars of an assault upon Renhold Fleischman, proprietor of the Universal Stamp Co. with office at 250 W. 125 St. Mr. Fleischman was attacked by five thugs and despite the great odds he fought desperately and beat off his assailants. They fled without getting anything.

—The Belmont Stamp Co. desires attention called to the fact that the office of the company has been removed from Ocean Grove, N. J., to the old stand, 551 N. 52 St., Philadelphia, Pa.

—A. E. D.—Give us two more weeks and we shall straighten out your name all right. We know how you feel! Letters come to the Managing Editor addressed Wiley, Willey, Whylie and Mr. Ohlman makes it O'Wylie—but why worry?

—We are informed by Otto Frank that the new Senf 1919 catalog is out and the price is $1.30.

—The annual meeting of the Androscoggin Stamp Club, Auburn, Me., was held recently, and the following officers were elected:—Pres., H. G. Zervas; Sec. and Treas., D. H. Day; Sales Manager, C. C. Abbott. The club has eighteen members and meetings are held every month. We are indebted to the retiring president, Reuel W. Smith, for this information.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Wm. Hoffman, Cecil F. Blogg, Emil J. Rall, Monarch Exchange, H. G. Burwick, C. C. Donaldson, George Meyer, R. E. Wade, Jr., Reuel W. Smith, Leopold Roth, A. J. Croker, Wm. L. Hamilton, H. B. Kierman, A. A. Kranhold.

—E. L. Clark of the Essex Publishing Co., Lynn, Mass., sends us a couple clippings from local papers dealing with the activities of the Lynn Philatelic Societies. This club is very much alive and its program for the season does great credit to it.

—"Reading so many items in your valued paper about our postal administration and its slow methods of working, let me take this chance to submit an example of their speed: Attached find an envelope postmarked Jacksonville, Illinois, in 1920. They have been using this postmark for some time, evidently hoping to get their mail out by the time this date falls due."—A. G. BROWN.

SUNSHINE STAMP SERVICE

THIS WEEK'S NOVELTY

Great Britain 1890 Commemorative Stamped Envelope and Card Celebrating the Jubilee of the Penny Post. This rare entire sold May 16 to 19 at a shilling each for the benefit of distressed postal employes and did postal service of 1d. The card bears the portrait of Dr. Rowland Hill "Father of Penny Postage" and the 1d blue evelope a series of sketches showing the development of mail handling in the century. Harry Furness immortalized this in a reproduction in caricature (catalogued in 1897 by Morley at 10sh).

S. S. S. OFFERS.

The genuine card and envelope unused at $1.25
Same, postally used and fine at 2.50
Furness' masterly pen-satire at 2.00
Fine used Jubilee Envelope and the Furness freak at 3.75

The above is one of many scarce items Sunshine Stamp Service can supply which should find place in every serious collection. It is philatelic history in the making and is practically unobtainable. Only 20 of each obtainable. Money back? Certainly.

INDIANA STAMP CO.

38 Virginia Avenue, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

BOCK, SCHNEIDER & CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This firm first appears in the New York directory for 1871-72 as Bock, Genin & Co., Paragon match m'f'g'rs at 175-79 Hester St. The members of the firm were Adolph Bock and Wm. L. Genin. Both Bock and Genin are listed in 1872-73 but the firm is not. In 1872-73 Bock, Schneider & Co. are listed at 509 W. 45th St. and in 1873-74 Adolph Bock, "matches" is given at the same address.

The stamp was engraved and printed by Carpenter in Philadelphia and was in use about one year as will be seen by the data from the Boston Book:—

Die approved, Dec. 1, 1871.
First issued, Dec., 1871.
Last issued, Nov., 1872.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).
759,000 issued in black on silk paper.

It is an upright rectangle of the usual 1c siz with "One Cent" across the top and "New York" across the bottom. The firm name, etc., is inscribed on a circular band which is broken at the sides to admit the numerals "1". Within the circle is a triangle containing an open eye and above the eye, in the upper point of the triangle is a star. At the left of the triangle is "Paragon" and at the right "Matches". The effect is most unusual but pleasing.

Arnold & Co.

This stamp is exactly the same as that of Bock, Schneider & Co. except that the firm name has been changed to Arnold & Co. It was in use only a few months according to the data given in the Boston Book:—

Die approved, Oct. 24, 1872.
First issued, Dec., 1872.
Last issued, April, 1873.
495,000 issued in black on silk paper.

"The plate was bought from Bock, Schneider & Co. by the Paragon Match Co. 509 & 511 W. 45th St., New York, on Sept. 25, 1872. On Oct. 21, 1872 Mr. Carpenter is advised that the Paragon Match Co. has become Arnold & Co. and is ordered to change the lettering, as above, on the stamp."

The Paragon Match Co. is not listed in the New York directories and Arnold & Co. appears only in a business directory for 1873-74. The city directory for 1873-74 does not mention Genin and Mr. Bock is dropped from the next edition. The first Paragon Match stamp is fairly plentiful but the second one—Arnold & Co.—is not easy to find and the centering is usually unsatisfactory.

HUSSMAN LEADS WITH 35

We believe that the present season should make it possible for the WEEKLY to pass the 10,000 mark. We now have 8,000 subscribers and 8,100 is the highest mark attained three years ago. We believe that a little effort upon the part of many of our subscribers will enable us to achieve the desired result. There never was a time when the interest in stamp collecting was keener than at present, and all that you need to do is to show the WEEKLY to some stamp collecting friend to secure a subscription.

We have a supply of subscription forms which you can readily enclose in your correspondence. It will serve to advertise stamp collecting and possibly win a recruit for our hobby. Send for a supply and have your name added to our roll of honor. The figures below show the standing for October and it will be noted that the Hussman Stamp Co., L. B. Dover and the Edgewood Stamp Co. are running neck and neck for first place. We are holding over all ones and twos received for further additions. The standing Nov. 1 was as follows:—

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

MARKET NOTES.

A correspondent in St. John's furnishes me with a few details regarding the "Alcock" air provisionals.

In all, 10,000 15c Cabots were overprinted in sheets of 25 stamps. Each sheet contains 18 normals—i. e., with comma after "Post," 7 without comma, and one specimen with no stop after 1919. The latter variety is thus easily the best, as only 400 copies exist.

The two lines Bahamas War stamps (London print) appear to be steadily rising in price, the 1s value in particular being quite hard to get at all.

I notice a very unusual lot of war stamps in a forthcoming sale, and by the time these notes are in print collectors will probably fully realize how rare Coronation Bushires and good Togos are. I am prepared to see the Bushires fetch big prices.

I notice Russian stamps are about in large quantities, including the handsome stamps of Russian Levant. I fancy collectors will be able to buy these shortly at fair reductions on present prices.

Mosuls have at last reached this country, and collectors would do well to buy them at present rates, as from what I hear they will rise in price as soon as the present lot on the market is absorbed. They are now obsolete, and when supplies have to be replenished an advance is bound to follow, as the holders in India and out East want more than 7sh per set wholesale in quantity.

In Armistice stamps things are a bit more settled, and we do not get a new issue every day as before! But, nevertheless, curious things still turn up from Central Europe, not the least remarkable of which are Hungarian stamps surcharged "OCCUPATION FRANÇAISE."

Collectors would do well to watch Syria for philatelic developments.

The Indian rupee is now at 2s, and the immediate effect of this will be an upward tendency in Iraqs, Ceylons, I.E.F.'s, Mosuls, &c.

The 1½d New Zealand black is good, and this applies with greater emphasis to those overprinted "SAMOA."

Rarotongas have made their appearance over here now, and, as is the case with the stamps themselves, many varieties of perforation exist. The 13½ perf. I consider the best.

Baghdads have settled down after their earlier fluctuations, and the prices now ruling may be taken as representing their actual value. At the end of last season auction prices were low, and already this season Baghdads are much firmer on the market.—Stamp Collecting.

SHOPPING FOR STAMPS.

By CAROLYN WELLS.

"You keep stamps, don't you?"

"Yes, Miss, what kind?"

"Why, I don't know. But I want something that will go well with blue note paper."

"Yes, Miss; do you want letter postage?"

"Of course! I want to post letters, not chairs or tables!"

"Where are the letters to? United States?"

"Be careful, young man, or I'll report you for rudeness. I won't tell you where the letter is going, it's private correspondence, but it is in the United States."

"Then you want a two cent stamp; here you are."

"Oh, red ones! Never! Do you suppose I'd put that sickly shade of crushed gooseberry juice on my robin's egg blue envelopes? Is this the nearest thing you have in two cent stamps?"

"The very latest style, I assure you."

"Well, they won't do. Why, they aren't fit for anything, unless to make a stamp plate with. Haven't you any blue ones?"

"Yes, we have a nice line of blue ones, at five cents each."

"Oh, the price doesn't matter; let me see them, please."

"Here they are, beautiful shade of blue."

"H'm; good enough shade, but it doesn't quite harmonize with my envelopes. You see they are a sort of greenishy-blue, and your stamps are more indigoish. Do you expect any new ones in?"

"Well, not any different colors."

"Oh, dear, that's always the way! But maybe I could take some of these and dye them with my Easter egg dyes to match my paper. I did that with some lace, and it worked awfully well! What's the lightest color you have?"

"These pale green ones are as light as any. But if you dye them blue you can't use them."

"Why not?"

"The Government won't allow it."

"How mean! As if it made any difference to them what color stationery people use! It almost makes me want to be a suffragette when I hear of such tyranny! Not that I'd really be one! I'm too fond of frilly frocks and lingerie ribbons. And I'm fearfully afraid of a mouse! But I'd like to have a few rights about postage stamps. I do think the selection is very limited. There's more beauty and variety in cigar bands. Well, I'll look at these violet ones. How much are they?"

"These are three cents apiece."

"H'm; two for five cents, I suppose. Well, I could get violet note paper, and use violet ink; then these stamps would do nicely."

"And they'd match your eyes fairly well, too."

"Isn't that queer! Everybody says I have violet eyes, but, really they're not a bit the color of these stamps, you know."

"No? Look at me and let me see; well, no, they're not exactly the same shade, but they're violet eyes, all right. How many stamps will you have?"

"Two, please; but won't you give them to me out of the middle of the sheet? Those around the edge seem a little faded."

"We can't tear stamps out of the middle of a sheet!"

"Oh, yes, you can, if you try—if I ask you to try! I'll take that one, and that one!"

"Well, I suppose it doesn't matter. This one, did you say? And this one?"

"Yes, please. Will you wrap them up in a neat parcel and send them? Good-morning."—Pittsburg Post.

INSTITUTE BOOKLETS.

We have received from the Philatelic Institute of London, in which Fred J. Melville is the moving spirit, copies of several booklets all gotten out in a uniform manner and designed to be of public service in connection with the Institute. We have received four different booklets: No. 1, "Hints on Arranging a Collection," by F. B. Cooper; No. 2, "British Prisoners' Stamps of Ruhleben"; No. 3, "The Postage Stamps of the Mozambique Co.," both by Fred J. Melville; and No. 5, "War Stamps of Turkey," by Lieut. Col. H. Wood. The booklets are all described as originally "Philatelic Institute Papers." Anyone desiring specimens of the books referred to above may remit 10c for each book ordered.

War — Red Cross — Blocks — Covers — Etc.

Below we offer one of the finest lot of bargains it has ever been our privilege to advertise. Many of these items are the first received in this country. Very recently we have become affiliated with the very finest foreign connections possible, and we shall soon be able to supply many excellent items—both wholesale and retail. Dealers desiring wholesale lots on approval are requested to file application as early as possible. Lots offered below are but a sample of our intentions.

OUR APPROVAL DEPARTMENT

Practically all of the stamps listed below will be found in our net priced approval books. This is the quality of stamps which we keep on hand at all times and thereby insure satisfaction. We have the good things at a few cents each or several dollars each, and remember we will receive First Consignment of New Foreign in this country. Our continuous premium plan is still good. Try a selection and be convinced. Reference required—if a minor parent's signature preferred.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

UNOFFICIAL.—These are varieties which never received official sanction, such as the "Susse" perforation on early French stamps, the roulettes on the triangular stamps of the Cape of Good Hope, etc.

UNPAID LETTER STAMPS.—These are special stamps affixed by the postal authorities in many countries to unpaid or insufficiently prepaid letters to denote the amount of postage or fine to be collected from the addressee.

UNPERFORATED (not perforated).—A word frequently used in the early days of philately and now superseded by "imperforate".

UNSEVERED.—Undivided or "unsevered" pairs of certain bi-sected stamps are infinitely more valuable than the two portions are collectively after they have been separated.

UNSURFACED PAPER. — Paper without a glaze on its face—used only in cases where stamps exist on both surfaced and unsurfaced paper to distinguish one from the other.

UNUSED.—A stamp which has not been obliterated.

UNWATERMARKED. — Stamps printed on paper innocent of any sort of watermarked device.

U. P. U. (Universal Postal Union).—These letters appear on many of the stamps of certain Central and South American republics.

UPPER SENEGAL AND NIGER.—The present name for the French colony on the west coast of Africa which was previously known as Senegambia and Niger. Postage stamps bearing the new designation were first issued in 1906.

URUGUAY.—The smallest of the South American republics. Postage stamps were first issued on October 1st, 1856.

U. S. A.—Shown on some of the United States departmental stamps of 1873.

USED.—A stamp that has been employed for the purpose for which it was made.

USED ABROAD.—A term applied to the stamps of a country used in one of its colonies, protectorates or consular offices maintained in a foreign country. In many of the British colonies British stamps were on sale before the colonies issued their own distinctive stamps and these are generally termed "British used abroad". Similarly the United States stamps used at the consular office at Shanghai are "U.S." used abroad".

U. S. I. R. (United States Internal Revenue).—A watermark found in connection with many United States revenue stamps.

U. S. MAIL.—Appears on the 2c carrier's stamp of New York issued in 1846.

U. S. PENNY POST.—Is shown upon the first 2c carrier's stamp issued in Boston in 1849.

U. S. P. O. (United States Post Office).—These letters are shown upon all the Philadelphia carrier's stamps issued in 1849-52.

U. S. P. O. DESPATCH.—Appears on the 1c Eagle carrier's stamp issued in 1851.

U. S. POSTAGE.—Shown on most of the postage stamps of the United States.

U. S. P. S.—These letters were watermarked in most of the United States postage stamps issued between 1895 and 1916.

V.

V.—An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used during the period 1868-74 on the official correspondence dealing with the Volunteers. These stamps were superseded in 1874 by the general issue for all government departments overprinted "O. S."

V. A.—Another South Australian overprint of the 1868-74 period signifying "Valuator and Auctioneer".

VALE.—An overprint found on many of the stamps of Nicaragua meaning "Valid".

VALENCIA.—A province of Spain. Special stamps were issued by the Carlists in 1874-5.

VALEVOLE PER LE STAMPE.—An overprint found on certain parcel post stamps of Italy which were by this means converted into 2c stamps for use on newspapers and other printed matter. It means "Available for printed matter".

VALUE TABLET.—The tablet, or disc, forming that part of the design of a postage stamp upon which the facial value is inscribed.

VALLADOLID.—A fortified city of Spain. During the period the provisional government had charge of affairs in 1868, the stamps used in the city post office were overprinted "Habilitado por la Nacion".

VANCOUVER ISLAND.—An island now forming part of British Columbia which issued its own 5c and 10c stamps in July, 1865.

VAN DIEMAN'S LAND.—The original name for the British colony of Tasmania, which appears on its first postage stamps.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

TWELVE CENT, FIFTY SEVEN.

By LYMAN T. SEELY.

Who knows anything about plating the 12c black of 1857? Not the plate used for printing the imperforates, though I suppose this can be plated, but the far more interesting second or third plate which shows so many extra line varieties. If anyone can supply me with full information regarding the make-up of this plate and the why of all these extra lines I will send him a demijohn of Lake Keuka grape juice with instructions how to keep it from fermenting, if he wants to know.

These days I occasionally run across the trail of some fly-speck sleuth who is quietly gathering up the 12c, '57, but as evidence of the slight attention generally paid to the minor varieties of this stamp, only a day or two ago I bought a mint copy of the nice variety with double line at bottom for the price of an ordinary stamp and that was in a Nassau Street shop, famous as a hunting ground for those who like $40 cancellations on the 5c '47. I have been looking for the stamp only three years and to find one so easily makes me think they must be quite common. You may identify this stamp when you run across it both by the fine double line of outer frame at the bottom and, where this double line is faint, as is sometimes the case, by the fact that both lower rosettes touch the outer frame at bottom, instead of stopping at the inner frame. This variety is caused by a shift, or re-entry, which to some extent affected the entire design, for in a very clear impression there are traces of doubling in some of the letters of the upper label, notably in "os" of postage.

There are, however, a number of frame line varieties of these stamps not caused by shifts, and of a nature to make one think the 12c plate must have been retouched along with the 1c, 5c, 10c and 30c stamps of this issue. I never have seen such an idea suggested but if we take into account the broken and missing line varieties before checking up the extra line varieties the reason for and probability of such a proceeding becomes more obvious. Working from left to right, we have left outer frame broken; left outer frame missing; right outer frame broken; right outer frame line missing. This suggests either a badly worn plate, or an effort to erase side lines in order to make room for perforations; more likely the former as no particular harm could be done the design by running perforations through frame lines.

Then in the matter of extra lines we have two outer frame lines at left, with one at the right; two outer lines at left and a broken or partly missing line at right. The same on the opposite side, two outer frame lines at right, with one good frame line at left; and two outer lines at right and no frame or a broken frame line at right. While these seem to indicate two states in each of two main varieties there really are more, for sometimes the outer lines are close together and parallel; sometimes close and converging at the top or bottom; and then again they are parallel but quite widely spaced. Quite often one of the doubled frame lines is worn or broken, suggesting that the retoucher (?) attempted to recut the broken line but missed it and cut a parallel line instead.

The widely spaced varieties are found in the imperforate stamps, which sometimes show an extra and parallel line on either the left or right side. A pair showing this peculiarity is to be sold with Jones' collection. They look as though the sheet had been divided by a double center line. In any event they do not at all resemble the stamps with extra or broken lines in the perforated series. The imperforate and the first printings of the perforated stamps are clean cut and perfect, with no signs of worn or broken lines.

Then, of a sudden, come these muddy, rough-looking things. They are poor impressions, usually intense, instead of the ordinary gray black. They seem far commoner unused than used, which may indicate that large bunch of '57 remainders presented to one of the real Early Byrds of the stamp game. Far from commanding a premium, most of the extra and broken line varieties that have come my way have been offered at a discount. No one in the stamp business seems to attach any importance to the extra lines, and I suppose they are offered below par because of their rough appearance.

It would be nice if the owner of one of these old sheets, assuming that some still exist intact, would give us the real facts concerning the extra lines on the 12c, '57, for no doubt they will be in great demand some day.

"A SCHOOL FOR PHILATELY."

By TANCRED.

A well-known Philatelist has started a School for Philately—a most promising idea. There are great possibilities. One may picture the pupils filling their note-books with all sorts of information on perforations and gum, reprints and forgeries; and gradually assimilating enormous stores of knowledge.

But pupils have a partiality for mixing their ideas, and it is quite possible that a few "howlers" will be brought to light, e. g.—

"Seebeck" is the name of a Belgian port blown up by the Indicative.
"Percé en arc" was the son of Noah.
"Sugar Paper" is used to "rap currents."
"Changeling" is somebody else's baby.
"Plated" is what you do to your hair, and the spoons and forks.
"Double Impression" means second thoughts.
"Horn on Forehead" signifies the Devil.
"Thurn and Taxis" are what you go about in.
"With grille" means not rationed.
The animal on the Tasmanian stamps is called a "Duck-billed Polypus."
"11½ x 12" = 138.
"Van demon's land" is where you get Tasmanian devils.
"Mint," the thing you have with lamb.
"Bogus," the man who invented golf.
"Milreés" is a rapid stream.
"Bleuté" was a German General.
"Peace and Commerce" were Heathen Myths.
"Remainder" is what is left over, when it won't go.
"Sonora," a thing in music.
"Togo," a coat worn by Romans.
"Spandrels," a kind of dog.

CHILE.

Chile is the country that resembles the German dachshund, which has been described as "a dog and a half long and half a dog wide," though we think Chile can beat the dog in the matter of dimensions. It is occupied by a hardy and virile people with a strong and well advanced government, and the energy and intelligence of the inhabitants has won for them the title of the "Yankees of South America."

Chile was the third country of South America to issue stamps, having been preceded by Brazil and British Guiana. Its first issue has furnished one of the most interesting problems that philatelists have been called upon to solve. It was ordered through an English agency in Valparaiso, and they entrusted the work to Perkins, Bacon & Co. of London, who sent out a supply of the 5 and 10 centavo stamps with the printing plates and a stock of watermarked paper in 1853. The stamps were issued on July 1st in the well known design with the profile of Columbus. This bust was for many years the subject of an amusing controversy over its identity; yet all the time it was mutely being proclaimed in plain bold letters above it as COLON. One might suppose that among the many intelligent collectors who read and wrote for the philatelic press in those early days there would be some who knew enough of history or Spanish to be aware that the Great Discoverer was known to Spain as "Cristóbal Colon."

The first supply of stamps was insufficient for a very lengthy period, and in six months' time a new order was sent to London. It took so long in being filled that they had to print a supply locally, but instead of using the plate of the 5c stamp directly they took a lithographic transfer and printed by that method in June, 1854. This fact was not discovered by philatelists until Mr. J. N. Luff noticed some peculiar "faults" in certain stamps in 1902, and further search by Messrs. Bacon and Hall in England confirmed the supposition. Later local printings of both the 5 and 10c stamps were made direct from the plates. In 1859 companion stamps of 1c and 20c were ordered from England, but were not issued until January 1, 1862. The variations in the shapes of the 5 and 10c watermarks were due to different supplies of paper being sent out from England at different times. During several shortages of 5c stamps the 10c were halved diagonally and used instead.

Less philatelic interest attaches to most of the succeeding issues of Chili, which have as a rule been perfectly straightforward. The second issue in 1867 was made by the American Bank Note Co. and included the same values with the addition of a 2c. Both these issues were used for fiscal purposes as well as postal and can be told by pen cancellations.

A new design was asked for in 1877 and the American Bank Note Co. prepared the well known one with the large numerals crossed by the word "centavos." They appeared in September and were rouletted instead of being perforated. In June, 1878, a 50c value was added, but this had the word "centavos" beneath the numerals and proved the forerunner of a like change in all the other values, which came about gradually, from the 1c in 1880 to the 20c in 1886. Three new values were added in September, 1892, the 15 and 25c in the usual type and a large and imposing 1 peso in bicolor. In 1894 the 1 and 2c were re-engraved, the large figure "1" being broadened and losing the little ornaments at its foot, while the "ball" of the "2" has been cut away, leaving a curved line instead. The issue in this type was completed by a 30c in 1899.

In 1900 a new issue began to appear from the shops of Waterlow and Sons of London. The values were issued as the old ones were used up, so that the 30 and 50c did not appear until 1901 and the 20c until 1902. As before, they were rouletted instead of perforated. The first issues had heavy shading beneath the label bearing the word "Chile", but in succeeding orders we find a retouching has taken place, so that there is scarcely any deepening of the lines to produce a shade effect. The "retouched" stamps began to appear in June, 1901, and comprised the 1, 2, 5 and 10c. The 30c never appeared in the first or "shaded" type, and the 20 and 50c were never retouched, so these values will serve as test stamps to distinguish the other four. Before this new issue arrived there was a shortage in 5c stamps, which was filled by the surcharge of the large numeral on the 30c stamps of 1899. This appeared December 28, 1900.

For some reason Chile soon returned to the American Bank Note Co. and another new issue was heralded by the appearance of a handsome 5c on October 21, 1901. The other values followed in 1902, the three higher ones having black vignettes of Columbus. There was no 20c this time, as the Waterlow 20c only appeared with the new 30 and 50c on July 18, 1902.

Exhaustion of the 10c stamps caused the remainder of the Waterlow 30c stamps to be used for surcharging down to this value in November, 1903. In May, 1904, came an avalanche of surcharges on the remainders of the telegraph stamps which had been abolished by decree of October 10, 1903. Waterlow & Sons had supplied telegraph stamps with the portrait of Pedro de Valdivia, the Spanish conqueror of Chile. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. had supplied them in the small arms type (reproducing the large stamps of 1883). Lastly, the American Bank Note Co. had copied the small arms type, but had modified the drawing of the supporter at the left of the arms, an animal of the deer tribe, peculiar to Chile and known as the huemul. In the Bradbury, Wilkinson stamps he has a mane and tail; in the American Bank Note he has neither. The surcharges were of the word "Correos" in a fancy frame for the unchanged values, and the word "centavos," also in frame, and large numerals in the lower corner for the stamps with changed values. The surcharges of the arms type were normally those of the American Bank Note Co. without "mane and tail," but a small quantity of the other type was surcharged as well, it is said surreptitiously. The 1p stamp was never engraved in the tailless variety. The 5c portrait stamp bearing the 3c surcharge of the 1p instead of the 12c surcharge is supposed to be an error.

On June 4, 1905, two values of a new series, the 3 and 5c, were issued. The rest of the set followed gradually, as the current stamps were used up, except that for some reason the 12c and 1p were withheld, only a few specimens leaking out to favored ones. Finally some interested parties conceived the idea of surcharging these two values for the Juan Fernandez Islands, where the Chilean penal settlement was located. It made no difference that there was no post office on the islands and that their mail was all handled at Valparaiso. One and a half million 12c stamps were, therefore, surcharged into 5c, 400.000 1p were surcharged 10c and the same number 20c, while 200.000 remained as 1p stamps simply receiving the name ISLAS DE JUAN FERNANDEZ. They were issued August 1, 1910, and made available for use throughout Chile.

The year 1910 being the centennial of the independence of Chile, a handsome pictorial set of fifteen values was issued on October 1st. A new permanent portrait gallery set was also in preparation and this was issued on September 1, 1911, the commemoration set being withdrawn on September 18th. This new set also comprised fifteen values. In 1912, however, the postal tariffs were increased and a number of new values were added in consequence, as well as exchanges in designs and colors of others. They began to appear about September, the 10c being followed by the 2, 4 and 8c, while the 14, 40 and 60c appeared in the spring of 1913.

In 1914 Chile installed a stamp factory of its own in Valparaiso, which had for part of its equipment a "Dujardin" machine for printing by the dry process from recess plates, similarly to the Stickney machine at our own Bureau in Washington. The 5 and 8c stamps appeared printed by this method in 1915 and with a perforation 13½x14½ instead of the 12 of the American Bank Note Co. But in the fall of 1915 the low values began to appear in what was at first chronicled as lithographed types, but which have finally been decided to be typographed. The higher values have since been appearing gradually in bicolored form as before but with the frames typographed and the vignettes engraved! It is said that the values 14, 25, 40 and 60c have been suppressed and the former 15c restored, due to further changes in the tariffs. The 4c has already been re-engraved. Of course, all these new stamps are readily distinguished by the new perforation as well as the new method of printing.—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

THE DIE IS CAST.

¶Our subscription price is now $1.

¶Had we been able to keep to 8 pages we could have run along for several more months on a 50c basis, but so little space has been available for reading matter in recent weeks that 12 pages are now imperative.

¶The circumstances that attend this decision upon our part are familiar to nearly every reader. They are the same as have confronted and are now confronting every newspaper and magazine. We have held out to the last ditch but now bow to the inevitable. There are three almost overpowering burdens with which the printed page is compelled to contend:—

¶(a) Increased price of stock. Within four years the cost of paper has increased over 200 per cent. Many papers are being crushed out of existence and others are forced to decrease their number of pages.

¶(b) Shorter hours of labor. Not only shorter hours but increased wages are an important problem in the producing power of the dollar. It costs us 100 per cent. more to print the WEEKLY today than in former years.

¶(c) Increased Postage. The P. O. Dept. added its influence to the task of making our burdens heavier by devising a scheme whereby the postage on the advertising sections of all publications shall gradually be increased during a period of five years. We are now on the second year and our postage account for the present year is 125 per cent. greater than the pre-war years. But why continue?

¶The matter of increase of subscription price west of Chicago was a foregone conclusion as soon as the P. O. Dept. raised the pound rates and differentiated between reading and advertising matter, but we have held off until now, with a 12-paged paper, no other course can be taken.

¶No paper published could take such a step as this with a more loyal cooperation than will be extended us, and we know that the new WEEKLY will be a stronger paper than ever before.

¶All subscription forms now in circulation should be distributed as usual. When your supply has been exhausted a new form will be supplied you.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Great—Well may our friends send us copies of the editorial section of the Sunday Journal, Minneapolis, Minn., of November 2nd, 1919, as the first page is devoted to an article, strikingly illustrated by a border of forty-eight stamps entitled, "Minneapolitan's Stamp Collection Tells World History Since Armistice." Mr. Howard S. Abbott is the collector who is so signally honored, and below his portrait is the explanation: "The stamp illustrations on the border of this page follow the history of new Europe since the war as told in the story. Start with the German stamp surcharged Belgium in the upper left-hand corner and read down and around the border, ending with the Belgian stamp showing Belgian occupation of the German Kameroons in West Africa." We cannot forbear to transplant a paragraph of the most interesting story that the enterprising newspaper has presented, as we like the reference to stamps as a sort of concentrated essence of history: "In Minneapolis, Howard S. Abbott, master of chancery, has perhaps the largest and most complete stamp history of the new Europe in the Northwest. Miles of book shelves would be required to house in printed word the story that Mr. Abbott's collection tells us in a few hundred variegated 'scraps of paper'. The sequel to the Great War; the birth of new nations; election of new rulers, maps of new territory acquired, the coming and going of armies—all this is told pictorially by the Minneapolis collection." This introductory remark is of the kind to whet the anticipation of the reader, and we are sure that a better conceived stamp story never had place in the press.

Foreign—A correspondent asks if a letter cancellation of the kind employed in the British offices abroad, such as A10 and A11, which are the cancellations of Kingstown, Jamaica, and St. Vincent, were ever used on our early stamps in this country. "Is it possible that U. S. stamps could be used to mail letters from the British possessions in the '50's?" A student of cancellations on our stamps informs us that U. S. stamps were used to pay the postage in the fifties from some of the British colonies and other foreign countries by reason of this or that postal convention. There were all manner of postal contracts entered into by one country with another, and the fact of the existence of the foreign-cancelled United States stamps is not to be gainsaid.

Shrewd—We try to suspend judgment on any development of philatelic enterprise that takes what seems to us a devious course or does not proceed along the charted channels. Too, we are interested in any novelty or departure in a philatelic sense; and so, we attend to the small advertisement from the Schenectady Gazette that has been forwarded to us by Mr. E. Harold Lane, Mt. Vision, New York:

"MAN OR woman wanted to sort list and press old postage stamps at home for us, spare hours or evenings, experience unnecessary. Average $2.50 to $5 weekly, strictly home work. Enclose stamped self-addressed envelope."

Mr. Lane was curious and addressed the "novelty company" and in a short time received from the "employment mgr." of the Hanna Novelty Company, in Indiana, whose letterhead reads, "historical and natural novelties," a circular letter from which we draw liberally: "The work concerning which you inquired, consists of soaking free from adhering envelope paper, sorting, listing and pressing large quantities of canceled postage stamps for us. Just as old coins have an especial value to collectors, so, likewise, have used stamps. To regain our lost business along this line, demoralized by the world war, we wish to engage men or women to help us in their homes, during spare hours. By letting the work out, we save heavy office rentals and overhead expenses that we should incur by centralizing this work in our own office." Well said and smoothly; and another engaging angle is shown: "No special machinery or apparatus to buy. You need a basin of hot water to soak stamps in and an iron to press them nicely. Applicants we accept will be given absolutely free a regular $5.00 instruction outfit, teaching the simple routine of preparing stamps." Here is how the wheels go round: "We also furnish a list of persons to whom you may write for supplies of used stamps (which will come to you just roughly torn from the envelopes) to prepare for us. You prepare the stamps as instructed and forward to us. We then remit to you for the current market (wholesale) value of same. From our remittance you deduct half (50%) as your wages for preparing the stamps and forward balance to the accumulators who furnished the lot. In no case do you pay these accumulators one cent in advance. You only pay them half proceeds after sales. Stamps vary in exact values, according to market conditions, etc., but we exercise a strict supervision over the grade of stamps that you receive to insure you a fair wage at all times. Seldom if ever will you average less than 10c per 100 stamps, to your own share. Usually more. From 400 to 600 stamps can be prepared per hour." Dost like the picture? There is more, much more; and a little formality, a little instruction deposit of eighty cents must be attended to but no bond is required. We shall not attempt now to analyze this

WARNING! TAKE HEED!!
DON'T buy packets without being assured that they contain only POSTAGE stamps which are OFF paper and that NONE are torn or damaged.
Unscrupulous dealers are taking "1000 variety packets" containing commonest stamps OF ALL KINDS and adding 15 to 20 really good items TO FEATURE in their "ads" and selling at a figure which is twice what they are worth. This harms not only the stamp collecting world but the honest dealer. POWELL'S PACKETS are GOOD ALL THE WAY THROUGH from Start to Finish and Full Count.

financial proposition but we hope that one of our trusty sleuths will tell us of the wheels within wheels of this moving plan. By-the-way, one Hanna, yclept Virgil of Indiana, caused a stir some time ago by his activity in promoting a stamp society whose ritual embodied a lot of secret work, that did not "eventuate," if we remember rightly.

Kind—We cannot undertake to act this year as we have at times in the past, as a distributing agency for stamps that may be donated for deserving shutins who find some solace in stamp work; and this conclusion is reluctantly reached as the waves of work creep higher and higher. However, those of our readers who wish to dispense cheer can be accommodated, no doubt, through the cooperation of the WEEKLY. We are put in mind to say this by the following letter from Mr. Wm. H. Van Leydner, 1411 Hancock St., Chester, Pa.: "I have in my possession an International Postage Stamp Album, Junior Edition (1916), which I am willing to give to some needy child or young person, sick or crippled. It contains a few stamps, although nothing to speak of, but there may be others who would part with some of their duplicates. If you know of someone around this neighborhood or in Philadelphia, I will see to it that he or she will get some stamps and a year's subscription to the WEEKY, too."

Dollar—Looking with sympathy on our recent struggles with the complex question of foreign exchange, Mr. Ernest Heberlein, Indianapolis, submits a table of values of the U. S. dollar abroad, as of October, 1919. We append: England, $1.15½; France, $1.61¼; Italy, $1.89¼; Germany, $5.62; Belgium, $1.61½; Spain, $1.00; Denmark, $1.22½; Norway, $1.14¾; Sweden, $1.08½; Japan, $.99½; Brazil, $1.25½, and Argentina, $1.00. We have had a number of letters telling of the vagaries of exchange, but it is evident that the question is righting itself. Stamps bought in Germany before the war at the old mark rate are coming through at the former price. The difficulties that have been referred to are now seen to have been those that naturally would take place pending an adjustment of the currency question under the circumstances.

PHILATELY IN ARGENTINA.
By H. F. SMITH.

By separate cover I am sending you a copy of The Argentine Exchange published in Buenos Aires. My number in the Exchange is 263 and as agent I would be obliged if you would give this publication a little notice in your valuable paper. At present we have 400 members and the number is increasing steadily.

As I have not seen mentioned in your publication the new issue of Argentine stamps I give you the following information:—

Scott's Nos. 231 to 239 and 241 to 243 are now issued on a poor quality of unwatermarked paper. The perforation remains the same as before, but in some sheets there is a watermark SERRA BOND in double line capitals, the watermark appearing only once in a sheet of one hundred stamps. Even this watermark seems now to be abandoned as the sheets are appearing without any.

NEWFOUNDLAND MARTINSYDE AERIAL MAIL.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

In April last a small mail was placed aboard the Martinsyde machine, being to some extent a duplication of that in the Sopwith machine. For the most part, the 3c Caribou without any distinguishing overprint was used for this mail, though some letters bore stamps of other denominations. Across the face of the envelopes was written "First Trans-Atlantic Air Post" or words to similar effect.

In an attempt to get away on the heels of the Sopwith machine, May 18th, 1919, the machine took a nose dive, turned completely over, and wrecked herself. Capt. Raynham and Major Morgan, the aviators, were not injured, but on advice of his physician the latter returned to England by the steamer sailing May 24th, and Lt. Biddlecombe came out to take his place.

The Martinsyde was re-constructed, and a successful trial flight was made over St. John's on the 4th of July. On July 12th the mail bag was opened and 25 additional pieces of mail were included, being mostly from folk associated with the venture.

On this flight, Raynham had in mind to better the record of 16 hours and 12 minutes made by Alcock and Brown in the Vickers-Vimy machine. The machine left the ground at Quidi Vidi field at 3.30 p. m., July 17th, but after going 50 yards she plunged downward and wrecked herself.

After this second crash the aviators decided to make no further attempts at Trans-Atlantic flying in the Martinsyde machine, and Capt. Raynham sailed for England, taking the mail bag with him, on the str. Grampian, leaving St. John's at daybreak, July 21, 1919.

Recently there have been chronicled in the English press certain values of the Caribou series (1c, 2c, 3c, and 24c), the 3c stamped envelope, and the 2c Universal Postal Union post card, with a purple overprint reading—

1st Atlantic
Air Post
Martinsyde

Morgan.

purporting to be an official issue for the Martinsyde mail. Further, that at least one cover bore the registration marks of the St. John's Post Office, in addition to the cancellation (by electric machine) showing the date May 17, 1919.

This overprint was never made by or with the approval of the Post Office Department of Newfoundland and no registered mail was included in the Martinsyde mail bag. The very nature of the overprint tends to discountenance official sanction.

The Martinsyde aerial mail as well as that carried by the Sopwith machine, was all machine-cancelled at the St. John's Post Office, and at the time of cancellation, the stamps on the letters bore no overprint. It would seem, therefore, that the rubber stamp was applied after the mail left the Post Office Department and therefore must be classed as non-official and without catalogue rank.

The only aerial stamps issued by and with the approval of the Post Office Department of Newfoundland were the 3c Caribou, overprinted "First Trans-Atlantic Air Post, April, 1919," and the 15c Cabot overprinted "Trans-Atlantic Air Post, ONE DOLLAR"—the former for the Sopwith, and the latter for the Vickers-Vimy and Handley Page mails.

ATLAS STAMP CO., (P. C. Smith, Mgr.) W. Somerville, Mass.

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY

For the benefit of brother collectors and dealers kindly permit me to present for your judgment a case which I am most happy to say represents considerably less than 1% of my correspondence. On July 1st last, I received a want list calling for certain low priced U. S. revenues from a collector with whom I have not had profitable business dealings. On the 7th I sent him $60 worth net that catalogued between $100 and $120, in good to fine condition. Postage and registration came to 16c.

In return for my endeavor to please him by sending a good-sized selection which included the best available copies of several of his wants he returned the stamps on July 11th by ordinary mail, unregistered, with 4c postage due, a check, and the following letter:—

"Your approvals are herewith returned with my check for 80c for two stamps bought. You submitted quite a few stamps which I did not call for in my want list, however, I regret that I was unable to make a substantial purchase from the lot because it contained many stamps which I would like to own. The stamps I would like to own are returned because your prices are too high.

I am frank with you when I say that I have been collecting stamps for thirty years and have received and am now receiving approvals from practically all of the large dealers in the country, but that your prices are the highest, outside of those of —— that I have ever seen, quality considered. I don't dispute your right to charge anything you want to for your goods, but I am simply telling you why I did not buy. I am probably not unlike yourself in that I want fine stuff, but I buy it where I can get it the cheapest. Thanking you for the approvals, and regretting our inability to do business, I remain, etc."

As this was my third unsuccessful attempt to please this fellow, I stopped the clock for an hour and answered him. Read my answer next week.

I Have It

1c Engraved, Imperf. Horizontally.

One pane of 100 only were found in Columbus, Ohio, of the 1c engraved, perf. 11 vertically and imperf. horizontally, upon unwatermarked paper. The pane is unique and no more are to be had anywhere at any price. It is as rare as the 24c invert but, of course, the price is much lower.

By the time this advertisement appears a few blocks of four may be left. If you want one write me at once. This is another illustration why advanced specialists of U. S. stamps should be on my list. Look up my advertisements for the last several months and see how many of the unique pieces have passed through my hands.

Collectors having important U. S. items should write me before closing elsewhere. You will note that I get most of the good things.

There must be a reason!!!

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—We mentioned in a previous issue that the Bureau had taken out numbers for two new plates of 150 subjects each to be used for the 3c Die II endwise coil. We now learn that the Bureau never finished these plates, and as there is no further demand for the 3c coil we doubt if they ever will be finished, and consequently, the 3c endwise coil of Die II will probably never be issued.

It will be recalled that several plates of four hundred subjects each of the 1c stamp were made for use on the rotary press. When these plates were first designed we were under the impression that they were the forerunners of Post Office sheets of one hundred stamps printed from the rotary press. We are reliably informed that some of these plates have been finished and that some experimental sheets have been printed, but that they will not be issued. This information comes from the Bureau and it is quite possible that later on they may reverse their decision.

A short note was printed recently in the WEEKLY describing a 6c perf. 12 sidewise coil which has been examined by Mr. Power and passed upon by him as genuine. Your editor fails to agree with him and would state that at the time he wrote his detailed coil article for the Gazette he looked into the matter of the 6c coil very carefully and found that one coil was rolled on requisition of the New York Post Office and that it was later returned to Washington, due to the fact that the stamp firm that ordered the coil cancelled their order. It remained in the Washington Post Office for some months and was finally destroyed. The records of the Bureau, as well as the Post Office, show that but one coil was made and that one coil was destroyed, and consequently, no copy of this stamp can possibly exist. I have examined the cover in question and would state that it is about 1 mm. shorter in the north to south distance than any coil stamp of the issue in question that the writer can locate, although he compared the variety with dozens of stamps. He also finds that the top margin does not appear to have been cut by the Bureau knife.

A similar variety was found in Virginia some months back, and after the owner investigated and followed the stamp to its source it was found that sheets of one hundred stamps of the 6c value had been cut up by scissors in order that they might be run through the affixing machine. It is barely possible that this may be one of those varieties.

Since writing our notes in a recent issue regarding the 1c engraved perf. 11 vertically and imperf. horizontally, we have had the pleasure of acquiring the sheet in question and find that it is from the upper right hand pane of plate No. 7938. The stamp is in a dark shade of green and has the two margins intact.

Mr. John N. Luff calls our attention to the fact that the half sheet of part perf. 3c stamps which we recently described were, as mentioned by ourselves, type I, whereas the sheet found in Cleveland and distributed some months back was type II. We were under the impression at first that the entire lot, that is, those found in both Denver and Cleveland, were of the same type, but are pleased to have our attention called to the two varieties. Your editor never saw the Cleveland sheet but owned the Denver half sheet, and knows that it was type I.

We wish to express our appreciation of notes of interest from Messrs. Malcolm H. Ganser, Chas. H. Hermann, T. Russell Hungerford, Arthur W. Kade, and Burt C. Wear.

BOLIVIA.—Mr. H. F. Smith sends us the following note regarding certain stamps being circulated in some of the countries of South America, which are not authorized by the Bolivian government. The Official communication reads in part as follows: "The administration of Bolivia advised the General Post Office of Argentine that there has been discovered in circulation a series of stamps which are unauthorized and which are a fraud on the philatelic public. These stamps are being circulated between stamp collectors in Chile and Argentine and are advertised in certain magazines. The stamps are as follows: 1c green, showing the ruins of Tiahuana; 2c red, has a view of a church at the same place; 5c blue, same view as 1c; 10c violet, passage of Lake Titicaca; 1b blue, Railway of La Paz; 5b, Bolivian ensign."

The communication was printed in La Epoca of Buenos Aires under date of August 5th.

HUNGARY.—Messrs. Bright & Son chronicle the following stamps issued by French Military Authorities, ordinary Hungary stamps overprinted "Occupation Francaise" in red or blue in two lines:—

Harvester type, 2, 3, 5, 6, 10, 10, 15, 20, 35, 40, 45 on 2, 50 on 3 filler; Parliament type, 50, 75, 80f, 1, 2, 3, 5, 10kr; Karl & Zita type, 10, 20, 25, 40f; Charity stamp, 10+2, 15+2, 40+2f; overprinted "Koztarsasag." 2, 4, 5, 6, 10, 20, 25, 40, 40, 50f; 1, 3, 10 on 1kr; express stamp, 2f; Newspaper stamp, 2f; Unpaids, 2, 10, 12, 15, 20f; Unpaids overprinted on 2d Newspaper stamp: 12 on 2, 15 on 2, 30 on 2, 50 on 2, 100 on 2f.

LIBERIA.—The Independent Stamp Co. informs us that they have a pair of Liberia 2c carmine rose and brown No. 410, one bearing the Official surcharge and the other without.

MONTSERRAT.—Mr. Charles Allan in Hemming's Stamp News supplies the following notes on the 1½d War issue:

On examining a pane of these stamps I found that there was a great deal of difference in the printing of the 1½d.

Taking the 1. Some taper from top to bottom, others have the appearance of leaning towards the left, others to the right and many nearly touch the top of the framework.

In the 6th row the 1st, 2nd and 7th stamp touches the outer line of frame, while on the ninth row the 1st and 4th touch the inner line of framework.

The small 1 of the ½ varies in thickness and at foot is broken. The eighth row 1st and 2nd stamp, ninth row 4th and 5th, bottom row 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 12th stamp tip touches framework at top.

In the 2 of ½. The following stamps touch framework at bottom. 1st Row. No. 2, 5, 6, 8 and 11. 2nd Row. No. 4 and 10. 3rd Row. No. 1, 7, 8 and 11. 4th Row. No. 4, 5, 6 and 12. 5th Row. No. 2, 4, 5 and 11. 6th Row. No. 10, 11 and 12. 7th Row. No. 8, 11 and 12. In the 9th and 10th none actually touch. Spacing between the 1 and ½ vary a great deal, also the —— have a great difference in length.

The d, bottom tip touches framework as follows: 1st Row, No. 6. 3rd, No. 3. 4th, No. 6. 5th, No. 6. 9th, No. 9. In the 9th Row No. 9 the top tip touches the framework only.

Stops vary in thickness, spacing between them vary, but none actually touch, the sixth stamp on the 1st Row stop touches outer frame. Broken stop. 2nd Row, No. 9. 4th Row, No. 3.

Coming to the "War Stamp" we have many badly formed letters, also taking a straight line from the extreme left hand stamp to the extreme right we find the "War Stamp" at various heights, the most outstanding being No. 118, the whole having dropped, and No. 117, 118, 119 have the appearance of leaning towards the left.

NEW ZEALAND.—A new issue is in contemplation, and the Agent-General for the Dominion is considering designs and consulting with stamp printers and others in London.—Philatelic Record.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. Edwin W. Fuss advises that he has received the following information from a correspondent in Managua regarding the 30 provisionals issued during a shortage of certain values. The letter reads as follows: "I have been informed officially that all surcharges have been retired from circulation. It is not allowed to use the old issues for postage. The Post Office officials, a few days ago, passed a resolution warning the public not to use the old stamps. No surcharges are obtainable now, the same old issue being on sale." Mr. Fuss adds that as some of the last provisionals were issued in limited quantities they will be very good. None are very common.

NORTH WEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—It may not generally be known that it is ossible to distinguish a difference be- ween single copies of the 5th setting of N.W. Pacific Islands and type "A" of revious settings.

Both of them have the two S's in "Islands" with short tails, but the relative positions of the first I in "Pacific" and the upstroke of the N in "Islands" differ slightly. In the 5th setting the upstroke of the N is slightly to the right of the I, whereas in previous settings it is slightly to the left.

This difference is quite consistent, and will be of great assistance in classifying the various settings of these most interesting stamps.—Philatelic Record.

SMYRNA (Greek P. O.).—Postage stamps continue to reflect the political consequences of the war's aftermath. According to the Times correspondent, information is to hand of an issue made by the Greek Authorities at Smyrna last June in anticipation of a mandate from the Paris Conference. On June 13, 1919, by order of the High Commissioner, the stamps used by the Greek Post Office in that city were impressed with the overprint E. T. SMYRNA (Heilenic Post Smyrna), in two lines of Greek capitals, and instructions were issued that no other stamps would be recognized. After twenty-four hours, however, in view of advices received from M. Venizelos, the Government at Athens decreed their immediate withdrawal.—Stamp Collecting.

VENEZUELA.—A Venezuelan correspondent of the Madrid Filatélico, Mr. Carlos Reyes Saldivia, sends a news cutting containing a copy of the decree concerning the issue of a new series of stamps. We translate this from our Spanish contemporary:—

Art. 1.—There shall be issued one million one hundred and ten thousand stamps for the recovery of the revenue and for the postage of correspondence circulating through the post offices of the Republic as per the classes, types, colours and quantities hereunder mentioned.

Postage Stamps.

300,000 of B.0.05 green.
250,000 of B.0.10 red-brown.
300,000 of B.0.25 prussian blue.
50,000 of B.0.50 indigo-violet.

Fiscal Stamps.

50,000 of B.0.50 sepia.
100,000 of B.2 grey-violet.
50,000 of B.3 violet.
10,000 of B.50 carmine-lake.

Together: 1,110,000.

Art. 2.—The stamps of this issue shall be of the same size and with the same wording as fixed by the decrees of January 29, 1915, and August 24, 1917, and they shall be printed by the American Bank Note Company of New York, with the dies which were used for the issues ordered by these decrees.—Stamp Collecting.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY,

VARIETY.—Strictly speaking, this should apply to any deviation from a normal stamp, but it is very generally used in the sense of "specimen", i. e., "a rare variety", "a set of ten varieties", etc.

VASCO DA GAMA ISSUE.—A set of commemorative stamps issued in Portugal and many of its colonies in 1898 in celebration of the fourth centenary of Vasco da Gama's discovery of the route to India.

VATHY.—The capital of Samos, Turkey-in-Asia, at which France maintains a consular post office. For many years the stamps used there were overprinted with the name "Vathy".

VENEZOLANO.—The unit of value in Venezuela for a time. It had a value equivalent to the United States dollar.

VENEZUELA.—A tropical republic of South America. Postage stamps were first issued in 1859.

VEREENIGING TOT BESTRUDING DER TUBERCULOSE.—This inscription on the charity stamps of Netherlands, 1906, means "Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis" and indicates the purpose for whch the stamps were issued.

VERGE (French, "laid"). — Occasionally used in describing certain varieties of laid paper.

VERTRAG V. 6 APRIL, 1850.—An inscription shown on the early stamps of Baden and Wurtemberg meaning "Convention of April 6th, 1850". This has reference to a postal convention made between Austria and Prussia which certain German states, Baden and Wurtemberg among them, were invited to join.

VICTORIA.—I. The smallest state, after Tasmania, of the Australian Commonwealth. It issued its first postage stamps on January 5th, 1850.

II. A small town in Texas whose postmaster in 1861 issued special 5c and 10c stamps which remained in use until the appearance of the general series for the Confederate States.

VICTORIA DE TORREON. (Victory of Torreon).—An overprint applied to a few of the so-called "Transitoria" stamps of Mexico and issued in Juarez on April 4th, 1914, in celebration of Carranza's victory at Torreon two days previously.

VIGNETTE.—An engraved portrait in a stamp design set upon a shaded background.

VIRGIN ISLANDS.—A group of fifty West Indian islands, most of which belong to Great Britain. Postage stamps were first issued in 1866.

VISCAYA.—A province of Spain having an area of 849 square miles which, during the government of the revolutionary Assembly in 1868, caused all its stamps to be overprinted "Habilitado por la Nacion".

V. N.—An overprint found upon certain stamps of South Australia used during the period 1868-74 by the depart dealing with Vaccination. They were superseded in 1874 when the general "OS" issue was circulated.

VOLKSRUST.—A small village in Newcastle, Natal, at which Transvaal fiscal stamps overprinted "V. R. I." were used by the British troops occupying it in March, 1902.

VOM EMPFANGER ZAHLBAR.—An inscription or overprint shown on the postage due stamps of Bavaria. It means "to be paid by the recipient".

V. R.—I. These letters, signifying "Victoria Regina", appear in the upper angles of certain 1d black British stamps which were prepared for official use but were never issued for postal purposes.

II. A watermark shown in the 6d embossed stamps of Great Britain issued in 1864 and also in certain Army Telegraph stamps.

III. An overprint found on certain Transvaal stamps used during the first British occupation of that country in 1877 and, provisionally, at Rustenburg, during the war of 1900.

V. R. I. (Victoria Regina et Imperatrix.—Victoria, Queen and Empress).—An overprint applied to the then current stamps of the Transvaal and Orange Free State in 1900 on the occupation of those countries by British troops.

V. R. SPECIAL POST.—An overprint applied to certain Transvaal stamps issued by the British military authorities for use at Vryburg in May, 1900.

VRYBURG.—The capital of British Bechuanaland, having a population of about 5000. Special stamps were issued by the military authorities in May, 1900, on the British re-occupation of the town after it had been for some months in the hands of the Boers.

JAMAICA'S WAR COMMEMORATIVE.

The new 1½d stamp of Jamaica, commemorative of the departure of the first Jamaica Contingent of the British West Indies Regiment for the war, appeared on July 3, and, according to our Kingston (Jamaica) correspondent, has proved very unpopular in the island. The issue was advertised in the Jamaica Gazette to be officially put into circulation on the 4th, but through an error of the Post Office Department the stamp was put on sale a day before its official birth, and, although their sale was brisk, yet very few were used on that date through the mails, and it is now almost impossible to find a used specimen with the Postmark of July 3. "Retung" writes us on the matter as follows:—"When it was known that the issue of a commemorative stamp was contemplated by the Government, collectors, as well as the general public, hoped that something artistic would appear, but the result has proved disappointing. Much criticism of the design and workmanship has resulted, and, in view of the public antagonism to its use, one would not be surprised if the Government decided to discontinue the issue after the present stock has been exhausted, and it would be well for collectors to hold the specimens they have until they know just what the Government intends doing."—Stamp Collecting.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A. V. Dworak, publisher of Philatelic Gossip, through a printed circular informs the stamp public that due to severe illness in the family it has been a physical impossibility for him to attend to correspondence or work that has been sent him.

—Mr. McLain, manager of the Eastern Stamp Co., asks, "By the way, does the printer have trouble with my adv. copy?" We were glad to write Mr. McLain that his copy was in ideal shape and that we should be glad were all copy equally as plain.

—J. Fischer, 1539 No. Lawler St., Chicago, Ill., is selling Peru 1909 complete 9 vars. for 20c (instead of 1919, as given in Oct. 18-25 advts.).

—At the regular meeting of the Rutherford, N. J., Stamp Club, held Nov. 3, the secretary, F. L. Tilson, was instructed to ask the principals of the local school to announce that a junior branch of the club will be formed November 17. Dues will be 50c per year, and juniors who are interested should communicate with F. L. Tilson, Secretary.

—W. M. W.—We are unable to furnish any single copies in Volume I of the WEEKLY, nor do we know of any place where you can obtain them.

—A stamp club is about to be formed in Syracuse, N. Y. Many collectors reside there. If interested get in touch with A. Altas Leve or Frank Marquis, Box 386. Success to the movement.

Whisperings and Whimperings of a Philatelic Nut

Edited by COTTON C. DOYLE.

Vol. I No. 6. November 15, 1919. Price: Postfree.

Nehcorpseg Hcstued Driw Reih!

Our Manhattan correspondent informs us that the Burger brothers were the innocent victims of a mean trick recently and although they are now laughing over it and passing out the cigars pretty freely as though it was a good joke on them, we understand they hope it won't happen again this year. One day they had a customer in the shop with whom they had previously done business only by mail. He was interested in some rarities they offered and in order to talk privately between themselves they conversed in a foreign language which very few people in America understand.

While they discussed the cost of the stamps and what they thought he might be willing to pay for them he kept his ears open and his mouth closed and when the senior partner of the firm named the price in such English as is commonly spoken in America, greatly to their consternation the customer answered in the foreign language they had been using. As it is better to leave some things to the imagination we will let the curtain drop here.

Query Dept.

John J. Jay, Detroit:—We do not agree with H. R. H. Luff regarding the 10c browns of 1879-81. Number 187 is supposed to be from a National plate (without secret mark) and Nos. 188 and 188a are from one or more Continental plates, (with secret mark). No. 188a is extremely rare unused and quite difficult to find used. The secret mark always shows plainly. Stamps showing the secret mark plainly also exist in a yellow brown quite as light as No. 187 but are not common.

We would divide all these 10c on soft paper into two groups; first, those showing the secret mark plainly; second, those showing it only faintly or not at all. We believe the stamps without the mark and those showing only traces of it were all printed from the same plate and we have yet to find evidence that this was the original National 10c plate.

The re-engraved 10c stamps, (Nos. 209, 209a and 209b), do not show the secret mark. The black brown shade is stated to have been the first printed,—following No. 188a—and the beautiful clearness of the blackish impressions indicates an early condition of the plate from which they were printed.

Instead of plating Sydney views and that sort of thing, which has been done a hundred times or so, why don't you do a little original research work on these 10c browns of your own country? Blazing your own trail is a little more work and a heap more fun than waddling along behind someone else and there is still much to learn about many alleged common stamps of these U. S. A. A 10c black brown of 1879-81 with year dated cancellation, or on cover, is rarer than a whole car-load of Sydney views. If you don't believe us, try to get one!

Notes and Gossip.

Ernie Jakleheimer, of the town that almost won the pennant, is bugs on cancellations. The woof is his favorite, especialy on the 3c '51. When he shows his 3c reds and the showee asks what that queer cancellation is, Ernie says, "that's a WOOF", and when the aforesaid showee innocently inquires what a woof is, Ernie chuckles and replies, "THAT'S a woof."

For the sake of the bank rolls of those of us who collect current Brit. Cols. in mint condition, we hope our cousins over the sea will accept Irv. Cobb's witty remark about Geo. the Fifth and Mary the other Four-Fifths as a joke and not as a hint, for we should regard an attempt to issue Queen Mary stamps until they outnumbered the present King's heads four to one to be a fearful calamity. When a witticism becomes a calamity it ceases to be a joke.

Educational Note.

Dr. Mitchell, known familiarly among his acquaintances who collect revenues as the "Kansas Cyclone", has been breezing around the metropolis. When he has cleaned up the rest of the world in search of U. S. revs. he intends to tackle Germany singlehanded and in preparation for the task is taking a course in commercial German from Gus Burger of the w.k. Nassau St. firm.

Philimerick Contest.

A Bolshevik dealer in Moscow,
Who answers whenever called Roscoe,
Says everything's fair
To get a stamp there;
This is terrible—is it not so?
A. R. M., Pa.

There was a fresh fellow named Doyle,
Who made many philatelists toil;
For his philimericks
And other stamp tricks,
Why not boil him in cotton seed oil?
H. C. B., N. Y.

Overheard.

By A D HESIVE.

Say, Hank, whatja doin'?

Reading the dictionary, Poole's "Philatelic Dictionary."

Readin' the dictionary? I didn't know anybody ever did that. Thought you only went to it when y'r wanted to find out how to pronounce a word or what it means. An' besides I never heard tell of any but Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.

Well, this is different from Webster's and a most surprising book, too. I just like to read it. It's as full of the unexpected and the unknown as a Jesse James. It's for stamp collectors, you know, not for ordinary knowledge getters. There are words and things in it I never heard of before. Here's a page, for instance, including Bamra and Ban. Now, first thing, what is Bamra? It is a native State of India which issued postage stamps from 1889 to 1894. Did you ever hear of it?

Never did.

Of course you didn't, and do you know what ban means?

Sure, that's what the government used to stop the flu and whiskey.

You're wrong, it's money, Roumanian money, by which the value of their stamps issued since 1868 are expressed.

Well, I'll be switched.

And now look on another page, here's Colon. I suppose you know the meaning of that, don't you?

Why, yes, near as I figure it's a punctuation mark, one dot above t'other.

Not in Philatelic lingo. Colon is the Spanish form for Columbus as shown on many of the stamps of Chili, and also is a unit of coinage in Costa Rica.

You don't say.

Yep, and here's colones, the plural for colon. Some have always thought that word on stamps stood for colonies, but t'aint so.

I should say not.

And here's Gab, Gabon and Gaboon.

Never heard tell of any of 'em 'cept gab, we hear lots of that 'round these parts.

Never did I, nor Garzon either, but they're all here. Now, let's turn towards the back and see what's new there. Here's S.O., meaning "stamp office" on stamps of Hong Kong; and Sol, meaning Peruvian money.

Always thought sol meant the sun.

No you're wrong again, and here's soldo, some Austrian-Italian money.

Well, that sure is some book.

I should say so. And do you know what "sower type" means?

Nay, nay Henry.

I reckon not. Outside of friend dictionary where will you find such fine bits of informaton?

I must say as one would observe in the nigger language, that "them is an awful knowledgeable book."

Rather. I love to ramble from page to page, for to see and to behold how much I didn't know about the stamps in my collection. It is grand reading, even if the subjects do change often.

CURRENT CHATTER.

By MACTAVISH.

The publisher having sent me a small bundle of current stamp papers, I was able to amuse myself for an hour or so reading the advertisements, and, candidly, I don't like the modern rubbish which so many small dealers are eager to unload on prospective customers. Stamp Collecting dated Sept. 6th contains advertisements offering sets of 6 Mosul I.E.F. "D"; various dealers, various prices, one dealer asks 7sh, another 9sh6d and others split the difference, while a week before a dealer in the same publication offered the set for 15sh! I don't know what the stamps are, or what they look like, but they seem to leave an unpleasant flavour.

Another dealer, this time a well-known one, advertises a set of 3 Roumanians for 6d, doubtless they are worth the money, but I don't like the spirit that brackets another dealer's name, also in the Strand, as offering them at 8sh. There are no dealers who haven't made mistakes, so why rub it in.

* * *

Another advertisement, and one that left a very unpleasant flavour, was of a Major Somebody advertising Occupation of Belgium stamps. As readers know, I am out of the stamp world, but it sets me thinking. I wonder how many English collectors will buy sets and gaze at them with pleasant recollections of those who died in Flanders. Besides, from whom were they purchased, and who gets the profits? I also do not like to see Majors advertising. By all means enter into competition with dealers, but for goodness' sake, drop the "Major." And that's that.

Writing of titles reminds me that far too many men who hold temporary commissions are hanging on to the "Captain" or the "Major" for trade purposes. Any stamp paper I open contains an account of Captain This or Captain That, incidently, it is contrary to K.R. but I suppose many modern heroes of the R.A.S.C. and R.A.M.C. don't worry about that.

* * *

Yet one more grouse, that is the number of foreigners in London who trade as stamp dealers. Some are well camouflaged, others retired, during the war, to the S. coast (well, Isle of Thanet), but the fact remains, they are doing a roaring trade in London. No, MacTavish doesn't often moralize, but I think there is a moral somewhere.

Perhaps it is a touch of liver and the fear that the W.O. will demobilize me. Who knows?

* * *

A much advertising London dealer says:—

"We buy for cash only, and Mr. — and Mr. — are willing to travel any reasonable distance (and do this regularly) to view any imported lots."

In the event of a Camberwell Green collector having something for sale, I suppose they take season tickets.

If I were asked to classify current stamp publications, I should put them under two headings, "Respectable" and "Modern." But then, I am becoming old-fashioned.

* * *

I know precious little about fiscal stamps. A. B. Kay is the chap who does, but looking thro' a collection the other day that contained some thousands, it struck me that quite a number which were issued contemporaneously at a 1d a line (that's a fine word) with postage stamps, would be useful for comparison and study. For instance, the perforation varieties of the early stamps of Finland, are very confusing to many collectors. The fiscal stamps of this period were perforated by the same machines and are much easier to classify owing to their large size. Varieties of paper, shades of colour, etc., could also be more easily studied.

I wonder what the end of this dreadful orgy of stamp issuing will be; neither a shortage of tin pot authorities nor a paper famine will stop it. The only thing I can suggest is that every purchaser of £10's worth of new issues should be compelled to buy £1's worth of Great Britain's premier security in consols, which at the time of writing are quoted at a shade over 50. Old-fashioned collectors who feel tempted to speculate, if such an anomaly could exist, in a few sets of Mussels overprinted for use in Jago-Trentino, printed on the seventeenth issue of Baghdad, and again overprinted for use in Jumbo-Toshland, take note.

I haven't seen a copy of the latest Gibbons, but I am told that the cheapest variety of the 1d black now listed is 4sh! Won't certain speculators be pleased! —Phil. Jour. of Gt. Brit.

HENRY AND WILLIAM ROEBER.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

H. & W. Roeber.

August J. H. Roeber appears last in the New York directory for 1865-66. His address was 113 W. 52nd St. The following year Henry and William Roeber are listed at the same address and remained there until about 1870. From 1870 on Henry Roeber does not appear and from 1873-74 the business address was changed to 528 W. 50th St. Part of the time William Roeber lived just across 50th street from his factory. Robert Roeber—his son (?)—was associated with him for a short time about 1876.

Regarding the H. & W. Roeber stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, April 2, 1866.
First issued, June, 1866.
Last issued, Aug., 1875.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
21,971,490 issued on old paper.
29,163,360 issued on silk paper.

"Henry Roeber assigned all of his rights in this die, plate, etc., to Wm. Roeber on July 23, 1869."

From the above it is evident some of the stamps on old paper and all of those on silk paper were used by Wm. Roeber after Henry Roeber had withdrawn from the business. Among the old paper H. & W. Roeber stamps so used were those printed in ultramarine. The latter are quite scarce and were probably in use only a few weeks, if so long.

The design of the stamp is not particularly attractive, being too flat and lacking contrast. It is of the usual 1c size and shape bearing an upright pearled oval in the center on which appears a United States shield with "Union" above and "Match" below. The shield is crossed by a pair of hands clasped. At either side is the numeral "1" joined by semi-circular bands, the upper inscribed "U. S. Internal Rev." and the lower, "H. & W. Roeber". "One Cent" is in a straight panel at the top and "New York" similar at the bottom. In spite of the large quantity issued really fine copies on the old paper are not easy to find.

William Roeber.

This stamp was altered from the H. & W. Roeber die by changing the name to William Roeber and the address in the bottom marginal label to "528 W. 50 St. N. Y." Mr. Roeber conducted the business there until his factory was taken over by the Diamond Match Co. in 1881. He became a dealer in matches, cigar lights, tooth picks, match machinery, peddler's supplies, etc., at 29 Madison St. and 33 New Bowery for a few years and from 1885 until 1896 was in the coal business at 557 W. 55th St. His match business averaged about 17 million boxes per year for the period the William Roeber stamp was in use.

The Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Oct. 16, 1875.
First issued, Oct., 1875.
Last issued, Mar. 2, 1883.
16,410,600 issued on silk paper.
112,524,963 issued on pink & wmkd. paper.

All the silk and pink paper stamps and some of those on watermarked paper were printed by the National Bank Note Co. It is also certain there were extensive printings by the Bureau on wmkd paper and no doubt the American Bank Note Co. printed many millions too. Probably twelve or more plates were required in all and some of the Bureau impressions are most certainly from new plates made at Washington.

The stamp is cataloged in ultramarine but does not exist in the true ultramarine. Pale and light blues and stamps printed from worn plates are not uncommon but the true ultramarines have a tinge of violet and were printed only on old paper for a short time in 1869—six years before the William Roeber plate was put to press.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Issues of 1913-18.

The permanent Republican issue of stamps, in preparation by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons of London, was finally announced in a Post Office circular dated May 31, 1913. There were to be nineteen values in three different designs, the ½, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 10 cent showing a Chinese junk in the foreground, in full sail upon the "Hoang-ho" or Yellow River, with the bridge of the Tientsin-Pukow railroad near Tsinanfu, over which a train is passing, in the distance. This bridge was formally opened for traffic on December 1, 1912, and established rail communication for the first time between Shanghai and the capitals of Europe. It also reduced the time for the passage of mail between Peking and Shanghai to within 38 hours.

The second design, for the 15, 16, 20, 30 and 50 cent stamps, shows a coolie reaping grain in the grounds of the Temple of Agriculture, with the Altar of the Moon, already described in the chapter on the Commemorative issue of 1909, showing in the distance.

On the 1, 2, 5 and 10 dollar values is shown the entrance archway to the Temple of Confucius, in the northeast corner of the Tartar City of Peking. This imposing structure of three graceful arches is constructed of enamelled brick and is a brilliant object under the bright sun. The Chinese inscription on the whole series is Chung-hua Min-kuo Yu-chêng or "Chinese Republic Postal Service," the English inscription being "Republic of China Postage."

The stamps are finely engraved on copper and the cent values are printed in sheets of 200, in two rows of four panes, each pane of 25 stamps in five rows of five. The dollar values come in sheets of fifty, however, five rows of ten stamps each. The paper is stout white wove, unwatermarked, and the perforation is 14 to 15.

The different values were issued as the supply of the surcharged stamps became exhausted. The 5 dollar stamp seems to have been the first one to appear at Tientsin on July 21st, while the 1 cent soon followed and the 3 cent appeared in August. The new denominations of 6, 8 and 15 cents and 10 dollars were also available in August, and by October the full set of nineteen values was in use.

At this time the following notice demonetizing all Empire stamps was published:—

Directorate General of Posts.
Peking, 1st October, 1913.
MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATION.
CHINESE POST OFFICE.
Notification No. 56.

Withdrawal of old issues of Postage stamps.

The Public are hereby notified that all denominations of unsurcharged stamps and post cards of the late Ch'ing Dynasty, including the Hsüan T'ung Commemoration Issue (Temple of Heaven design) will cease to be valid for the franking of mail matter on and after the 1st of April, 1914. Such stamps may be exchanged for stamps of the current issue at all Chinese Postal Establishments up to the above mentioned date.

(Signed) T. PIRY,
Postmaster-General.

The reference list of the permanent Republican issue is as follows:—

Engraved by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons.
July—October, 1913. Perf. 14 and 15. Unwatermarked.

½ cent, black brown.
1 cent, brownish buff.
2 cents, yellow green.
3 cents, slate green.

"PUT MY NAME
on your mailing list" is the request we have from hundreds of collectors without giving us a hint as to what they collect, whether U. S. in singles or blocks of four, or foreign. Of course, we are in the dark as to what to send and sometimes first lots sent are entirely different from what are wanted. All this can be avoided by saying what you want and how you want it, as we have asked so many times before. Do this and we will put your name on our mailing list, and WE BOTH WIN.

"APPROVAL WANT-LISTS"
This is the system by which 90% of my business is done today.
Its principal advantage is that you get just the stamps you lack and, at the same time, you are not obliged to buy anything at all. It gets us both to the point of business.
Here's the system:—
(1) Send your want-list of United States and specify condition desired—"fair," "good", "fine" or "superb."
(2) Send a bank or philatelic reference, if unknown to me.
(3) Your wants will be sent on approval with the privilege of returning any or all copies.

About the first of October, 1914, the 1 cent stamps began to appear in solid sheets of 200 instead of being divided into panes of 25. These new sheets were of ten horizontal rows of twenty stamps each, and had a vertical guide line between the tenth and eleventh stamps down through the sheet for facilitating their division into panes of 100 copies, ten by ten. Two marginal imprints above the fifth and sixth and fifteenth and sixteenth stamps of the top row, and two more beneath the corresponding stamps of the bottom row, showed that the new sheets were from the "Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing," of which we have already given the story of the establishment in Chapter XVII. The imprints are in white letters on a colored strip about 1 millimeter in width and 46 millimeters long, with a hair line bordering it all around at a distance of a quarter millimeter. The inscription is followed by a number denoting the plate. It is surmised that sheets of 400, in 20 rows of 20, have since been printed, as stamps showing guide lines at top or bottom have been seen in the lower values through the 5 cent.

The ink of the new stamps at first showed the same glossy appearance as that used for the Commemorative stamps of the issues of 1912. The paper of the 1 cent as first issued was of a thicker and more opaque quality than that used for the Waterlow stamps, and the 3 cent also appeared upon the same paper. But all the other values, as well as these two later on, were printed on a rather thin unwatermarked wove paper through which the design could be seen fairly well. The perforation is 14.

The stamps were issued as supplies of the Waterlow printings ran out of stock, so that the whole series in the Peking printing was not in use until March, 1915. The engravers at the Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing were quite successful in copying the designs of Messrs. Waterlow and Sons, and though there are certain small differences in each value it is hard to describe or illustrate a general test for the series. There are some differences in shade between the colors of the respective series as well, but these are likewise mostly difficult to describe. The best test is something that can be told at a glance or at least without too much study, and we believe that the following points of difference between the two engravings are the best that can be employed for distinguishing them quickly and easily without the aid of a glass. Others have been given but require closer examination.

Junk Type. 1st. The shading like a fringe beneath the two corner ovals and the curved panel containing the Chinese inscription at the top of the stamp. In the Peking prints this is heavy and apparently composed of coarser lines than in the London prints, especially just over the junk, where the lines of the London shading seem to be thinner than at either side. When once the difference in appearance of this shading is noted it makes a fairly quick test between the two, the "heavy" shading of the Peking stamps being readily caught by the eye.

2nd. The white wave crest just at the right and below the bow of the junk. In the London print this is not particularly conspicuous, but in the Peking print it is much more so and has a white "finger" or prong pointing upward toward the junk.

Reaper Type. 1st. The shadow of the coolie's right leg. In the London print this shadow touches the left foot in passing. In the Peking print this shadow is separated from the left foot by a white line.

Temple Type. 1st. There is an oblong white tablet in the tower above the central arch in the vignette. In the London print this stands out quite conspicuously. In the Peking print it is narrower and much less noticeable.

2nd. Just beneath the right end character of the Chinese inscription is a foliation of the acanthus scroll. In the London print this is joined to the solid color forming the curved end of the inscription tablet. In the Peking print there is a distinct break beneath the character and a heavy line curves up from the middle foliation of the scroll toward the character like a prong.

Early in 1917 a very clever forgery of the 50 cent stamp was discovered through the falling off in the sale of this denomination at the Shanghai post office. The Chinese authorities became suspicious and made an investigation which resulted in finding that hundreds of parcels of silk, franked with forged 50 cent stamps, had been sent to Canton. While almost identical in design and color with the genuine stamp, collectors may easily recognize the forgery by the perforation, which is 16, the genuine being 14. Slight differences are also noticeable in the engraving, the shoes of the reaper not being as heavily engraved as in the genuine, the right knee touching the left leg, and the second character from the left in the Chinese inscription showing marked differences from its proper shape.

The reference list of the re-engraved Republican issue is as follows:—

Engraved by the Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing. October, 1914—March, 1915. Perf. 14. Unwatermarked.

½ cent, black brown.
1 cent, brownish buff.
Bisected and used for ½c.
2 cents, deep yellow green.
3 cents, slate green.
4 cents, carmine.
5 cents, lilac.
6 cents, slate.
7 cents, blue violet.
8 cents, orange red.
10 cents, dark blue.
15 cents, dark brown.
16 cents, olive green.
20 cents, maroon.
30 cents, purple brown.
50 cents, dark green.
Forgery postally used, perf. 16.
1 dollar, yellow brown, center black.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA STAMP CO
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA

2 dollars, deep blue, center black.
Inverted center.
5 dollars, carmine, center black.
10 dollars, green, center black.

The 1 cent stamp bisected was used on March 9, 1916, at the Wuang Chow Post Office in Kuang-Si Province, during a temporary shortage of ½ cent stamps. The 2 dollars inverted center was found early in 1916 and it is believed that but one sheet of fifty is known.

All previous Republican surcharges were declared invalid for postage from September 1, 1914.

On September 1, 1914, China finally joined the Universal Postal Union, a step that had been contemplated ever since the organization of the Imperial Post in 1896 but not undertaken, partly because it was thought best to get the National Postal System into thoroughly competent working order first, and partly, perhaps, because the special postal conventions with Japan, England, France, Germany and the United States had practically made China a member, as her stamps were recognized and her mail matter exchanged with those countries under Postal Union rates and conditions. From the same date also China became a party to the Parcel Post Convention and the following offices began to operate as Exchange Offices for Postal Union Mails:—Moukden, Tientsin, Shanghai and Canton.

In January, 1918, an addition was made to the current set of a 20 dollar stamp in the design of its companion dollar values. Though available for postage and perhaps occasionally so used, the stamp was particularly for use on money orders or "Remittance Certificates", as the Chinese Post Office calls them.

Engraved by the Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing. January, 1918. Perf. 14. Unwatermarked.
20 dollars, yellow, center black.

Two new stamps are in prospect, but so far have not been issued. The following circular explains:—

CHINESE POST OFFICE
NOTIFICATION No. 391

Withdrawal of the 7 and 15-cent Denominations of Postage Stamps and Introduction of 1½ and 13-cent Denominations.

1.—The Public are hereby notified that, with the exhaustion of the present stock of 7 and 15-cent denominations of postage stamps, no further stamps of these values will be printed.

2.—Two new denominations of postage stamps—viz., 1½-cent, of the same design and color as the 7-cent, and 13-cent, of the same design and color as the 15-cent, are being introduced instead, and will be put on sale in the near future. The 1½-cent stamp is intended as domestic postage for picture postcards, newspapers, etc., and the 13-cent for express letters.

By order of the Co-Director-General.
W. W. RITCHIE,
Postal Commissioner.

Chinese Post Office, Shanghai.
4 March, 1919.

Inquiry of the Administration brought the answer that the stamps "would be issued in the autumn," so it is probably safe to make an advance listing of them at this time.

Engraved by the Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Autumn of 1919. Perf. 14. Unwatermarked.
1½ cents, blue violet.
13 cents, dark brown.

With regard to postmarks used with this issue, the small sized one introduced about 1899 and illustrated in Chapter X is still employed to some extent; but the small one wholly in Chinese, illustrated in Chapter XI, seems to have fallen largely into disuse. The postmark illustrated in Chapter XV is the one generally found on this issue, only the name in English is usually in a straight line. Another postmark of the same style but all in Chinese is also used, the upper portion containing the name of the Province in Chinese characters.

It may be interesting to note that the proposed restoration of the Monarchy, with President Yüan Shih-Kai as Emperor, which was planned for the early part of 1916 and prevented by a new revolution in South China, was heralded by the appearance of the new "reign name" on many of the postmarks as "Hung Hsien, First Year," etc. This was employed from January 1, 1916, to about the end of March, when the restoration was abandoned, or about eighty days in all.

Again, when the attempt was made to reseat the former Emperor on the throne and overthrow the Republic in the summer of 1917, the Peking postmark at least appeared with the new "reign name" as Ta Ch'ing Ti Kuo or "Great Pure Ruler's State," only a modified form of the old name for the Empire. This was only in use for six days, however, July 7-12 inclusive, when the new attempt was frustrated and the new postmark disappeared with it.

On the occasion of the inauguration of the new President of China on October 10, 1918, a special postmark was used in Peking. "This was oval in shape, with five horizontal lines on two sides enclosing a small circle, Chinese inscriptions figuring in the latter and in the oval itself. The central inscription in the oval signifies 'Commemoration of the accession of President Hsu Shih- inscriptions refer to the name of the post office."

$1.00 Cat. Value Free

Four hundred different stamps. None damaged. All in fine condition. The advanced collector would doubtless find many in this packet to add to his collection, while the beginner would have a start such as very few collectors have. The price is $1.20.

Mexican Dollar given. With the above packet I will send as a present a Mexican Villa dollar till my supply gives out. Can't tell just how long these curios will last. Among the 400 varieties in the $1.20 packet mentioned above will be found one stamp alone that catalogues at $1 or over.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

W.

W.—I. An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used between 1868 and 1874 on the correspondence of the department having charge of the Waterworks. These special stamps were superseded in 1874 by the general official set with "O.S." overprint.

II. A watermark shown in the Luxemburg stamps of 1852. It signifies "William," referring to William III, the then reigning Grand-duke.

W. A.—I. A watermark shown in many of the stamps of Western Australia in conjunction with a crown.

II. These letters are found punctured through certain Western Australia stamps which were used for official purposes.

WADHWAN.—A small state in Kathiawar, India. Postage stamps were first issued in 1888 and although they became obsolete only a few years ago one solitary label sufficed for the postal needs of the state.

WAR.—I. The inscription shown on the United States stamps issued in 1873 for the special use of the War Department.

II. An overprint shown on certain stamps of British Honduras issued for War Tax purposes.

WAR STAMP.—An overprint found on certain stamps of Antigua, Jamaica, Fiji, etc., indicating a special tax on letters and parcels applied as a war measure.

WAR TAX.—An overprint applied to the stamps of Grenada, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, etc., to indicate a special tax levied on letters and parcels in raising war revenue.

II. Special adhesive stamps issued in Spain for the collection of a transitory tax levied on letters and stamped documents. Strictly speaking they are not postage stamps at all but as some of the higher values, intended for use on certain documents, were allowed to be used on letters in payment of the tax and postage they are generally considered collectible varieties.

WATER COLOR.—Some of the weird and wonderful labels which did duty as postage stamps in the Indian state of Jammu and Kashmir were printed in water colors.

WATERLOW & SONS LTD.—A well-known firm of London stamp engravers and printers famed for the beauty of their productions. They have made a special feature of pictorial stamps, such as the handsome labels of Borneo, and for this class of work they have few equals and no superiors.

WATERLOW PAPER.—A term applied principally to a thick, soft paper, watermarked with double-lined "N.Z" and star, supplied by Messrs. Waterlow and Sons for some of the New Zealand stamps.

WATERMARK. — (Abbreviation, Wmk.). A device or pattern in the substance of paper, produced during the process of manufacture. In connection with stamps the watermark is usually a small device, so repeated in the sheets of paper that one copy of it may appear in each stamp when printed. In some cases the watermarked device is large and covers several stamps or it may only show on certain stamps in a sheet. In other cases the watermarks are arranged close together in the paper, so that it may be equally suitable for stamps of various sizes, this being usually described as multiple watermark. Where these various designs appear the paper is slightly thinner and, therefore, more transparent, so that if the stamps are held to the light the watermarked devices may be seen with more or less clearness.

WATERMARK BITS.—The designs in metal which are attached to the frame or dandy-roll for producing watermarks in the paper.

WATERMARK DETECTOR.—A philatelic accessory for aiding in the detection of watermarks. (See "Benzine Cup".)

WAVY LINES.—A watermarked device shown in the stamps of Bavaria, Russia, etc.

WE HOLD A VASTER EMPIRE THAN HAS BEEN.—The proud motto shown upon the 2c "map" stamps issued in Canada in 1899 to commemorate the introduction of penny postage for the British Empire.

WELL-CENTERED. — A philatelic term applied to stamps having an even amount of margin on all sides.

WENDEN.—A district of the province of Livonia, Russia, which has issued its own stamps, usually of the value of 2 kopecs, since 1863.

WENDENSCHE KREIS.—An inscription shown on most of the stamps of Wenden meaning "District of Wenden". The second word is sometimes shown as "Kreises".

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.—A British colony embracing the western third of the continent of Australia. Postage stamps were first issued on August 1st, 1854.

WHARTON'S POST.—A semi-official postal service organised in Louisville in 1857. The official service ceased with the arrival of the letters at Louisville but by payment of a small extra fee (1c) letters were delivered within the district served by this semi-private post.

WHITE BACKS.—A term very generally used in connection with certain British colonial stamps printed on surface-colored paper.

WIENER, C.—A Brussels engraver who engraved the die for the 1866-7 stamps of Portugal. His initials, "C. W.", are shown in tiny letters below the bust on each of the stamps of this series.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We have been favored with a set of photographs of the Hawker, Vickers-Vimy and Handley-Page Trans-Atlantic aerial mail covers. The courtesy is extended by M. P. Hynes, a longtime reader of the WEEKLY.

—O. R. H.—We do not know of any place where you can procure a 1919 Scott's catalog. The 1920 edition will be issued late in the spring.

—Frank F. Wills informs us that in a railway wreck which took place at Manuels, Newfoundland, on October 31, Canadian and American inward letter mail for St. Johns and vicinity (leaving North Sydney on the night of October 28) was destroyed by fire.

—In the Minneapolis Sunday Journal of Nov. 2, there appeared a full page feature of great interest to stamp collectors. There was a five-column article with picture of Howard S. Abbott, the well-known collector of that city. The article in question was written by Jefferson Jones of the Journal staff and it is entitled "Minneapolitan's Stamp Collection Tells World History Since Armistice". He bases his article on stamps contained in Mr. Abbott's collection and the story is surrounded by a border picturing fifty stamps of New Europe. The feature is a powerful boost for stamp collecting and is a token of the hold philately has upon the Twin Cities.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Jack Printz, Edw. Trotter Price, Arthur B. Moss.

—C. Lat. Wilhelm, longtime editor of the stamp column in the Baltimore Sunday American, is now featuring this matter in the Baltimore Star, of which he is State and Features Editor. Mr. Wilhelm is certainly putting Baltimore on the map from a philatelic standpoint. It is interesting to note that this city is soon to have a new stamp firm in the Hamill-Curtis Stamp Co., with office at 2713 St. Paul St.

—Victor M. Berthold has shown us a new die of the circular 1c green U. S. on amber envelope. Mr. Berthold describes the die as follows:—

—"We have found a new 1c circular die which I take pleasure to attach hereto. The most noticeable difference from either Die A or B are: U tall and close to figure 1. Large open D far from E. Wide space between 'S' and 'P'. N tall, broad and far from 'T' at top. Nose and chin pointed. Back of bust opposite figure 1 has a decided curve. Shows cravat in addition to collar line. The entire face and especially the hair is different."

—R. M. Osborne has sent us a write-up of the Brooklyn Stamp Club, one of the live philatelic organizations of today. At present the club meets at the corner of Howard Av. and Hancock St. every Wednesday evening, with business meetings the second and fourth weeks of the month. Quite recently the Brooklyn Philatelic Exchange Society consolidated with the Brooklyn Stamp Society and the Brooklyn Stamp Club was the result. Collectors in Brooklyn and vicinity are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

—An interesting piece of news reaches us. Wm. C. Stone, twenty-five years ago editor of the American Philatelist, is to resume his editorial duties upon that publication. Mr. Stone has both the ability and experience to make a strong publication out of the American Philatelist and we extend him our congratulations and good wishes.

—The Portland (Me.) Philatelic Society now meets every Friday evening at their new room number 33 Farrington Block, 439 Congress St., just off Monument Square. The meetings are strictly informal and generally include a contest with philatelic flavor, an auction and a bourse. Collectors living in or near Portland are especially urged to get acquainted, and a cordial invitation is extended to all visiting philatelists who happen to be in town Friday evenings to drop around.—D. D. SWEETSER.

THE DIE IS CAST.

¶Our subscription price is now $1.

¶Had we been able to keep to 8 pages we could have run along for several more months on a 50c basis, but so little space has been available for reading matter in recent weeks that 12 pages are now imperative.

¶The circumstances that attend this decision upon our part are familiar to nearly every reader. They are the same as have confronted and are now confronting every newspaper and magazine. We have held out to the last ditch but now bow to the inevitable. There are three almost overpowering burdens with which the printed page is compelled to contend:—

¶(a) Increased price of stock. Within four years the cost of paper has increased over 200 per cent. Many papers are being crushed out of existence and others are forced to decrease their number of pages.

¶(b) Shorter hours of labor. Not only shorter hours but increased wages are an important problem in the producing power of the dollar. It costs us 100 per cent. more to print the WEEKLY today than in former years.

¶(c) Increased Postage. The P. O. Dept. added its influence to the task of making our burdens heavier by devising a scheme whereby the postage on the advertising sections of all publications shall gradually be increased during a period of five years. We are now on the second year and our postage account for the present year is 125 per cent. greater than the pre-war years. But why continue?

¶The matter of increase of subscription price west of Chicago was a foregone conclusion as soon as the P. O. Dept. raised the pound rates and differentiated between reading and advertising matter, but we have held off until now, with a 12-paged paper, no other course can be taken.

¶No paper published could take such a step as this with a more loyal cooperation than will be extended us, and we know that the new WEEKLY will be a stronger paper than ever before.

¶All subscription forms now in circulation should be distributed as usual. When your supply has been exhausted a new form will be supplied you.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Up—We have raised the subscription price of the WEEKLY from fifty cents to one dollar a year. This step was taken reluctantly enough but it could not be avoided. Now that the advance has been decided upon, an explanation will be of some interest to those who attend to the intimate details of our business. Until recently, we rather gloried in the fact that notwithstanding that an increase in subscription rate was demanded logically by conditions that have been unfolding to our detriment, we held to the old quotation of fifty cents a year. In the face of advancing labor and paper markets, the idea of retaining the old price now seems Quixotic but we hoped that we could go along until some sort of readjustment lessened the pressure and vindicated our steadfastness. The hope proves illusory and we submit to the inevitable and will henceforth charge about two cents a copy for our paper instead of one cent. Advertisers alone must not be depended upon to relieve our burden and from the tenor of the answers to a recent questionnaire that was submitted to readers, it is gathered that subscribers generally will accept, if not advise, the higher price. We intend to run a twelve-page paper much of the time during the season but dare not make an announcement that the size is adopted regularly because of the restrictions still surrounding the use of paper. The supply of paper stock is inadequate for present-day needs. In a general way, we have been asked to co-operate with other publishers to conserve the supply of paper. The changes in our business have been material ones and the pre-war days are but a memory, as their like will never be seen again, in all probability. We are determined, however, that coincidental with the enforcement of the new rate, improvements will be made in the WEEKLY which, as the weeks go by, will become apparent to the most unconcerned of readers.

Echo—A bit of comment follows in the wake of the editorial paragraph, "Inspired," in the issue of October 25th, 1919; and a reader says that he thinks that a good newspaper story may be made out of our claim that philately as an agency of alleviation is doing more for stricken Europe than the outside world is aware of. Through the sale of stamps to collectors, the needy countries are getting real money without production, practically speaking. Occasionally, we are asked if we object to the use elsewhere of matter that appears in our columns. We do not, but expect, naturally, that credit be given us for anything taken. In the past, we have said something about the impropriety of not giving the WEEKLY credit as a source of information when its pages are drawn upon; but when acknowledgment is made to the WEEKLY, all is well.

Care—A reader sends us a marked copy of the booklet distributed by the American Philatelic Society: "To every stamp dealer the mention, 'Member A. P. S.' after your name is an open sesame—no other reference required. Could there be better proof of the quality of the membership of the Society with which you are now asked to affiliate?" This excerpt is opportune of the recent discussion of the refusal of one or more stamp auctioneers to consider membership in the American Philatelic Society and other societies a sufficient guarantee for extended credit. The question was given some attention at the recent convention of the A. P. S. and it was agreed that while any dealer has the prerogative to make his own restrictions, the badge of membership in the A. P. S. would become more meaningful in the best sense, under the closer scrutiny that applications are to be subjected to.

Exception—Here is a letter whose novelty appeals to us and we think that many a dealer reading the fair words of our correspondent will take heart again: "I am not a collector who is as critical of stamps as many of whom I read about are, but for all that, I am not insensible to the attractions of the stamp in sightly condition. In answering ads for single stamps, I find that I fare well and my object is not to make a complaint,—quite the contrary. A dealer from whom I habitually received very good stamps recently sent one that was barely fair. He said that it was the best copy he had but that he would not blame me if I returned it. I wrote him that I would keep the stamp as his general average was good and that as I accepted stamps that were better than would be expected without a word, I would keep the one that did not quite come up to the mark. Isn't this fair?"

Ignored—From Mr. W. J. Long, we have received the following words of approbation of foreign revenue stamps: "I have often wondered why more attention is not paid to foreign revenues; and mention of them is seldom made in the philatelic press. Is it because the collector of fiscal stamps is afraid of being derided? For several years I have devoted considerable time to these stamps; and since I have become a dealer, I have given up all my collections except that of British Colonial revenue stamps. For beauty, they cannot be beaten and the student of minor varieties may find a field that is practically limitless. Not a few of the early issues are almost unattainable and rank among the world's rarities. The 1857 issue of Ceylon could be cited and some of the early New Zealand and many others. You perhaps know other collectors of these stamps and a short article in the paper by one of them would do much to create an interest in this inviting side-line." An explanation to account for the indifference shown generally towards foreign revenue stamps could not be made in a few words. Every now and then, there is a spurt of interest shown in foreign revenues and the adherents of the "lost cause" become hopeful that their favorites will come into their own but expectations are never fully met and the stamps seem destined to be wall-flowers at the philatelic dance. At one of these periodical revivals, so bright did the future seem for foreign revenue stamps that we instituted a department of fiscal stamps in our paper and the brilliant J. P. Burgoyne and the able A. Preston Pearce supplied our readers with the choicest information regarding the issues, but the interest in them did not prove to be progressive; and in time they almost sank beneath the surface of our columns. Our guess is that foreign revenues lack personality when compared with postage stamps; they have not the international flavor that postage stamps have nor directly do they represent so intimate and human an enterprise as the postage stamps do. Fiscal charges are not so pleasant to pay as postage. For all that, one might think that the revenue stamps would have a large following because of their admitted beauty, generally speaking, even though we are well aware that scattered throughout the country there are partizans of the stamps. We do not ignore foreign revenue stamps and an occasional article by Mr. Heydon, Mr. Thompson, et al. is published in the WEEKLY.

THE DEATH OF GEORGE J. CARTER.

The news of the death of George J. Carter was received with deep regret by his many friends in the printing industry and the printers' supply field, throughout which he had an extensive acquaintance. He was the founder of the New York Printers' Supply Salesmen's Guild, having called the first meeting of the salesmen at his home, and was the first president of the organization.

Mr. Carter was born in London, England, December 21, 1864, and had made his residence in New York for the past thirty-two years. He passed away at his home in Brooklyn on September 21. The funeral services, held on September 23, were conducted by Hyatt Lodge, No. 205, F. and A. M., of which Mr. Carter was a member, and were attended by a large number of members of the printing fraternity. Mr. Carter is survived by his widow, one son and two daughters.—Inland Printer.

AMERICAN MATCH CO., CLEVELAND, O.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

1c—Black—3c.

This firm first appears in the Cleveland directory for 1869-70. The members were Wm. H. Newton, Edward H. Harger, Lamoyle Taylor and Enoch G. Selby and the address 24 Fifth St. The directory for 1870-71 gives the same except that Taylor is not mentioned at all. In 1871-72 Selby is president, Newton is secretary and treasurer and Harger is vice-pres. In 1872-73 R. H. Geary, H. H. Newton and E. H. Harger are listed as the proprietors of the American Match Co. In 1876 the firm consisted of R. H. Geary, Pres., W. H. Newton, secretary and treasurer, and E. H. Harger. The firm does not appear after 1876 and in 1877-78 Geary is listed as a paper box manufacturer, Newton is an assistant civil engineer and Harger does not appear at all.

Regarding the 1c stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, June 24, 1869.
First issued, August, 1869.
Last issued, July, 1875.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
1,893,620 issued on old paper.
5,847,042 issued on silk paper.

"This die was ordered by Selby & Taylor who became the American Match Co."

The design is severely plain and altogether is keeping with the austere and even patriarchal features of the portrait it bears. The writer has been unable to ascertain who the portrait pictures but believes it must be none other than Mr. Enoch G. Selby. It is framed by an upright oval containing the firm name, address, etc., and the rounded corners of the stamp outside the oval bear "U" and "S" above and "1" and "1" below. Within the oval at the left is "One" and at the right "Cent" in small capitals. The whole forms an upright rectangle of the usual 1c size. In many details the design greatly resembles the American Match stamp of Amsterdam which was last issued in the same month the Cleveland stamp first went into use. The centering of the latter is notoriously poor—the old paper being worse than the silk. A few copies of the 1c on old paper are known overprinted

Am Match Co
Jan 70

The overprint has been noted in red and in magenta. It is doubtful if the 1c stamp was ever used in multiple. None so used have been noted and the records would indicate that the firm always had a sufficient supply of the 3c stamps on hand.

Regarding the 3c stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, March 6, 1869.
First issued, April, 1869.
Last issued, July, 1875.
42 stamps per sheet, (3x14).
1,567,146 issued on old paper.
2,649,766 issued on silk paper.

This is a strip stamp intended to encircle the box of matches. The engraved surface measures 5¼x⅝ inches. In the middle is a longitudinal oval containing the same portrait found on the 1c stamp, but placed sideways with the top toward the right end of the stamp. At either end of the stamp is an ornamental panel containing an eagle and shield like that on the Eichele stamps. The panels between the eagles and the portrait contain the inscriptions in three lines. At left "American Match Co.—Three 3 Cents—Cleveland, Ohio", at right "United States—Three 3 Cents—Internal Revenue."

In the writer's opinion this is the handsomest of the long match stamps—the design being free from over-ornamentation, simple and effective. Unfortunately, the manner of use damaged most of the strip stamps and fine copies are seldom found. To obtain the 3c stamp on old paper in good condition requires considerable patience even for those who could afford to pay any price. Cancelled copies of this denomination have not been noted.

ATLAS STAMP CO., (P. C. Smith, Mgr.) W. Somerville, Mass.

HERE'S THE REPLY

sent to the collector whose letter I published last week.

"Dear Sir,—Thank you for your check for 80 cents and your most refreshing and encouraging letter. About nine out of every ten letters I get tell me what fine stamps I have and how reasonable my prices are and these letters often have checks for substantial amounts in them. They make me wonder if I am getting as good prices as other dealers but when I get a letter like yours I know everything is all right.

I thank my Creator for giving me brains enough so I do not have to price my stamps cheaper than anyone else in order to make sales. My sales often average over $1,000 per week net and I must be a wonder to do that and yet ask such high prices for poor stamps. Some of my best customers have been collecting more than forty years and have collections worth over $100,000 net cash and I feel greatly complimented that I am able to sell to them in competition with nearly every dealer of consequence in the country.

I don't know what your line is but I haven't the slightest doubt you are working for much less than you could get and if I were you I would ask for a raise of 100% right off. It may be foolishness to get as much as you can for your goods but most people don't think so. Of course if you asked me to sell your collection on commission for you I would feel that I should sell them as cheaply as possible and not try to get as good prices as possible for you. How about it? Or is that a horse of another color? Much of my business is commission trade and I admit trying to please the sellers as much as the buyers.

If you will keep it in confidence I will tell you that every little while I buy something from the firm you mentioned, paying their full retail price, and re-sell at a handsome profit. They do not always get the highest prices. And I have paid 100 times catalog in cash for an item you will find listed among the U. S. revenues. The item cataloged $1 and it was a profitable buy at that. I'd like to buy something from you at what you consider I should sell for. Send along a bunch of fine old U. S. and let me send you a real check."

This brought forth a storm of applause which, kind reader, you will have the opportunity of reading next week.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Rumors have been circulating for some time back that the Bureau contemplated issuing commemorative stamps. We can now state definitely that the Bureau is without any information whatsoever relative to any intended issuance of any new postage stamps either commemorative or regular issues within the next six months. As the Senate has not acted upon the Treaty of Peace as promptly as was probably supposed that they would act, quite likely the original desire to issue some sort of Peace stamp has cooled. Our current design of the regular issue has been in use for eleven years and a new issue would not be unwelcome. There is a long story attached to why the Post Office originally adopted the one or rather two head series and as this is philatelically interesting your Editor intends presenting some of these facts in a short article in an early issue.

Judging from numerous sheets as well as blocks of the 1c surface print which have been submitted to us recently by correspondents throughout the country, we have been led to believe that the Bureau has probably been more lax in distributing the last lot of these stamps than was their usual custom. From the looks of some sheets showing smudges, blurrs and other defects, we are almost lead to assume that they finally got rid of a number of sheets that originally had been discarded as imperfect. We must again repeat that these surface printed stamps reflect greatly upon the work of the Bureau and now that they are over insofar as postage stamps are concerned we sincerely trust that conditions will never again warrant the Bureau going back to this method.

Mr. J. R. Hammerle as well as Mr. H. F. Metz have brought our attention to the 2c ultramarine Playing Card stamp, series of 1914, surcharged by the Bureau in red "8 Cts.", with an additional surcharge both straight and inverted reading "8 c—R.P.C.Co.—4-1-'19" in three lines. We might state that when this latter surcharge is applied to the 2c ultramarine without the Bureau overprint it may be considered as a private provisional, for in such a case the overprint, similar to the previous 7c surcharges privately applied, is the only means whereby we know under what Act the stamp was used. When, however, the Bureau applies their surcharge the stamp becomes one of an 8c denomination and any further surcharging by a Playing Card Company can rank as nothing more than a cancellation.

Mr. P. F. Robinson has submitted an interesting Playing Card item namely, the large brown wrapper taken from the package in which one dozen packages of playing cards were wrapped. The small packages evidently were without stamps, for the brown wrapper is surcharged in two lines in red "Internal Revenue paid—8 cents per pack." We described some months back a similar wrapper surcharged 7c under the previous Act.

We wish to express our appreciation of notes of interest sent us by Messrs. F. Edw. Fahy, T. B. Mason, V. N. Conzemius, A. W. Kade, Gerald Mogeon, and Franklin S. Smith.

The mail also brings an interesting invitation announcing the coming marriage of one of our valued correspondents, Miss Elizabeth C. Buchanan. We wish her all the happiness in the world.

AUSTRIA.—Our valued Linkoping correspondent, Mr. Th. Allard, sends us a sample set of the "Deutschosterreich" stamps up to 50 heller, which, together with a 1k value, were issued in August—the 20 heller early and the others towards the end of that month.

They are in three types, the 1, 5, 10, 20, 25, and 45 hellers having the Austrian Eagle, the 3, 6 and 12 hellers having the representation of a posthorn, and the 20, 30, 40 and 50 hellers the picture of an aproned, but otherwise nude, young man, with his left knee on the ground, in the act of planting a sapling—presumably the new Austria.

The stamps all bear the imprint of the artist, J. F. Renner, and are lithograhed on white wove unwatermarked paper, perf. 12½. They each have considerable ornamentation in the spandrels and around the central device. The inscriptions of value are at the foot of the stamp, these and the colours being:—

1h vermilion.	20h slate.
3h grey.	25h blue.
5h green.	30h brown-lilac.
6h orange.	40h violet.
10h red.	45h olive.
12h pale blue.	50h ultramarine.

Our correspondent says that the above stamps will soon be obsolete, as the name of the country is to be altered to "Republik Osterreich," instead of as at present. New stamps, inscribed accordingly, or obsolete ones overprinted, will then be issued.—Stamp Collecting.

BELGIUM.— (Occupied German Territory.)—Current postage stamps of Belgium (1915 types) overprinted ALLEMAGNE—DUITSCHLAND in two lines in black. White wove paper. No watermark. Perforated 14.

1919, 1 centime, orange.
2 centimes, brown.
5 centimes, emerald-green.
10 centimes, bright rose.
15 centimes, deep violet.
20 centimes, mauve.
25 centimes, blue.
35 centimes, orange-brown & black.
40 centimes, green and black.
50 centimes, lake and black.
1 france, purple.
2 francs, greenish grey.
5 francs, deep blue.
10 francs, brown.

On the 5fr value the inscription in Flemish at the top of the stamp has now been corrected to "Frank" (instead of "Franken" as heretofore).—Stamp Lover.

EAST AFRICA AND UGANDA.—R. V. Raut writes: "I have a 3c G.E.A. stamp used with a 6c British East Africa and Uganda Protectorate stamp. They have a common postmark (Tanga). This shows that ordinary British East Africa stamps can be used in G.E.A. Does it mean that the G.E.A.'s are soon going to be withdrawn, when the G.E.A. territory will be affiliated with British East Africa?—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—We are informed by Robert Loebl that new aeromail stamps are soon to be issued, if indeed they have not already been issued. There will be two rectangular stamps in the series, 10pf green and 40pf orange. The stamps will be inscribed "German Aerial Mail". The 10pf stamp was designed by Mathey, who won first prize in the competition held by the German National Assembly. It depicts a posthorn with value on each side of the design. The 40pf stamp was issued by the Government Printing Office, shows a bi-plane in flight, and the value is found in each of the upper corners.

JOHORE.—We have received another new value on multiple Crown and C A. paper, 10c purple and ultramarine.—Australian Philatelist.

JUGO SLAVIA.—Adjt. Henry Hooreman informs us that the last consignment received from Jugo Slavia contain two new values in the type "Slave breaking his chains". They are the 15 blue green and 30 brick red perf. 12½. The 10 red, 50 Russian green and 1k red are now issued with zigzag roulettes.

KEDAH.—The $2 and $3 values have been overprinted Fifty cents and One dollar respectively. The overprint is in two lines, and two square blocks cancel the original value.—Aust. Philatelist.

ROUMANIA.—(Moldavia Provisional)—The following is noted by Messrs. Bright & Son:—10 bani handstamped on 3 bani, perf. 13½, in deep violet.

SWITZERLAND.—The Stamp Lover says concerning the peace set:—"According to official notices, these stamps will be on sale until Dec. 31st, 1919, unless the supply is exhausted in the meantime. When first issued, they were only available for inland correspondence, but they may now be used for foreign postage to Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Luxemburg, Roumania, Serbia, Sweden, Spain and Bohemia."

TYROL.—William Hay sends us a print of a so-called stamp concerning which he desires further information. The design is upright rectangular in shape and was used on parcel post service. The central design is the Tyrolian eagle, above being the inscription "Land Tirol" and upon the right and left the words "Postpaket" and "Freimarke" respectively. The value is 20 heller and the color red on white.

THE PAPER SHORTAGE.

The newsprint paper supply is rapidly approaching a stage which will be fatal to many newspapers. The present normal demand is perhaps 25 per cent greater than the supply, and prices are on a famine basis and going higher. At present rates of advertising it is impossible for most newspapers to make money.

If this situation were the result of manipulation or monopoly, it might be dealt with by the usual legal measures, though prosecution and legislation are disappointing in results. In fact, the present situation is the result of short-sighted attempts in the past to restrict the price of paper, which has kept capital out of manufacture, so that the industry now is not able to meet the publishers' needs.

The crisis can be met only by voluntary self-denial—unless it be allowed to develop until the weaker publishers go under. The Tribune is in a fortunate situation because it manufactures its own paper. But it believes it would be a national misfortune if newspapers or other publications of merit were victimized by this abnormal condition, perhaps even to the extent of being forced out of existence.

The Tribune believes, therefore, that the stronger publications should forego their advantage to a reasonable extent and enter into an agreement to curtail the consumption of newsprint paper. The agreement must be general and advertisers should give public spirited help by assenting to restrictions of space.

The Tribune would be glad to lead the movement for restriction, but has gone as far as it feels it is reasonable that it should go until a general agreement is put in force. It stands ready, however, to join in a general movement to bring consumption down to the level of supply and thus save a situation which must soon prove disastrous to many publications and a public misfortune.—Chicago Tribune.

NOTES FROM JAPAN.

By R. Yokohori.

The peace stamps of Japan are very remarkable in view of their quick production by the Government Printing Bureau by the recess printed process. It is well known that this process requires necessarily a much longer time both in plate making as well as printing. Another remarkable feature in connection with this special issue is that for the first time in the history of Japan's postage stamps plate numbers are seen on the margins of sheets. Some members of our Society, the Yurakukai (The Philatelic Society of Japan), have made lists of these numbers, which run from 3495 to 3502 inclusive on the 1½ sen; 3507 to 3514 on the 3 sen; 3527 to 3531 on the 4 sen; and 3522 to 3526 on the 10 sen. Each number is accompanied by a Japanese character, the second of the Japanese Hirakana syllabics, and is pronounced "ro".

Thus the two lower values have eight plates each, and the two higher values have five plates each. Hoe's four plate presses of which the Bureau possesses at least six, are said to have been used for printing these stamps. So we may safely assume that two presses each were used to print the lower values and one press each to print the two higher values, provided, of course, that the printing was done all at the same time.

I have to inform you that there has been discovered a small black dot on the plate of the 1½ sen which manifests itself in the printing of the stamp.

The steamship "Siberia Morn", which is one of the biggest steamships in Japan, made her first sailing October 12 from Yokohama direct to San Francisco. The trip will take only twelve and one-half days and it seems to bring the United States quite near to Japan.

The aerial mail service concerning which I recently gave you some particulars is scheduled for trips the latter part of October and I shall write you later concerning this.

With reference to the dot which is found on the 1½ sen stamp, I beg to say that minor errors occur very seldom on modern recess printed stamps, but the peace stamps of Japan are an exception. This distinct variety consists of a small dot in one of the half-circles of blank spaces in the border ornament near the lower right corner. There are five such stamps in each sheet of eighty, and are numbers 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10, counting from the left in the third horizontal row from the top. From the regular repetition of this variety in the plate we may assume that the transfer roll contains sixteen impressions in two vertical rolls of eight each, and that the third die from the top on the left side had received a small foreign substance at the plate mentioned. All the eight plates show this peculiarity. We have been so far unable to find any varieties on the other values. Mr. Umejiro Kimura, who is the president of our society, informs me that the variety is so constant that its market value will be small.

BAHAMAS COMBINATION PLATE.

Harry E. Huber.

Recent printings of the Bahamas George design stamps bring an oddity in the shape of a block of four, showing two different plate numbers—something unusual in current British Colonials. The current 2c British Guiana, George and Arms design, is printed in sheets of 240 sheets, the two upper panes (60 each) being from plate 1, and the two lower from plate 2. But here a block of forty stamps (two horizontal by twenty vertical) is necessary to show the plate 1-2 combination.

The George design keyplate of the Bahamas as made up in 1912, contained 60 subjects, arranged as usual, in ten horizontal rows of six each. From it were printed sheets of 60 stamps, on which the plate number (1) appeared four times; over the first and sixth stamps of the first horizontal row and under the complementary stamps of the tenth row. To facilitate the filling of requisitions, early in 1918, De La Rue & Co., Ltd., of London, made up an additional 60-subject keyplate, numbered 2, and showing the plate numbers in the same positions as for plate 1. These two plates, placed side by side, and clamped together, formed a 120-subject printing plate.

The first values to be printed from this combination plate were the ½d, 1d and 1s, overprinted WAR TAX in one line of tall sans serif caps and issued at Nassau on July 20, 1918.

Two blocks in each sheet show the plate 1-2 combination—one consists of the sixth and twelfth stamps of the left pane (plate 1), and the first and seventh stamps of the right pane (plate 2), with the narrow connecting margin; from the bottom of the sheet a similar block can be secured. These combination blocks are not at all common, for though 120-stamp sheets are sent out from London, they are usually separated at Nassau into panes of 60, for convenience in handling.

The 2d gray and 4d orange yellow were the next values to be printed from this combination plate,—issued in November, 1918. The 2d was issued primarily to care for the increase in letter rate to the States, from 1d to 2d, on February 21, 1918, when the war taxes on postal matter became effective. This value being new to the Islands' series, a Two Pence duty plate was necessary, and unlike other value plates for the George keyplate, it was made up with a marginal line surrounding each set of 60 subjects. (The duty plates of the current ½d and 1d Trinidad and Tobago stamps, also show this). The plate numbers on keyplates 1 and 2 were not spaced from the marginal line with the idea of allowing space for the reception of the duty plate marginal line (in the completed sheet),and the result is that the 2d duty plate marginal line encroaches on the keyplate numbers.

In February, 1919, the ½d, 1d and 1s ordinary, appeared in combination plate form; in May came the 2½d and 6d, and in August, the 5s

The two-line WAR TAX stamps were issued on July 14, 1919,—the ½d and 1s with red overprint and the 1d with black overprint—these, too, were printed from the combination plate.

AN UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Nov. 12, 1919.

Publishers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS,

Dear Sirs:—

I note from the date on the wrapper of my paper that my subscription has expired. I enclose check for $2.00. $1 is for another year's subscription for myself, and a person who cannot get two cents in value out of any copy of the WEEKLY must be dull indeed. I have taken it for many years and hope to continue for many years to come, although I am past seventy-two years of age.

For the other $1 enter a year's subscription to C. E. Dutcher, Elmhurst, L. I., N. Y. Wishing you all the prosperity that your good work deserves, I remain

WM. F. DAVIS, D. M. D.

The above letter speaks for itself. Our increase in subscription rates became effective with the issue of Nov. 15, while this letter was written Nov. 12. We venture to say that hundreds, yes thousands, of WEEKLY subscribers will second the word of approval Dr. Davis has so kindly sent us. We feel that we do well to feature this week this splendid unsolicited testimonial.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

THE LITTLE ALBUM.

By LOWELL J. RAGATZ.

Months have passed since that red-letter day when I left the quiet, humdrum existence of civilian life and donned khaki, entering a new world and facing a future at best uncertain.

Busy days they were, those in camp; days that grew into weeks, and weeks that grew into months; days crowded with hard work and thrilling experiences. There were gruelling eternities on the drill field with a brazen sun glowing overhead, sleepless nights when every muscle screamed forth its protest to a dulled brain, weeks of exacting and nerve-racking work on the rifle range and in the model trenches, innumerable transfers with the inevitable separation from all friends, and forced marches, all in preparation for the Great Adventure across the waters, which was destined never to come. Yet, now that it is all over, these experiences seem as if made of dream-dust, as though they were happenings in another world.

Few were the ties which then connected us with our pasts. Letters, a few papers and an occasional magazine—they were about all. There was time for little else in the mad preparation for the grim business which seemed before us.

Yet of the few ties which did bind me to the world of my yester-years, there was none which bound quite so tightly as did a little old stamp album—the collection of my schoolboy days.

For ten years it had lain, all but forgotten, among a pile of old books in the attic. In the attic, yes, covered with dust, and I fear, with more than one cobweb, while its several aristocratic, leather-bound successors were being filled, pored over, and given a place of honor on the library shelves.

What pleasure they have given me, these "grown-up" albums! How I love to turn page after page, resplendent with their unused beauties. How each little colored bit of paper whispers its own story, its tale of romance, into my willing ears. They have given me numberless hours of pleasure, and I hope, will always continue to do so.

But not until the short row of loose-leafs was being put into the vaults for storage until the happy return, did I realize what a large part stamps really were of me. They had become a part of me; they had come to fill a place in my life which would be painfully vacant without them.

Then it was that I turned once more to my first love, the little collection of long ago, and on a sudden impulse, rescued it from its ignoble resting place, and packed it at the bottom of my suitcase. It was with me during my entire life as a soldier, and was an ever-present, comforting companion.

Look at it with me now; let us turn its pages carefully. A small collection, yes, in a little back-broken Imperial, the stained copies and liberal use of mucilage or "mehlkleister" bespeaking the halcyon days of childhood when mere hindersome accessories such as hinges and tweezers were alike unknown.

Laugh at it, even as I did every time I took it from my blue barracks bag. Yet what a train of recollections the turning of each page calls forth; how, in the lonely moments in the tented cities of the Southland, each dab of color on the scantily filled pages brought back happy memories of friends of the dream-like long ago.

The three "Army Franks" on the first page! Well do I remember the day I traded them with a school chum for some old five-cent stamps taken from my grandmother's love letters. The Franks are not real stamps? Of course not! And I gave something really choice for them? Yes! But listen. I would not today exchange those three red, blue, and brown labels for a dozen 1847 five-cent each.

The friend from whom I received them was an officer in the A. E. F. and led a brilliant attack at Chateau-Thierry. There he met his death, but only after five machine gunners had fallen at his hand in close quarter fighting. Today, he lies buried in a little cemetery on the edge of a quaint French village. Is it any wonder, then, that I prize these little remembrances of him as I do?

The four-cent Omaha. A battered specimen, torn and daubily cancelled. Admittedly. But it was the first stamp I ever had. When, years ago, as a child, long winter illnesses made many tedious hours which taxed the ingenuity of my mother to make them pass as pleasantly as possible for me, she one day gave me a boxful of stamps to cut up. But when I saw this pretty orange stamp, with its Indians hunting the prairie buffaloes, I was fascinated. I had never known that stamps were interesting before, and instead of cutting up those in the box before me, I commenced to look them over. The day had passed before I was aware of it.

On the morrow, I amused myself by pasting all I had into a big wholesale implement catalogue, using the family glue-pot. Not that I had ever heard of stamp collecting or albums, but pasting the pretty bits of paper into a book seemed the logical thing to do.

And then, a few days later, when I noticed an advertisement in the Youths' Companion, in which the old Schuster Stamp Company offered 105 varieties of foreign stamps, including China, Japan, and Egypt, all for a paltry nickel, my joy knew no bounds. So stamps were used, too, in the countries I had heard so many wonderful tales of? Ah, I must have them!

Anxious days passed until the packet arrived, and with it came an approval sheet. No one but myself could touch the stamps, and to keep them safe I put them under my pillow at night. As for the approval sheet, I was innocent of the ways of stamp dealers, and stuck the stamps from them into my book with the others.

See these Chinese dragon stamps and the Egyptian salt tax revenues? They came in my first packet, and these [illegible] square Nicaraguan envelopes with their spouting volcanoes came from that first approval sheet. No bill was ever sent for the goods from this sheet—doubtless it was not worth the while! It was long before I realized what a culprit I had been. The use of the little pieces of gummed tissue paper puzzled me. Why, they could never hold the stamps as well as mucilage or glue could.

Thus things ran on for some time, until one day I saw an Imperial album in a book-shop. A book, meant just to paste stamps in! What a find! I must have it. A china-pig bank was broken, and the album, now this tattered one before us, became my own.

And then came the transfer from the catalogue which had thus far housed my treasures. Many were torn in the process, as you will see. Yet, that did not worry me, for I was then anything but the condition crank my friends now accuse me of being. What was a mere corner more or less?

This shilling Rhodesia? That was offered as a premium by some dealer whose name I have forgotten in the first stamp paper I ever saw—a copy of the WEEKLY, which came addressed to me. How it happened to be sent is unknown to me,—it is possible my name was on some list of customers the publishers purchased from the dealers I had been patronizing in my small way.

Be that as it may, that copy of the WEEKLY was a revelation to me. A real paper, with men offering stamps for several dollars each, and others giving them away free! From that day, my real collecting days may be said to have begun. Very sensibly, I at once subscribed; very foolishly, I at the same time wrote for every premium offered.

The result, of course, was a large array of approval sheets. And as I then learned what they really were. I began to buy stamps in earnest. Progress was rapid, and the tiny Imperial with its pasted down derelict copies was soon discarded for an International, while hinges took the place of paste and glue.

Since then, I have had many collections, yet somehow I have always kept my first love, and glad indeed I was when I could lay my hands upon it when the need arose. For me, every one of the specimens it contains has its tender recollection; each tells to me some happy story of the old home and yester-years.

This was true in camp, where it served the double purpose of filling the "stamp corner" of my mind, and bringing back thoughts of the golden days of childhood, and it is true now.

At the rare times when I have a few moments of leisure and feel a touch of loneliness creeping over me, I cooly ignore my haughty loose-leafs and take down from its new place of honor on the shelves, my humble friend of other days. And then, as I slowly turn the pages of my little album and pore over my tattered treasures, the years which have intervened since I pasted them down seem as naught, and the weight of care and time slips slowly from me as once again I find myself the child of the long ago.

COVER CONTEST AWARDS.

When we accepted the position of judge in the contest based upon the assigning of details of stamp design found on the cover of our special number dated September 27th to their proper progenitors, we did so with our eyes open. We had the simplicity of mind to think that for some reason or other this contest would not entail the work that a previous contest of the same kind did some time ago, when we undertook the task of selecting prize-winners. We thought that our readers would be too busy to spend much time studying over the picture puzzle and that the prizes of ten dictionaries would be easily awarded. The trickle of answers at first soon developed into a stream and near the end of October there was a deluge. Soon a dawning suspicion that we had invited trouble gave way to certainty and when it was shown that the designs in some cases were used on the stamps of more than one country, we knew that some tall thinking had to be done if we were to treat fairly all those who relied upon our honesty of endeavor.

In the original design, Mr. Coe named the countries as follows: Bosnia, A7; Brazil, A39; Bulgaria, A23; Colombia, A88; Chile, A13; Cuba, A24; Dahomey, A2; Denmark, A10; Ecuador, A20; Egypt, A15; France, A5; Great Britain, A89; Guadeloupe, A8; Greece, A26; Hawaii, A28; Italy, A47; Japan, A29; Nicaragua, A13; Peru, A20; Portuguese Congo, N1; Portugal, A52; Roumania, A48; St. Lucia, A15; Wurtemberg, A4 and U. S., No. 233. This list comprises twenty-five subjects, and if the repetitions of the designs in the cases of Brazil, Greece, Portuguese Congo, St. Lucia and Egypt are counted, the total becomes thirty-one. A difficulty arose when, for instance, the Portuguese Congo design could be ascribed correctly to other colonies. After making all adjustments, we find that the following ten contestants are the prize-winners, Mr. Algeo heading the list with twenty-four names correct:

Howard Algeo, 787 Elton Ave., New York City; A. A. Belser, 395 Ellsworth Ave., New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. J. W. Stanford, 455 Wildwood Ave., Piedmont, California; L. R. Wells, 4708 N. Kedzie Ave., Chicago, Ill.; Theodore H. Ames, 71 Christopher Street, Montclair, N. J.; E. M. Sperling, Hotel St. Regis, New York City; Daniel Benkholder, 722 N. 16th Street, Harrisburg, Pa.; C. A. Erickson, 8101 S. Peoria St., Chicago, Ill.; T. R. Hungerford, 222 N. St. N. W., Washington, D. C. and Charles M. Breder, 15 Humboldt St., Newark, N. J.

Honorable mention is given to the following: Stephen Carleton Rogers, 21 Red Rock St., East Lynn, Mass.; W. E. Booker, D. D. S., 390 Main St., Worcester, Mass.: George Kump, Xenia, Ohio; Jas. Lewis Howe, Lexington, Va.; R. E. Wade, Jr., 918 Queen Ave., Seattle, Wash.; W. P. Palmer, 140 Cooper Ave., Upper Montclair, N. J.; —— ——,709 S. 51st Ave., Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. William P. Platt, White Plains, New York; E. Dittrich, 204 Columbia St., Portland, Oregon; Maurice Goldsmith, 36 Rutledge Ave., Charleston, S. C.; Othmar J. Roehl, c/o Marshall & Ilsley Bank, Milwaukee, Wis., and Robert Loebl, Box 218, Roanoke, Va.

Some of the entrants submitted lists beautifully illustrated and in particular we may mention the effort of Mrs. J. W. Stanford while Dr. Wells' answer was given in rhyme.

JUGO-SLAVIA.

By JAMES F. HAMILL.

It is my purpose to make a short reply to Messrs. H. Kuh and Matt Simuvich, in reference to my article under the above title which appeared a few weeks ago.

Taking up Mr. Kuh's "comments" first, I admit my mistake in the population of Bosnia and Herzegovina, as the correct figures are 1,568,092 instead of my 19,702. In respect to the area of the same province, apparently both Mr. Kuh and myself are in error, as he gives it as 23,262 sq. miles, while the latest edition of the Encyclopedia Brittanica gives it as only 19,696 sq. miles, and Funk and Wagnalls Standard Dictionary as 19,702; my figures of 1,568 sq. miles were, of course, incorrect also, but this can be readily explained as an error on my part in taking down the figures, which came about as follows: The figures of the area and population of Bosnia and Herzegovina were taken from Funk and Wagnalls Standard Dictionary, where the population figures are recorded by the thousands; so after the name of that province were given—"19,702" and "1,568", meaning an area of 19,702 sq. miles and a population of 1,568,000; but in jotting these down, I apparently got them reversed, and had I taken them as they really were and added the thousands to the 1,568, I would have been all right.

Although I gave no figures for the population of Sarejevo, Mr. Kuh states it as 30,000 in 1902, while the Encyclopedia Brittanica distinctly gives it as 37,713 even in 1895. He also says Agram had a population of 65,000 "in the nineties", but I again refer him to the Encyclopedia Brittanica, where it gives Agram's population even in 1907 at only 61,002, while in 1890 at 38,742—nearly half of Mr. Kuh's figures. Having lived there, he naturally knows more about the buildings, etc., than I, and if his statement is correct, then I was misled by Funk and Wagnalls Standard Dictionary which distinctly defines Agram as "a city of cathedrals and universities".

Replying to both Mr. Kuh and Mr. Simuvich on the question of Laibach being in Slavonia, they both surely read my introduction in which I clearly said I was dividing Jugo-Slavia up into only the three main classifications, namely, (1) Bosnia and Herzegovina, (2) Croatia, and (3) Slavonia. Naturally Carniola and Slovenia both came under Slavonia, even though they may be entirely separate groups, and for that reason Laibach was taken as a city of Slavonia.

Mr. Kuh graciously gives us the information that DRZAVA means "State"; HRVATSKA means "Croatia"; KRALJESTVO means "Kingdom"; and also that "29 Listo Pada" signifies October 29th. And in the same issue, Mr. Frederic C. DePuy tells us the portrait on the 5k Slavonia is King Peter of Serbia, so the unknown points in the subject have been brought to light. I desire to thank them both for the corrections and further interesting information they have supplied.

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY,

WMK.—A very generally used abbreviation for "watermark".

WOLMARANSTAD.—A small town in the Transvaal about 50 miles northwest of Krigersdorp. During the occupation of the town by British troops in June, 1900, certain of the then current stamps of the Transvaal were handstamped "Cancelled—V.R.I." in two lines as a provisional British issue.

WOODBLOCKS.—The popular name by which the locally produced triangular stamps of the Cape of Good Hope are known. It arose from a very generally accepted, but quite erroneous, notion that the stamps were printed from engraved woodblocks.

WORN IMPRESSION.—A stamp printed from a worn plate.

WORN PLATE.—A plate on which parts of the design have become so worn that they fail to print properly.

WOVE BATONNE PAPER.—This is wove paper with watermarked lines showing at fairly widely spaced intervals. It is rarely met with but examples may be found in some of the stamps of Poonch.

WOVE PAPER.—This is paper of a plain even texture such as is usually employed for books and newspapers. It is the one most generally used in producing postage stamps.

WURTEMBERG.—A German kingdom situated between Bavaria and Baden. Postage stamps were first issued in 1851.

W. W.—The initials of William Wyon, the engraver of the dies, which can be plainly seen on the base of the bust of some of the embossed British stamps of 1847-54.

Y.

Y¼.—The real meaning of this surcharge has caused a controversy extending over many years. One argument is that as "y¼" would mean "and ¼" in Spanish, the stamp is of a value of 2¼ reales. The other argument, and the one which is accepted by the best authorities, is that "Y" stands for "Ynterior" and the stamp is a ¼ real stamp for "interior" or local postage. That this is the fact is clearly enough shown by the decree of Nov. 15, 1855, which "ordered the establishment of an interior post (correo interior) for the City (Havana) and suburbs, beginning on the 19th. instant" and also that mail matter "must not circulate without being prepaid by stamps of one-quarter of one real, silver, specially prepared for the purpose, and to be found on sale at all postal stations." Only one stamp was required on a missive, irrespective of weight, and the surcharged stamps were used until replaced by a definite type of this value in 1862. The use of "Y" for "I" as an initial is an old Spanish custom as witness, "Ysabel," and "Ygnacio," for Isabella and Ignatius, and the painter Yriarte.

YCA.—An overprint found upon certain of the local issues of Peru intended for use in the district of Yca.

YEN.—The unit of value in Japan. A yen is divided into 100 sen and is worth about 48c in American money.

YING-YANG.—A watermarked device shown in many of the stamps of China, which represents the positive and negative qualities in nature according to Celestial philosophy.

YRAPA.—A control mark shown on some of the type-set stamps issued in Marino, Venezuela, in 1903.

YUNNAN.—The capital of the Chinese province of the same name. The stamps of Indo-China used at the French post office maintained in that city are all specially overprinted with name and value, the latter being in Chinese characters.

YUNNAN-FOU.—The overprint applied to the stamps issued for use in Yunnan in October, 1906. "Fou" means a town of a certain rank higher than that indicated by "sen".

YUNNAN-SEN.—The overprint applied to the stamps used in Yunnan prior to October, 1906. "Sen" indicates a town of less importance than one having a right to the affix "fou".

Z.

Z. AFR. REP.—An abbreviation for "Zuid Africaansche Republiek" (South African Republic) shown on the stamps issued by the Boers at Pietersburg in 1901.

Z. AFR. REPUBLIEK.—The most usual form of the name shown on the stamps of the Transvaal when an independent republic.

ZAMBESIA.—One of the administrative districts of Portuguese East Africa, in the lower valley of the Zambesi river. Postage stamps were first issued in 1894.

ZANZIBAR.—A British protectorate consisting of the islands of Zanzibar and Pemba. Postage stamps were first issued in 1895.

Z. A. R.—An abbreviation for "Zuid Africaansche Republiek" shown in the overprint upon the stamps issued by the Boers during the temporary occupation of Vryburg in 1899.

ZARAGOSA.—A Spanish city now more usually known as Saragossa. During the regime of the provisional government of 1868 the stamps used in the city were all overprinted "Habilitado por la Nacion".

ZA LOT KOP. 10.—An inscription shown on the stamps of Poland meaning "10 kopecs per lotte"—the Russian unit of weight for letters.

ZEITUNGS.—The Austrian word for "newspapers" shown on the newspaper and Imperial journal stamps of that country.

ZEITUNGSMARKEN. — A watermark shown once in each sheet of the Austrian Imperial journal stamps. It means "newspaper stamps".

ZELAYA.—A province of Nicaragua. which has used specially overprinted stamps since 1904.

ZIG-ZAG ROULETTE.—A roulette where the cuts are such as to produce sharp points along the edges of the stamps. Some of the Queensland 1d stamps issued in 1899 will serve as examples. It is also known by the French term percé en pointes.

Z. M.—An overprint shown on certain Mexican stamps provisionally issued in Zacatecas.

ZULULAND.—A British protectorate in Africa, north of Natal and, for administrative purposes, forming an integral part of the latter colony. Postage stamps were first issued in 1888 but were superseded ten years later by the ordinary issues for Natal.

THE END.

THE DEMON COLLECTOR.

(By a Tired Husband)

My wife is a collector.
She has been at it for years.
She collects antiques and curios.
She says that's how she got me.
She can scent an old spinning-wheel
For nine long miles, and so far
No one has ever escaped her.
She does not collect sensible things
Like postage stamps, coins, or butterflies,
Which can be carried in a trunk.
But runs more to antique davenports,
Grandfathers' clocks, fourpost beds,
Louise Quince chairs, what-nots,
Horsehair lounges, highboys,
Ancient dining-room tables, tea-wagons,
Spindle-legged chairs, andirons,
Fireplace cooking utensils,
Antique beanpots and such like.
When I go to sit down she yells:
"Don't sit on that. It's antique
And it might break!" and so
The only safe place to sit down
Is on the steps of the back porch.
Whenever we move our regular furniture
Makes only a third of a van load,
While the collection takes
As many as five vans, and
Every time we move we have to have
One more van than we ever had before
And take a larger apartment.
At our present rate we will,
In a few years, be living
In Mechanics Hall.
Yesterday we were in the station,
Starting on our vacation.
And she began sizing up locomotives
And parlor cars and baggage trucks.
I can only hope that she Doesn't think of elephants.
It's a grand life?
You said it.—Boston Advertiser.

STAMPS OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

All values except the 4d are found with a compound perforation of the 11 and 11½-12 machines. These are all scarce and though no authoritative information is available it seems highly probable that these formed an early supply, for the 11 perf. by itself was only used for the 1862 issue.

All values are known imperforate, but whether these were regularly issued or are proofs we cannot state. The 2d and 9d are known imperforate vertically and the 3d imperforate horizontally. Gibbons' mentions all three varieties as existing in pairs, imperf. between, but we believe this is simply an erroneous description of the part perf. errors.

Finally the 2d, 3d and 4d values with the 11½-12 perforation are known on a coarse wove bluish white paper quite distinct from the yellowish wove already referred to. In the large lot of remainders sold in 1874 practically all of these three denominations were on this paper, which would seem fairly good evidence that they formed the last supply of the pence stamps sent to the Island. When they were issued is a moot point. Gibbons' says "1867-8" and, Mr. King, presuming that a warrant issued in 1867 or early in 1868 for the payment of a supply of stamps covered this consignment, assumes they were issued at least as early as 1868. But we have already shown that the 4d value could not have been issued until the early months of 1869 and it is highly probable that the first supply was on the old yellowish paper. It seems more than likely, therefore, that the stamps on the bluish wove paper did not reach the Island until 1869 or 1870. All three values on this paper provide pale and deep shades and the 4d is known in horizontal pairs imperforate between.

A very interesting variety of the 2d of this issue is known rouletted instead of perforated, the variety evidently belonging to the series of 1861. We cannot do better than quote Mr. King's remarks regarding this variety, viz.:—

"This variety was first discovered by myself in October, 1888; it was found in a large quantity of used Prince Edward Island stamps sent me from Charlottetown; they were principally the 2d perforated 9, and only one specimen of the rouletted was found. The papers, from which this lot of stamps came, eventually fell into the possession of a friend of mine, Mr. Bartlett, and he was fortunate enough to discover four more. Up to the present date (1895) these are all the specimens known to exist, and taking the limited number of them as a criterion, they should rank among the great rarities. The paper is the same as that of the other values, and the color is a deep rose, with almost a shade of the claret tint of the 2d perforated 9. It is a very common shade in that value. The roulette points are quite distinct. Whether these stamps were sent out rouletted or not is open to question, though I am inclined to believe that they were.

All the specimens known are from the papers of one firm, and were probably on the correspondence of one person. At the time that these stamps were found, the taste for collecting on the entire cover was in its infancy, and not one of the five was so kept; thus, no trace of the date they were used or the Post Office that they emanated from remains. It is possible that a sheet or sheets had been issued in an imperforate condition, and that the postmaster of the receiving office or the party who bought them had them rouletted for their own convenience; but I think a more probable explanation is, that on account of the unsatisfactory separation of the stamps perf. 9. Whiting may have sent a few sheets rouletted to see if they would suit and that these sample sheets were issued to the public. This would seem more probable than that there was a rouletting machine on the Island at that date, but whatever their origin there can be no doubt as to their rarity."

ads of stamps wanted and they invariably call for "fine perfect condition" and we wonder what has become of the off centered, straight edged stamps which have been saved for the past 25 years. Of course the first object of making a collection is not what you can sell it for, but every good Yankee with red blood in his veins, instead of ice water occasionally asks himself "what are they worth?" We should judge the answer would not be very satisfactory if collected along the lines sometimes followed. CHAPTER IV.—The Bisected Pence Stamps.

In the official notice relating to the forthcoming issue of postage stamps published in the Royal Gazette for December, 1860, we read "the blue or red stamp will be received for payment of half the sum it indicates if cut in two diagonally" so that the bisection of the 2d and 3d stamps perf 9 was officially sanctioned. Although so far as the 2d value was concerned this bisection was unnecessary after the issue of the 1d stamps in 1862 no official notice seems to have been published discountenancing the practice. Indeed, as in the case of the other British North American provinces, the bisection of any stamp seems to have been allowed. In many cases these "split" stamps were made simply to obviate the necessity of a special journey to a post office for the proper denomination and we thus find bisects of all values. These varieties are all rare and are highly interesting and, of course, should be collected on the original cover. They were usually used in combination with other stamps but as no reliable list of the various combinations has been compiled we mention in our reference list only such splits as have been recorded on good authority.

REFERENCE LIST.

These stamps are all bisected diagonally unless otherwise stated.

CHAPTER V.—The Engraved 4½d Stamp.

On the first day of June, 1870, the single rate on letters to the United Kingdom was reduced from sixpence sterling to three pence sterling—equal to 4½d currency. This necessitated the issue of a new stamp and as it was apparently desired in a hurry the order for its manufacture was given to the British-American Bank Note Company of Montreal and Ottawa. The design shows a portrait of Queen Victoria similar to that shown on the 6d stamp of Canada. Around the portrait is "Prince Edward Island Postage" in large uncolored letters and at the base is "3d.Stg. Cy.4½d" in bold characters enclosed within scroll work. The stamp is much the handsomest of any of the Prince Edward Island issues and is the only variety printed from an engraved plate. This value was printed on medium white paper in sheets of 120 arranged in two panes of sixty stamps each (ten horizontal rows of six) placed side by side. The stamp varies a little in shade from yellow-brown to deep brown. The exact date of issue is not known and though it is generally assumed to have been ready when the new rate came into force (June 1st, 1870) the earliest record we can find is a paragraph in the Stamp Collector's Magazine for September of that year stating it had "just made its appearance".

CHAPTER VI.—The Cents Issue.

In July, 1871, the following paragraph relating to Prince Edward Island stamps appeared in the "Stamp Collector's Guide":—

"This province is about to present us with a completely new set of stamps, similar in design to the present issue, but with value expressed in cents in place of pence. The change will be occasioned by the adoption of the decimal currency."

The Act establishing the decimal system of currency was passed on April 17th, 1871, and, as shown in an earlier chapter, the new system went into effect on January, 1872, so far as postal matters were concerned. There was thus ample time between the passing of the Act and its enforcement for the new stamps to be obtained from London. The new series comprised six values—1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 12 cents—and it is quite probable that they were all placed on sale on January 1st, 1872. Curiously enough, however, the stamps do not appear to have been mentioned in any of the British stamp journals until April of that year when the Stamp Collector's Magazine listed them as follows:—

"Our budget this month is comparatively unattractive, being almost exclusively composed of notices of minor varieties. The sole prominent exception is the new series for Prince Edward Island. This is noticed by our New York contemporary, who describes it as "simply a disgrace to any country". The stamps are, according to him, "the poorest engraved in use in the British dominions"; and we can fully bear out his opinion ourselves, and so, we think, will our readers after examining the annexed engraving. The design consists of the head of the Queen to left, in various frames, and inscribed "Prince Edward Island, Postage," with value in words. The stamps are printed on soft white paper, unwatermarked and badly perforated. In size they are rather above the average, being as large as the Costa Rican stamps. It is surprising that at a period in the issue of stamps, when all our colonies are seeking to obtain finely-engraved and artistic designs, the Prince Edward Island authorities should, from an apparent enthusiasm for economy, prefer the rough productions of some native artist to the finished works of the American Bank Note Company. As these stamps mark the supercession of the antiquated currency, in favor of the decimal system, they were certainly worthy of a finer design."

Apparently this enthusiasm for economy was the sole reason for such poor-looking stamps, for Mr. Whiting was well known as an engraver and printer who could produce the best grade of work. When it is considered that he made no charge for dies or plates and printed the stamps at the exceedingly low rate of 2s per thousand, it is remarkable that the stamps are as good as they are. Mr. Whiting's bill for these stamps was submitted on June 4th, 1872, in the following terms:—

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND POST OFFICE.

294, 500 Postage stamps, one cent, orange, at 2s	29	9	0
100,000 Postage stamps, two cents, blue, at 2s	10	0	0
290,000 Postage stamps, 3 cents, pink, at 2s	29	0	0
200,000 Postage stamps, four cents, green, at 2s	20	0	0
300,000 Postage stamps, six cents, black, at 2s	30	0	0
200,000 Postage stamps, twelve cents, mauve, at 2s	20	0	0
Postages	9	7	0

Evidently only this one supply was ever sent to the Island for in the following year the special stamps ceased to be issued when the colony was admitted into the Dominion of Canada.

The stamps were issued in sheets of 100 arranged in ten rows of ten though the plates of the 3c and 12c found in the Whiting effects, and mentioned in a previous chapter, were composed of fifty stamps. Regarding this Mr. King says: "it is probable that the sheets were printed from two plates clamped together, as the entire sheets show no irregular spacing between the middle rows, which would certainly have been the case had they been printed in two impressions."

As in the case of the pence stamps there are all sorts of minor varieties due to defective printing. The only one of any importance occurs in the 3c. The plate for this value was evidently composed of a reproduction of a mould containing ten cliches in two rows of five each. The second stamp in this group has a distinct uncolored dot between the words "Prince" and "Edward" which thus occurs five times in the plate reproduced in the London Philatelist. This plate apparently composed the right half of the sheet and curiously enough the variety does not show in the corresponding stamps of the left hand half.

There being but the one supply shades are not very pronounced except in the case of the 1c, in which variations from yellow-orange to brown-orange may be found, and the 6c which exists in deep green and yellow green.

The stamps were all printed on the same sort of paper and the 1c and 3c values provide two distinct sorts of perforation. Some were perforated with the 11½-12 machine used so extensively for the pence values and others were perforated with a machine having a gauge of 12½-13 and making much smaller holes. Both values are also found with a compound perforation of both these varieties. The 2c, 4c, 6c and 12c values were perforated by yet another machine having a guage of 12 to 12¼ and are only found in this form. All values are known entirely imperforate while Mr. King mentions an entire sheet of the 6c imperforate vertically. We have also seen this value in a horizontal pair imperforate between. These stamps had but a short life, for on the 30th June, 1873, they were withdrawn from use.

SYRACUSE ORGANIZES.

On Monday evening, Nov. 10, a meeting of Syracuse, N. Y., collectors was held at the Citizens' Club and the Syracuse Stamp Club was organized. Fourteen prominent collectors were present and the following officers were elected:—

President, Napoleon H. LaVaute; Vice President, Thomas O. Young; Secretary and Treasurer, Warren J. Haberle; Sales Superintendent, Frank Marquis.

There were several displays of fine stamps and all collectors showed keen interest to get things moving. There are prospects of a large membership inasmuch as all seemed to know of collectors whom they would notify to be present at our next meeting on the night of Nov. 17, 1919, at the same place.

It is our intention to get permanent club rooms and hold weekly meetings and auction sales at least once in every two weeks.—W. J. HABERLE, Sec.

1851 U. S. Collection

We have just acquired a very unusual collection of the 5c, 10c and 12c values of this issue, containing numerous pairs, strips of 3-4 and 5, Shifts, Recuts and Cancellation Varieties. Also a unique cover to Argentine with 3 strips of 3, of the 10c, and a cover to Germany with a strip of 3, a pair and a single of the 10c. Another interesting item is a piece of the original with two fine strips of the 12c used together.

Shall be glad to submit any of these to collectors interested, who are willing to pay our price.

$1.00 Cat. Value Free

Four hundred different stamps. None damaged. All in fine condition. The advanced collector would doubtless find many in this packet to add to his collection, while the beginner would have a start such as very few collectors have. The price is $1.20.

Mexican Dollar given. With the above packet I will send as a present a Mexican Villa dollar till my supply gives out. Can't tell just how long these curios will last. Among the 400 varieties in the $1.20 packet mentioned above will be found one stamp alone that catalogues at $1 or over.

CHAS. W. PARKER
MERIDEN, CONN. [09

COURTESY OF MR. UHLMAN.

Mistakes seldom happen in connection with the advertisements that appear in the WEEKLY, but they do occur occasionally in the mailing department. It is due to the mass of detail in connection with the mailing list, which cannot be checked up every week. When a subscriber is dunned for a renewal of subscription and his number on the wrapper plainly indicates that the subscription has months to go, he should realize that a mistake has happened, for the Whole Number tells the story. The present Whole Number is 1509 and your subscription has not expired if it is beyond that number.

It also occasionally happens that a renewal is sent in at about the time notices of arrearages are sent out, and a detail of this kind cannot be adjusted on the mailing machine the moment it reaches the office. Just allow a little lee-way and your Whole Number will soon acknowledge the renewal.

All this is preliminary to the acknowledgment of a very courteous letter received from Wm. Uhlman of N. Y. City. We shall quote a part of his letter:—"I have received Your Whole Number 1507 and herewith enclose the wrapper which shows that my subscription does not expire until Whole Number 1563 has been forwarded. However, I am willing to renew my subscription for two years and enclose my check for $2."

We are justified in saying that any subscriber who has an unexpired subscription of one year and yet renews for two years when the subscription price has been doubled deserves a place in the front ranks of material friendship. We thank Mr. Uhlman.

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

In every community there are scores of boys interested in stamps and stamp collecting. You should cultivate this interest by giving away your cheap duplicates and getting boys to sell the better grade among their associates. Here is all the outfit you need, and we can furnish it:—

100 approval report blanks	.30
100 neatly printed letter heads	.30
100 approval sheets (two colors)	.30
1000 American Hinges	.15
Book "How to Deal in Stamps"	.10
Perforation Gauge	?
	$1.15

The Whole Outfit for $1.00.

The boy of today is the adult collector of tomorrow and the more missionary factors there are, the merrier will be the hobby in the days to come.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are informed that Herrin, Ill., will have a new set of precancels to use during the holiday season. There will be fifteen varieties from 1c to 15c, the set including the 3c Victory. This information comes from A. A. Jones.

—The Evening Post Magazine of New York in its issue of Saturday, Nov. 15, contained a full page article entitled "Stamp Market Boomed by the War". It was written by Henry B. Curry and is based upon an interview with Chas. J. Phillips of the Stanley Gibbons Co., Ltd., who has been here in the U. S. for some weeks. It is publicity of the right sort and will be worth many thousands of dollars as an advertisement of our hobby. The article is nicely illustrated and the new European issues receive considerable attention. Allan J. Roos was the first to send us a copy of the article in question.

—After advertising in the WEEKLY for some thirteen years under the name of the Co-operative Exchange, it will now be noted that henceforth the firm name will be discontinued and the business will be conducted under the name of Max F. Bier & Co. Mr. Bier by his honorable dealings has built up a stamp business of considerable proportions and his regular use of the WEEKLY has been a no mean asset in attaining success.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from T. S. Brophy, Frank W. Lynes, L. S. Kilborn, H. M. Clark, Harold Rowlatt, L. J. Shaughnessy, Sam White, Robert H. McAllister, J. Rausch, Harold M. Breese, Zeigler Sargent, Geo. G. Umstead, P. F. Sabine, G. F. Wild, W. F. Ferguson, J. W. Sampson and Thomas S. Bergen.

—We regret a mistake which occurred in connection with the article "Precancelled Stamps of the U. S." by Dr. C. W. Hennan in our issue of Nov. 1. Dr. Hennan's name was printed "Herman", but we feel quite sure that the identity of the writer was easily apparent in the strong association of the doctor's name with precancelled stamps.

—The latest pricelist to reach us introduces the "Texas Special Line" consisting of packets, sets and approvals and issued by A. A. Hyde, Sherman, Texas. A feature of special interest to us is the fact that Mr Hyde advertises our entire set of booklets as well as the taking of subscriptions to the WEEKLY. This is co-operation that counts.

—"Please correct address in our ad to read 551 North 52nd St. instead of 511. Have taken more office space and will begin display ads very soon."—BELMONT STAMP CO.

A WORD OF EXPLANATION

I wish to apologize to the patrons of the Elk Stamp Exchange for any apparent neglect that has been paid them. As manager of the exchange I beg to say that I have been absolutely unable to give any attention to stamp business during the past few weeks, nor shall I be able to before January 1. I have just purchased the Rexall Store in this town and have found it impossible to get sufficient assistance to properly handle the details of the business that has come my way. Those who have sent stamps in for exchange are assured that they will lose nothing through this delay. The publishers of the WEEKLY or anyone else may communicate with the United Drug Co. of Boston or the local bank, and I believe all inquirers will be satisfied with the report made concerning our financial responsibility.

F. D. MARTIN, RENOVO, PA.
Manager of the Elk Stamp Exchange, formerly St. Marys, Pa.

LOSS OF THE GREEN COLLECTION.

(There was a brief mention in the Chronicle a few weeks ago of the loss of Col. Green's stamp collection by the sinking of his steam yacht "United States." The rumor has not been verified but this clipping from the New York World under date of Nov. 18 is interesting enough to bear reprinting.—Ed.)

When the steam yacht United States, owned by Col. E. H. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, struck on rocks near New London, Conn., last August and was sunk, there went down with the vessel a large part of Col. Green's valuable collection of rare postage stamps, it was reported yesterday. Col. Green could not be reached last night to verify the report.

The stamps are said to be in two safes aboard the yacht, but water seeped in and it will require the services of an expert to ascertain the extent of damage. It is feared, however, that the water has destroyed the delicate colors of the stamps and has detached them from the books in which they were inclosed.

Col. Green's collection of rare unused stamps, the great Nelton collection and forty-three copies of the 24 cent United States Aeroplane Mail stamp with its centre printed upside down are reported destroyed. Col. Green some time ago bought a single sheet of 100 stamps for a price said to have been in excess of $20,000.

GREATER VALUE GIVEN THAN BY ANY OTHER PUBLICATION.

To The Editor:—

The Nov. 15 WEEKLY is here in New York Wednesday morning this week,—a new quick-delivery record for the New York P. O., and I note your increase in subscription price to one dollar.

In my opinion you will lose but very few subscribers by this necessary increase, and those few will not materially decrease the sales of your advertisers.

Anybody who is unwilling to pay two cents a copy must be a tightwad, and the average collector is not that.

Think how cheerfully we all dig up 2c for the morning newspaper, only to glance at the headlines, read one or two editorials, and throw it aside, while the WEEKLY is perused from beginning to end with keenest interest, and often preserved and re-read, advertisements and all, several times.

Surely your paper gives us greater value even at one dollar per year, than any other publication, philatelic or otherwise. Wishing you continued success, I am,

J. W. SAMPSON.

GENEALOLGY OF COUNT LAPP DE BOOZE.

By CHARLES S. THOMPSON.

(The philatelic public is greatly indebted to Mr. Thompson for his success in solving a very knotty and nutty problem.—Ed.)

Your endeavors to unravel the genealogy of Count Lapp de Booze, Luce Nutt, et al, have interested me greatly, and I am happy to be able to give you the desired information in a nutshell, as I have been on a still hunt for this de Booze data for some time.

As you probably do not know, the Count and Luce Nutt are both members of the Brazilian nobility, the most nuttiferous grandees existing, and the Count was at one time a Colonel of a Nutt regiment.

Luce Nutt's uncle, M. T. Nutt, had a daughter named Hazel and a son named Wallie. Hazel Nutt married a younger brother of the Count Lapp de Booze, and in honor of her father, M. T. Nutt, their son was named Coko. Luce Nutt, or to give his title, Graf de Goober, discarded his ducal designation on coming to the U. S., where he married into the Hickory family, a tough bunch, and went into the manufacture of almond meal. This venture proving a macaroon, he formed a partnership with O. U. Lush, a spirited youth, of the still-existing cadet branch of the Bourbon family. Through his mother, Angelica de Vine, he was connected with the oldest scions of the de Booże family, emigres to the Madeira Islands, and later Barons of Brazil in the bad old ante-nut days, before the Amazonian regions had become a stamping ground for Sir Charge Nutt, the real founder of the Nutt dynasty.

I hope this will inject sufficient syrup of double-distilled information into the empty flasks of knowledge, and fill them with 100 proofs of the worth of a nutterly refined family.

My office boy, H. E. Luvanutt, collected this information and he came back full of the subject.

$5000 FOR A MOLDAVIA.

The first intimation that we have had that Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman is abroad comes in the receipt of a letter from Nice, France, containing the senator's card and a clipping from the Paris Daily Mail. We quote the clipping as submitted:—

"Still higher prices for rare postage stamps were paid on Saturday at the auction sale in Paris which had been continued throughout the week. An envelope on which were a pair of 108-para stamps with an 1858 Moldavia-Rumania postmark was bought by a Paris dealer for £960. Reckoning the auctioneer's commission and the taxe de luxe, the purchase came to £1,128.

A one franc French stamp of 1849 was knocked down at £166. The total amount realised by the sale was £10,800."

AGENCIES FOR S.-W.-J. CO. BOOKLETS.

A Pittsburg subscriber writes us:—'Why not add the name of Wm. Schwarz to your list of agencies?" The reason why is because we have made it the rule to run here only the names of dealers. We have agents in various localities and we are very glad to have Mr. Schwarz represent us in Pittsburg. If we had unlimited room at our disposal we should be glad to insert here the names of collector agencies as well as dealer.

The third edition of the "Collectors' Guide" is now on sale. If unable to secure it from the nearest agency, kindly advise us. We have four or five books now in the making and they will be valuable additions to our already lengthy list.

FOREIGN ADVERTISING.

We do not make it a practise to go after foreign advertising, but as would naturally be expected matter of this kind will occasionally come our way. Quite frequently references are lacking, the would-be advertiser taking it for granted that he is known to us and therefore no references are necessary. Oftentimes the letterhead bespeaks membership in representative European stamp societies.

We are faced with the problem as to whether such advertising should be inserted in our publication. If we write for references more satisfactory than what are apparent, there is a delay of at least five weeks in inserting the advertisement, while at least two more periods of five weeks each must elapse if we request European references and investigate them.

We must admit that the situation we find ourselves in is rather unsatisfactory and we think it advisable to suggest to our subscribers that they solicit on approval offerings made in the WEEKLY, taking care upon their part to furnish the very finest references that can be obtained. Instead of merely naming your references enclose communications that will have a sufficient guarantee of your financial responsibility. This will apply to all transient foreign advertising that the WEEKLY may carry.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Crest—It seems that the philatelic star is higher in the heavens now than ever before and that philately's appointed hour is almost here. Perhaps it is better to say plainly that because of the advertising that stamp collecting has been receiving in a general way for some years past and the attractive psychology of the Neurope issues, the public mind is attracted to collecting and converts are coming in by the hundreds. The attention that philately is having in the newspapers is becoming so remarkable that one is justified in dwelling upon it repeatedly. We have told of the special page article in the Minneapolis Journal which as Mr. O. J. Olson informs us, "created a lot of favorable comment among people who know nothing of stamps and it surely was a boost for philately." Now, we notice that Henry B. Curry has fashioned an illustrated stamp article from an interview with Mr. Charles J. Phillips, which appeared in the Evening Post Magazine, New York, November 15th, headed: "Stamp Market Boomed by War. New Issues Have Stimulated the Interest of Collectors the World Over and High Prices Rule in Europe as Compared With America, Where Rarities Are Still to be Found." The article is particularly readable and Mr. Phillips' authoritative opinions are faithfully reflected, we should say, upon reading the entertaining account. We think that the collaborators have achieved a very happy result.

Earlier—We are determined to overcome all obstacles that retard the distribution of our paper each week on time; and now that we have systematized conditions attending the printing of the paper, it becomes imperative that advertisers have their copy in our hands on Friday of each week. It is just as easy to prepare copy so as to be received then as it is to write it any other day. We shall adhere to the rule that old copy will be repeated in the absence of fresh advertising. Advertisers will please accord with the new schedule. We fear that a number of our advertisers do not grasp the necessity for careful construction of the ad. It is a serious proposition to fill space and the ad-writing should be done with thoughtful deliberation. The more time that you spend on your advertisement, the more money readers will spend on it. Decide now on your new day for sending in the advertising copy and then stick to it.

Scores—A clever writer, Nina Wilcox Putnam, has a rippingly good story, entitled Comme Si, Comme Ca, in the Saturday Evening Post for November 15th, 1919, in which she artfully uses stamps as the feature of a most humorous climax. The fact that she so effectively utilizes stamps as the hinge on which the story turns shows that a resourceful writer endowed with a bit of stamp knowledge has an advantage over the fiction-writer who knows nothing of our world, as there are plots a-plenty in philately. The action revolves around a dealer in antiques and his conscientious curator; and a business rival, Madam Cartiea, in their quest for a Sully miniature. At an auction sale at an out-of-the-way place of the Durand "collection", which somewhat unexpectedly was attended by about all of the other dealers, the man dealer makes the discovery that the miniature supposedly is in a sealed envelope half way down a basket of trash, ticketed Lot 52. The dealer nervously awaits the sale of this lot on which the bidding starts at fifty cents and ends at $990; and the agitated antique artist tremblingly opens the envelope when he leaves the room and finds the envelope filled with revenue stamps. There is a miniature in the envelope and likewise it was full of revenue stamps. The heart-sick dealer is accosted by the woman dealer who hysterically declares that as a point of business honor she must have the miniature and she presses a check for $2,000 in his hands and makes way with the basket. Later, the curator gets the minature at another place and when he learns of the predicament of Madam Cartiea in whom he seems to have a heart interest, he insists that the miniature be taken to her and that the check be returned to her. The dealer and his curator find the great client at Cartiea's clamoring for a sight of the miniature. To gain time, she set him pawing through the basket of junk. Madam was distracted until she saw the miniature and then the wonderful Morgenthawl burst in with the envelope of revenue stamps in his hand. "You had them," he cried. Emotional high-jinks. "The beautiful, precious stamps that will make mine the only perfect collection in the world." "Name your price," he says, after he names four thousand. The miniature is forgotten in the intensity of the moment and the curator wants to get way from the scene; he says that he will drop antiques and start a lunatic asylum,—"eventually, I'll get the same clientelle."

Memorial—Edward H. Buehler, Evanston, Illinois, member of the A. P. S., No. 101, and one of the oldest collectors in the country, died of heart failure on November 12th, 1919, at the age of seventy-seven years. Mr. Buehler's death, which took place at the home of his sister in Harrisburg, Pa., was sudden, and a week or so before he had been attending to his business in Chicago, that of handling drugs at wholesale. Mr. Buehler was a philatelist who combined the best traditions of the old school with the progressive ideas of the new-century collectors; and he was one of the most charming and upright of men, personally. While he never associated himself with the local Chicago societies, yet he was in sympathy with their objects as he showed when occasion permitted. The broader philatelic distinction of Mr. Buehler was due to a combination of circumstances that has long been history, as a score of years becomes a long stretch in these intensified days. When the 1898 series of revenue stamps were in use, fourteen proprietary medicine firms availed themselves of the opportunity under the law to secure the advertising advantages of private die printings and among the number was Charles Marchand of New York, whose per-oxide of hydrogen and similar preparations had gained him fame and favor. Mr. Buehler was resident agent in Chicago for the big Marchand account and naturally, it was not long before Mr. Marchand, knowing of Mr. Buehler's collecting inclinations, told him how he was bothered by the importunities of collectors for his stamps. Just then, Mr. Marchand thought it would be an irregularity to dispose of any of the stamps and he had the stamps used on his goods cut in half almost, and in some cases the stamps were actually charred by electrical burning of some kind or other, in order that they would be valueless for collectors. In due time, however, a pact was entered into whereby Mr. Buehler was given the handling exclusively of the unused set of seven Marchand stamps which were offered to the trade at a stiff price. This "syndicate" was not a success, exactly, and there were many remainders, some of which were worked off in the years that followed at prices lower than those asked originally. Mr. Buehler had a superb collection, among others, of U. S. and colonies, plate-number strips, a portion of which he sold only a few years ago to an eastern dealer. Mr. Buehler had been a member of the Evanston hospital board of trustees for eleven years and was senior warden in St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Those who knew Mr. Buehler personally will meditate upon the passing of a man of sterling worth and a true philatelist.

INSCRIPTIONS.

By Henry A. Meyer.

I have been reading with great interest Mr. James F. Hamill's articles on Jugo-Slavia. At the end of the chapter on Croatia the author asks for the meanings of several words in the native language. Today a friend showed me two German stamp papers which explain these words and several others that have been puzzling me, and no doubt most American collectors. I will pass them along to you to use in case you think it would be of sufficient interest to publish it.

"Kraljevstvo" means kingdom, therefore "Kraljevstvo S.H.S." means Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. "Hrvatska" is the native name for the province of Croatia. "Drzava" is not explained, but please note that on the surcharged Bosnia stamps, on the Laibach issue, and on the postage dues it is spelled "Drzava", while on the permanent set it is spelled "Drzavna". Their language seems to partake of the unstable character of their government.

Now for the meanings of a few words on recent Hungarian surcharges. "Köztarsasag" means republic. "Magyar Kir. Posta", which has been familiar to us all for years, is the abbreviation for "Magyar Kiralyi Posta", which is the Hungarian equivalent for the "K. u. K." that has been on Austrian stamps for years, and means imperial and royal. The issuing of the reaper set omitting the "Kir." and reading only "Magyar Posta", signifies the abolition of the royal government in Hungary. "Magyar Tanacsköztarsasag" means Hungarian Soviet Republic, i. e., the government of Bela Kun. "Magyar Nemzeti Kormany" means according to one paper, Hungarian National Government, and according to another, Hungarian People's Government, and the set so surcharged and bearing also the additional surcharge "Szegedin 1919" were issued by the less radical government established in southern Hungary in opposition to the Bela Kun regime. Baranya, or the Banat, is that part of southern Hungary reaching approximately from the junction of the Theiss with the Danube south to the Serbian border. It is rumored that this region has been divided by the Peace Conference between Roumania and Jugo-Slavia, in spite of the fact that its population is Hungarian and German. The foreign papers quoted emphasize the shady character of these obscure stamp issues, and say that if their issue is official at all, it must be of a very local nature, for they are entirely unknown to the postal authorities at Buda-Pest.

I am not an authority on these matters, and cannot vouch for the correctness of the information I am passing on to you, but even if it should contain certain inaccuracies, it may still be the means of putting somebody on the track of investigations which will eventually yield exact knowledge.

LATVIJA.

By Augustus H. Kiusalas.

The article of Mr. J. W. Hamill in the Weekly of Sept. 13th entitled "Stamps of Lavonia" was read with considerable interest. Mr. Hamill is in error concerning some figures as given by him. In addition, "Livonia" does not mean "Latvija" as stated, in any sense of the word.

"Latvija", until recently, had only a mythical existence politically. Before the fall of the Russian monarchy, it existed as a part of the then Russian Baltic Province. Baltic Provinces under the Russian monarchy were divided politically into three parts, namely, Kurlandia, Lifelandia and Estlandia (Courland, Livonia and Estonia). Each had a Governor, appointed by the Russian Government. The Governor of Livonia, residing in the City of Riga, also acted as Governor General for the Baltic Provinces.

The southern half of Livonia and all of Courland is claimed by the Letts. They have declared a Lettish Republic and call themselve in their native tongue, "Latveeschi", and their Republic "Latvija". The northern half of Livonia and all of Estonia is claimed by the Estonians (Estee), who have also declared a Republic of their own. They have issued stamps with the inscription "Eesti Post", literally translated, "Estonian Postage" or "Estonian Postoffice".

From the above explanation it will be easily seen that "Lavonia" does not mean "Latvija" or "Latvia". The stamps bearing the inscription "Latvija" should be listed, not as "Livonia", "Lettland", "Lithuania" or "Latonia", but listed as "Latvija" or "Latvia' and no other way. (Standard Catalog, please take notice).

Mr. Hamill for some reason or other takes all the glory belonging to the City of Riga and gives it very liberally to the unimportant port of Libau. A local comparison would be the same, if we compared Boston, Mass., with Newport, R. I. The latter being a naval port like Libau. The writer also refers to a previous article which he wrote for your publication and in which it was shown that Riga was founded in the year of 1201. Mr. Hamill mentioned that Libau was founded in the year of 1201, which is an error.

The population of Riga in 1913 was 558,000, and not 228,000, as stated, and the port of Libau was 90,000, not 68,000 as stated. The port of Libau was quite an unimportant place until a decade ago, when the Russian Government decided to make it a Naval Base. This was on account of it being free from ice all the year round. The other Baltic ports, like Riga, Petrograd, etc., were ice-bound for at least four months in each year.

The port of Libau was developed mainly for war purposes. The harbor was not a good one but was deepened at enormous cost. The city of Riga is one of the oldest in this section. Its history is quite interesting, as it is the seat of the Government of the Baltic Provinces. It is also called the "Metropolis".

THREE ROUSIN' CHEERS!!

49 Ash St., Tacoma Pretzel, U. S. A.
August 1, 1919.

"My very dear Mr. Perry:

Having just returned from a short vacation I find your letter of July 17, in which you explained your very high prices for stamps by admitting you secure stock from ——. You do not surprise me. Your admission needs no corroboration.

I was a little surprised, however, to read your declaration that your sales "often average" (a rather strange expression, as true averages are based on "always" and never on "often") over $1,000 per week. My dear sir, you astound me! For if you have any trade at all, I can not understand how at our prices your sales average less than $1,000 per day. There must be a leak somewhere! Would it not pay you to investigate?

Now, as a man who has been in business for many years and who no longer has to work, let me give you a little advice: It is extremely bad business form and unethical to insult and abuse by innuendo as to financial standing, etc., a person who has been courteous enough to inform you why he does not buy goods which you offer to sell him, especially when that reason is that your goods are, according to his experience, marked too high. Your action only indicates a lack of business ability and experience or a mind which has lost its poise.

I have shown your letter to a number of my collecting friends and to a couple of dealers. It has afforded us many a laugh, a great amount of amusement, although all had heard of you before and were not surprised. It would have been even funnier if there had not come with it the melancholy thought that perhaps you are suffering with a form of paranoia popularly known as "exaggerated ego." At least, you show one of its symptoms, a disposition to consider as a personal affront the expression by another—(exaggerated ego? E. P.)—of a view which does not accord with your own.

And, by the way, dear Elliott Perry, himself, if you find time in your $1,000-a-week business to reply to this letter, would you mind telling an anxious inquirer why you, of all stamp dealers, find it necessary to modify your name with the modest and unassuming word "himself." The natural inference is that people are using your name as an alias. Oh, I trust this is not so! Is it really so, or do you only imagine it to be so? How your $1,000-a-week must suffer!!

After carefully considering your suggestion that I send you a "bunch of fine old United States" to sell, I must respectfully decline, as I have no means of being sure that you would not try to take as high a rate of profit as you sought on the stamps you submitted to me on approval. Fortunately, we are not obliged to deal with war profiteers in philately as we are in the necessities.

In response to your insulting postscript of inquiry—(asking why he did not return the selection registered as it was sent to him, E. P.)—I will say that I returned your stamps with merely sufficient postage to carry them to destination, because the lot which you submitted contained many stamps not called for in my want list. In sending such stuff you committed a breach of business etiquette with which the best philatelic circles are not in sympathy, hence, I took the proper liberty and only convenient method of disciplining you.

Trusting that the few suggestion contained in this letter will be of personal benefit to you and cause you to refrain from abusing the next collector who does not think you are the most wonderful man in the world, even though you may be "Elliott Perry, HIMSELF" (Oh boy, oh boy, Bullsheviki), I am, Very sincerely yours for the good of philately, (etc.)."

If anyone cares to buy the original of the above letter and offers me $25 for it, they CAN'T have it! I can truthfully say that in all my experience it is absolutely unique. Next week I shall spill the rest of the beans so be prepared for a good laugh.

ELLIOTT PERRY

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Through the courtesy of the Bureau as well as Mr. Joseph B. Leavy we are able to inform our readers that at the time the Bureau discontinued the making of the 3c booklets they had on hand six thousand sheets of the imperforated 3c stamps. These sheets consist of 360 subjects and as is well known are laid out with different spacings from the normal four hundred subject plates. The Post Office Department has just given permission to the Bureau to perforate these and divide them into sheets of 180 stamps, and in this shape they will be issued to the public. The variety will be perforated 11 and will be upon unwatermarked paper, but because of the lay out of the plate the variety may be distinguished when in blocks. It is not known at this time where the stamps will be sent, but as there will be nearly 2,160,000 of them, without allowing for waste, and as the 3c stamp is not a fast seller under today's postal rates there will be, quite likely, enough to go round.

Your editor was also privileged to see an impression from a new plate prepared by a new method for the offset print which closely resembles the engraved stamps. Had the Bureau been acquainted with this process before, we would never have had the poor work turned out in the case of the 1c and 2c "offset" postage stamps. Most of the tax paids and revenues will be printed in this way and collectors of these issues should be on the lookout for these new varieties.

Plates of four hundred subjects of the 2c stamp for the rotary press are nearing completion and as soon as the new perforating machine is in order and certain experiments have been completed, we may look for the 1c and 2c stamps in sheets of 100 from the rotary press. This will possibly result in our having the 2c from Die II perforated all around instead of in coil form only as at present.

Mr. J. M. Bartels has shown us the current 1c green, circular die, envelope on amber from a new die which has been designated as Die C. This stamp differs greatly from either Die A or B. The lettering is thin and sharp, the head is narrower, the cutting of the hair and coat differs, the outside border line is thicker, chin and nose are sharp and as a whole presents a vastly different appearance.

1919 Envelope, Circular Die.
1c green on amber, Die C.

Mr. H. F. Colman has called my attention to the right figure "3" of the second stamp in the bottom row of the lower left pane of sheet No. 9537, of the 3c surface printed stamp. The figure is closed and somewhat resembles an "8". Another freak to be added to the long list resulting from this manner of printing.

We also desire to thank Messrs. E. H. Draper, Chas. A. Townsend, Malcolm H. Ganser and Wm. J. Prinzing for clippings and notes of interests.

AUSTRALIA.—Miss Amy L. Swift submits the 1½d in a changed shade, the new color being a rich red-brown. Like the previous shade it comes in two watermarks, Crown A and multiple Crown A.

BAVARIA. — (1506)—The Economist Stamp Co. shows us the additional values of the set surcharged FREISTAAT BAYERN and they are up to the 5m value. The printing is in black and two lines.

BELGIUM.—Adjt. Henry Hooreman has shown us the 1, 2 and 5fr in the new Albert with Helmet type. The 1fr is in yellow, the 2fr in violet and the 5fr in lake. The stamps are very imposing and the colors fine.

The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the stamps type A46, surcharged ALLEMAGNE DUITSCHLAND in two lines in black.

CHINA.—S. S. Wang Chin Chai submits for our inspection a copy of the 10c blue current issue with a surcharge in red, making it suitable for use as a savings stamp. The 10c are arranged ten to a card, while the 5c with same surcharge are used upon a card holding twenty stamps.

Mr. Wang Chin Chai also informs us that the government is considering the establishing of airmail service for certain parts of China and a distinctive stamp is among the possibilities.

GERMAN REPUBLIC.—We just learn with interest that permanent series will be issued for use in the entire German republic. Therefore, all stamps of Bavaria will be obsolete.—Economist Bulletin.

GERMANY.—Henry F. Pupke sends us a clipping from the New York Stadt Zeitung entitled "German Postage Stamps for Aero Mail". It confirms our chronicle of these stamps some two weeks ago. There will be two values, 10pf in green and 40pf in orange. Their shape will be oblong rectangular.

HUNGARY.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 2f stamp of the 1916-18 type surcharged "30" in blue and also the 3f and 5f of the same issue "150" in black. The former values are overstamped by a block of horizontal lines. The 15f (No. 204) is overprinted "PORTO 40" in black, the value being in the center and "PORTO" at the top, while black lines obliterate the figures and bottom line. Another provisional shown us at the same time is the 4f, same type as the first mentioned, surcharged "1k." in red with a wide band of the same color covering the former value. A small ornament in red is in the lower right corner and KOLTAR-SASAG is printed diagonally in black. These provisionals, we are advised, were used in connection with the Roumanian occupation.

ITALY.—A surprising new issue from Italy is the 15c value in the type of the 5 and 10c stamps of 1906 and, as it is in slate-grey and in the same design as the current 5c value, there is some danger of its being confused with the latter under artificial light.—Stamp Collecting.

JAMAICA.—The new 5s King George stamp, described last month, was placed on sale at the G.P.O., Kingston, Jamaica, on September 5th, says Mr. G. C. Gunter, who kindly sends us the following cutting from the local Daily Gleaner of that date:—

"The following is a description of a 5s adhesive stamp which will be put into circulation on September 5th, 1919. The design of the stamp is denoted by a profile of King George V to the left on a ground of horizontal lines enclosed in an oval of green surmounted by a crown, in either side of which is '5s' and to the left and right of the frame respectively are the words 'Postage,' 'Revenue,' and underneath 'Jamaica.' The frame of the stamp is printed in red. The stamp is printed on yellow paper."—Stamp Collecting.

66 Bishopsgate E. C. 2, London
ESTABLISHED 1882. England

LETTONIA.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. point out that the "map" stamps were not the first to be issued as is generally supposed. A provisional issue was made at Wolmar, in Northern Latvia, on December 15th, 1918, and remained in use until the Bolsheviks took the place on December 26th. The stamps are apparently impressed by hand in single copies, ungummed and imperforate. There are four denominations, 5, 10, 25 and 50 kopecs, each of a different design, and all printed in rose.

We have received from Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. a list of the maps which they have in stock, many of which have not hitherto been chronicled:—

POLAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the current issue German stamps surcharged in black as follows:—

Poczta

on the 2, 7½ and 20pf, in black, while the 25 and 40pf value are surcharged 10 with the same wording but of a trifle larger type.

At the same time we are also shown a new set of 5 values, imperforate, of an upright oblong shape. At the top is the customary "Poczta Polska" with the head and shoulders of a woman in the center of an oval frame. Just below are two post horns, one on the right and the other on the left. At the bottom is the word "FEN" with the figures of the value at each side. The values and colors are as follows: 5f green, 10f red, 20f orange red, 25f blue and 50f brown.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—The new 4c Georgian type in scarlet has just been issued.—Economist Bulletin.

ZANZIBAR.—The 5 rupee and 10 rupee have been added to the current set on multiple crown and C A paper, the same design as the 1913 series.—Economist Bulletin.

BELGIUM.

Belgium! The redoubtable little country that defied the aggressor's might and saved the world to civilization! The David that stood up before Goliath and struck the first blow against overwhelming odds! The civilized world is paying homage to this brave people, whose rulers just now are visiting America to express their appreciation of the aid, both moral and material, which our sympathy moved us to give them in their hours of need. A short review of Belgium's postal history seems not to be amiss at this time.

When Great Britain adopted penny postage and the adhesive stamp in 1840, the benefits were quickly noted in Belgium and an official was sent to investigate in 1841. The report was favorable and the subject immediately taken up, but it dragged along through officialdom until Dec. 24, 1847, before the law authorizing the use of postage stamps was passed, and then there was another wait until April 22, 1849, before the new rates were established. These were 10 centimes for single letters of not over 10 grammes, and for a distance not over 20 kilometers (12½ miles). For greater distances the rate was doubled; it was also doubled for letters between 10 and 20 grammes weight, and double rates were added for each succeeding 40 grammes or portion. Thus the first two stamps of 10 and 20 centimes are accounted for. They were placed on sale on June 25, 1849, but were invalid for use until July 1st, when the new system went into effect. The stamps were very simple in design, the principal feature being a portrait bust of King Leopold I in uniform. They were line engraved by M. Jacques Wiener of Brussels and watermarked with the royal cipher (two L's, one being reversed) in a single-lined frame. The total issue was 5,400,000 10c and 4,800,000 20c stamps.

A postal convention was made with France fixing the rate between the two countries at 40c for a single letter of 7½ grammes, unless the places of mailing and delivery were within 30 kilometers (19 miles) of each other, when it was but half this rate. A 40c stamp therefore became necessary and was issued on Oct. 15, 1849 (not in 1850 as in the Standard Catalog). This was also engraved by M. Wiener, but the design was slightly modified, the portrait now having an oval frame. As it was deemed advisable to have all three stamps in the same design, a circular of August 10, 1850, stated that the 10 and 20c stamps would be issued in the design of the 40c, and they appeared about the end of the month. Part of the paper used for printing had the cipher watermark without the enclosing frame, this being assigned to 1851 in the catalog but really having been issued in 1850. The paper of both stamp issues and both watermarks varies much in thickness from very thin to quite thick.

In 1861 a rearrangement of the plates was made in order to print larger sheets, and as the watermarked paper was not large enough for these they used a plain white wove paper thereafter. In 1863 a Brussels firm, Gouvellos Frères, offered to perforate sheets of stamps for the public at 5c per sheet. This brought the improved separation to the Administration's notice, resulting in a contract with the above firm to perforate the stamp supply. The perforated stamps appeared on May 1, 1863.

Meanwhile it was found desirable to have a stamp for newspapers and printed matter, previously prepaid in cash, so a 1c stamp was issued on June 1, 1861, in the same design as the other values, and this was likewise perforated in 1863.

In 1865 a change in the stamp designs was considered and essays were asked for. The results were unsatisfactory and Messrs. De La Rue of London were asked to furnish a new set. The rate to France had been reduced from 40 to 30c and a rate of 1 franc or 1.30 francs adopted for single letters of 7½ grammes to most foreign countries, so stamps of 30c and 1fr were prepared first and issued on Nov. 1, 1865. The other three values, 10, 20 and 40c, followed on Jan. 1, 1866. The new stamps were of course typographed and in the best style of Messrs. De La Rue's work. The plates were sent to Brussels and printed from there, except for 30,000 of the 1fr which were printed in London and shipped with the plates. These can be readily distinguished by the pale lilac color, fine execution and regular 14 perforation. At the same time 2 and 5c stamps were added to the newspaper set, these being engraved in Antwerp, with a new 1c to correspond. They were to bear the Belgian arms to differentiate them from the regular postage set with the profile of King Leopold. On account of trouble with the perforating machine the 1c was regularly issued imperforate from Sept. 1, 1866, until January, 1867; it was first issued June 1, 1866. The 5c was issued Sept. 1, 1866, primarily for the printed matter rate between Belgium and France. The 2c appeared March 1, 1867. The 14½x14 perforation of this set was by Gouvellos Frères; the regular 15 perforation dating from July 1, 1867, from a machine bought and used by the Administration.

King Leopold I died on Dec. 10, 1865, and was succeeded by his son as Leopold II. No change was made in the stamps for nearly four years, when a decree announced the first stamp of the new reign as the 10c, which appeared on Nov. 15, 1869. The remaining values were superseded during 1870, while added values of 25 and 50c were issued July 1, 1875, and a high value of 5fr on April 1, 1878. These stamps were all engraved on wood and printed typographically. Newspaper stamps of a new design, including a new value of 8c, were issued in connection with the new series, and by decree of Aug. 31, 1873, these stamps, which had hitherto been reserved for prepayment of printed matter only, were allowed to "be used for the prepayment of letters and correspondence cards."

About 1881, in consequence of frauds discovered in the use of stamps that had been washed by chemicals, aniline or fugitive inks were employed in printing future supplies, and new shades resulted in a number of the values. The 8 and 30c stamps were discontinued after July 1, 1875, and the 5fr stamps after 1887, the remainder on hand Jan. 1, 1888, being sold at auction in 1894, viz., 2,400 stamps for 36,000 francs. A new perforating machine was evidently put in use in 1881, as the low values in aniline colors, as well as subsequent issues, are perforated 14.

The poor printing of the last issue and the frauds connected with the use of washed stamps determined the Administration to replace the set by one engraved on steel, and new dies engraved in this manner were ordered from Messrs. De La Rue & Co. of London, as was done in 1865. The plates were delivered in 1882, but the stamps did not appear until the fall of 1883, the 10 and 20c on October 20th and the 25 and 50c on Nov. 1st. So much criticism was made of the King's profile that the issue was never extended and soon new types were produced in the former manner at the Government factory at Malines. The first was a 10c issued on July 15, 1884, succeeding its predecessor after about nine months. Other values followed as the 1883 issue became exhausted, two new values were added, a 35c for combined local postage and registration, and a 2fr, as well as changed colors for the 1, 2 and 5c stamps. The 10c on white paper instead of bluish is not an error but a regular issue, 5,000 sheets of white paper left from the previous issue having been used up in the printing of this first value of the new set before the bluish surface paper was put in use.

On account of agitation for better observance of the Sabbath, and not desiring to cut down the workings of the postal system too suddenly or too much on that day, the Belgian postal authorities adopted the novel and only practical scheme to satisfy the majority—they issued coupon stamps by means of which the user could "vote" on the proposition. In announcing the new issue it was stated that the stamps would bear the inscription in French and Flemish: "Ne pas livrer le dimanche—Niet bestellen op Zondag" (Not to be delivered on Sunday). "It will be optional with senders to detach this inscription from the stamps before making use of them or to leave it on. Correspondence bearing this note will not be delivered at its address on Sundays and holidays." The first value issued was the 10c on June 1, 1893, the others following through the year. The 2c was changed from yellow to lilac brown on Aug. 1, 1894, the 50c to gray in the fall of 1898 because of its similarity to the 10c, and the latter changed to carmine in the fall of 1899 to conform to Postal Union requirements. The last change made a further one in the 1fr desirable, as this was red on green, so it appeared in orange in the spring of 1900, and at about the same time the 2fr was printed on white paper instead of the rose tinted paper previously used.

A commemorative series of three stamps for the Universal Exposition in Antwerp in 1894 was issued in February and March of that year, bearing the arms of the city of Antwerp. Two "poster" like labels for the Brussels International Exposition in 1897 were issued, the 10c on Oct. 15th and the 5c on Nov. 15th, 1896. The former represents St. Michael, the patron saint of Brussels, overcoming the dragon, with the City Hall and the Palais de Justice in the background at left and right respectively. The 5c represents St. Michael in triumphant attitude with the dragon beneath his feet. The first color of the 10c proving unsatisfactory, was changed from yellow brown to lilac brown.

The year 1905 being the 75th anniversary of the Independence of Belgium, a new series with an improved portrait of King Leopold was issued by piecemeal as usual, beginning May 1st.—New England Stamp Monthly.

A SATISFIED ADVERTISER.

We do not as a rule publish the letters that reach us giving the results of advertising in the WEEKLY, but this letter from Mr. Ioor comes along in the ordinary course of the day's mail and gives a word of satisfaction that merits our use. We have many other advertisers who can no doubt voice the same satisfaction:—

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15, 1919.

GENTLEMEN:

Allow me to present my check for October advertising. You will be surprised when I tell you I sold over $150.00 from WEEKLY ads during October, 1919. Pretty good for a new advertiser. It only shows the confidence reposed in the WEEKLY. Long may it flourish.

HARRY IOOR.

SWISS AIR MAIL DISCONTINUED.

Our correspondent, Mr. A. Koechlin, of Berne, informs us that the Swiss air-mail service was discontinued Nov. 1. Mr. Koechlin writes that there was no need for such an undertaking, as the distance between Zurich and Geneva is only about 130 miles and there are numerous mail trains in both directions. He writes: "One thing is certain, it has answered philatelic purposes. The 50c with red overprint of winged arrow can, therefore, be ranged with the obsolete."

MARKET NOTES.

From many sources I am told that there is a very marked increase in demand and interest of the many stamps and issues known as "Armistice" stamps.

Originally, of course, there was a demand for these issues, but the original prices dropped (in many cases) to such an extent that many collectors (and dealers) fought shy of having too much to do with these post-war issues. Apart from the question of dropping prices another damper to many an enthusiast was the number of new issues that arrived almost daily.

To-day the prices have settled down and "Armistice" issues may be said to be things of the past.

Many of these stamps and issues are exceedingly interesting and well worth collecting, but up to the present I have not been too enthusiastic over them, as I felt convinced the collector would do best to wait with his collection until the early inflated prices came to earth.

I do not think anyone can go wrong with Armistice issues now, as the prices are not likely to fall any more—in fact, with an increasing demand apparent an upward tendency may now be the result. The past fortnight has seen the influx of many enemy war issues into London. From inquiries I have made it appears that there is a big demand for all the cheaper values and sets.

Personally, I must profess my entire ignorance of these issues—I was under the impression that all were pretty common, but a Continental dealer tells me there are "big rarities" in M.V.I.R. Roumanians, Tyrol Republic, etc.

Regarding my remarks upon Lettland maps the situation is not yet entirely clear. From a usually well-informed quarter I learn that the reprints I referred to are more probably a second printing. Information to hand is to the effect that these maps were on sale at Riga P. O. at a quite recent date—probably even at this moment. If this is the case, the so-called reprints are in reality a second printing. Anyway, the quantities about are very large, and we shall soon see them offered at very much under the present low (apparently) quotations. Collectors would be well advised to wait before doing any speculations in this line.

One of the outstanding features of the past week has been the prices realized for the better Edwardian Colonials and war stamps at auction. Collectors of twentieth-century Colonials will be pleased to note that Edwardians are fetching full catalogue and over at auction, and even at that dealers appear to be the largest buyers. There is no doubt that Edwards are more popular to-day than ever, and that is saying a good deal.

Business in stamps seems to me brisker than ever. Many dealers have told me that the Strike made things very slack, but the subsequent business seems to have made up for the temporary quiet period.

There is a very noticeable increase in demand for good stuff on the Continent, i. e. good old Europeans and rare war stamps. This demand has existed all through the War until about twelve months ago, when it fell off to a marked degree. During the last month, however, things have become very active again, and most of the big Continental buyers are buying as heavily again as of old. All this points to a splendid future.

In the Turks Island they seem to have developed a mania for local surcharging. Now we have the 3d in the same type as the 1d. Naturally all sorts of prices are being asked for this stamp—nobody knowing the quantities issued. The 3d might turn out quite good, and that's as much as can be said at present.

Two weeks ago I made some casual observations on the "Raynham" air stamps, and my remarks seem to have been misunderstood in certain quarters, as I did not mean to imply that they were bogus. Personally I know nothing about them, and I was therefore asking for information on them. My chief point in soliciting information was to find out what has become of the Martinsydes mail. The whole mail was sent across by ordinary post (steamer), so I am told. I know of several people who had letters sent them by this air mail which did not materialize. Well, if the letters were sent by ordinary mail—and I have information from St. John's that they were sent—where are the letters, who is holding them up? Can Mr. Raynham enlighten us on the subject? The letters have not yet been delivered to the addressees. Atlantic air mails appear to be very uncertain of delivery, as I understand several letters on Mr. Hawker's Sopwith have not yet reached their destination!

I notice one or two of our dealers here advertising in German journals, and some of the prices at first sight seem somewhat alarming. Up "Mark" stops [illegible] at 300 mark. Should a big price here [illegible] the dealer a profit plus an item for the [illegible]. Anyway, it's quite a fair price to ask in face of the [illegible] which German dealers are [illegible] their stuff over here.

MAIN TEXT BY WILEY.

Supplementary Chapter by Nast.

This book is one of the most valuable of the S.-W.-J. Co. publications. It consists of some 35 pages, is beautifully printed and illustrated, and offers a study of a stamp that is common but resourceful in interest.

There are two full pages of illustrations drawn by Louis G. Barrett, nearly 100 designs being pictured.

U. S. CANCELLATIONS.

(American Philatelic Service.)

(It will interest our readers to know that Mr. Ritchie's great work will soon be begun in the WEEKLY. It has been made possible through the larger space now placed at our disposal, and the development of the project will be attended by features that will enlist a large measure of co-operation.—W. O. W.)

There is one chapter which is missing from the postal history of the United States, and during the coming few years it is going to be written. It is the story of the cancellations which postmasters individually placed on postage stamps in the days before the Government standardized cancellations.

Postage stamps were first issued by the United States Government in 1847, and from that year until about 1882—the exact time when the period terminated is uncertain—postmasters were permitted to obliterate the unused stamps on mail matter about in any way they desired.

So it is that many curious types of cancellations were produced. No endeavor has been made before now to check up these cancellations—to discover, if possible, how many varieties there are and where and exactly when the numerous types were issued. The object of the task under way is so that these early cancellations may be arranged in logical sequence for the benefit of not only stamp collectors of to-day but for future generations of philatelists who will specialize in United States stamps in the days when general collecting will be unpopular because by that time so many hundreds of thousands of stamps will have been issued that collectors will despair trying to assemble them all. It is a fact that to-day finds more specialists than ever before. Some collect United States stamps only, others those only of the world war and the reconstruction era; some want postal adhesives issued during only the Nineteenth Century, and others collect labels issued only since 1900; some specialize in Great Britain and colonies, and so it goes.

When the research work among early United States cancellations has been partly completed, it will be placed in book form. From year to year, as discoveries of unchronicled cancellations are made, the volume will be revised and reissued. It will be probably many years before the book will approach anywhere near its final edition.

The thought has long been in the minds of many United States specialists to compile the necessary information to go into such a book, but the labor has seemed to be an endless one, and the expense will not be a small one. The project now is in the hands of J. A. Ritchie, of New York City, a specialist in United States stamps. He has undertaken it through his desire, as a student of the subject to know all there is to know about his country's postal adhesives. He has been assured of the support of leading philatelists in all parts of the country and will have access not only to stocks of stamps in the possession of professional dealers but to many noted collections of early United States issues. With these sources of information at his disposal, Mr. Ritchie's task should be productive of a volume worth while not alone from the philatelist's viewpoint, but a book of general interest and one which should find a place in every public library.

All stamp collectors in the country—and indeed throughout the world—who have early United States issues in their possession are urged to make a study of the cancellations and compile a detailed list for Mr. Ritchie's perusal. This list, accompanied by ink or pencil drawings of the cancellations, should be sent forward to Mr. Ritchie at his New York City address—2305 Andrews Avenue. Varieties which Mr. Ritchie may learn of through these co-operative channels and which are different from the ones he has already compiled in his growing list, will be placed under their proper headings and will be illustrated in the book.

The number of these illustrations may run into several hundred thousand. Illustrating does not mean that the stamps themselves will be reproduced, as it is against the law to reproduce this country's adhesives. But the major varieties of cancellations will be shown, and many of the minor varieties.

The laymen perhaps, will question the statement that the illustrations may number several hundred thousand, but it is nevertheless a fact. In the first place, there were some 60,000 town and city cancellations employed before the Government introduced a mechanical cancelling device. Moreover, in some cities each succeeding postmaster used a different type of cancellation. Also, the cancelling ink was sometimes black, sometimes red, sometimes blue or green or orange or yellow. Some postmasters used whittled bits of wood or cork, and some used other inking contrivances. And these devices stamped many various figures upon the stamps.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON. D. C.

The Mississippi steamboat postal clerks made different kinds of cancellations than did the postal employees on ocean and lake vessels. Nearly every railroad had its own type of cancellation. Consular offices received letters with stamps bearing distinctive cancellations.

The postmasters let their fancies dictate the types of cancellation in many instances—and some of the fancies were weird, as illustrated by the discovery of an obliteration mark the design of which is a barrel with the word "gin" inscribed in it. Some postmasters imprinted their own monograms upon the stamps; others favored designs which included a mule in the act of kicking; skull and cross bones; anchors; shields; stars; concentric circles, bees and flies, flowers and leaves; human heads; elephants and other animals; Masonic emblems; maltese and other crosses; and now and then a silk hat. These are only a few.

A few postmasters contented themselves merely with a word or two of official authority. Cancellations used by these usually comprised the inscription "Free" or "Paid". It is a curious circumstance that exactly one cancellation has been discovered which consists of the words "Used Up". Because of the rarity of this type of obliteration, the adhesive recently found with the imprint brought a price of $7.50; whereas, the same stamp with one of the common types of cancellation is worth only one cent.

So it is conceivable that the day will come when, with Mr. Ritchie's book in the hands of collectors, the value of many of the early issues of the United States may be determined in part by the type of cancellation upon it. The rarer the type, the higher will be the stamp's philatelic worth.

The American collecting world will welcome the publication of Mr. Ritchie's volume, and philatelists are hopeful that the Post Office authorities in Washington will decide to co-operate with him by placing at his disposal the early postal records, so that the book will be as nearly authentic as it is humanly possible to make it.

BAVARIAN REPUBLIC ON GERMANY.

All the current German stamps to one mark have been surcharged "Freistaat Bayern" in two lines. The writer has received 13 varieties, which include the new 35 pfennig, brown orange, and 75 pfennig, deep green and black. The denominations are 2½, 3, 5, 7½, 10, 15, 20, 25, 35, 40, 75, 80, and 1 mark. The 10 pfennig has apparently been printed from a new plate, as the impression is extremely coarse, and quite different from that of the original Germania 10's.

I have been informed that the above are already obsolete, as the surcharge was made pending the time that the regular Bavarian issue should be surcharged "Freistaat" instead of "Volkstaat," as at first.—CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

J. J. ALLEN'S SONS.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This firm was composed of William N. and N. Penrose Allen. They were in the fertilizer business on the Delaware River water front in Philadelphia at 124 S. Delaware Avenue. The Philadelphia directories of the period do not mention any business in connection with them other than fertilizers except for the year 1883 when their business is given as fertilizers and matches. This exactly corresponds with the time their stamp was in use.

The writer is quite certain they did not manufacture any matches on Delaware Avenue but whether or not they had a factory elsewhere or were merely selling agents for a manufacturer he cannot say.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—

First issued, April 29, 1882.
Last issued, March 7, 1883.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
2,730,000 issued in blue on watermarked paper.

The stamp was one of the later Bureau productions and well deserves the popularity it has always enjoyed. The design is particularly appropriate, consisting of a circular band enclosing a hand holding a lighted match with "Matches" in large capitals arched over the circle. The four straight marginal labels read "J. J. Allen's Sons." (top), "One Cent" (bottom), "U. S. Inter. Rev." (left) and "Philadelphia, Pa." at right. A numeral "1" is found in a small circle in each lower corner and the whole design is in the form of an upright rectangle of the usual size.

Evidently there were few printings. The entire issue was only 13,000 sheets, and there is little variation in shade. Of the match stamps priced at half a dollar or less this is one of the most difficult to obtain in prime condition, off center copies being the rule. Multiple use of this stamp has not been noted, and pairs are difficult to find.

TWIN TESTIMONIALS.

We are greatly pleased at the many letters we are receiving that deal sympathetically with our recent raise in subscription price. On Nov. 20 we received a letter from E. Kellogg Trowbridge, enclosing a remittance of $5 for five years' renewal, and this in the face of the fact that his subscription has over a year to run at the old rate. We quote from his letter:—"Your decision was not unexpected, but as an evidence of my interest in the WEEKLY I am pleased to enclose a remittance of $5 for which you may extend my subscription five years from the date of expiration."

C. A. Jenkins is another subscriber who writes us a letter from which we quote:—"I note you have increased your subscription price to $1 per year. As I am connected with a daily newspaper (the Cleveland News) and am familiar with conditions, this does not surprise me. My subscription has about two years to run and I hope I am first to send in a two years' renewal at the new rate, for which I enclose $2."

CHAPTER VII.—The Bisected Cents Stamps.

The 2c is known bisected and each half used for 1c and the 3c, 4c and 6c are also known cut into halves and each portion used for half its original value. There could have been no necessity for any of these bisections with the possible exception of the 3c to make up some odd rate but as they were hardly made for philatelic purposes and were not questioned by postal officials they are all of the greatest interest and, we may add, of considerable rarity.

REFERENCE LIST.

CHAPTER VIII.—Bogus and Counterfeit Varieties.

In chronicling the cents series of stamps in July, 1872, the Stamp Collector's Magazine made mention of a 10 cents value said to have been printed in rosy mauve and also illustrated this value. A question was raised as to its color being the same as the 12c but M. Moens, who had originally listed the variety, later stated the description of color was correct and expressed his belief in the genuineness of the specimens in his possession. An appeal to the postal authorities of the Island showed that no such value had been issued or contemplated and it is, therefore, to be presumed that this bogus variety emanated from the same source as a fraudulent 4c which appeared much about the same time.

This fraudulent 4 cents, green, was mentioned in the Stamp Collector's Magazine for September, 1872, as being a very dangerous forgery, and a minute description of the differences between the genuine and counterfeit was given. The stamp was later said to have been made by Allan Taylor of Boston, and as it was denounced before many could have been marketed, this counterfeit is nowadays an extremely rare one.

CHAPTER IX.—Remainders.

When the decimal currency was introduced quite a large number of the pence stamps remained on hand and these were stored at the Treasury until 1874, when, together with the remainders of the cents issue, they were offered for sale. Mr. King gives an interesting description of these stamps which was supplied to an intending purchaser by the Provincial Treasurer:—

"TREASURER'S OFFICE, CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I.
14th March, 1874.

Mr. John Bell, Charlottetown.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 12th inst. requesting P. E. Island stamps. We shall be happy to receive an offer from you for the whole or any portion of them, and for your information I beg to refer you to the enclosed memorandum of the approximate quantity and description of the stamps we now hold. Applications have been made for the purchase of the entire lot.

I am, Dear Sir,
Your obedient servant
(Signed) ARTHUR NEWBERRY."

Memorandum of the approximate quantity and description of old P. E. I. Postage Stamps on hand at the Treasury March 14th, 1874.

1,509,000 stamps, total value, face, $90,961.00

No 1d stamps are mentioned but as there were a large number of these in the stock when sold they must have been included with the "Mixed stamps". The numbers, etc., were evidently "approximate" for the face value of the 3d does not correspond with the number of stamps and the total number of stamps does not agree with the several items tabulated! The entire lot of remainders was sold for the very low sum of $1100.00.

CHAPTER X.—Cancellations.

A study of catalogue quotations will show that with the exception of the perf. 9 varieties, used Prince Edward Island stamps are, generally speaking, much rarer than the unused ones. Consequently used specimens must be purchased with caution. Mr. King has published some interesting notes on the subject of Prince Edward Island cancellations and as the value of these is obvious to the collector of used we cannot do better than reproduce his notes in full:—

"The scarcity of used stamps of this Colony has induced the stamp faker to try to supply the deficiency with forged cancellations on the remainders so that a description of the genuine cancellations most commonly met with may be of service. The earliest form was an unframed oval, composed of ten or eleven horizontal bars, measuring about 1¼ by ¾ of an inch; this is the only cancellation (except pen) that is found on the series perf. 9, and was used at the larger offices only. Pen cancelled specimens are from the country and 'way' offices. In Charlottetown, for a number of years, a canceller was in use similar to the ordinary colonial type, that is, a hollow oval made of three horizontal and two vertical bars, and the number '13' in the centre.

This was used as late as 1870, but from 1868 to that date it is uncommon. These are the two types most commonly found on the pence series, excepting the 4d and 4½d, of which values the cancellation is described later. Specimens with dated postmarks are rare; of the first issue I have only seen two copies, bearing those of 'Summerside' and 'Prince Edward Island'. They are very large, measuring 1¼ inch in diameter; the first was used at the town of that name and the latter at Charlottetown. There is a second type of the 'Prince Edward Island' postmark, measuring only ⅞ of an inch in diameter, which was used as late as 1870 in Charlottetown, and apparently at the same time as the 'Charlottetown' postmark. In 1870 a stamp was in use in Charlottetown combining a postmark and obliterator in one piece; the cancelling portion was a very small circle, only ½ an inch in diameter, and could not have been in use long, as it does not appear on the decimal issue.

The rarest cancellation is the "Paid" postmark that was in use before the introduction of postage stamps; this was a circular stamp with the name of the office at the top, "P. E. I." at the bottom, and "Paid" in a straight line in the centre, thus "Tignish, Paid, P. E. I." I have seen three offices only, viz., Lot 11, Lot 16 and Tignish. When impressed on the envelope the date was written in. The above are what may be called official cancellers; the other shapes in use throughout the Island were due to the individual taste of the postmaster, the Department issuing a wooden handle with a cork in it, which the postmaster cut to any shape that pleased him, and, as it wore away, or became disfigured, changed the design. These cork cancellers were not issued until late in the 'sixties.

On the decimal series there are none that can be called official types, excepting dated marks; even in the capital the cork was in use, but there are several types that are commonly met with, and a description of them may be a guide to collectors. These types are: Three concentric circles measuring (the outside edge) ¾ of an inch in diameter; this was used at Montague Bridge. A five-pointed star, measuring about ¾ inch from point to point. A solid triangle, about half an inch from top to bottom; this design is also found with two pieces cut out of it, a cut across and a vertical one running from the first to the base, leaving the points untouched. A circle of five bars with the centre cut out square, leaving a vacant space of about ¼ by ½ inch in size. A circle of eight horizontal bars, four of which have five vertical cuts across them, making the impression half lines and half dots. An oval of the ordinary colonial type, measuring an inch long by three-quarters of an inch wide, made of three horizontal lines for the top and bottom and two vertical lines for the ends, the centre having the capital letters "P. E. I." This canceller was used at Charlottetown, and the cover it was on was mailed late in 1872.

I have a specimen of the 1c with a cancellation somewhat resembling the colonial one; it is almost a circle, made of three horizontal and two vertical bars, with the capital letter "A" in the centre. The impression is very distinct, and it is certainly from a new die, as the lines of part of the "A" are very fine, and if it had been in use long would have shown signs of wear. The cancellation is beyond suspicion, as I removed the stamp from a piece of the circular it had prepaid; it is the only copy I have seen with this cancellation. The shape of this canceller is different from the ordinary colonial type, whereas the one with "13" in centre is similar in all respects to them.

If the specimens of the pence series have the cancellation described, one can be reasonably sure that they are genuine; this applies to all values except the 4d and 4½d, nearly all copies that I have seen of these bearing the nondescript cork cancellation; the last value I have also seen date stamped. The same rule may be applied to the decimal issue, but it would be very much more difficult to complete a set from the described types, as the nondescript cancellers are so common, making the stamps with their impressions the ones most often met with. A great many are found cancelled with pen and ink; these are not necessarily fraudulent, as it was the practice in "way" offices to cancel thus; and the larger offices, to which these letters were forwarded, were supposed to properly obliterate the stamps, but in many cases this was not done. The bulk of the used stamps (particularly the decimal issue) of this Colony have a nondescript sort of cancellation without much shape of any kind, and easily imitated. Unfortunately the remainders are so common that there is no lack of stock for the faker to try his skill on. Used copies of the 2d, 3d and 4d on thick, rough paper, should be taken with caution, as they are rare in that condition, the third value especially so; and as the remainders of these values are all on this paper they are the only kind that can be fraudulently cancelled.

The 2c and 4c are also values that should be well authenticated, as they are rare used—much more so than is generally supposed.

However, in this, as in similar cases, a genuinely used stamp has an appearance that it is almost impossible to imitate, and the expert can usually distinguish between the true and the false."

NOTES FROM JAPAN.

By R. YOKOHORI.

The new ordinary stamps, 6, 8, 30 and 50 sen, were issued August 16 because of the revised rates for postage on parcels. I wrote you previously that the 6 and 8 sen are in the type of the current 4 sen, and the 30 and 50 sen values are in the type of the current 1 yen. The perforations are the same as the other current values, viz:—12x12½ or 13x13½, by comb machines. Perforation 12 by single line machine has not been found so far. Collectors of Japanese stamps will note that the 30 sen value has been revived after a lapse of more than forty years, the last issue dating back to 1877. We are very sorry that the two high values were not printed in two colors as is the current 1 yen stamp, and consequently they are ill spoken of as the most mediocre among about 150 kinds so far issued for the use of our postal service.

October 16 the 68th regular meeting of our Tokyo society, the Yuraku-Kwai, was held and the new aero stamps came up for consideration as to number issued and their probable market price. It is reported that almost all stamp dealers in Japan have decided to sell the set of two for $1 U. S. money, but we believe that the issue is so small that this price will not hold long. The Department of Communications has refrained from making public the number of aero stamps issued, but we have good reason to believe that the number is 80,000 of each, 50,000 for Tokyo and 30,000 for Osaka. The aerial mail service, which came to an end on account of long-continued bad weather, made a second trial, but the three aeronauts who participated were forced to suspend their flight on account of a dense fog. No special stamps were provided but a special cancellation and a set of commemorative picture post cards were issued for this second flight. Yet another attempt will be made.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—After a four years' sojourn in the Philippine Islands W. F. Slusser, who is well and favorably known by many of our readers, has again taken up his residence in the U. S. Until Jan. 9 he will be located at San Jose, Cal., but when permanently located the readers of the WEEKLY will have tangible evidence that during these four years he has not been idle from a philatelic standpoint. Mr. Slusser, who may be addressed at 746 Prevost St., San Jose, writes:—"I would like to hear from persons who have suffered loss of sales books through any of the junior philatelic organizations of the U. S. during the past three years and for which they can obtain no settlement. I personally will handle these claims with only postage expense."

—M. Ohlman mentions a notable price attained at his last sale held Nov. 15. A Lagos 10sh Edward catalogued by Scott at $50 sold in the room at $50.50.

—W. R. McC.—We thank you for the suggestion and can no doubt arrange to publish lists of U. S. plate numbers.

—In the issue of Nov. 1 credit for information was given in the Chronicle to W. S. Kinsel, Seattle, Wash. This was an error, and the name should have been E. C. Kinsel.

—The Imperial Stamp Co., San Francisco, are with us again after several months. The firm has a down town office at 773 Market St.

—W. F. Van Malder is journeying from Boston to Miami, Fla., by motorcycle. We have a word from him at Columbia, S. C., while en route.

—Victor Marsh has just bought the valuable philatelic library of Major Edw. B. Evans, who, for many years, edited Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal. For the most part the publications are in the English language, and the library may be described as an eminently useful one from the point of view of separate works as well as long and complete runs of periodicals. The works generally are bound and everything is in the finest possible condition.

—"Here's a new issue note re 'Narcotics.' I don't believe you have published anything about them. There are FOUR 1c RIBBONS, of the following sizes:—¼"x1½ in.; ⅜"x2½ in.; ½"x 4 in. and ¾"x6 in. I have not seen them but they are listed on requisitions, and notice is given that tax on narcotics above 1c must be paid by affixing the surcharged documentaries."—CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from H. H. Dunham, Ernest Heberlein, John H. Feeman.

—A most remarkable article appears in the Detroit Free Press of Sunday, Nov. 23. It is without doubt a syndicated article and its appearance in this paper indicates that it will be used in other American papers. The title of the article is "Collectors of Stamps Thrive", written by Patrick O'Flaherty. This is the first time we have heard of Mr. O'Flaherty, but the work that he has done will give him a favorable introduction to stamp collectors. Three columns of the Free Press are used and there is a picture of F. J. Melville. The Neurope issues have the right of way. The article is copyrighted.

THE NEW SET OF GERMAN AUSTRIA.

By A. KOECHLIN.

The new set of German Austria, 3h to 1k, has not met with general approval in the new republic. The designs as well as their execution have been strongly criticised on all sides. There is already considerable talk of a new issue of more artistic designs on the order of the Bosnia 1906 issue. At any rate the sale at the postoffices has been stopped and the 1916 issue with overprint GERMAN AUSTRIA is in use again. As the new issue was on sale but a few weeks, postally used copies will be quite scarce.

EDITORIAL.

Renewals—The returns are now coming in; and it has relieved us greatly, so susceptible are we to the views and opinions of readers, to find that the majority of them who have expressed themselves on the subject of the recent raise in subscription rate have commended it. A few interpose that it was inadvisable to raise the price to a dollar from fifty cents but no one has said that an added price was unjustified. Any half-way measure would have been a stop-gap only and by adopting the present price, we feel that while we are out of the woods, we shall not stop just now to hurrah about it. Mr. H. E. Deats, Flemington, New Jersey, A. P. S. 36, writes: "Glad to see you faced the music and put up the subscription price to one dollar." Further, Mr. Deats says: "On page 422, November 15th issue, you tell W. M. W. that you do not know where he can get odd numbers of Volume One of your paper. If I happen to have what he wants, he can have the numbers very reasonably." Here is kindly co-operation for you.

Easy—A correspondent relays a "problem of conduct" from the British Weekly, before which the mind of the layman reels with anguish, but the philatelist, on the contrary, airily puffs it away without stopping in the act of licking a stamp hinge: "Miss Burnham-Patrick, of Crosslee, incessantly receives chatty picture postcards from her third cousin's wife, Mrs. Cuthbert, who lives in India, and whom she has never seen. The postcards are insufficiently stamped, and do not interest Miss Burnham-Patrick, who answers a few. She does not wish to offend Mrs. Cuthbert but cannot afford to go on paying excess postage. What should Miss Burnham-Patrick do?" In the first place no one who can afford to sport a hyphenated name surely would begrudge a few pennies a week, say, for postage due,—but what we started to say was that she should tell her Indian correspondent to write oftener but to be sure to use a number of the stamps of smallest denomination on her cards. In that way, the stamps together with the British postage due stamps would be worth a little more perhaps than the amount of postage due expended. It is a relief to hear that the Americans are not accused of postage shortage this time, as they have enough to answer for in sending foreign letters at the domestic rate, as it is.

History—In the American Journal of Numismatics, published annually by the American Numismatic Society, New York, price five dollars, is an article of some moment to stamp collectors. The contribution which is by Henry Russell Drowne is headed "U. S. Postage Stamps as Necessity War Money," and we notice that Mr. Drowne names Hiram E. Deats and Charles L. Moreau as among those to whom he is indebted "for valuable assistance and co-operation" in his search for material. Two pages of plates dignify the study and thirteen different styles of envelopes that were used to enclose fractional parts of a dollar in unused postage stamps are shown. The writer, after telling of the greatly restricted circulation of metal money soon after the outbreak of the Civil War when the prospect of a protracted struggle between North and South became a grim reality, well said that the fulfilment of a plan to supply small change was the business demand of the hour. Car tickets and match tickets were pressed into service but unused postage stamps as a sort of sign manual of the government represented the maximum of security in the public mind. As indicating how commonly the postage stamps of the day, the 1861 issue, were in use as money, the following paragraph from the report of the postmaster-general, December, 1862, is of interest: "In the first quarter of the current year, ending September 20th, the number of stamps issued to postmasters was one hundred and four million dollars; there were calls for about two hundred millions, which would have been nearly sufficient to meet the usual demands for the year. This extraordinary demand arose from the temporary use of these stamps as a currency for the public in lieu of the smaller denominations of specie, and ceased with the introduction of the so-called postal currency." As we have followed rather closely at different times in the past in this column the employment of unused postage stamps as money, we shall proceed at once to what is an unfamiliar phase of the subject and that is the containers for the stamps in the shape of small envelopes. To quote: "The stamps used for money became quickly soiled and defaced and for their better protection, as well as for convenience of assembling them in stated amounts, little envelopes to hold them were made." Even the use of these envelopes was soon discarded as often the stamps stuck to the sides of the envelopes; and they were soon forgotten. Now, the historian rescues them for a day of glory.

Covers—Ninety separate issues, let us say, of envelopes are recorded, the imprints on the convenient little holders which invariably mentioned U. S. postage stamps having included the names of stationers (which lead all the rest), printers, theatres, hotels, etc. Here is a typical legend on the envelopes which were the fore-runners of the metal encased postage stamps of the Gault patent: "U. S. Postage Stamps. 25 Cts. National Express Company, 74 Broadway, N. Y. Troy, Albany, Northern N. Y., Vermont, Massachusetts & Canada." Mr. Drowne says: "The custom of using envelopes for stamps seems to have been confined almost entirely to our large cities and after several years of careful search, the writer has so far located them in New York City, Albany, Brooklyn and Jersey City but he has been informed that some few were made and used in Philadelphia." The denominations found were 10, 13, 15, 20, 25, 30, 50 and 75 cents. Before dismissing this interesting if not particularly consequential study by Mr. Drowne, we take this bit of marginalia: "From the use of postage stamps as money in 1861-1862, bank notes, greenbacks, fractional currency and any other paper money have since been frequently alluded to as stamps."

Seen—In our issue of July 26th, we said: "The strip stamps for the payment of the tax on drugs and preparations under the Harrison Narcotic Law are being distributed, presumably, as they are promised for delivery on July 1st, 1919." Through the kindness of Mr. George Soulman we now have seen the one cent purple of which there are four sizes measuring 2½ by ⅜ inches. The one cent and other denominations of strip stamps will render the use of overprinted documentary stamps unnecessary. The same reader shows an envelope from Mersina, Cilicea, bearing the rubber-stamped registration inscription of Turkey, the Paris postmark and a block of four of the five pi., Palestine stamps. Heretofore letters from Mersina have been prepaid with stamps of Cilicea. Pending definitive stamps for Cilicea and other of the new national entities, it is possible that variations in the use of stamps will be found.

A UNIQUE WINDOW DISPLAY.

By ARTHUR BRUCE MOSS.

On rounding the prow of the Flatiron Building in New York recently, I brought up with a start. The United Cigar Stores occupy this unique space, In the show window was displayed a large map of New Europe with the boundaries of countries marked as now constituted. From the capital city of each nation was depended a narrow streamer of colored paper. Each streamer was then run to the window glass and fastened to a neat square of white paper. On each paper was tastefully mounted a set of the stamps, now current, for the country indicated by the streamer in contact with the map. The papers bearing the stamps were carefully mounted on the window in a large, sweeping semi-circle. There were stamps from Jugo-Slavia, Esthonia, Ukrainia, Italian occupation of Austria, German occupation of Belgium, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, and so on through the gamut of Neurope. Chiefly missing were the German war-map stamps of Latvija.

I went in and inquired of the manager about the displays. He replied that the outfit had come from the Window Display Department, so it appears to be a standard set-up. The map is interesting and valuable. Doubtless the interest created will sell more cigars and pipes. But the value for philately is incalculable. The manager remarked that several others had made inquiry besides myself, and that one or two had asked whether any sets of the stamps were on sale.

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

PHILATELIC SECTION OF THE MARYLAND ACADEMY OF SCIENCE.

[illegible] NICHOLAS, Curator.

[illegible] the active management of [illegible] Wilhelm, Academician, and [illegible] editor of the Baltimore Sta[illegible] distinguished philatelists [illegible] Baltimore have been united as a section of the Maryland Academy [illegible] Wilhelm has the honor of organizing the first section devoted to [illegible] an established academ[illegible]

It might be asked—Is stamp [illegible] a science? The answer would have to be, no. If it should be asked—Is there anything in science applicable to stamp collecting? The answer would be, [illegible] It is the applicati[illegible] which is being considered at the Maryland Academy of Sciences. In the first place, there is the philosphy of the mental influence in collecting similar objects presented in endless varieties of artistic effort, as expressed by all nations of the earth, on an article used by every intellectual person. People who were nervous wrecks, because of mental strain, have been brought back to health, and steadiness of nerves, through the fascination of stamp collecting. People with but little inclination for intellectual effort, have, on becoming interested in stamp collecting, found something to occupy their thoughts; and have been led, from the natural human instinct which seeks to acquire and group together, to the broader influences of desire to obtain information respecting the countries, peoples and conditions under which their specimens have been issued, resulting in the development of thinking, reasoning, and investigating efforts and faculties.

Young people who collect stamps are always favorably influenced in developing their faculties for orderly arrangement, a desire to investigate, an ability to think, and an aptitude to recognize, and retain in the mind, differences of appearances, form and characteristics which leads to an acuteness of the senses, and thus imparts to them a stronger mentality to compete for success in all the struggling efforts of human affairs.

There are applications of philosphy here, conditions of mental influence well worthy of being considered. Beyond this there are the relations of stamps to ethnology, as tab marks on the progress among different peoples. We have seen the high artistic expression, and pleasing proportion in the middle period issues of the stamps of our own country, of England, the British Colonies and others. We have seen these beautiful designs degenerate to the illy proportioned, crowded, badly appearing issues during the materialistic period in the latter part of the Nineteenth, and beginning of the Twentieth Centuries, followed by the appearance of somewhat better proportioned and more pleasing recent issues. Here are ethnological indications worthy of being studied.

We have seen the crude beginnings of semi-civilized, or disorganized, countries, in their first issues of postage stamps and their better attainments in their later issues, indicating how their national life has progressed. We see the varied efforts of all the peoples of the earth to express, in an article of common use, the effects of the beautiful in adap[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

FROM ONE PARANOIAC

TO ANOTHER.

Mr. O. U. S., Dear Sir:—Your letter is hugely enjoyed and I hope you will give me permission—(he hasn't yet)—to print my letter which caused it and your letter which caused mine. I will try to answer your letter as best I can. As you no longer have to work for a living it may be that you do not fully appreciate the amount of detailed work necessary to run a stamp business of any magnitude. My business is not a large one compared to the big fellows and the cash paid for sales do not always average $1,000 per week. As I understand it, an average is the amount of sales for a certain period divided by the time units of that period. At times my sales run over $2,000 per week—at other times they run less than $100 per week, but within the past year they have averaged over $1,000 per week for several months and I would not be at all surprised if the weekly average for the entire year 1919 averages over $1,000 per week.

Some of the stamps I sell are my own goods and some are goods placed in my hands for sale on commission. The gross commission is usually 10%. Out of that I have to pay postage and all other expenses. Also a great many of my own stamps are sold on a gross profit not exceeding 10%. I do not know what business you were ever engaged in, but I am quite certain the gross profit probably exceeded 10%, as there are few lines conducted on such a narrow margin.

If my letter gave you and your friends pleasure, I am glad of it for as long as I can write stuff that will give others pleasure to read I am assured of a livelihood and my family will not starve. I refuse, however, to take either myself or my stuff too seriously, and am often unwilling to take other people very seriously.

The "Himself" gag was started as a joke. I think I saw it on one of my western trips—perhaps it was in Denver last winter—and it sort of tickled my fancy and so I stole it. Afterward it seemed fitting for a one man show and might be helpful by letting possible customers know that their orders were not turned over to some clerk but received my own attention—such as it is. Most of those who mention it at all take it for what it was intended to be—just a little pleasantry.

Much of my advertising is not real advertising at all and is not intended to be. I have more customers than I can take care of properly and as my family object to my working more than 14 hours a day I often run ads just to amuse those who—so they write me—enjoy reading them. Probably I lose money on every stamp I sell for less than 25c—regardless of what it cost me—and so I sell as few low-priced stamps as possible. Most of my business is with customers who buy from $5 to $1,000 at a time, altho some sales are for less than $5 and some are for many times $1,000

I have my own system for carrying stock and when I have reason to believe there is not good prospect of making a substantial sale I send cards containing the stamps for which a desire has been expressed even though other stamps not called for may also be on the cards. It is much cheaper to do this than to remount and then have to remount again when the cards come back. I never send unsolicited stuff and never heard it was a breach of anything to send a stamp asked for in a book or on a card with other stamps. In punishing me by not returning the stamps you did ask to see in the manner they were sent you perhaps you will find that you are injuring yourself more than you are me. Such a trick is so petty! Most of my customers would not stoop to do such a thing. But then, most of them are men with whom it is a pleasure to do business."

(Concluded next week.)

ELLIOTT PERRY
HIMSELF.
Box 323, WESTFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

THEY TURNED TO ME.

The 3c part perf. remained in Denver over a year without a buyer, the 2c part perf. were found in Norfolk and sold to me, the 1c part perf. was found in Columbus and was offered to most every important dealer in the country, I got it. The black error envelope was found in Phila., 25 at that time and I had 12, and so on down the line. What's the answer? Am I not worth consulting when you have anything in the way of U. S. to sell?

Will pay unusual prices for unusual things. No collection or accumulation is too large. Remember, I want U. S. only, including Confederates, and if they are fine that is all that is necessary. Covers especially dsired.

If you have any quantities of those small 1914 Wine and Proprietaries unused, why send them along, too. Can use a sheet or more of such as the Proprietary, postage paper, 1½c, 4½c and 5c black. Also remember if you are an advanced specialist of U. S. stamps your name certainly should be on my list.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—While visiting the Bureau several days back the subject came up of the recently issued stamps perforated 12½ on the special Rossback machine. I was informed that while experimenting on the 1c stamps, one sheet only of the 2c value was also perforated but that this sheet was destroyed. The revenue stamps that were perforated at the same time have not as yet been located, although we would not be surprised to hear of them turning up soon.

It will be recalled that in a recent chronicle your editor mentioned that the Bureau had absolutely no information whatsoever relative to any contemplated new issue of postage stamps, either regular or commemorative, during the next six months. However, a personal conversation with one of the officials of the Post Office Department has lead me to surmise that something is in the air, although I can obtain absolutely nothing definite for publication. They are considering something I feel sure, but what it is they will not say. We discussed the surcharging of the envelopes and the postals and were advised that no definite decision has as yet been reached. I was assured, however, that whatever step was taken would be the result of considering it from an economical point of view and that its philatelic bearing would not influence them in the least. This is certainly the proper attitude for the department to take and I must say that this is likely to remain their policy so long as a man of the high caliber of Mr. Fitch remains at the head of the Stamp Division.

There are a great many people throughout the country who are of the opinion that if anything special is wanted in the way of stamps it is only necessary to have influence at Washington. Some are even of the opinion that the 24c invert and others were made to order and planted. Such is far from the case and if you have ever had any dealings with those in authority you would realize that there is absolutely nothing irregular in the making and distributing of our stamps.

We are pleased to inform our readers that in the future it is our intentions of listing the plate numbers issued by the Bureau. So that the published records of these may be complete, we will start our list very shortly where the last number of the "American Philatelist" left off. Many correspondents have written asking where this information might be obtained, so for the benefit of all would state that the "Gazette" continued this listing through December, 1918, the "American Philatelist" through September, 1919, and from that point we will start.

We had the pleasure of chronicling quite recently the 2c stamp from the rotary press imperforate vertically, taken from the "compound" sheets. Mr. H. F. Colman now shows us the same stamp, Die II, printed on unwatermarked paper, imperforated horizontally. This variety is perforated 10 vertically.

1919, Rotary Press Print.

2c carmine, imperf. horizontally, perf. 10 vertically.

Mr. William J. Prinzing sends for our inspection quite an odd cover wherein the 3c postage due was collected by means of a 2c due plus the torn half of the next stamp. The postmaster was evidently out of 1c dues and used this method to take care of the deficiency.

Mr. L. E. Ashim kindly supplements the information sent us a few weeks back by Mr. E. C. Kinsel relative to the Seattle provisional narcotics. It appears from copies sent us that not only the 1c, but the 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c and 10c were also surcharged. It is quite likely other values also exist, for our correspondent states that they were surcharged just as wanted and if the manufacturer asked for other values he quite likely received them. Mr. Ashim also states that he understands that the 1c blue proprietary was similarly overprinted.

1918, Seattle Provisional Revenues

Surcharged in three lines.
"ACT—NARCOTIC—1918"
1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 10c rose.

Mr. Charles A. Townsend sends for our inspection a copy of the 20c brown New York state revenue on a very heavy paper, resembling card board. This is the 1913 issue and Mr. Townsend says that he has seen the 10c and $2 also. On another cover we find the 10c blue 1907 without the usual overprint. We are frank in stating that we know nothing about state revenues and are therefore unable to say if these are out of the ordinary.

Quite an interesting curiosity was shown us this week by the grand nephew of the former New York Postmaster, Robert H. Morris, of 1845 fame. It seems that our correspondent some years back went over the papers of Mr. A. C. Monson, who assisted in the post office when the New York postmaster provisionals were issued. He found several checks of Mr. Monson's bearing the 1898 2c red documentary stamps and these were cancelled by the well known mss. initials "A.C.M.," which Mr. Monson in by-gone years had applied to the New York blacks.

We wish to thank Messrs. Burt C. Wear, C. A. Jenkins, Chas. C. Dargue, E. C. Kinsel, G. F. Wild and George Soulman for their interesting letters.

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO., 33 WEST 44TH STREET NEW YORK, N. Y.

BAVARIA.—In addition to the values overprinted FREISTAAT BAYERN chronicled in issue No. 1506, Mr. Allan J. Roos shows us the 2½, 7½ and 20pf surcharged in the same manner.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—We take the following from the September number of the Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste:—

"We are expecting very shortly the appearance of the remaining Austrian stamps with the overprint 'Cesko-Slovenska posta 1919.' Complete sets will be extremely rare.

"In the month of October will appear the 'legionnaire' stamps, and on the 28th (anniversary of the coup-d'état in Bohemia) there will appear three stamps representing the Czech lion tearing off its fetters.

"There have been Hungarian stamps with the overprint 'Ceskoslovenska posta,' but they are only essays.

"There have also been innumerable provisional Postage Due stamps; there were the Austrian stamps (Charles I), overprinted by hand with the letter T and the word PORTO, also Czecho-Slovak stamps (Stradcany) overprinted with either PORTO, or DOPLATIF, or simply a T in a rectangle. There are practically as many varieties as there are stamps, for these overprints were made with a hand rubber stamp in violet or in black, and they were justified by the stock of Austrian Postage Due stamps being exhausted in January and February last, while the Czecho-Slovak Postage Due stamps had not yet made their appearance."—Stamp Collecting.

The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the stamps referred to above of the type of the Czech lion tearing off his fetters. The values and colors are as follows: 15h gray green, 25h brown and 50h blue. At the same time the following values of another type are submitted:—75h gray, 100h brown and 120h purple. These are of the oblong type and show a mother and child in her arms. At the top are the following words, "Sirotam Nasich Legionaro," while at the bottom is "Posta Ceskos Slovenska" with figures of values in each corner. At each side is the upright sword.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—The habit of periodically issuing "Habilitado" provisionals in San Domingo is to be ruthlessly stopped. The Times correspondent says that new postage stamps of the values ½c, 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c, 20c and 50c have been authorized for immediate issue here by order of Brigadier-General Fuller. U. S. Marine Corps, Military Governor of San Domingo.—Stamp Collecting.

ESTHONIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 15 penni of a different type than heretofore. The stamp has the figures at the left and right upper corners in hexagon shaped frames with the words "Penni" between, while below in a circular shape is "Eesti Vabariik". At the bottom are the figures of value in the same shape form as above but larger. In between is a series of circular and rectangular ornaments. The color is red.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—Stamp Collecting calls attention to the fact that there are two distinct printings of the 1sh value of the War Stamp, the second one being a very much lighter shade of brown than the original issue, which, of course, is the scarcer. The second local overprint, both on the ½, 1d and 1sh values can easily be distinguished from the first by the shiny ink of the more recent examples.

FINLAND.—Axel Johansen informs us that Jan. 1 will see new colors for Finland stamps. The list follows:—5p gray, 10p green, 20p red, 25p brown and 50p dark blue.

FIUME.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 25 and 45c values bearing the following black surcharges in two lines. The former is FRANCO—5, while the latter is FRANCO—10. The figures are located just above the "Posta Fiume", while the word is directly across the middle of the stamp.

At the same time the same correspondent submits a copy of a new 25c stamp with the head of a prosperous looking gentleman within a border, which contains the words "Pro Fondazione Dr Grossich Lire 2" and at the bottom "Posta di Fiume". The color is blue and the perforation 11½. At the top is Cm in the left and 25 in the right corners.

We are indebted to Adjt. Henry Hooreman for information concerning the above provisionals.

JAMAICA.—Regarding the 3d WAR STAMP surcharged in red, one line, recently issued, we are advised by a correspondent of the following story related regarding them. The ½d and 3d were issued at Kingston on October 4th and the ½d may be passed by without notice, as it is still on sale, but the 3d was issued to the extent of 1100 pounds and by 2 o'clock the same afternoon was exhausted. Speculators got busy and although the Post Office people tried to effect control, the speculators and their agents had pretty well effected a corner, as it is rumored that three people hold 900 pounds worth. About 100 pounds went to fill foreign orders and the balance of 100 pounds was bought by the

PRECANCEL PARAGRAPHS.

By H. S. DICKEY.

The elusive 1c surface print in all its varied shades is a dandy to make a Precancel specialized collection of.

I have 100 varieties of it. If you want a nice "easy" one, just try the 3c surface print. These two are enough to keep you busy for a while.

Arizona and New Mexico are two of the hardest western states to get precancels from. I guess they raise more cactus and sage brush out there than they do stamp collectors.

The new tiny type is coming into use from both Kansas City, Mo., and Cincinnati, Ohio, and it's the prettiest as well as the best standardized type that we've ever had used. They are beauties.

The 13c sea green will no doubt be used up at Xmas time as a precancel. Let's all watch for the lucky 13's, they are scarce.

The original cover collectors sure would get a real original cover if they saved one of the wooden boxes that the government uses to ship out the groceries in. Out here they use $1.00 St. Louis Precancels on lots of boxes, and San Antonio, Texas, is using lots of precancels on the same stuff.

I used to think Heinz and his 57 varieties was a lot, but I've changed my mind since I started to collect the new issues of Poland. Mabel, bring me another album, this one is full.

As the perpetrator of a first class philatelic joke, I believe I take the cake; a few years ago at Washington, D. C., at the S. P. A. stamp convention, I met that fine printer from Federalsburg, Md., and I complimented him on the excellent work he turned out in stamp auction catalogues, etc., but I told him it was such a shame he used the same common one cent precancel every month, and I suggested that he use a different type precancel each month on the stamps. He took it in dead earnest and I haven't been able to keep up with the procession since that time, so the joke is really on me, after all. But Federalsburg, Md., does make a nice precancel collection, just the same.

In the merry mad chase after aeroplanes the 6, 16 and 24c precanceled hold the center of the stage, as the post offices did precancel them, notwithstanding regulations to the contrary. Got them?

The 3c victory lost its liberty very quickly and most of them are now reposing in captivity in the stamp collectors' albums. The remainders are evidently being precanceled and used up that way in several cities. Minneapolis, Minn., and Atchison, Kas., both use them. It will eventually prove to be like the 3c, 1869, a very interesting little stamp.

King Albert stopped here en route home, but there was such a crowd that I couldn't get near enough to ask him if he collected stamps. He's a fine looking scrapper.

THE 6c PART PERF.

By REV. G. E. RICHTER.

It seems to me that Mr. Ward has not been very courteous either to me or to Mr. Power in stating so emphatically that the 6-cent part-perf of which I wrote you recently is not what it appears to be. Mr. Power, whose standing as an authority on U. S. issues of the 20th century is well known, has examined the stamp which is under discussion, and after careful inspection, with miscroscope, dividers, millimetre scale, and comparison with the other denominations of that issue, declared it apparently O. K. and was willing to back his opinion with real money, which he offered me on the spot. Mr. Ward's statement that the stamp is not the requisite height does not seem to be borne out by Mr. Power's measurements or my own,—and I have just gone over it again most carefully. I permitted Mr. Ward to examine the cover and he wrote me that he would endeavor to obtain some information regarding this variety from the records at Washington, and which he wrote me under date of Nov. 1st, he had not yet succeeded in obtaining. I have also been endeavoring to obtain such information from official records, thus far without success. It seems to me, however, that it would have been only courteous and fair for Mr. Ward to suspend judgment until this official data should be available.

I do not presume to declare that this stamp is one of the 6-cent part-perfs, of which 500 appear to have been issued, though presumably later retired. I only know that it has been in my possession since 1915, its unique character unnoticed because at the time I received it, in my ordinary correspondence, I was exceedingly busy, for in addition to my pastoral duties I was editing the town weekly newspaper, and had little leisure for stamps. This cover enclosed correspondence from Silas Chapman, Jr., the well-known Hartford collector, who is as ignorant as myself of its origin. I am hoping to have the matter definitely settled by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, but until I am absolutely and officially assured that none of these stamps could possibly have reached the public, I shall believe that it is what it appears to be.

"KNOCKING" COMPETITORS.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 24, 1919.
To the Editor:—

In a recent number of the WEEKLY I notice an advertisement where a certain representative dealer gave a black eye to Middle Europe stamps but at the same time urged your subscribers to invest good U. S. dollars in booklet leaves.

Is this good business?

It seems to me that any dealer who is out after business will win the respect of collectors by building up an interest in the things he offers rather than in tearing down or attempting to tear down the business of a competitor.

I cannot recall having seen an advertisement in any journal where the "knocking" of competitors' business was permitted, I do remember having seen on Hester St. in a clothier's window the warning, "Don't go next door to be cheated, come in here."

Of course this adv. escaped your blue pencil.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

NOTES ON 1918 SWEDEN.

By CARL HUGO PETERSON.

In consequence of the raised postage rates in Sweden which came into force on June 1st, 1918, new postage stamps of 7, 12 and 27 öre were necessary—the values of 7 and 12 öre for ordinary postcards and letters, and the value of 27 öre for registered letters. As the definitive stamps of 7 and 12 öre would not be ready until July 1st, the Swedish Postal Administration in May had to print provisional stamps of these two values. Stamps of 27 öre were not issued until November 30th.

The following provisionals were printed in May, 1918:—

7 öre on 10 öre, carmine.
12 öre on 25 öre, orange.
12 öre on 65 öre, olive-green.

24,726,900 copies of the old value of 10 öre, 13,719,700 copies of 25 öre, and 5,379,300 copies of the value of 65 öre were overprinted.

The new numerals are printed in black upon the old figures of value.

There are several errors in this issue. There are stamps overprinted "12 1" and "2 12" instead of "12 12" and stamps with inverted surcharge. The value of 12 on 65 öre has been issued with both thick and thin numerals.

Shortly afterwards the definitive stamps, 7 öre, dark green, and 12 öre, claret, appeared. The official stamps of 7 and 12 öre in the same colours as the ordinary stamps were not issued until September or October.

On the 30th of November the provisional stamps of 27 öre were issued. The values of 55, 65 and 80 öre were overprinted with new value "27 27" upon the old numerals, the values of 55 and 65 öre in black and the value of 80 öre in dark blue. 1,211,700 copies of the 55 öre stamp, 1,041,100 copies of 65 öre, and 1,265,000 copies of the 80 öre were overprinted.

On the provisionals of 1918 the surcharge often is displaced, so that the new numerals do not cover the old ones.

The stamps of 55 and 80 öre without surcharge are very rare. When they had been printed they were no longer necessary on account of the new postage rates. They were not distributed until July 2nd, when 1000 copies of each of these stamps were sent to Värnamo, a small place in southern Sweden, and on July 3rd the Postal Administration resolved that the distribution of these values should be stopped and the stamps overprinted with new value. In a very short time all the stamps of these values were sold out at Värnamo. These stamps are now sold to collectors at a price of £8 for a single stamp.

When the postage rates were raised, the demand for the Voluntary Assistance stamps was very inconsiderable, as they were only issued in values of 5 and 10 öre, and therefore the values overprinted on the old issues of 1877-1891 were surcharged once more with new value in dark blue colour. The new numerals at top of the stamp are the new postal value, and the two numerals at bottom are the sum going to charity. About 200,000 copies of each of the ten old stamps were overprinted.

One of the old official stamps, 8 öre, violet, appeared in 1918 with the new watermark, wavy lines.—Stamp Lover.

SASKATCHEWAN LAW STAMPS.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

Necessity makes so great demands even in matters stampic that the collector ofttimes pauses to garner facts before the presses are idle. Canada's out-put, on the confines of civilization, has taken its place in the lists, and the stamps manufactured at insistent demand have gradually given place to the more finished product of the engraver's art. These useful though crude predecessors of the present beautiful designs are growing rarer as the days pass, and the collector of the revenue stamps of Canada will do well to gather the bits of paper as opportunity offers.

Among the necessitous issues of yester-year may be chronicled the first and second issues of the Law Stamps of Saskatchewan. The first issue of these stamps was printed at the office of the Regina Leader, Regina, Saskatchewan, on a heavy wove unwatermarked paper, white on one side and colored on the other, except the 5c and the dollar values, which are white on both sides. The colors used are not "fast." They run readily on being moistened, and for this reason great care must be exercised in handling these stamps. They should never be dampened or steamed in removing them from original documents.

All stamps in the series are printed in sheets of twenty-five, in five horizontal rows of five stamps each. There are perforations between the stamps, but not on the margins. Consequently the marginal stamps have one side imperforate, except the corner stamp, which has two adjacent sides imperforate. The perforations gauge twelve.

The design of these stamps was made by two impressions. The first consists of a fancy scroll background comprised of six blocks, and smaller fancy designs to fill in the corners and vacant spaces. Of the six block designs, there are two types,—three of each,—the whole being so arranged as to give the background a continuous or solid appearance.

The second impression was made to designate the value, as well as the purpose of the stamps. This second impression consists of the coat of arms of the province, which appears in the center of the stamp, the words "Law Stamp" printed across the top of the stamp, and the value at the bottom. The coat of arms consists of a lion above three sheaves of wheat, surrounded by a buckled garter, on which is inscribed the words, "Province of Saskatchewan", in plain letters. The words "Law Stamp" are printed in tall and somewhat plain type, with capital letters for "L" and "S". The value appears in "Cents," or "Dollars," printed in small plain type in the center, near the bottom, below the coat of arms. Opposite the word "Cents" and "Dollars" there appear in the lower corners the appropriate numerals to represent the values. These numerals are enclosed in oblongs, two sides of which are made by the outer line frame of the stamp. This frame consists of medium straight lines inside the perforation and surrounding the whole design. The stamps as measured by this frame are 37½ x 25 millimetres.

The two impressions referred to were made on an ordinary printing press, and the type was hand set. The scroll background was printed apparently in different colors, and the second impression also appears in different colors. There were two distinct printings of the series.

FIRST PRINTING.

Following is a complete list of the stamps issued in the first printing:

	Color Surface Paper.	Color Scroll Background.	Color Value, Etc.
1.	5c white	light green	blue
2.	10c reddish pink	light brownish	black
3.	20c bright blue	bluish green	black
4.	25c brt. dp. gr'n	dark green	black
5.	50c deep yellow	yell. green	black
6.	75c br't dp. red	brown	black
7.	$1 white	light green	br. blk.
8.	$2 reddish pink	light brownish	blue
9.	$3 bright blue	bluish green	black
10.	$5 br't dp. gr'n	dark green	black
11.	$10 dp. yellow	yellowish green	black
12.	$20 br't deep red	brown	black

In this printing it is quite possible the scroll background on all the stamps was printed in light green ink. The description endeavors to give the color appearance of the background on each stamp of the series.

There are, in this first series, many varieties and a few errors. Among others of a lesser nature the following may be noted:

(a) The scroll background appears to be uniform throughout the entire

E. W. Hoyt & Co. issued a perfumery stamp back in Civil War times that is 1¼ inches high in the center and tapers to a point at each end, its width being 4⅝ inches. Printed in black on pink paper, its artistic design makes it one of the prettiest United States revenues.
A block of four retains the same general shape by clever arrangement. In such shape, it is a rarity.
I offer a block of four of this stamp in perfection condition in every way.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

series, with the exception of a single stamp,—either the first or last on each sheet, dependent upon the manner in which the sheet was fed into the press, for in the second impression some sheets were fed in upside down. In this stamp the scroll background is similar to that appearing on every other stamp in the sheet, except that it is inverted.

(b) In the 5c stamp the coat of arms is inverted in the case of the nineteenth stamp. This invert does not appear elsewhere in the series.

(c) Throughout the series the second stamp in each sheet has a thick letter "S" in the word "Stamp," and the fifth stamp in each sheet has a thick letter "A" in "Law" and thick letters "ST" in the word "Stamp."

(d) Throughout the series the eighteenth stamp in each sheet has an imperfect or defective garter surrounding the coat of arms, the buckle on the ribbon being broken in two, only half of it appearing.

(e) In the dollar stamp the word "Dollars" is used instead of "Dollar." This was corrected in the second printing.

(f) In the first stamp of each sheet throughout the series the outside line of the garter toward the N. W. is quite blurred or indistinct, and in some cases is partly missing.

(g) In the $2 stamp the last one on the sheet has an extra line above the figure "2" in the S. W. corner of the stamp within the oblong.

(h) In the $5 stamp the figure "5" in the S. E. corner is raised so that it nearly touches the top lines of the oblong in the twenty-first stamp.

SECOND PRINTING.

In the second printing of some of the stamps of this issue indications point to the fact that the type, for some denominations, was reset. In any event (should this prove to be an error), the forms certainly show that there was a re-arrangement. This second printing includes the following:

Color	Surface Paper.	Color Scroll Background	Color Value, Etc.
1. 5c	white	light green	br't blue
2. 10c	reddish pink	light brownish	black
3. 25c	br't dp. gr'n	dark green	black
4. 50c	orange yellow	grayish	black
5. 75c	br't dp. red	brown	black
6. $1	white	light green	brown
7. $2	reddish pink	light brown	blue
8. $3	bright blue	bluish green	black

The fancy scroll background does not differ from that of the first printing.

Following are varieties that occur:

(a) The tenth stamp in each sheet is similar to that of the eighteenth stamp in the first printing.

(b) In the fourteenth stamp in each sheet the outer circle of the garter towards the N. W. is blurred or indistinct.

(c) In the twenty-first stamp in each sheet there appears a thick letter "S" in the word "Stamp."

(d) In the twenty-second stamp in each sheet there is a large letter "A" in the word "Stamp."

(e) In the 5c stamp the line forming the left side of the oblong in the S. E. corner of the twentieth stamp is not perpendicular.

SECOND ISSUE.

The second issue of Saskatchewan Law Stamps was also printed in the office of the Regina Leader. They appear in sheets of fifty,—five horizontal rows of ten stamps each. The paper used was a white wove safety paper. The safety device consists of the words "Dominion of Canada" printed in light green on the front of the sheets, in a fancy design, scarcely distinguishable without the aid of a glass. The words appear an innumerable number of times, giving the appearance of a slightly mottled light green surface to each stamp.

The stamps are imperforate on the sides, but between they are perforated 12.

The design of the stamp, printed throughout the entire series with black ink, consists of an outer straight line frame 42x30 millimetres, containing within its borders the words "Saskatchewan Law Stamp" in plain type, without capitals, in two lines at the top of the stamp; the value of the stamp in large thick numerals in the center, with the "$" sign or cents sign, "C," and the value in words across the bottom of the stamp, in type similar to that at the top, except in the case of the 25c, 50c and $20 stamps, where the type used is of the same variety, but smaller. The words at the top and bottom of the stamp are separated from the numerals by thin horizontal lines, about 17½ millimetres apart.

The type for these stamps was handset and as a consequence a number of varieties occur. These, however, are not so numerous as might be expected. There was only one printing of this issue, which consisted of the following values: 5c, 10c, 20c, 25c, 50c, 75c, $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $20.

The principal errors or varieties which appear in this series consist in the use or omission of periods after the word "Stamp," after the letter "C" used with the numerals in the center, and after the words "Cents" or "Dollars" at the bottom of the stamps. In some of the stamps the size of the numerals used in the center also varies.

To elucidate these varieties, I cite the following:

(a) In a sheet of the 5c stamps there is no period after the "C" in any of the stamps in the third or seventh perpendicular rows. In some cases the period after the "C" is large and square, in other cases large and round, and in still others merely a small point. The periods after the words above referred to also vary, but not to the same extent.

(b) In the 10c stamps the last figure "C" in the center is smaller in the ninth and tenth perpendicular rows than in the others. This is also true of the two last ciphers in the $10.00 and $20.00 stamps in the same rows.

Again I would crave clemency in the preparation of this paper,—a mere copying of facts supplied me by Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, of Westmount, Quebec.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We have been favored by the Philatelic Institute of London with No. 4 of the Philatelic Institute Papers edited by F. J. Melville. It consists of a "Check List of the New Republic of Poland," by Capt. C. W. Care. This list originally appeared in the Stamp Lover and is probably the best treatment of the stamps of this new republic that has yet appeared. Illustrations are numerous. The price of the booklet is not stated.

IT IS COMING!

Our next sale, No. 225, is in course of preparation and arrangement. Exact date announced later.

I have been exceedingly busy turning over the records and paraphernalia of the Sales Department of the American Philatelic Society to the new Sales Superintendent, Mr. James E. Guest, Commerce Station, Minneapolis, Minn. To save time and delay in correspondence, please address him on all subjects of new business concerning the Sales Department. I am taking care of the old business and if your books have sold 20% or more they will be retired shortly. If they have sold less than 20% they have been turned over to the new Sales Superintendent. All Circuits sent out by me should be returned to me to avoid confusion.

Did you send us your latest correct address to be placed "ON OUR MAILING LIST?"

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

A HOME-MADE LOOSELEAF STOCK BOOK.

By THEODORE H. AMES.

During all my years of collecting and dealing in stamps I have dreamed of making my own stock books, approval cards, etc., according to my own specifications, in the sizes I wanted, not the sizes I could buy. I wanted to make my own approval cards for filing purposes to fit my drawers, and I wanted to keep all my stock of duplicate stamps in stock books rather than envelopes. I made the usual experiments with cardboard, heavy wrapping paper, and a pot of glue, with the usual results, a garmy mess.

I believe that I have solved the problem most satisfactorily and I want to pass on the idea. Once one grasps the simple system, it is easy to adapt variations of it to one's own needs, so I will describe in detail the manufacture of a loose-leaf stock book page, and leave the reader to experiment further on other articles.

The first thing required is a loose leaf book and pages. The binder should if possible have an extension back, or else have the front and back covers in each a separate piece, as this admits of unlimited expansion. The pages should preferably be of fairly heavy paper and should have a horizontal ruling for convenience in getting the pockets straight. A ring binder is perfectly O. K. but the holes in the paper should then be re-inforced with Dennison's gummed rings on both sides, as a page full of stamps is quite heavy and will tear out the hole in the paper.

A pair of scissors, a moist tongue and a roll of "Tiedy Tape" are the remaining requirements. This Tiedy Tape is the joker and in some places may be unobtainable without some hunting about. It is simply a roll of gummed paper, about an inch wide, (narrower will not do) which is used in many stores to seal up small packages in place of string. A large stationery store will sell you a large roll for 20c. If your stationer cannot supply you, ask your Atlantic and Pacific Tea Store to sell you a roll. If all else fails write me and I will try to find out the name of the manufacturer.

Now, measure off the width of your page, leaving, of course, a margin at the side held by the binder, as you do not want your pockets to be bent when the pages are opened, and cut a number of strips of the tiedy tape twice that width. Take a strip of the tape, fold, gummed side to gummed side, about two-fifths of the tape lengthwise so that there remains exposed about 3/16 inches of gum along the length of the tape. Now moisten the 2/5 of the tape which was folded over, and fasten down. If you have followed these directions closely, you now have a piece of tape about three-fifths as wide as the original strip with a smooth, ungummed surface on one side and about 3/16 inches gummed and twice as much ungummed on the other side. Make a great number of such strips, they are your pockets.

Now, with a pile of these finished strips and a few unfolded strips, you are ready to begin to make the page look like something.

Take one of the unfolded strips and paste it at the top of the page carefully along the edge, running it around the right hand edge to the back, so that the ends on opposite sides of the sheet reach about the same point.

Now, take a folded strip, moisten the gummed edge and paste, gummed edge at the bottom, in the same way, so that the top of this, the first pocket, just overlaps the plain strip at the top of the page. Paste another pocket just below this one so that it just overlaps again. Exercise care in getting the tops of the pockets parallel and straight across the page, and when approaching the bottom of the page try to arrange to have the bottom of the last pocket come just at the edge of the page, so that when completed, none of the original paper will be visible except the left-hand margin, which you have left.

You will now have a sheet of your book with a number of parallel pockets, but the edges of the pockets, the ends of the strips, will be rough and unsightly, so these may be finished off by putting a strip of the tape vertically to cover them, or, if an even more finished job is desired, use ordinary medical adhesive tape one-half inch wide for that purpose.

After you have completed one page, you will find that the others are quick, easy and pleasant to make, and you will quickly see new uses for the idea. In making approval cards, of course, pockets are desired only on one side and then both the right and left edges must be bound with either tiedy tape or adhesive tape. The adhesive tape gives a finish similar to the linen binding of "professional" jobs.

OUR 3 IN 1 ADVERTISING CONTRACT.

A friend writes, "I don't understand your proposition. Can you make it a bit plainer for me?"

We shall try to do so.

We offer displayed space on a sliding scale, the rates depending on the space used. These rates are now effective on all new contracts:—

½ in. (6 lines)	$1.50 per week
1 in. (12 lines)	2.50 per week
2 ins. (24 lines)	4.50 per week

One week you can use an inch and the following week more or less at the prices quoted. On 9 lines the price would be $2.25, on 18 lines $3.75, on 30 lines or more $2 per inch of 12 lines. Plain, now, isn't it?

One thing more:—Bills are payable on presentation, just like your rent, telephone and lighting bills. We try to meet our obligations as presented, hence this very necessary rule.

Write for a contract and look it over.

THERE'S A GOOD REASON!

The large advertisement by W. C. Phillips & Co. this week is one of many that this firm has taken during the past three years. It must be a paying proposition, in fact, Mr. Phillips recently wrote us that he could not do business with us unless we produced results. No dealer advertises as a pastime and few advertise from charitable motives, so when a page is taken in the WEEKLY, business must follow.

The Western Stamp Co. of Omaha has used page after page in recent months. So has the Marks Stamp Co. and the C. S. Watson Co. and they continue to use large space week by week.

There is an art in advertising. It consists in naming the things you want to sell at the lowest prices you can afford to sell them and thus so favorably impress your patrons that they will look for your advertisement the moment the wrapper is broken.

We play no favorites and large space is yours on the same basis as to the advertisers above referred to. Just write us what you have in mind to do.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Gone—In the October number of the London Philatelist, we find a paragraph of nine lines that bids us pause in our headlong pursuit of philately and meditate upon the past of the hobby. We copy the announcement: "It is with sincere regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. Mount Brown, one of the pioneers of Philately and one of the earliest members of our Society. Mr. Mount Brown was born in 1837 in London, commenced collecting in 1860 and in May, 1862, produced his well-known catalogue, which attained wide-spread popularity and reached five editions in two years. He relinquished philately about 1870 but in late years returned to the hobby and in 1916 was elected an honorary member of the Royal Philatelic Society, London." Those who actually saw the dawn of stamp collecting and are still with us are worthy of all respect and tribute and we cannot believe that Mount Brown, whose life has spanned that of philately, will not receive a fuller meed of eulogy in the English press. In Gray's catalogue, first edition, London, 1862, which we happen to have in hand, we find in the Introduction, the sub-heading: "The following Works or Articles have been Printed on the subject of Stamp Collecting." There are twenty listings and among them is: "Brown, Mount.—Catalogue of British Colonial, and Foreign Postage Stamps, comprising upwards of 1,200 varieties. London. 1862. Second Edition." Here we may add that the first edition of "A Hand Catalogue of Postage Stamps for the Use of Collectors by John Edward Gray, Ph. D., F. R. S., F. L. S., F. Z. S., &c., of the British Museum," London: Robert Hardwicke, 192, Picadilly, 1862, was published early in December, 1862, and consisted of one thousand copies. In this catalogue, the advertisement may be seen: "Now ready. New and Revised Edition. Second Thousand. Stafford Smith's Descriptive Price Catalogue of many hundred varieties of British, Colonial and Foreign Postage Stamps. Illustrated with facsimile engravings of rare stamps. Price 4d, post free 5d. H. Stafford Smith Foreign Stamp and Crest Depot, Bath." In his catalogue, Lord Crawford says of the first edition of Mount Brown's catalogue, which "comprised upwards of 1200 varieties": "This edition is believed to have consisted of 500 copies. A few of the copies, said to be ten, had the words, 'Presentation copy,' printed on the wrappers in place of the usual words, 'Price one shilling.' Post Free, 13 stamps. A copy of this variety is in the library of the British Museum."

Again—The memory of Mount Brown will be cherished by philatelists, the older ones of whom will realize "how noiseless falls the foot of time" when the name of Mount Brown, which meant so much in the early days, fades out. "Nor sink those stars in empty night,—They hide themselves in heaven's own light." The necrology of the year includes the name of Victor Suppantschitz, Vienna, one of the greatest of European philatelists. He was born in 1838 and became one of the country's honored jurists and attained high political preferences. He became a collector in 1863 and was soon in communication with many other collectors in his own land and elsewhere. His collection increased through exchanges and his enthusiasm glowed through contact with his fellow collectors. He began to contribute valuable articles to the stamp press and in 1880 issued his first work, a philatelic Guide; and twelve years later, his big book on philatelic bibliography was presented. In 1895, his further "Briefmarkenkunde" brought him renown. In 1913, he was awarded the Lindenberg medal, for most distinguished services for philately during that year.

Levity—In an article on Prince Edward Island, we learn: "The island is known as 'The Garden of the Gulf,' its oats, potatoes, sheep and horses having a good reputation." It is fitting that our four-footed friends who lead lives of the utmost circumspection be publicly extolled for their virtues; and anyway, when a sheep loses its reputation, it becomes a goat. The American Philatelist, September, page 453, includes "United Tastes" among the new issue countries, and we think the name the best of anagrams. There are many tastes in this country, and some of them want improving and if they do not get it, they will have to follow old dark brown taste. Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer sends us a price-list from a dealer in Holland on which there is the rhyme, rubber-stamped: "In matters of Commerce—

FULTON STAMP CO., 729 6TH AVENUE, COR. 42 ST., NEW YORK CITY.

The fault of the Dutch—Is offering too little—And asking too much." The sender says that his principles are not predicated on the stanza. There is a good record in favor of the Dutch traders and Goldsmith was not equivocal when he said: "Embosomed in the deep where Holland lies." A friend says that he thinks that the editorial, "Inspired," was so remarkable that he believes its points should be used "in publicity and propaganda." Further, he says that he has "sent it to his Congressman," but he does not say whether the M. C. is a friend or enemy. Our friend should not try to spoof us.

Scrap—We receive via Mr. Ragatz: "For centuries the most enlightened rulers of Egypt had paid special attention to the possibility of restoring communication between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea. In 1845, after some twenty years of indomitable perseverance, Waghorn succeeded in conveying the mail from Bombay to London in thirty days by the overland route, which traversed Egypt from Suez to Alexandria, whence the letters were despatched to Trieste and later by the French to Maseilles.—Cambridge Modern History, Vol. 12, Page 430."

Strange—We get letters from our patrons that in the aggregate cover the range of our advertising columns and give us an idea of the inner workings of the trade machine. Occasionally the letters are commendatory of the methods of an advertiser, but oftener they express surprise at the business manner of this or that dealer. For instance: "About two years ago, I sent them a want-list; never heard a word until I wrote again and then got the amazing news that their want man was out of town. Circulars came regularly and finally I wrote again regarding some Seebecks that I wanted. The answer came requesting thirty days' time to fill. That was satisfactory and I waited a month and a half. I wrote and back came the answer requesting a duplicate list, as they had mislaid the original one. I sent it, saying that this was their last chance in three starts. No answer yet, but nevertheless I got their latest circulars, referred to previously, yesterday. I consider myself a liberal buyer and can refer you to many of your advertisers for proof." We can print the advertisements but cannot pretend to dictate the office or shop methods of advertisers so long as they are within the law. Of course, we know that now and then the most efficient individual or firm slips a cog or misses the connection, but what seems passing strange to us is that a firm progressive enough to advertise is not enterprising enough to cultivate every chance to do business with those who are attracted by their advertisements. We suppose that there is usually a dealer or two who has more business than he can attend to.

OUR SUBSCRIPTION FORMS.

All holders of subscription forms will please use up the supply of 25c slips that they have on hand. When exhausted a revised form will be furnished on the dollar per year basis.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Several subscribers residing in Pasadena and Los Angeles report that the issue of Nov. 1 reached them in a badly scorched condition. Chas. S. Thompson states that part of a shipment of mail was badly damaged by fire and burned copies of the WEEKLY were received by our subscribers in his vicinity. It is possible that letter mail was accorded the same treatment, and we mention this fact for the information of our subscribers. The date of the episode was about Nov. 15.

—We have received Wholesale List No. 18 of the Max F. Bier Co., Brooklyn, N. Y. All dealers should send for the same. Address 1496 Bedford Av.

—If any of our subscribers wish to convey a bit of Christmas cheer to a worthy shut-in, we suggest that they send some stamps or stamp papers (or anything of a philatelic nature) to Emery Williams, Route 3, Box 110, Benton, Ill. Mr. Williams has not been in bed for more than eighteen months. He takes a keen interest in his stamps and a subscriber has recently presented him with an album. We are satisfied as to the worthiness of this young collector.

—The O'Flaherty article to which we have previously referred as a splendid asset in advertising philately, was printed in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican for Sunday, Nov. 23. It was finely displayed and we are indebted to H. C. Hyde for the clipping.

—New York letters are now reaching us with a new advertising cancellation in four lines, reading:—"Fight Tuberculosis — With — Red Cross — Christmas Seals".

—"This is just to notify you that the Ripon (Wis.) Philatelic Society, Branch No. 7 of the S. P. A., has reorganized after a lapse of two years due to the war. An important meeting was held at the Masonic Temple Nov. 28, at which everyone agreed to do all in his power to make the organization bigger and better than ever. The following officers were elected:—Louis B. Farvour, president; F. E. Tinkham, vice-president and sales manager and Edw. F. Steinbring, secretary. Meetings will be held the first and third Wednesdays of each month after Jan. 1st."—EDWARD F. STEINBRING.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. W. Hunt, Gordon J. Campbell, J. H. Houston, Leopold Roth, O. R. Bertram, H. C. Hyde, R. P. Brook, H. Pearlman, H. L. Balderston and Independent Stamp Co.

—Two of our advertisers write that they can supply a copy of the 1919 catalog, Messrs. Leve of Syracuse and Lyons of Philadelphia. A subscriber, W. F. Hubbell, Freeport, N. Y., has one also for sale.

—"My subscription expired with No. 1500 and as I do not expect to do much collecting for a time I thought I would not renew. Now, however, that you have raised the price to $1.00 I am sending along a greenback just to prove that I appreciate the kind of paper that you continue to put out. Hoping and believing that the great mass of your subscribers will stay with you, I remain."—PAUL O. GARRETSON.

3c RED ENV. ERROR==FREE

This is an interesting stamp. Most collectors get one even if they do not collect envelopes. For this time only we'll make a SPECIAL OFFER of this error, free with every order of $15.00 from this adv. only. This offer will be cancelled soon as our next list appears early in January.

Make yourself a Xmas present. The offers here cancel prices made in our last list, where it is the same item. Other items in that list, which are not in this hold good. We cannot quote as complete a line as we would like in these two pages, but you will find many new items offered at as close prices as possible over cost. If you want anything in War items, etc., let us know as important shipments of new and up-to-the-minute goods such as French Occupation of Hungary, Transylvania, etc., etc., are on the way. It does not cost a fortune to get nine in ten of these War issues and there is more history connected with most of them than with any of the older issues. Those not interested in War and 20th will find other offers in 19th, U. S., etc.

We have been bothered with orders from past ads of 8c, 12c, etc., and must request orders to be at least 25c or more. The clerical work is about the same on a $5 order as on a 5c one.

SPECIAL SNAPS

In this column we list a few items we are able to offer at much less than usual prices, through favorable purchases, etc. All are desirable goods, and we repeat the prices are SPECIAL, and many of the offers will not be made again by us at these figures. POSITIVELY not over TWO copies of any one stamp to a customer. Do not order more, please.

WEEKLY readers finished up our stock in many of the specials offered in our last list. Here is another and better one. Look it over carefully.

Those who collect War Stamps or 20th should keep in touch with us. We have and will have items few dealers will ever have.

APPROVALS

We do not have space here to list our books. Such lists have appeared in so many WEEKLY numbers, we feel it is not necessary. To those who do not have one of our past ads to refer to we will gladly send a list of books with full descriptions. We have approvals for all classes and kinds of collectors and solicit investigation and trial.

NEW EUROPE, ETC.

Under this head we have listed the new countries which have come into being as a result of the War, whether in Europe or elsewhere.

WAR APPROVAL BOOKS.

For those who do not have much of a line of these stamps we have made up some books of cheaper and medium priced items. Customers known to us or others who give some proof of responsibility can have selections sent to choose from. These books will change but will run about the same as listed.

No. 1A European War Issues only, Austria to Hungary. Only issues of the older states $16.00
No. 1B Same as above, but including higher priced items. Many sets .....$35 and up
No. 2A European War Issues only, Hungary to Turkey. Many in sets $15.00
No. 2B Same, but higher priced stamps, etc. A good lot of Roumania, etc. ..$25.00 and up
No. 3A New Europe—Only countries that were born from War. Cheaper issues $8.00
No. 3B New Europe—As above, but the scarcer values, etc. Many complete sets $25 and up
No. 4A French Cols.—Red Cross issues mostly. A nice lot, & Red Cr. near cplt $10 and up
No. 5A Italian Issues—Issues of Italian Occ. and Colonies only. Cheaper values ...$12.00
No. 5B Same as above, but a better line Some very scarce stamps, Trent, Trieste, etc., etc. ..... $50 and up
No. 6A BRITISH COLS.—Mostly War Tax and a nice line of the cheaper issues 8.00

SPECIAL While the above books are classified and cover the run of War issues pretty close, we have some large books, really collections of these stamps. we will submit to those who wish to purchase $25 or more at a time. Their value runs from about $150. up, and we have made heavy sales from them. On account of the absence of catalogs, etc., these are very convenient for those who wish to see before buying. Special selections of wants. and rare items will be sent those who mean business. Prompt returns required as we are unable in many cases to obtain enough goods to meet our demands, and wish to hold as much unsold stock in hand as possible for orders.

SPECIAL U. S.

Some items here you seldom see offered by anyone. Pieces that for scarcity are worth much more, used blocks, plate strips, sheet tops, sheets, 5c errors, double prints, etc.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The great demand for U. S. together with impossibility of buying enough of them to keep the demand supplied, causes us to make these terms. In future we will supply U. S. postage 1847 to 1919 scarcer values only against want lists. Do not ask us to send you an app. book of early U. S. We will not submit those we do not have in quantity. It's just as easy to make out a want list if you mean business. This also will apply in a lesser degree to all other U. S. stamps. We have a good line of Departments, Newspapers, Dues, Revenues, Telegraphs, etc. We know our prices are right. We also have books of M. & M. and Envelopes we will submit on app. as stock is not large enough to warrant want lists. Further we say to those who still expect good to fine early U. S. at half cat. that there is nothing doing, those days are gone never to return. Ours will be priced as fair as is possible with regard to cost, etc.

ATLAS STAMP CO., P. C. Smith, Manager, W. Somerville, Mass.

MR. REVENUE COLLECTOR:—

I still have left some of the 2c Documentary of the series, with a distinct double print. Only two pairs of a 100 were found and they are initialed but they cannot be had any other way. Considering their rarity my price is REAL LOW. I bought them at a fair figure and am offering them at much less than many of the 3c double postage were sold for and of the latter there were thousands.

If you are interested in COILS I can supply you with about 40-50 varieties. If you have never tackled this line let me make you up a representative selection at much less than recognized market prices. I am also a buyer of anything in the way of coils and would be pleased to buy anything nice including complete coils. Still looking for many of the small wines and proprietaries of the 1914 series in quantities I can sell.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—From a newspaper clipping we learn that the Post Office Department has been requested by a member of Congress to issue a special series of postage stamps to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims. Whether this request will meet the same fate that similar requests for special issues, here of late, have met we cannot say. We, however, do know that if the Post Office Department considers for one minute the rushed condition of the Bureau, no new burdens will be placed upon them.

If favorable consideration is given the request, we certainly second the excellent recommendations of the New England Stamp Monthly as to subjects. Quoting from their "Bulletin,"—

"The historic 'Mayflower,' which brought not only the Pilgrims but the enormous store of household goods and trinkets that so many people now possess, should have the chief place, perhaps. Then the signing of the 'Compact,' that historic document which began democratic government in the New World, which took place in the cabin of the 'Mayflower,' ought really to be one of the features of the series. Some may prefer that the 'Embarcation of the Pilgrims from Delft Haven,' depicted on one of the big canvases in the Rotunda of the Capitol at Washington, should be included, as its companion paintings, 'The Landing of Columbus' and 'The Declaration of Independence,' have already been reproduced on our stamp issues. A view of Provincetown Harbor, the first landing place of the Pilgrims, might serve for a third value of the series, and the famous 'Plymouth Rock,' on which it is claimed Mary Chilton was the first one to step at Plymouth, should assuredly have an honored place in the set. Unless someone else has a better list, we should recommend these for consideration. If a portrait is desired, there is the famous leader and Governor of the Colony for so many years, William Bradford. Again, some might want to include the 'Forefathers' Monument' at Plymouth, or the 'Pilgrims' Monument' at Provincetown; but these being latter-day commemorative shafts themselves, should give way, we think, to something more intimately connected with the actual event being celebrated. It is none too early to make suggestions, at any rate, and the above are ours, which we give for what they may be worth."

In a recent issue of the American Philatelist a detailed list of Bureau plates was given and in the list we were informed that plates Nos. 10073 to 100076 inclusive were of the 1c denomination, 400 subjects for offset printing. We desire to correct an error, as these four plates were for the engraved stamps. We wish to thank Mr. Arthur E. Owen for this information.

Mr. Charles A. Sleicher as well as Dr. Tedescher have shown us copies of the current 2c perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper in a very dark shade of lake, somewhat resembling the 12c. Only part of the sheet was in this color and it is your editor's personal opinion that this is a changeling due to the stamps being subjected to fumes of some kind. As these stamps have been found in widely distant localities, it is believed that the change of color probably took place before the stamps left Washington.

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown us quite an unusual block that we do not recall having seen heretofore, namely the 2c black, Jackson, of the issue of 1866, in an imperforate condition. The block of four is printed in a deep black on a bluish paper similar to that paper upon which most of the unused 3c 1861 imperforates are found. We are unable to furnish any information relative to the history of this stamp.

We have recently had shown us a sheet of the 1c compound perforated 11x10 rotary print, upon unwatermarked paper, which appeared at first glance to be a double print. Close inspection, however, showed it to be nothing more than a smear. Such a variety, however, is quite unusual in the case of a rotary impression.

More varieties of the provisional "Narcotic" surcharges have been brought to our attention. One valued correspondent sends us the Cincinnati $1 surcharged horizontally, in red. Mr. R. E. Wade, Jr., writes to state that the entire series has been surcharged in Seattle, whereas heretofore we have only known definitely of the 1c to 10c values inclusive. Mr. Wade informs us that he has seen several with inverted surcharge.

ABYSSINIA.—M. Maury informs us that the 4 guerches value of the new series has been so badly produced that the Ethiopian Government has decided not to issue it. Pending the appearance of an improved stamp in the definite type, they have authorized the issue of a provisional—viz.: 4 guerches on 4 thalers, brown and marone. (One thaler is equal to sixteen guerches.)—Stamp Collecting.

BELGIUM.—Joseph V. K. Wells announces the receipt of the 15c deep violet stamp of the Helmet type. He also calls attention to the fact that the 5fr stamp of the same type is 30x37 mm. in size.

CHARLES BUSCH.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Among the half score or less match stamp dies engraved by the American Bank Note Co. the always popular "rooster stamp" used by Charles Busch is to be found. At sight of it the younger folk especially will heartily join the immortal Cousin Egbert in giving "three rousin' cheers".

It is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size with a numeral "1" in each lower corner and "Charles Busch" across the top. Facing left in the center is a crowing rooster and just over him in an arched panel "Challenge Match". At the left in the triangular space between the arched panel and the top label appears "New" and similarly at the right is found "York". These triangular spaces are heavily shaded and the words New York might easily escape notice.

The Boston Book gives the following data:—

Die approved, April, 1880.
First issued, May, 1880.
Last issued, Jan. 20, 1881.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
4,166,000 issued in black on watermarked paper.

The first printing of this stamp was made by the American Bank Note Co. from plate No. 119. Stamps issued after October 1, 1880, may have been printed by the same company before that date or may have been from a new printing by the Bureau. The writer has not seen any copies that could certainly be identified as Bureau prints.

Mr. Busch first appears in the New York directory for 1862-63. From 1865-66 to 1870-71 he sold matches, fancy goods etc., at No. 1 Doyers St., and was engaged in the same business at 208 Chatham St. after 1871 until 1882-83. It is not certain that he manufactured any of the matches he sold and quite likely he was engaged in the match business only as a selling agent. At the time the Busch stamp was in use, a Chas. Bush, who did not live in Trenton, N. J., was the proprietor of the Seward Match Mfg. Co. there. It is not at all unlikely Busch and Bush were the same and that the matches on which the rooster stamps were used were made at the Trenton factory. The first Trenton Match Co. stamps were issued only three months after Busch's rooster had crowed his last challenge.

—"Enclosed please find my check for subscription for your weekly. Some years ago I was a subscriber, but gave up collecting, due to my eyesight. I am improved again and will start anew. I am mostly interested in Poland stamps, as this is my country of birth, and for the last 50 years I have been praying ardently for its rebirth. Thank God, we have a Poland again."—A. SCHREIBER.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Endle's Directory, compiled and published by S. Utton, 74 Canterbury Rd., Croydon, England, is just at hand. It is revised and corrected to June of the present year. The United States is well represented with about twenty-four pages of addresses. The book is world-wide in its scope, and covers both the dealing and collecting ends of philately. Price 36c.

OF INTEREST TO PANAMANIANS.

At time of writing my chapter on the 4th Panama issue I was and am still somewhat in doubt as to whether all of the minor varieties of the eighth and ninth printings of the 5c and the seventh printing of the 10c have been listed, never having seen the entire setting. If anyone could send me a half sheet of one of these issues for inspection or any information as to unlisted varieties, giving if possible location of the errors in the setting, I should be greatly obliged. Will return any material sent promptly by registered mail after examination.—FREDERICK E. HEYDON, 5418 9th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

A JUSTIFIABLE PROTEST.

O. D. Challans writes us about a recent experience and we deem it advisable to quote the same. We may add that a dealer is in our opinion obligated to fill orders so long as he has any stock of the stamp or stamps advertised. Here is the protest:—

"I have a kick coming to the WEEKLY and it's against the dealer who advertises a stamp and because it increases in value in the meantime sends the money back with the statement that he is all sold out. In a recent issue of the WEEKLY appeared an advertisement of a stamp at 12c. I sent on the money and in ten days received it back with the statement that the stamp was sold out. Two weeks later the same dealer advertised the stamp again but the price was quoted at 65c. Evidently his original claim that they were all gone was a deliberate falsehood. Of course, it is no killing affair, but I sent to him for it and depended on his honesty to send it if he had it. Now I have got to pay six or eight times the price. It seems to me that dealers of this class should be given just as prominent a place as the substitutors, etc., among collectors."

HUSSMAN CO. LEADS WITH 83.

The month of November was fruitful of much good cheer for the WEEKLY and we are grateful to our many subscribers for the evidences of esteem tendered us. Probably the strongest and most material support came from the Hussman Stamp Co. of St. Louis, which sent in 83 new subscriptions. We note also from the Edgewood Stamp Co., 27, and from L. B. Dover, 21. Various other firms have shown their willingness to ask their patrons to subscribe to the WEEKLY and the list below tells the whole story. The eight firms grouped in the first list are accompanied by figures showing November results:—

C. E. HUSSMAN STAMP CO.,	83
EDGEWOOD STAMP CO.,	27
L. B. DOVER,	21
W. C. PHILLIPS & CO.,	15
COVERT STAMP CO.,	14
W. P. COLMAN,	13
FENNELL STAMP CO.,	12
CHAS. CHRISTENSEN,	12
E. W. SPAFFORD,	10

We are holding over the names of all contestants who have sent in fewer than three subscriptions. There is a large number included on this list and we regret that we do not have the space to list everybody. The standing of all contestants sending in three or more subscriptions was as follows Dec. 5:—

C. E. Hussman Stamp Co., St. Louis, Mo.,	118
Edgewood Stamp Co., Milford, Conn.,	51
L. B. Dover, Overland, Mo.,	47
Covert Stamp Co., Rochester, N. Y.,	22

NEW ISSUE NOTES

By CHARLES S. THOMPSON.

(While some of these stamps may have been covered in our Chronicle, we think it best to use this matter sent in by Mr. Thompson as being of interest to those who are collecting the new European issues.—W. O. W.)

Turkey.—Stamp money, produced by pasting current pictorials on thick, pale-yellow paper, and re-perforating. The second set of perforations gauge the same as before, but holes are smaller,—.4 to .5 as against .7 mm., and the two rows do not always coincide, by any means.

The stamps are typographed, the designs new. The 5 para carmine is very similar to Scott's type A42, but with two larger male figures, facing the observer, instead of several smaller ones "a dos."

The 10-para is in grey-green, and shows a view of a mosque quite similar to the Adrianople issue, type A23, but with the distinctive difference of having an obelisk (that of the hippodrome) in the foreground. The top inscription is exactly similar to that on type A46, the bottom and side decorations the same, except that the Sultan's portrait is lacking:—

5 paras carmine.
10 paras grey-green.

Batoum.—Complete series received. All are imperf.:—

5kop green.
10kop blue.
50kop yellow.
1rub umber.
3rub purple madder.
5rub light umber.

The design consists of a crude representation of what apparently is intended to be Aloe vera, the European aloe, in a circular frame, with "Batumskaya Poschta" at top, in Russian characters, numerals of value in squares in lower corners, and abbreviated name of coin, either "Kop" or "Rub" between.

South Russia.—Current imperfs. schgd. with new values. The first five values show serif type surcharges:—

25k on 1k,
25k on 2k,
50k on 3k,
50k on 5k,
1r on 3k,
1r on 3k, sans-serif type.

Cilicia.—Pictorial types surcharged with the T. E. O. Cilicie surcharge of the second variety. (Scott's Circular Oct., '19).

A43 5p orange, surch. dull blue (mosque).
A45 20p dp. rose, sur. pale blue (monument).

It should be noted that this type of surcharge is printed and not handstamped, as in the case of the first three types of overprint.

T. E. O. indicates "Territories ennemis occupés"—occupied enemy territory. Scott's illustrations of the first and second types of handstamped surcharges are entirely too large. The overprint is made with a very poor quality of ink, apparently ordinary writing ink applied to an aniline rubber-stamp pad. This incompatible combination produces a smeary, mussy impression, and many of the stamps have considerable ink daubed on them, in addition to the overprint. Future falsifiers of these surcharges are going to have a hard time making their work bad enough to escape easy detection!

Temesvar.—Just received this set, Hungarian stamps with new values surcharged in various fonts. There are nine varieties, and I believe the surcharged postage dues were used as ordinary stamps. Here is the list:—

10f on 2f, Mowers, blue schg. in ord. 1c type.
45f on 10f+2f, blue charity, in ord. 1c type.
30f on 2f, Mowers, blk. schg. diag., fancy letters.
K.1.50 on 15f, Mowers, blk. schg. diag., fancy letters.
K.1.50 on 15f, Mowers, red schg. diag., fancy letters.
50f on 20f, Chas. coronation, diag., fancy letters in blue.
40f on 2f due, ornate Roman caps, diag. in blk.
60f on 2f due, ornate Roman caps, diag. in blk.
100f on 2f due, ornate Rom. caps, diag. in blk.

These apparently form a continuous series of the following values: 10, 30, 40, 45, 50, 60, 1.00 and 1.50. The Serbs are alleged to be responsible for these surcharges, as Temesvar is within their zone of occupation. It is reported that the postal rates have been increased three fold, hence the variety of overprints, especially on little-used low values. Temesvar is the county seat of Temes and is about 60 miles from Szegedin. It is a very old place, its age being fully 700 years. Population was about 60,000.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER I.—Introduction.

New Brunswick is a province of the Dominion of Canada lying south and south-east of the province of Quebec. Its coast-line is broken by the Isthmus which joins Nova Scotia to the mainland. Chaleur Bay, Northumberland Strait (which separates the province from Prince Edward Island), and the Bay of Fundy form its northeastern and southwestern boundaries. Its coast line extends for more than 500 miles and is indented by numerous fine harbors, some of which, like that of St. John, are never closed by ice. The chief river, the St. John, is navigable by large steamers as far as Fredericton, the capital of the province, a distance of 84 miles. Among the other rivers are the Miramichi, 220 miles in length, and the Restigouche—the latter being a famous salmon stream. The surface is undulating and diversified by many small lakes. The major portion of the surface is still covered with dense forests. The total area of the province is 28,200 square miles, while the population exceeds 400,000, most of whom are of New Brunswick birth. The climate is one of extremes but except on the immediate coast is very dry.

New Brunswick, as a part of Nova Scotia, was ceded to Great Britain by France in 1713, but the boundaries were not settled until 1763. The first British settlers emigrated from Scotland to the Miramichi district in 1764; and in 1783, at the close of the American revolution, a large body of the loyalists of the United States settled near St. John. New Brunswick was made a separate colony in 1784. In 1867 it united with Nova Scotia, Ontario and Quebec in forming the Dominion of Canada—a confederation which now includes the whole of British North America with the exception of Newfoundland.

The philatelic history of New Brunswick is very brief. In 1851 a series of three values was issued, these handsome labels being the work of the famous firm of Perkins, Bacon & Company, Ltd. In 1860 a new set appeared owing to the change of currency to the decimal system and this set was superseded in 1868 by the general set for the confederated provinces.

CHAPTER II.—Postal Rates.

In 1851, in common with the other colonies of Great Britain in British North America, New Brunswick was given control of its own Postoffice department, and to meet the expected change an Act was passed on April 26th, 1850, establishing Inland Posts. Mr. Donald A. King, whose articles in Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal in the 'nineties are indispensable to any student of the stamps of British North America, gives copious extracts from the various official documents relating to postal affairs in New Brunswick and to these we are indebted for much of the following information.

The Act of April 26th, 1850, with a few necessary amendments, remained in force until the Confederation of 1867. The most interesting sections of this Act from a philatelic point of view are the following:

"VI.—And be it therefore enacted, That all letters delivered in this province or posted therein shall be charged at the uniform rate of Postage of three pence currency for every letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, together with an additional three pence for each additional half ounce up to twelve ounces, provided always that the Lieutenant Governor in Council may fix a higher rate than three pence for each half ounce, for letters from those countries with which her Majesty at such time may have no Postal Convention.

"VII.—And it be enacted, That it shall be optional in every case with a party posting a letter in this Province, addressed to a party within the same, or in any other British North American Colony, or in the United Kingdom, whether the postage of such letter be paid at the time of posting the same, or be paid on delivery thereof.

* * * * *

"IX.—And be it enacted, That the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may cause postage stamps marked with any device thereon, and the words 'Three Pence,' to be engraved and printed, and shall cause such postage stamps to be sold at such places and under such regulations as may be established, and all letters having affixed thereon any such postage stamp not previously used shall be taken to be postpaid to the extent of the value of such stamp."

The above extracts are interesting as showing not only the rate of postage on ordinary letters but also as explaining that the use of postage stamps was to be entirely obligatory. The general public did not take any too kindly to what they considered new-fangled notions in those days, and the rarity of these early New Brunswick stamps is largely due to the fact that during their nine years of currency they were anything but generally used.

Before the Act of 1850 came into force, an additional act was passed on March 15th, 1851, more closely defining the scale of charges, which were to correspond, "as far as may be, with the relative scale of weights and charges now or hereafter to be established in the United Kingdom". In this act authority was also given for entering into postal arrangements with the United States.

The Post-office Act of New Brunswick does not seem to have been so specific on certain points as those issued in the other Colonies, consequently an Order in Council was passed defining the rules and regulations to be followed. As this document is interesting, we are making somewhat lengthy extracts, viz:—

"POST OFFICE ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW BRUNSWICK

General Regulations.

4.—In conformity with the Post-office Acts it is hereby declared, and so far as regards the Province of New Brunswick, it is ordered, as follows:—On and after this date, all letters transmitted by Post in British North America, with the exception of Packet Letters to or from the United Kingdom, and Letters to or from Newfoundland and the United States, will be liable to a uniform rate of three pence currency per half ounce, for whatever distance conveyed (prepayment will be optional), the charge increasing according to the following scale of weights: thus, on a letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, threepence currency, on a letter over half an ounce in weight and not exceeding one ounce, sixpence currency, and so on.

By Packet To or From the United Kingdom.

Letters.

1. The Packet rate on letters to and from the United Kingdom will be as follows, namely:—"via Halifax" one shilling sterling, or one shilling and threepence currency; and on letters specially addressed "via New York" or "via the United States" one shilling and twopence sterling, or one shilling and five pence halfpenny currency, prepayment being optional, the charge increasing according to the present rates, thus: A letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight, one rate; a letter exceeding half an ounce and not one ounce, two rates; and so on, adding two rates for every additional ounce.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

2. Printed Books, Magazines, Reviews, or Pamphlets, whether British Colonial or Foreign, may be sent through the Post from this Colony to the United Kingdom or from the United Kingdom to this Colony, or through the United Kingdom to or from this Colony or any other British Colony, whether the conveyance be by Packet or private ship, at the following rates of postage: For a single volume not exceeding half a pound in weight, sevenpence halfpenny currency. For a single volume exceeding half a pound in weight, and not exceeding one pound, one shilling and threepence currency, and so on, adding one shilling and threepence currency for every additional pound or fraction of a pound. * * * The postage thereon, according to the above rates, must in all cases be prepaid.

United States.

1. Letters posted at any office in New Brunswick, addressed to any place in the United States except California and Oregon, will be rated at the uniform rate of sixpence currency per half ounce.

2. Letters posted in any part of the United States, except California or Oregon, will be rated with a uniform rate of ten cents, equal to sixpence currency per half ounce.

3. The postage rate on letters passing between New Brunswick and California and Oregon will be a uniform charge of ninepence currency, equal to fifteen cents per half ounce.

* * * * *

6. Prepayment of letters passing between New Brunswick and any place within the United States, including California and Oregon, will in all cases be optional.

* * * * *

9. New Brunswick postage stamps, when used, will be taken in the United States as evidence of the prepayment of postage on letters going from New Brunswick to the United States and the postage stamps of the United States, Nova Scotia, or Canada, on letters coming into New Brunswick from such States or Provinces respectively are to be taken by Postmasters in this Province as evidence of prepayment having been made in the same respectively.

Newfoundland.

The charge on letters to and from Newfoundland will be for a single letter not exceeding more than half an ounce sevenpence halfpenny; namely, fourpence halfpenny the Packet rate and threepence the Inland, prepayment being optional, increasing one rate for each half ounce or fraction of half an ounce; and on letters for Bermuda and the West Indies the Inland rate of threepence must be prepaid in advance, the packet rate will be fourpence halfpenny for each letter weighing not more than half an ounce, and increasing one rate for each additional half ounce or fraction thereof, and the prepayment will be optional."

A study of the above named postal rates will show that the three stamps issued, bearing the facial values of 3d, 6d and 1s, respectively, were ill adapted for the prepayment of more than a few of the charges. In consequence, the stamps were but sparingly used and more frequently than not, even when letters, etc., were prepaid, such prepayment was made in cash and the packages were merely marked "paid".

When Charles Connell became Postmaster-General in 1859, a new set of regulations was issued for the guidance of the Department, from which it ap-

MAIN TEXT BY WILEY.
Supplementary Chapter by Nast.

This book is one of the most valuable of the S.-W.-J. Co. publications. It consists of some 35 pages, is beautifully printed and illustrated, and offers a study of a stamp that is common but resourceful in interest.
There are two full pages of illustrations drawn by Louis G. Barrett, nearly 100 designs being pictured.
PRICE 15c.

IT IS COMING!

Our next sale, No. 225, is in course of preparation and arrangement. Exact date announced later.

I have been exceedingly busy turning over the records and paraphernalia of the Sales Department of the American Philatelic Society to the new Sales Superintendent, Mr. James E. Guest, Commerce Station, Minneapolis, Minn. To save time and delay in correspondence, please address him on all subjects of new business concerning the Sales Department. I am taking care of the old business and if your books have sold 20% or more they will be retired shortly. If they have sold less than 20% they have been turned over to the new Sales Superintendent. All Circuits sent out by me should be returned to me to avoid confusion.

pears that several changes had been made in the postal rates, as shown from the following extracts:—

"PART IV.—Packet Postage.

1. On letters between the United Kingdom and New Brunswick the rate is a uniform charge of sixpence sterling, or sevenpence halfpenny currency, the half ounce, which may be prepaid or not at the option of the sender.

* * * * *

4. On letters for Bermuda and Newfoundland the rate of postage is sixpence halfpenny sterling, or eightpence currency, the half ounce, and the West Indies, tenpence halfpenny sterling, or one shilling and one penny currency the half ounce.

5. On letters for the above places (except the foreign West Indies) the Provincial rate of threepence currency the half ounce must be collected, but the prepayment of the rest of the postage is optional.

6. The whole postage on letters for the foreign West Indies must be paid in advance.

PART IX.—Postage Rates on Books, Pamphlets, etc.

1. Pamphlets or Tracts not exceeding two ounces in weight and all Government Papers, Imperial or Provincial, are transmitted free.

2. Printed Books, Printed Publications, or Pamphlets, when over two ounces and under sixteen ounces in weight each, at the rate of a halfpenny per ounce up to six ounces, and one penny for each additional one up to sixteen ounces, but none of these exceeding sixteen ounces can be transmitted by mail within this Province.

* * * * *

9. The postage must be paid in full either by money or by affixing outside the Packet, or its cover, the proper amount of stamps.

(To be continued.)

OUR 3 IN 1 ADVERTISING CONTRACT.

A friend writes, "I don't understand your proposition. Can you make it a bit plainer for me?"

We shall try to do so.

We offer displayed space on a sliding scale, the rates depending on the space used. These rates are now effective on all new contracts:—

½ in. (6 lines)	$1.50 per week
1 in. (12 lines)	2.50 per week
2 ins. (24 lines)	4.50 per week

One week you can use an inch and the following week more or less at the prices quoted. On 9 lines the price would be $2.25, on 18 lines $3.75, on 30 lines or more $2 per inch of 12 lines. Plain, now, isn't it?

One thing more:—Bills are payable on presentation, just like your rent, telephone and lighting bills. We try to meet our obligations as presented, hence this very necessary rule.

Write for a contract and look it over.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are indebted to Harry B. Mason for a clipping from the Washington Star giving the particulars of an air-mail landing in Washington, D. C., of mail for the city post office. A parachute was used and its burden of mail was captured by Postmaster Chase and other P. O. Department officials, as they ran across the Plaza in pursuit of the fleeing mail. The sack contained a shipment of eggs, not one of which were broken, but the thing that will interest philatelists the most is the statement that a new purple cancellation stamp was put into use for the first time. Mr. Mason has seen the 6c and 16c airplane stamps, also the 1c perf. 11x10 with the cancellation in question. He writes that there were about 140 letters all told.

—Two special lists are at hand from the G. A. Williams Co. They price a large number of stamps of the so-called popular countries and the firm will no doubt be glad to send them on post card requests. Address 291 Autumn Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

—We have received a new pricelist from W. F. Ferguson, 280 Fourth Ave., N. Y. City. Stamps are listed singly and a copy can be obtained on request.

—Mrs. E. L. Hutchins, 68 Court St., Dedham, Mass., would like to exchange duplicate stamps with a shut-in boy.

—Akron, Ohio, collectors have organized the Rubber City Stamp Club. All collectors over 17 years of age residing in or near Akron are invited to join and should write Harry G. Ream. 601 Permanent Title Building.

—"Let me endorse 'Live and Let Live's' communication. With the majority of the trade advertising New Europe Issues, it hurts all to have a big adv. condemn them. A reaction in foreign rates of exchange will mean a big rise in the value of new and current issues. And that reaction is bound to come as soon as the Peace Treaty is signed. With marks below 3c, francs at 10c and lire 8½c, anyone can readily see that these stamps will never be cheaper than they are right now.—MAXWELL KRAUSE.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Harry P. Letton, Harland H. Fend, I. T. Mann, M. D., F. S. Poteet, Wm. C. Webb, Maxham Metcalf and Paul F. Cornish.

—Bridgeport, Conn., has a live philatelic club, and we have received a local newspaper clipping giving the particulars of a recent meeting, when five applications for membership were favorably acted upon. R. S. Foster of Bridgeport exhibited his collection of U. S. stamps. Any person residing in or near that city who desires information can address the secretary, at 30 Randall Av., Bridgeport.

CRETE COUNTERFEITS.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

There are at least three different counterfeits of CRETE No. 1 on the market at the present time. One of these is very well done, the paper being much like that of the genuine stamp, but the design is too small. The other two forgeries are on paper quite different from that of the originals, and are wider, and not so tall, as the genuine stamp. They have forged control marks which are quite like those of the originals, but somewhat more finished in appearance.

Two of the counterfeits have practically the same tint as the genuine stamp; the third is badly off color. In view of the fact that the real article is such an utterly disreputable-looking stamp, the writer feels that publication of the small details which distinguish the real from the bogus would only result in a more perfect imitation being made. Hence it is advised that all offers of Crete No. 1 should be scrutinized carefully, and "bargains" should be regarded as being absolutely unlike Cæsar's wife. Have your stamp expertized, and be sure to get a guarantee of "satisfaction or money back".

There are no reprints of Crete No. 1; the metal hand-stamp with which they were made was destroyed January 20, 1899. Champion says that the stamp was "un cachet en caoutchouc", which is entirely erroneous; a rubber stamp would have produced an entirely different sort of impression than the one these stamps impressed with a metal die show.

Used copies of Crete No. 1 are very scarce, and in the few copies with which the writer is acquainted, the cancellation consists of a Union Jack with town name in a circle. In some cases the control was used as a cancellation, and when this is the case, the entire word HPAKLEION does not appear on the stamp, part of it falling on the cover. The characteristics of the genuine control may be learned from Crete No. 2, 3, 4 or 5, which are quite common with it.

It should be mentioned, in connection with above, that the copies of Crete No. 1 offered by two prominent New York firms are the real article.

A BRIGHTEN THE CORNER LETTER.

By ROY S. BARKER.

(We take the liberty of printing the following letter. It combines business, news and friendly chat in such a manner as to make it worth while using. Our impression is that Mr. Barker is making a good secretary for the R. I. P. S. and the interest that is being manifested in Providence in philately is an assurance that the National Society will have a fine reception next August when it holds its annual convention there.—W. O. W.)

Enclosed please find a dollar bill for 100 "Charms" which please forward to me at above address. I have use for them.

There is a movement on foot to start among the Boy Scout Troops, sixty of them in Rhode Island, a stamp club in every troop and there is also a movement among the churches to do something along the same lines.

The R. I. P. S. have a Junior Committee which has been doing good work at Saint Stephen's Church and the membership is now about fifty boys. But other churches are also interested in trying to keep boys off the streets and away from the movies.

Yesterday, when I spoke to the leader of the Scouts about what we were doing, he said, "You have suggested just what I was looking for and I will go ahead, even if I get no further help or suggestion from the older society."

There are just two things a boy needs to keep up his interest in stamp collecting:—

(1) An interested and interesting leader.

(2) A supply of stamps.

The R. I. P. S. can furnish the first and the Chamber of Commerce can supply the second, by requesting the members to give and donate to the cause of American Boys all the foreign stamps which have been going to the waste basket.

The Secretary of the C. of C. has a boy in the club at St. Stephen's already and he is ready to go to it, and I feel sure we have reached a point which will begin to bring results.

The boys must be encouraged and they will be in Providence as never before. The A. P. S. in 1920 will see something of this movement, I'm sure of that now.

THE SECOND JAPAN FLIGHT.

By R. YOKOHORI.

(We are indebted to Mr. Yokohori for an extended account of the successful aerial flight of October 22. The story is accompanied with a newspaper clipping showing pictures of the aviators. We also have a map of Japan by Mr. Yokohori, which evidences considerable skill and which we regret we are unable to reproduce.—W. O. W.)

I am very glad to inform your readers that the second flight planned between Tokyo and Osaka under the auspices of the Imperial Aviation Association has taken place. Three aviators, Messrs. Mizuta, Yamagata and Sato, on Oct. 22, left Tokyo under conditions that were very favorable. The weather was fine and the whole sky was one of clear blue. Of the three aviators Lieut. Mizuta was obliged to land when about fifty miles from Osaka, but the other two aviators were successful in reaching Osaka and two bags of mail loaded on each airplane were delivered to the P. O. authorities.

On the following day, Oct. 23, the return flight from Osaka was carried out by the two aviators, Mr. Sato receiving the first prize for having covered the distance in the shortest period of time. It was my privilege to witness the arrival of the airplanes at Susaki, and soon after I got there I could see a small dot between the gray-colored southwest clouds gradually approaching, and within a few seconds we could see its proud figures printed in dark green above our heads. The aviator was greeted with "banzai" like a thunder peal and clapping of hands like a hailstorm.

THE 6c PART PERF.

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

I can assure the Rev. G. E. Richter that my notes regarding the 6c part perf. were not meant to be other than courteous, and if they appeared otherwise it was due to the manner in which I expressed the thought rather than any intentions upon my part to seem other than courteous.

If Rev. Richter will refer to my letter to him he will distinctly find that I had looked into the subject before I received his stamp and that I informed him that the records of the Bureau and of the Post Office showed that one coil only was reeled and that one coil was destroyed. At the same time I referred him to my article upon coils in the Philatelic Gazette wherein I gave a detailed history of this variety. I told the Rev. Richter, however, that when again in Washington I would look up the subject again, and this I have since done with the same results. Mr. J. M. Bartels also received the same information that one coil only was made and one destroyed as per his notes in the Philatelic Gazette Vol. I, page 42.

Where U. S. coils are concerned I do not bow to the opinion of Mr. Power nor anyone else, for I believe I have given more study to coils than any other student and to date my article upon the subject is the only detailed one ever published covering the entire ground. It may be of interest to mention that Mr. Power's excellent book on 20th Century included both the 3c perf. 12 double line watermark coil and the 1c with every other row of perfs. missing, and as a result of my studies these were later deleted. I just mention this to show that none of us can be right all the time.

I still maintain that the 6c coil does not exist and I further claim that no authority has any grounds for passing upon a single specimen in the face of all the evidence against it. I referred to this variety especially in my chronicle to counteract any impression that might be gotten from previous notes stating that the stamp existed.

NEW SWISS JUVENTUTE.

By A. KOECHLIN.

There will be issued in December a new set of Juventute stamps. The arms series started last year is to be continued. This time there will be three stamps consisting of the 7½c with arms of the Vaud Canton and 10 and 15c with arms of the Canton Underwald. The stamps will be sold only during the month of December at a premium of 2½c for each 5c.

A FEW DONT'S FOR ADVERTISERS.

Don't advertise mixtures.—We do not have the time to adjust complaints, so the good mixture must suffer. Aye, there's the rub—"good."

Don't advertise better than 50% discount unless you definitely name the stamps.—This rule is two years old and works well. You can name 70% or 90% if catalog numbers are given.

Don't name your competitors' prices.—"Price $1, sold by others for $5" is strictly tabooed.

Don't rely on "general" advertising.—Collectors are hungry for prices.

Don't let your ad get stale.—"Twice" is enuff. No paper is read more thoroughly than MEKEELS.

Don't murder your ad copy. Take time to write it, use ink, on one side of paper, and make description and prices plain.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

COMMONWEALTH HIGH VALUES.

By E. D. E. van WEENEN.

THE "ONE SHILLING."

The "One Shilling" value made its appearance on January 21, 1913, on the same wmkd. paper and perforations as the previous values. The colour at first is what is known in the printing trade as a Victoria lake green, very near to a sea-green. Stanley Gibbons describe it as a blue-green, but the blue-green shades did not appear till the later printings on this paper. I have at least six shades, three of each. In the earliest there appears a peculiar variety, possibly due to the ink roller not having been properly cleaned. The colour shows irregularly and streaky. Another likely cause may be in the ink not having been thoroughly stirred. In the blue-green printings this defect is not noticeable, the colour showing very clear all over. The only variety I have noticed in a large collection of these stamps is where some stamps have been badly perforated, removed and (officially) replaced by others and attached by small strips of paper to the sheet with gum. A minor variety shows the circle of value broken.

Although the 1s on the Tudor crown was printed in May, 1915, it was not on sale until about the middle of August of that year, the colour being a blue-green, which ran into shades in the later printings. The paper is, however, of a somewhat stouter texture than the first Crown printing. I do not know of any varieties.

The 1s on the third or narrow Crown paper appeared some time in July, 1916, the colour being a blue-green, although of a lighter shade than that of the first of the Tudor Crown printing. But it has varied a good deal since, and there are at least two textures of paper. The watermark does not alwavs appear in the centre of the stamp. As far as I know there are no notable varieties thus far.

THE "TWO SHILLINGS."

This value first appeared on January 25, 1913, on the same watermarked paper and perforations as the other mentioned values. The colour is a dark brown, which varied in shades in later printings. One of the electros shows a white line over the word "Two" and part of the word "Shillings," and the break in the map line—above 2s—shows very distinct. One dark shade, rather slovenly printed, shows vertical divisions of the horizontal lines, just like brickwork. I do not know of any varieties.

It made its appearance on the Tudor or King George paper in August, 1915, the colour being a lighter brown than on the previous paper. It is known with double perforation, and slovenly or misprint impression.

The third Crown paper for this value was printed about April, 1916, although it was not issued until two months later. The colour is quite distinct from the others, being a red-brown, although Gibbons lists all three as brown only. There is a variety of shades, one or two leaning towards deep brown, and it is found with the watermark inverted.

THE FIVE AND FORTY SHILLINGS VALUES.

The bi-colour kangaroo stamps are to a large extent of greater interest than the other values, since the two colours necessitated separating the electros in two parts. Not being certain on the varying position of the Kangaroo, I wrote to Mr. T. S. Harrison, the Australian Note and Stamp Printer, and he kindly sent me the following reply: "The Kangaroo stamp was cut all in one die, or, to put it plainly, cut on one solid piece of steel. In the making of the printing plates for the one colour values, the position of the Kangaroo with the border was immovable.

"When the higher values—5s and upwards—necessitated a bi-colour stamp, two plates were required, one for the border and one for the Kangaroo. The irregularity of the position of the Kangaroo on the higher value stamps is simply a matter of register on the printing machines, and not of any variations whatsoever in the printing plates."

I had already thought that the centre design of the stamps was a movable one, but determined to have my opinion supported. The official explanation is, no doubt, satisfactory, but it is not easy to account for the difference in the length of the Kangaroo, from tip of ear to tip of tail, as given later on.

The 5s on the Kangaroo paper appeared on March 20, 1913, the Kangaroo being a pale grey, the map white, and the body of the stamp yellow, with a touch of chrome in it. In one of the later printings the chrome infusion has disappeared, and it is a light yellow. The shade of grey also varies. The texture of the paper is thinner than the printing on the other papers.

In the ½d to 2s values, the Kangaroo measures 12½ mm. from tip of ear to tip of tail; in the 5s it runs from 12¾ to 13 mm. On some of the stamps the end of the tail is almost square. The outlines of the Kangaroo are very distinct in this value. I have not heard of any varieties.

It appeared on the Tudor Crown paper in August, 1915, although printed six months earlier. The first printing was in a lighter yellow, but darker grey than on the first Crown paper, and the paper is stouter in texture. A later printing is a decidedly chrome yellow. Some peculiarities of position of the Kangaroo apply to this issue. In a block of four I have the ear is close up to the frame line of the map, and has its tip cut off. On the right-hand stamp the tip of the ear comes to a fine point, also close up to the line. The left-hand stamp below shows the tip of the ear just over the line, and on the right-hand stamp the tip of the ear covers the line, and just above the ear the line is broken. Other varieties in the block are:—First stamp: the inlet or bay on the map to the left of 5s runs nearly up to the hind foot of the kangaroo; on the stamp to the right it is cut down closer than normal. On the two bottom stamps (bottom of the sheet) the frame line to the right of 5s is broken. Minor varieties are the short bar of value, thin, and running up to the diagonal bar, and the stroke shaped like a wedge; also part of the top of "5" cut off on the left.

The third or narrow Crown paper appeared in April, 1918, and the shade of colour is nearer to that on the first Crown. It exists with the watermark inverted. I have not heard of any other varieties than those already described.

The 10s on the Kangaroo Crown, like the 5s, appeared on March 20, 1913, the paper being medium thin. The colour of the body is a clear pink and the kangaroo is grey, same shade as the 5s. In most of the specimens I have, the tail of the kangaroo comes closer to the line than in the 5s value, and is cut off square, but in a sheet I inspected only the first two stamps of the top row show this position, while the balance show the ears close up to the frame line. In one or two specimens I noted the toe of the near foot of the kangaroo had penetrated the line.

There was no issue of the 10s on the Tudor paper, but it appeared on the third Crown paper on February 5, 1917. The paper is a little stouter and the shade of pink varies.

The £1 stamp on the Kangaroo paper was issued on the same date as the 10s, and on the same quality paper. The colours are brown (centre) and blue, but they vary in shade in both colours. In the light shade the tail of the kangaroo is cut off square, and the end represented by two lines, one thin, the other thick. In the dark shade the tail is normal. The minor varieties consist of (1) the horizontal line above the letter "N" of "ONE" broken in two places; (2) the left line of the promontory penetrating through the frame line; (3) a coloured dot to the left of the small white shield (representing Tasmania); (4) the frame line broken on the west and south of the map line.

There was no issue of the £1 stamp on the Tudor paper, but it appeared on the 3rd Crown paper in July, 1916, the shades of brown and blue being about the same. In June, 1917, the centre design was printed in an orange brown, and the shade of blue somewhat different to the previous issues. As far as I know, no notable variety of the issue is known.

The £2 value appeared on the "Kangaroo" Crown paper on April 8, 1913, the colours being black (centre) and rose. I have seen two shades of these. In the dark shades I have, the tail is cut off square, and in the light shades normal. I know of no varieties. This value has only been printed thus far on the first Crown paper.

I must mention that in my description of the Commonwealth stamps I am indebted to Mr. H. L. White, who allowed me to inspect his fine collection. It is the only one in which I have seen a sheet of the King George 1d on multiple paper.

Since I have written these articles I have received several letters from collectors calling my attention to varieties I omitted to describe. Most of them are minor ones, due to slovenly printing, but I have so many of them in my own collection that I gave the cataloguing of them best. One writes that he has a 2d on the 1st Crown posted in Sydney a day later than I mentioned; and he was told that it did not appear till January 3. He is under a misapprehension. The 2d on the 1st Crown appeared on January 16, 1913, and that on the Tudor Crown on January 2, 1915. It is evident he refers to this issue. It is quite possible that a friend may have obtained some from a postal official the day before they were made available for sale. In a long list of varieties he mentions the 1d no wmk., from a slot machine, a coloured line across background, and extra island adjoining Tasmania. The no wmk. is inexplicable. I have seen stamps showing only portion of the wmk., but none so far without it. The part wmk. is due to the sheet not being cut so that the wmk. shall show on every stamp. The 1d slot machine is quite correct, and is an omission on my part. The coloured line across background is due to slovenly printing, and the extra island is described in the £1 stamp.

Another writer says he has the ½d on multiple Crown paper with the watermark inverted.

I have refrained from describing the postal stationery, as a full list would occupy far more space than this journal can afford. Besides, only a small minority collects stationery, thus a description of it would be of little benefit to the general body of collectors.—Australian Philatelist.

EDITORIAL.

Wherefores—It is interesting to hear the opinions expressed to account for the great progress made by philately recently. We know how the war stimulated rather than stifled the collecting inclination, but it has been something of a wonder to find that it flourishes best during post-war conditions. There are the accepted reasons to explain this activity such as the epochal issues of Neurope and the easy financial circumstances of a good number of people. We notice that a disordered state of mind, nationally, furnishes a background for showing to advantage the somewhat elusive qualities that collecting embodies. Philately always affords a sanctuary where forgetfulness may be found of the humdrum of life and conversely, when unaccustomed excitements breed a mental turmoil, it affords a haven of rest for the mind quivering from stress or strain. The comforting pleasures of philately are recognized more fully by its followers than ever before and the kindly light of the pursuit shines as a beacon to catch the eye of those members of the heedless public that have a mind at all receptive to philately.

Lucre—The strength of the philatelic foundation is attested to by the heavy investments in stamps that the shrewdest dealers are making when they have the opportunity. Tales have reached us of the purchase of specialized and other collections by scouting dealers for round sums of money; and latterly there has appeared on the scene a sort of private dealer or speculator who buys quietly himself or through emissaries for the sake of the profit that he anticipates from the re-sale of the stamps. We are pleased to see this manifestation of confidence in the security of stamps; and even the humblest collector must feel gratified to know that a general demand for stamps has gven his modest possessions a decided firmness. Where a decade ago, there was one seeker with speculative eye for stamp investments, there are now a dozen. The more give and take there is, the busier our world becomes and factors that promote activity are to be encouraged. When we expand the market for stamps we are doing the collector a favor.

Hark—A voice from the tombs inquires, where, O, where is Parnassus Penflip, the brightest literary luminary that ever shot athwart the skies of philately. A drop from the rim of the cup of coincidence spatters on our key-board even as the question is asked, for has not Parnassus himself, magnanimously ignoring the financial difference that parted us for the time, addressed us, using a two-cent Columbian stamped envelope to make his inspired epistle the more welcome, in the following periods: "To my host of admirers I waft a kiss of greeting. My devotees must know that I have embarked upon a work greater than that, yea of philately. I have felt the urge of psychic research and am solving the problem of the ages. I am on the point of achieving the impossible,—I have already established connections with a collector in the spirit world whose revelations are astounding. Would you receive them, you earth groveler? En passant, would you care to remit a small something on account of my lucubrations of the past, now that you have doubled your subscription price?" We admit that the stuff that Parnassus would give us would be interesting to our readers but Parnassus is so temperamental that in all probability he would exact a quid pro quo in advance. Still, we are intrigued by the thought of his explorations in philatelic spiritland and we shall try to borrow ten somewhere. We cannot help thinking as someone has before how peeved the most benign philatelic spirit must become to be called away from his seat on a nimbus as he was comfortabiy contemplating his latest find just to assure some earthly being that he is happy.

Added—We have received from Mr. Benjamin Cadbury, a most instructive letter whose contents will be followed closely by our readers: "A correspondent in Canton writes, under date of Oct. 11th, 1919: 'The 7c and 15c are no longer available at post offices in China but the new 1½c and 13c have not yet appeared. There is a new 1½c card.'" The new 1½c and 13c, China, were promised for this autumn and the 7c and 15c were to be withdrawn according to a post office circular, dated Mar. 4th, 1919, as told by Mr. Howes. "I have received a circular prepaid with the Switzerland, 7½c peace stamp,—so the issue seems to be available for postal use to this country." Mr. Cadbury revises "Tripoli," in our Dictionary by recalling that it is on the north coast of Africa, rather than in Syria; "Tripoli di Barberia," meaning "Tripoli of the Barbary (States)." He adds the warning: "My correspondent in Canton also writes: 'Look out for high value Japanese stamps that have three stars in the cancellation. They look to be postal cancellations but really are telegraph cancellations. That probably is why they are so cheap in Scott, as genuinely postally canceled five and ten yen stamps out here are worth a few dollars each.'"

Question—Here is a question of procedure that has been referred to us that is something of a problem to decide: "Some time ago I wrote the Postmaster of Liberia for prices of certain stamps in our money and in reply, I was told to send $6.00 in U. S. Currency. I did so, and yesterday I received the stamps ordered but the P. M. told me to send another $6.00 to a chemical house in Memphis to cover the cost of the stamps. In the lot there were only $5.51 in our money; and is there any reason why I should pay double face value? If you will tell me the best thing to do I would appreciate your opinion. I always pay my bills and do not like to be beaten." We give this instance publicity as it may recall experiences of similar kind that others have had in "foreign exchange." We suggest that our correspondent write to Liberia explaining that he had paid for the stamps once and inquire under what supposition he is asked to send the further sum to the people at Memphis. We have received in times past, one or more letters from Monrovia offering to buy Liberian stamps for us at such and such a commission but the case before us does not seem to involve any question of charge for services.

Market—We are in receipt of letters asking for the value of our money in monetary terms of countries whose currency is depreciated in value and to these correspondents we must say that the fluctuations are such in foreign exchange that the services of a bank are necessary for correct information. Usually, the question of payment is involved to some extent and to be on the safe side, the advice of the bank man is desirable.

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

POWELL'S DOLLAR BILL WONDER
50 different NEW EUROPE REPUBLIC postage stamps in PERFECT condition only. Oblong, pictorial, etc., from FIUME (used), Bohemia, Jugo-Slavia, Poland, Ger-Austria, Hungary, OBSOLETE Italian occupation; we offer entire lot at $1.00
As usual, money back if you want it.
$20.00 Prelude: The number of stamps —the price—in themselves constitute SPECIAL nothing. It's IMMENSE REAL VALUE for an UNHEARD OF DISCOUNT IN QUALITY POSTAGE STAMPS that makes a REAL BARGAIN. This lot contains all of that and then some and is recommended highly to the collector, re-seller and exchanger.
An extraordinary assembling containing 2,000 different fine items that will delight any stamp-man. Practically all ACTUALLY postally used and other few mint. Contains NO SEEBECKS—no trashy junk or speculative wall paper. About 800 postally used Latin-Americans worth more than the price asked alone. Few British or French Colonials. A most valuable and varied lot of the New Europe that have seen actual postal service—others offer mostly unused which time will show to be of about the same worth as Seebecks—fine Czecho Slovak, Poland, Finland, Turkey, Bavaria, scarce Wars—why say more, it's costing us 25c the line. Don't take our word for it—look it over under the famous Powell's unconditional GUARANTEE of "money back if you want it."

JAMES EATON.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This firm appears first in the Utica directory for 1865-66 as operating a match factory on South St. between 3rd and Mohawk Sts., Utica, under the name of Jas. Eaton. The next year one Owens was associated with Mr. Eaton and the firm appears as Eaton & Owens. From 1867-68 until 1876 the business was run under the name of Jas. Eaton. In 1876 J. Emery Eaton appears as a member of the firm, and until the business was closed in 1882, the firm name appears as Jas. Eaton & Son. For many years the directories also list John B. Eaton as a match maker. He lived near the factory and was probably a relative of James Eaton.

The Boston Book gives the following data regarding the stamp:—

Die approved, March 15, 1866.
First issued, May, 1866.
Last issued, Feb. 28, 1883.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).
20,864,970 issued on old paper.
36,203,136 issued on silk paper.
45,089,847 issued on pink & wmk'd paper.

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the usual 1c size and was printed only in black. An oval in the center bears a three-quarter portrait of Mr. Eaton facing left with the numeral "1" in a smaller oval at either side. Curved labels in the upper corners bear the inscriptions "Jas. Eaton—Utica, N. Y." with "One—One" in smaller letters, and in the lower corners "Cent—Cent" and "U. S. Inter.—Revenue". Crossing the top of the portrait oval is a small label reading "Matches". The design is almost devoid of ornamentation.

The first printing was made by Butler & Carpenter from a plate made by them. Later printings on silk paper were made by this firm and by the National Bank Note Co. The latter also printed the stamps on pink paper and some of those on watermarked paper, and there is no doubt there were extensive printings by the American Bank Note Co. and by the Bureau on watermarked paper. The total issue of over 100 million stamps may have required as many as ten plates. The stamps represented a tax averaging over $1,000 per week for about seventeen years.

The Eaton match is by far the commonest rouletted private die stamp. Some of the roulettes, if not all of them, were printed by the Bureau from a plate made by one of the bank note companies and bearing the bank note company imprint scratched out by the Bureau workmen. Pairs of roulettes and also perforates on watermarked paper are known and these are believed either to be 2c multiple stamps or 2/3 of 3c multiple stamps. A few blocks—probably remainders—are also known.

J. Emery Eaton was manager of the Diamond Match factory at Frankfort—the Gates factory—from 1883 to 1889, when he was succeeded by Frederick C. Eaton. Jas. Eaton died about 1890.

NOTES ON 1916 AUSTRIA.

By GEO. A. LINDEMANN.

The 2, 3, 4 and 10 krone values of the 1916 set of Austria were first issued on wove paper. The colors were as follows: 2 krone dark blue; 3 krone dull claret; 4 krone dark green and 10 krone deep violet. About a year later all the krone values appeared in much lighter colors except the 10 krone. In my collection I have a copy of the 2 krone in the light blue shade, which measures about a millemetre and a half longer than the regular 2 krone. I believe that this was the only value to be issued with the large frame.

At about the time of the armistice, the krone values appeared on silk or what may be termed granite paper. The lighter shades only were issued on this paper.

As the armistice has apportioned off several of Austria's provinces, the remaining states were called Deutschosterreich or German Austria. This necessitated the issuance of a new set, as the government had changed from a Monarchy to a Republic. The then current set was overprinted with a diagonal surcharge "Deutschosterreich."

This set soon ran out and a new set inscribed German Austria was issued, comprising 12 values from the 1 heller to the 1 krone. The designs were not very popular with the people and the set was recalled, then the remaining stocks of the surcharged set were placed on sale thruout the Republic.

"THE ONLY KICK."

LAMAR, COL., Dec. 5, 1919.

I am enclosing herewith draft on the Hanover National Bank of New York for $3.00, for which please renew my subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS for 2 years, and enter a one year's subscription for W. A. Macpherson, Jr., Lamar, Colorado.

I note you have raised the subscription price from Fifty Cents to One Dollar, and I have no kick on the price. The NEWS has always been worth One Dollar a year, and the only kick I will ever have is if you cut me out without giving me due notice, as I have subscribed to the paper since early in 1891, and it is the only stamp publication that I have continuously kept up. Wishing you continued success, I remain,

J. K. DOUGHTY.

GERMANY'S AIR-MAIL SERVICE.

By A. KOECHLIN.

Germany will soon establish an air-mail service. Two stamps have already been issued. One is a 10pf orange winged posthorn, "Deutsche" at the top and "Flugpost" at the bottom. On either side in Gothic print reading up and down is the value. The other denomination is a 40pf in green showing an aeroplane in the clouds. The value is in the upper corners and "Deutsche Flugpost" at the bottom in Gothic print. The size of both stamps is about the same as the 2c Alaska-Yukon.

The color of the regular issue 15pf stamp, first yellow brown and now black violet, will be changed again in the near future. The 2, 2½, 3, 7½, 25, 60, 80pf and 2 and 5 marks are to be dropped and new values of 1.25, 1.50 and 2.50 marks will make their appearance soon.

Mr. Collector
The Advertisement which I have been running in the WEEKLY for the last three weeks has not brought to light anything in my line worth having. Good stamps are getting scarcer every day and no one realizes this better than the dealer. If you have any blank spaces in your U. S. Collection take my tip and fill them at once before prices advance.
Send me your want list for your wants in these and it will have my personal attention.
Of course, references are required if you have not had approvals from me before.

ATLAS STAMP CO., P. C. Smith, Manager, W. Somerville, Mass.

LAST DOSE OF PARANOIA.

Last week I sold a stamp that catalogs only a few cents for $10 to a customer who buys as liberally as his means—not his meanness—permit. The stamp would have brought about $15 at auction and I have several other customers who would have been glad of the chance to buy it at $15. But I was glad to favor him because he treats me like a white man. And not long ago I sold another stamp for less than $300 although I could have got about $400 for it, but the man who bought it never kicked on my prices or expected me to sell cheaper than anyone else and I was glad to give him a bargain and show him in a tangible way that I valued his trade and good will.

There is another branch of my service for which I receive nothing directly but which costs me a great deal. Those customers whom I value are always free to ask me about stamps and I always try to help them, even tho to dig out the information they want and get it in shape so they can use it may take many hours of time. Not long ago a customer whose purchasing power is very limited sent me a stamp for my opinion. Probably I could have bought the stamp for a few dollars but instead of doing that I played the game the way I prefer to play it, told him what the stamp was, that it was genuine and hunted up a copy in one of the largest collection in America to compare it with to be sure there was no mistake. I doubt if there are more than half a dozen copies of the stamp known to exist and it catalogs $750. I would pay that myself for a satisfactory copy.

As for you, O. U. S., I never asked you to buy anything of me and if it had not been that I have made it a rule to answer all inquiries received and try to please every customer I wouldn't have bothered to read your letter. You don't have to buy from me and if my stamps and my prices do not please you I don't want you to buy from me. I am selling satisfaction—not just stamps. There are too many collectors in these United States who like my service and who appreciate the efforts I make to please them for me to spend any time on the others. I am selling too many stamps at the prices you think high to take any stock in your opinion.

Send me some stuff or not—just as you choose. My books are open and you can price the stamps yourself if you think your judgment is better than mine. Or send me some good old U. S. at the prices you think I ought to charge, less the profit you think I should be satisfied to make. If you can buy stamps so much cheaper than I can you can make out very nicely selling them to me. The stamps sent you averaged close to half catalog.

If you really have any doubt of my responsibility I take pleasure in referring you to anyone with whom I have ever done business, or any dealer in New York, including the firm you mentioned, although my total purchases from the latter in the past 25 years have totalled less than $100."

The episode is closed. As far as I am concerned it is quite permanently closed. The moral to the tale is this—be reasonable. If you are a dealer don't expect the collector to pay what you wouldn't pay if you were a collector. If you are a collector don't expect the dealer to do what you wouldn't do if you were a dealer. One of these days I shall publish one of the many letters I get that encourage me to believe the stamp business is the finest business on earth. When I get one of those I just bump myself to please the fellow who is big-hearted enough to write it.

It is interesting to note that the two first plates upon the list, namely, 10151 and 10152, are 400 subject curved plates. These plates will be used on the Stickney type rotary presses and will result in our having the rotary impressions in post office sheets of 100. We have spoken of these stamps before in our chronicle. It will be noted that rotary plates are usually made in pairs, for they are used with two plates fitted together, while flat plates are generally made in groups of four, for the presses that print from the flat plates take four at a time. Now and then we have a single plate standing out alone and this is due to one of the plates in a group becoming either worn out ahead of the others or broken or condemned for some other reason.

A new set of 20c plates is included in the list, a denomination seldom used in comparison with the lower values. All of the coil plates this time are of 170 subjects used for the sidewise coils. There is little demand today for the endwise coils, consequently new plates are seldom made.

Mr. Harry B. Mason sends us an interesting clipping from the Washington Star of Dec. 5, 1919, wherein our attention is called to the fact that airplane mail was dropped from an airplane for a city post office to deliver for the first time in the history of the service. A bag containing, so Mr. Mason informs us, about 140 letters together with several cartons of eggs, was dropped from a large Martin mail ship piloted by Lieut. Walter H. Stevens. It seems that the bag was picked up by the Postmaster, M. O. Chance, who opened the bag and found that everything was in good condition. Officials of the department expressed themselves as delighted with the test.

Mr. A. J. Soderling sends us for our inspection three more provisional "Narcotics" surcharges, this time from Chicago. The entire set consists of but three values, which we take pleasure in listing, 1919 Chicago Provisional Overprint "Narcotics" on Documentary, issue of 1917.

1c rose.
2c rose.
8c rose.

Messrs. George Soulman and C. S. Thompson bring our attention to four 1c purple strip Narcotics issued by the Bureau, but as these were chronicled in detail about six months back we will not describe them again. In our editorial of December 6th we stated that these would do away with the Bureau overprinted "Narcotic" surcharges, which, however, is not the case. The 1c strip will be pasted over the cork or package in such a way that it will be broken when opened and the balance of the tax will be paid by the surcharged varieties.

Mr. George E. Foster shows us the 2c circular die with a badly broken "C" in "CENTS". A great many of these broken type varieties have been shown us lately but it seems that for some reason or other, collectors of envelopes give very little attention to them.

ABYSSINIA.—The Australian Philatelic Record announces that a new pictorial set of large dimensions is being issued.

BAHAMAS.—The Colonial Journal announces that a "Peace" series is being prepared for this Colony, comprising five values, viz., ½d, 1d, 2d, 3d and 1s, in an appropriate design incorporating the portrait of King George and the badge and motto of Bahamas.—Stamp Collecting.

BAVARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a copy of the 5M stamp of Germany surcharged FREISTAAT BAYERN in black and in two lines.

BELGIUM.—Adjt. Henry Hooreman informs us that special stamps are to be issued for Eupen and Malmedy in occupied German territory and rumor has it that they will be issued after the promulgation of peace.

BULGARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us two new stamps of this country. They are the 1s and 25s. The former is of light green color and has the picture of a man plowing with a yoke of oxen in a field. At the top are the usual Bulgarian characters with the coat of arms in the left corner and year in the right corner. At the center of the lower frame is the value in a circle with a spray of grain at each side. The other stamp shows a soldier with a gun running towards the hills. At the top is a war cross with the native words on each side. At the bottom corners are 25——ST with two lines of words between. The color is blue.

CHINA-ITALIAN POST OFFICES.—The Australian Philatelic Record reports that overprinted stamps made by the Italian postal agencies at Pekin and Tientsin are war stamps, as they were intended for use of Austrian prisoners interned by the Chinese Government, natives of Italian speaking districts of the former monarchy. The Italian post in China is shortly to be suppressed.

COOK ISLANDS.—An English correspondent, writing on the 6th August, said that preparations are being made for an entirely new pictorial series of postage stamps for Cook Islands (not Rarotonga only). He had no doubt as to the statement, for he had it from the mouth of the gentleman who is now engaged on the selection of suitable designs for the proposed new series. From what he had heard, it looks as though the future Cook Island stamps will be a regular picture gallery.

The same gentleman asks what is the object of the Rarotongan Provisionals. It would seem that they are not in for a long life, more especially in view of the above mentoined announcement, if there is no truth in the rumour that all the present King George stamps of New Zealand are to be withdrawn shortly. Australian Stamp Journal.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—Mr. C. J. C. Pool points out the respective features of the 1sh denomination in both printings:—

1st issue, deep bistre.

Evenly printed; lines of background and, in fact, all coloured parts heavy; the lines are unbroken. Gum thick and brown.

2nd issue, paler shade.

This stamp, in comparison with the other, is rough and like a lithograph. The coloured parts are not so heavily printed, and this makes the numerals in corners and other white parts appear to be larger than in the first. This peculiarity is very noticeable when comparing the vacant space between the colour surrounding the numeral and the coloured ring in the corner. Lines of background broken and suggestive of worn plate. Gum thin and white.

DO YOU KNOW

that VENUS APPROVALS represent a new goal attained in rendering stamps for your inspection in a convenient and pleasurable manner.

By this method I send you complete sets of New Europe and War Issues, also other choice sets, enclosed in individual transparent pocket—orderly arranged and all the facts pertaining to the stamps noted. You can see at a glance what you want, and in buying can rest assured that you are getting stamps in the best possible condition, and at a most reasonable price. Now, Mr. Busy Collector, if your time, temper, pocket-book and the condition you get stamps in is worth anything to you, write me at once, enclosing references.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—According to the Australian Philatelic Record the new 10c blue is ready for use, but will not be issued until the supply of 8c blue is exhausted, to prevent confusion.

FIUME.—The Allied blockade of Fiume has created a dearth of low value postage stamps in D'Annunzio's "Faithful City," whose stamp supplies are normally obtained from Trieste. In consequence, the 25c, and 45c values of the current series have been reduced through the medium of a local and provisional surcharge to the denominations of 5c and 10c respectively. Further philatelic developments may be anticipated if the political situation remains for long unchanged. It is reported that the charity postage stamps hitherto sold at a premium "Pro Studio," will be sold for their normal face values (without the surtax of 5 crowns), and overprinted VALORE GLOBALE CENT for general use.—Stamp Collecting.

JAPAN.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us copies of the 1½ and 3s stamps, current issue, surcharged with the picture of a bi-plane across the centre of the stamp. On the former the surcharge is in red, while the 3s value is surcharged in blue.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—Mr. Chase T. Plumlee advises that he has a copy of the 4K on 1K of the issue surcharged on Bosnia series 1910, with the surcharge spelled RZAVA instead of DRZAVA.

PAPUA.—The Australian Stamp Journal announce that they received last month too late to include in their chronicle the 1d "Lakatoi", black and rose, on thin paper. The rose color is a very distinct shade from those previously issued.

POLAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the following values of the Cracow issue surcharged PORTO in blue diagonally across the stamp: 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 50h.

RAROTONGA.—Messrs. A. Powell & Co., of Auckland, New Zealand, have become the fortunate possessors of a unique block of stamps, to wit, a block of 12 halfpenny, from the lower right-hand corner, but while the lower corner horizontal pair is without overprint on the face, it is stamped diagonally across the back. This error occurred through the corner sheet getting turned over on the face of the stamps, so that the overprint came on the gum side, and kept the two stamps free; in fact, part of the overprint on the pair of the corner block is missing, the bottom of several letters being cut short.—Australian Stamp Journal.

UKRAINE (O).—The following communication from the Ukrainian Press Bureau appeared in The Times of 14-7-19:—"Sir,—In your esteemed paper of June 24, on page 9, is an article about the stamps of anti-Bolshevist States, in which is written, among other things, that on the stamps of the Ukrainian People's Republic is a device representing 'the sacred candelabra of St. Sophia at Kieff.' This statement is incorrect. The design for the coat of arms is taken, not from the sacred candelabra of St. Sophia at Kieff, but from the coat of arms of the Grand Duke St. Wolodymir of Kieff. This stamp is on both the gold and silver coins issued by Wolodymir, on the latter with the words:—'Wolodymir is on the throne and this silver is his' encircling the design. Such coins are, without doubt, to be seen in the British Museum, and persons who are interested can convince themselves of the fact. The same coat of arms is also to be seen on the titles found in the ruins of the Desjatin Church of St. Wolodymir at Kieff. The Ukrainian Central Rada (the late Ukrainian Parliament) has decreed that this coat of arms of St. Wolodymir is to be taken for the whole Ukrainian Republic, which Republic now comprises the whole of the late State of St. Wolodymir with its ancient capital at Kieff.

"We would also add that the national colours of the Ukraine (on the flags, etc.) are:—At the top, sky blue, and at the bottom, a golden yellow (the colour of ripe corn)."—Australian Philatelic Record.

URUGUAY.—L. Lenz informs us that he has received a 4c in orange and brown and 8c in brown and blue of the commemorative issue with Statue of Liberty. This supplements our chronicle of four other values November 1.

TWO LIBRARY GIFTS.

The example set by Mr. McClure, as described herewith, should be followed in every community where there is a public library. We quote from letter just at hand:—

"I am glad to see that you have had the courage of your convictions and have raised the subscription price of your publication to $1 per year. Your excellent paper is well worth several times its present price.

Kindly renew my subscription for one year. I am of the opinion that much could be done to promote the spread of philately by having publications like yours on file in the Public Libraries, therefore please enter for one year's subscription:—

Chattanooga Pub. Lib., Chatt., Tenn.

Bradford is my home town.

I also enclose my first advertisement for your paper to be inserted in a one-eighth page space. At first I shall be only an occasional advertiser, probably once a month, but within a year I hope to advertise regularly in your publication."

BOOK AGENCIES.

In connection with the establishment of book agencies we are compelled to limit our printed list to the names of dealers who have places of business in the cities designated. We have a number of agencies such as F. L. Tilson, Rutherford, N. J., Wm. Schwarz, Pittsburgh, Pa., Karl Koslowski, Detroit, Mich., etc., whose names are not listed week by week, for the above reason. The Zenith Stamp Co., Bridgeport, Conn., has this past week ordered a complete set of books and the firm will be glad to meet the needs of nearby collectors in the matter of S.-W.-J. Co. booklets.

The next book to be issued will be "Prince Edward Island" by Poole. We have three books, Cabeen's "5c Red Error," Barrett's "3c Violet" and Perry's "New York Despatch," which will follow in the near future. The Dictionary has been concluded but it will be some months before the book can be placed on the market. The Neurope additions will be many and it is our desire to treat of the numerous terms and inscriptions found on these stamps. "China" and "Panama" are nearly completed. Both will be standard works, but it will probably be some months before either one of them will be published.

It is our intention to make the "Match and Medicine" booklet a two-part work, the first part to be devoted to general remarks and match stamps, while the second part will cover medicines. These are troublous days with all printing offices and the regular publication of the WEEKLY must have the right of way.

MIXED PERFS.

A "Reconstruction" Stamp.—Guatemala has issued a 12½c stamp, inscribed "Timbre de Reconstruccion," representing an additional tax on each item of mail matter. War Tax stamps we know, but this is an earthquake tax stamp, issued to raise funds for the rebuilding of the Guatemala G.P.O., which was shatterd in the earthquakes of 1917-1918.

Congratulations to Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, the eminent American philatelist, on the award to him of the silver medal of the Société Nationale d'Acclimatation, for his work in connection with the war garden movement in the United States, the counterpart of our "allotment" system.

Substitutes.—The war taught us the value of substitutes, and the latest philatelic makeshift consists of photos of unattainable rarities, which fill up gaps in a collection, though unfortunately without adding to its monetary value. The supply of these shadows of good things is apparently to become a recognized business. It has already been inaugurated by one enterprising firm in the States.

A Peaceful Country.—From the philatelic point of view the reputation of the Maldive Islands is not a bad one. Twelve thousand coral islands (mostly uninhabited, however) have been content with the issue of eleven varieties, and have not troubled the new issue chroniclers for over ten years (needless to say we are touching wood as we pen these lines). Add to this that the first issue has returned a few thousand per cent. to those who were fortunate enough to secure their specimens at face value and it will be admitted that things might have been much worse.

Apparently the governing authorities in Ceylon have kept a tight rein on the local powers-that-be, and have prevented them adding the manufacturing of unnecessary postage stamps to their romantic pursuits of bonito-fishing, cocoanut-catching, copra-collecting, or cowrie-chasing! We should have thought that bonito-fishing would have been an attractive subject for a stamp design, but the curious native tower which is depicted on the 1909 series has a charm of its own and the stamps have always been very popular.

New Issue Items.—The continued issue of new War Tax stamps by various British Colonies is arousing criticism in some contemporaries. We certainly hoped that the arrival of peace would put an end to these issues, but then, as one writer points out, the extra tax is still in force in many places, so the stamps are still required. The point is that it should not be necessary to change the setting of the overprint every time a fresh printing was ordered. But it is so profitable to the Colonial exchequers!

The peace stamps of Uruguay are to hand, a handsome series showing the statue of Liberty in New York Harbour. These are not the first Uruguayan peace stamps, as there were "PAZ" overprints in 1897 and 1904, commemorating the end of local Civil Wars.

Persia is "carrying on" in good old pre-war fashion, with the manufacture of provisionals, but there is probably some justification for this, in the present disturbed state of the world.

Esthonia has issued two high value stamps, the design showing an old Viking ship with the shields of the rowers on the bulwarks. The style reminds us of some of the entries for a prize stamp-design competition held some years ago in one of the Scandinavian countries. The total absence of shading would render these stamps favourites with printers, and with the best methods of production, some striking results could be achieved. The two values are 1 mk., brown on blue, and 5 marks, black on yellow.

A noticeable feature of the New Issue chronicles of to-day is the frequent presence of issues several months old, cheek by jowl with the very latest novelties. This is due to the difficulty of keeping pace with the enormous number of war and other issues which keep pouring in. As one who had the happiness of never seeing a war stamp till after the war, the writer has every expectation of being caught napping himself before long!

Exit Cilicia.—An esteemed correspondent, Major Moffat, of Alexandria, informs us that he has seen a letter from Mersina, franked with Palestine stamps, which stated that no more Cilicia stamps are being sold, as the British have taken over the administration of this district from the French, and Palestine stamps will henceforth be used.

A complete list of the issues of Cilicia will be a feature of the next War Catalogue.

The War Before the War.—The Balkan War of 1912-13 seems ancient history now that the Greater War has come and gone, but we are occasionally reminded by our stamps of interesting incidents of these bygone campaigns.

One such incident was the sudden revival of Turkey at the end of the Balkan War, resulting in the recapture of Adrianople from the Bulgars. The latter, if we remember rightly, were engaged at the time in arguing with Roumania regarding the price to be paid for her non intervention in the war.

Nobody Loves Them.—The Revue Internationale states that the "War Orphans" series of France is to be surcharged for use in various French Colonies to quicken their sale. While sympathizing with the object of these charity stamps, we would remind collectors that the postal portion of their face value goes to the French Government and not to the orphans.

Philatelic Reconstruction.—In spite of the scattering of stamp collectors to the ends of the earth during the war, and the many other drawbacks to which a hobby must always be subject during a period when necessity is the only law of being and doing, philately has never flourished so vigorously as during the last four years. And now there are signs of the return of the stamp world to normal activity in directions where action was curtailed during the war.

We have not heard very much of the "First Polish Philatelic Exhibition," although it was honoured with a stamp issue of its own; but by the time these lines appear in print Turin will have held a philatelic exhibition, which will probably be followed by many others in Europe, now that postal and censorship difficulties are disappearing. It will be some time before travelling is so easy that these exhibitions become once more the international philatelic reunions that they were before the war; but the wheels are at any rate beginning to move.

London has her stamp club, and now philatelists across the Channel are agitating for the formation of a similar club in Paris. Such permanent meeting places offer great advantages to collectors, and in large cities such as London and Paris the financial problem should not now be a difficult one.

At home the Junior Philatelic Society, progressive as ever, appeals for a thousand new Peace Year Members, and will probably get them from among the thousands of war-time recruits to our hobby. Societies and exchange clubs of all kinds are flourishing, and people are wondering what the winter season will be like when the "dead" summer has been busier than any previous winter.

It is hard to imagine the difficulties which a philatelic society would have to face in Russia to-day; but they are being faced in Moscow, where a society of fifty members is in existence, with auctions and a journal of its own. One conjures up visions of the members, gathered in a cellar to view a display of stamps by one of their number, being arrested en bloc by the secret police on a charge of conspiring against the local Soviet or its present day equivalent. Probably things are not at all like this, as the Russia of the imagination and the Russia of reality have always been as far apart as the poles. But we should prefer to do our philatelic reconstruction at New Cross rather than Niini Novgorod.

Wake Up, England!—A philatelic section has been created at the Academy of Sciences, Maryland, as a sub-section of the historical section. English Universities, please note!—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

CHINA'S GREAT POSTAL SYSTEM.

The Chinese postoffice is doing a great work in breaking down the isolation of the country from within. This now well managed branch of the government service was established just twenty-three years ago, but active development came only after the Boxer movement. From 1905 to the end of 1918, the volume of its business increased roughly 1,000 per cent. In 1918 there were 9,367 offices and agencies which handled 302 million articles of posted mail matter and 2,738,000 parcels, the latter valued at 40 million dollars. The issue of money orders amounted to 35 million dollars, representing an increase of 64 per cent over the previous year. Trade charge (C. O. D.) parcels amounted to $134,000, which was new business resulting chiefly from the enterprise of two mail order houses newly established at Shanghai and Canton.

A postoffice savings bank was opened July 1, 1919, selling saving stamps from five cents upward. New stamping machinery, handling seven hundred letters a minute, is being installed. Night collections and deliveries are being instituted in the larger cities and the rural service is being extended. In 1918, nearly six thousand miles of overland routes were added to the service. A new continuous overland courier route of roughly 3,375 miles, the longest in the world, now connects Kalgan by way of Mongolia with Tihwafu, capital of Sinkiang (China Turkestan), following in part the old trade routes from China to Persia.

Prior to 1915 annual deficits prevailed, but since that year revenues have risen by 50 per cent with annual surpluses ranging from $302,592 in 1915 to 2 million dollars in 1918. This turn came in the face of civil war, floods, brigandage and internal disorders of every sort, to say nothing of costly extensions of the service.—Trans-Pacific Magazine.

THE U. S. AEROPLANE STAMPS OF 1918.

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

During these early days the Post Office Department did many things to popularize the service and bring it to the attention of the public in general. Articles appeared as news items in the daily press, large circulars were posted in the post offices covered by the aeroplane mail and the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General sent out broadcast to business houses, large manila cards about 9"x5½" describing the advantages to be derived by the use of this special service. As a matter of historical record, it may be well to reproduce the information given on these cards:—

"AEROPLANE MAIL SERVICE

"Aeroplane Mail Service Between Washington, Philadelphia, and New York was Established May 15, 1918. The Rate of Postage is 24 Cents Per Ounce or Fraction Thereof, Including Special-delivery Service.

"Mail by aeroplane from New York arriving at Philadelphia not later than 1.30 p. m. will connect with earlier trains than those conforming to train schedules for Atlantic City and Cape May, N. J., Chester, Reading and Pottsville, Pa., Wilmington, Del., and Port Deposit, Md.

"Mail by aeroplane arriving from Washington by 3.30 p. m. would make connections with the Baltimore & Ohio train leaving Washington at 4.00 p. m. for Cumberland, Grafton, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis. It would also make connections with the Southern Railroad train leaving Washington at 4.15 p. m. for Charlottesville, Lynchburg and Danville, Va.; Greensboro, Salisbury and Charlotte, N. C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Birmingham, Ala., and intermediate points.

"Mail by aeroplane from Washington will connect at Philadelphia with earlier trains for Trenton, Atlantic City and Cape May, N. J.; East Stroudsburg, Chester, Reading, Pottsville and Bethlehem, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., and intervening points.

"Mail by aeroplane from Washington and Philadelphia arriving at New York before 3.30 p. m. will make connections for Bridgeport and New Haven, Conn.; Springfield and Boston, Mass.; Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio; Elkhart, Ind.; Chicago, Ill.; and intervening points.

"The fastest time between Washington and New York by train is 5 hours; by aeroplane, 2½ to 3 hours.

"Mail can be sent by aeroplane from New York to any city which has mail connections with Philadelphia or Washington; from Washington to any city which can be reached by mail connections from Philadelphia or New York, and from Philadelphia to any city which can be reached through mail connections at New York or Washington.

OTTO PRAEGER,
Second Asst. Postmaster General."
WASHINGTON, May 15, 1919.

CHAPTER TWO.

The Aerial Mail Service in Operation.

The second month of the service was even more successful than the first, for out of 108 possible flights 98 were perfect. During this month all speed records were broken when on July 29th the mail was carried from Washington to New York in 2 hours and 5 minutes, flying time. As promised in the department's letter of June 19th, the rate of postage for this service was reduced. The Postmaster General, in Order No. 1617, dated June 26, 1918, authorized a lowering to 16c per ounce or fraction thereof, on all letters instead of 24c as heretofore. This new rate went into effect on Monday, July 15, 1918, the Third Ass't Postmaster General having notified the postmasters under date of July 11 that a special stamp would be issued for this purpose. The stamp was similar in design to the 24c, printed in one color, however, in green. Additional data upon this new emission will be given later.

An order issued from the Post Office in the early days is more than of passing interest:—

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

"OFFICE OF THE THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL.
WASHINGTON, June 14, 1918.

Postmasters are instructed not to precancel the new 24-cent aeroplane postage stamp.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Ass't Postmaster General."

Similar instructions were given regarding the 16c on July 11th but it seems that they were overlooked by many offices.

The Postmaster General and his assistants were real enthusiastic about the good work being done by the Army aero-postmen and were so pleased with the service on the Washington-Philadelphia-New York route that on June 7th, an aeroplane left New York laden with mail and landed at Saugus Field near Boston, Mass. The same plane returned on June 12th. This, however, was more in the way of an experiment rather than any intentions on the part of the department of establishing a regular service.

Frequent circular letters were given to the press concerning the service during July and August. On August 5th we are informed that the air mail pilot is solving the problem of flying in all sorts of weather. Prior to the establishment of the Air Mail Service it was regarded as impracticable to make flights with airplanes during severe storms. The practice, however, of this daily service has shown that the mail can be carried through the air during severe thunder and lightning storms with heavy rain and hail. In spite of their good work they, however, had their troubles, but the department does not call our attention to the fact that at times the pilots strayed from their course and were lost or were seriously delayed. The aeroplane letter often fell sadly behind the train letter.

It will be recalled that this service had been carried on by planes and equipment belonging to the War Department. Under date of August 12, 1918, the equipment and flying operations of the Aerial Mail Service was turned over to the Post Office Department. Under date of August 19th the Postmaster General thanks the Secretary of War for the "whole-hearted co-operation that I have received from the War Department in the inauguration and the operation of the aerial mail service. He also states that he thinks "it a high tribute to the Army's training planes—that out of 270 flights conducted by the Air Section in carrying United States mail, covering a grand total of 421½ hours of flying, there were recorded but 16 forced landings." While the operations were in the hands of the military authorities 20¼ tons of letter mail was despatched.

CHRISTMAS ISLAND.

This island, belonging to the King of England, and leased to the Pacific Cocoanut Plantation, Ltd., for 99 years, has no British postal service. All postal sendings are forwarded through the management of the company, and for this purpose a special stamp was issued for the island, which is really of private origin, but possesses the following franking ability:

a) for inland postal service.
b) from the island itself to the nearest station of the universal postal union.

All letters or packages are forwarded by a post boat, but they must be provided with the island stamp, and this must be canceled with the stamp of the company, before being turned over to the mail boat. It is the duty of the captain of the boat to see that this has been done, and on arrival at a harbor, he is pledged to frank the letters and packets with the necessary stamps of whatever country whose shores he visits. Forwarding of any article which is not franked with the island stamp, is absolutely out of the question.—(Translated from K-B Katalog.)

AMERICAN FUSEE COMPANY.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This company began business in 1874 and the building which they occupied as a factory for about ten years is still standing at the corner of 21st and Plum Sts., Erie, Pa. The first officers were W. R. Davenport, Pres., E. D. Ludwig, Vice-Pres., Wm. A. Galbraith, Treas., and E. Gaylord, Sec. and Mgr. There were many changes of officers during the life of the company. The different officers were all prominent men of Erie, and all of them, with the exception of E. W. Sheldon, who was secretary and manager when the business closed in 1884, are now dead. The company was capitalized at $100,000, employed 25 to 35 people, and had a capacity of 43,000 boxes per day. Both fusee and torch matches were made, and the matches were always packed 100 in a box, hence their 1c stamp was never used in multiple. Competition with Swedish matches and the reduction in the demand for matches when electric lights came into use made the business unprofitable.

The stamp is one of the last of the Philadelphia productions, and is a very ordinary piece of work—far below the standard of most of the match stamps engraved by Mr. Carpenter's firm. It is a horizontal rectangle of the standard 1c size containing an oval band inscribed "United States Inter. Revenue — One Cent." Within the oval is an irregular panel inscribed "American — Fusee — Company, — Erie, Pa." in four lines. Outside either end of the panel, but within the oval, is a numeral. The four corners of the design are filled with ornamentation.

In regard to this stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, March 24, 1874.
First issued, April, 1874.
Last issued, April 1, 1882.
210 stamps per sheet, (15x14).
2,270,000 issued on silk paper.
2,834,403 issued on pink and watermarked paper.

The silk paper variety is one of the commonest of the match stamps, and the pink paper is one of the commonest of the match stamps that occur on pink paper. The watermarked variety is not so frequently found. The first printing was made by Mr. Carpenter on silk paper. This was followed by the National prints on silk, pink and watermarked paper, and the later printings were made by the American Bank Note Co. and the Bureau on the last named paper. Margins of the sheets printed by the Bureau bore the Bureau plate number, "No. 1," engraved in italics beside the title of the plate similarly engraved. Probably there was only one plate. Color, black.

THE "BOY" SUBSCRIBER.

(Singularly enough, we received last week two letters on the same day dealing with a subject of common interest. One was from an old friend and subscriber, Hubert Lyman Clark of Cambridge, Mass., and the other from a boy subscriber, Wright Bryan, of Clemson College, S. C. Dr. Clark in his letter wished to know the nature of protests which had come from the raise in subscription price. We have had only two, one from a lady subscriber, and the other from a dealer, both of whom thought that we might lose some of our younger subscribers by increasing the price to $1. This is possibly true, but Mr. Bryan's letter indicates that we have boy subscribers who appreciate the educational value of the WEEKLY. We quote from the two letters as received.—W. O. W.)

"I enclose 50c to cover a six months' renewal for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. I have been reading letters from subscribers sending in renewals and approving your increase in rates. I am only a schoolboy with a small collection, but I could hardly collect without your paper. My financial condition does not allow me to send in a longer renewal, but I shall send it as soon as possible, as I understand why you had to increase your rates, and I desire to help all I possibly can."—WRIGHT BRYAN.

"When I saw Mr. Sampson's letter a couple of weeks ago I thought I would write you and say 'Amen', but I failed to do so. Mr. Sampson and I usually agree pretty well, and certainly so in this case. 10c per number would not be too much to ask for MEKEEL'S. I certainly get more pleasure out of it than I do from Life at 10c. I wish you would publish some of the protests against the raise so I could get the viewpoint of the man who thinks the WEEKLY is not worth 2c per copy."—HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are pained to announce the death of Leon V. Cass of Marathon, N. Y., who died December 11. He has been a longtime advertiser in the WEEKLY and had built up quite a trade. D. L Curran, informnig us of the sad event, writes: "His mother died last spring and he was the last of the family. He was never strong, and of late had been in poor health."

—A stamp club has been formed in Holyoke, Mass. Meetings are held every second Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms. The following officers have been elected: George Fitzgerald, Pres.; Robert Stott, Vice Pres.; C. A. Smith, Sec. and H. P. Atherton is the auctioneer. The club has about twenty-five members.

—"I've just made the shortest trip from Pittsburgh to Buffalo I ever had, and I have had many long, tiresome ones. Before leaving my office I noticed a bundle of sample copies of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS that you had sent me and threw them into my bag. I neglected to get a magazine or a paper, so was forced to look over the WEEKLY. The next thing I knew, the porter said, "We're here, sir." Enclosed find a dollar; keep it coming to me regularly.' —W. W. WOODRUFF.

—"List me as a supporter of your good paper and Mr. Ritchie's great work. I've only a few of the unusual cancellations of old-time stamps—but they are subject to your order. I trust this new work will also include some of the special slogans, etc., used to promote exhibition war work and the like. These things should be checked up now—while the getting is good—and if I knew how to go about the job I'd endeavor to help out, even if it cost me a pretty penny to do the trick."—J. W. LONGNECKER.

—"Under separate cover I am mailing you a weekly advertising sheet which has made its appearance in Toronto. It is called the Free Ratepayer, and there is a different one for each ward in the city. The novelty to a stamp collector is in the fact that in the upper left corner is printed the Postage Paid under permit No. 2803."—E. HARRIS.

—"Why didn't you raise the price long ago? I subscribed to the WEEKLY away back in the early '90's, when it was a four-page sheet with a paucity of pep, and it's my recollection that the price was 50c a year even then. Also, that I had to save my nickels to pay for six months at a time, and then mooch a postage stamp from the family supply to send the 25c."—CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

—The Brooklyn Stamp Club held its regular election of officers for the year 1920, Dec. 10, and the following officers were elected: President, R. M. Osborne; Vice Pres., L. A. Missbach; Treasurer, Wm. J. Coleman; Secretary, William Lycett; Fin. Sec., M. Neel. The following were elected, which with the above officers form the Board of Governors:—C. W. A. Braun, J. W. Nicklin, F. F. Reed, G. W. Ring; Directors for The United Stamp Societies, Wm. Lycett, R. M. Osborne; Sales Manager, M. Rosenblatt; Auction Manager, J. W. Nicklin; Librarian, Wm. J. Coleman; Custodian of Counterfeit Collection, G. W. Ring. It was also incorporated in the Constitution that the Sales Manager shall be under bonds for the amount of $500.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

In 1860 the currency of the Colony was changed from the English system to the decimal one. This not only necessitated a new issue of postage stamps but also a complete revision of the postage rates. Unfortunately the amendment to the Post-office Act is not at all explicit as to rates and no mention of the new charges is made in the Post-office yearly Reports. One important change the Act of 1860 refers to is the fact that prepayment became obligatory with the introduction of the new currency. The paragraph relating to this states, "All letters posted in this Province shall be prepaid, and in default thereof shall be subject to such fine as may from time to time be imposed by the Order of the Governor in Council."

CHAPTER III.—The Pence Issue.

Reference to the foregoing chapter will show that in the Post-office Act of 1850 (section IX) the Lieutenant-Governor was authorised to "cause postage stamps marked with any device thereon" to be issued. There appears, however, to be no record of any sort showing when postage stamps were issued by the New Brunswick Post-office. In fact, a study of the official documents relating to the stamps of Nova Scotia seems to show that when the first 3d, 6d and 1s for that colony were ordered a requisition was also made for similar values and quantities for New Brunswick. The memorandum relating to this reads in part as follows:—

"I would beg to suggest for the consideration of the Government that £10,000 worth of stamps for Nova Scotia, and a similar amount for New Brunswick, viz.:

3d £5000
6d £2500
1s £2500

be furnished for immediate use, or should this amount be considered too small to double the above numbers."

This memorandum is dated July 8th, 1851, and that it must have been acted on promptly would appear to be bourne out by the fact that the New Brunswick stamps were placed on sale on September 6th, 1851. Indeed, as these self-same stamps were despatched from London on August 6th, it is very evident that the actual order for dies and plates must have been given to the printers long before July, though Mr. King was unable to find any official data on this point.

It is certainly astonishing that no mention of any kind was made of the new postage stamps until Charles Connell became Postmaster-General in 1859—eight years after they were first issued. In the official regulations issued in that year—to which I have already referred insofar as they relate to postal rates—Part XII deals with postage stamps as follows:—

"1. The Postage Stamps issued by the Post-office Department of New Brunswick are of three kinds, and of the values of Threepence, Sixpence, and One Shilling, respectively, each representing a Rose, Thistle, Shamrock and Mayflower, with a Crown in centre.

2.—The threepenny stamps are coloured Red, the sixpenny Green, and the one shilling Purple. They can be procured from any Post-office in the Province.

* * * * *

5.—Any letters having one or more stamps affixed equal in amount to the Rate of Postage chargeable on such letters, are to be mailed and forwarded as prepaid letters, though the amount is not to be included in the Letter Bill.

6. On letters for the United States, when stamps are affixed representing less than the amount of postage to which the letters are liable, the stamps are not to be cancelled but the letters are to be rated the full rates of postage as unpaid.

7.—On letters addressed to any part of British North America or the United Kingdom, when the number of stamps be not adequate to the amount of postage due, the letters are to be rated with the amount deficient, and forwarded with that amount charged as unpaid. In cases of this kind the stamps must be obliterated.

* * * * *

10.—Stamps of any Colony of British North America, United States, the United Kingdom, &c, when the letter has been posted are to be allowed in New Brunswick as evidence of prepayment accordingly on the letters to which they are affixed.

11. Postmasters are not allowed to affix stamps on letters, the Postage of which has been paid in money, under pain of dismissal.

12.—No other stamps than those issued by the Post-office of New Brunswick are to be taken in the Province in prepayment of letters posted within the same."

The official description of the postage stamps as given in paragraphs 1 and 2 of the above section are obviously incorrect. Excepting some of the colors, it is a description of Nova Scotian stamps. The New Brunswick design does not show a mayflower but two roses, thistle and shamrock, while the color of the 6d should be stated as yellow. This incorrect description is all the more remarkable when it is considered that the stamps had already been in use eight years!

The stamps were engraved and printed in taille douce by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon and Company of London in sheets of 160. They are too well known to need any description and, in fact, the accompanying illustration is more eloquent than any printed description could be. The design is one of the handsomest of the many beautiful devices adopted by these manufacturers for early British Colonial stamps.

All three denominations were printed on bluish wove paper and various shades exist, both as regards the amount of blueing in the paper and the color of the impression. Apparently only one supply was ever received from London and this seems to have been sufficient for the use of the Department until the decimal series was issued. It is unfortunate that no official records are available showing how many of each value were printed and issued. Though the quantities were probably quite small, the fact that the one supply sufficed was largely due to the fact that their use was not obligatory. In his report for 1851 the Postmaster-General states:—

"The Postage stamps which have been in circulation since the 6th of September last have not as yet met with much favor from the public, the amount sold in the first four months being £183 2s only. It is probable, however, that their use will become more general, particularly in the larger towns."

But one factor that probably mitigated largely against their general use was the fact that it was in many cases impossible to make up the proper postage with stamps and it was therefore much easier to send the letter unpaid or to pay the postage in money. Again under a system in which prepayment of postage was optional, and no commission was derived from their sale, postage stamps were considered an unmitigated nuisance by many postmasters and their use was, therefore, not unduly encouraged.

The variety in the blueness of the paper, already mentioned, is more apparent in the 3d than in the other two values. Probably the paper was of much the same intensity originally and the lighter shades are due to accidental discharge of the blue coloring by exposure to damp or otherwise. As there was only one supply, it is hardly likely there was more than one printing of each denomination, consequently such shades as are found, while interesting, are not of any particular philatelic importance. With regard to the 3d, Mr. King observes that the color varies greatly "from a faded red to a deep scarlet". Some of these shades are undoubtedly due to the careless manner in which the stock of stamps was kept, as witness the following paragraph from the Postmaster-General's Report for 1859:—

"The principal part of those remaining on hand are unfit for sale, having been damaged by being stored in the vault of the Post Office in St. John, which was so damp as to cause them to mold and the colors to run."

The 6d may be found in well defined light and dark shades, while the shilling value varies considerably, as is usually the case with purple stamps. Two varieties—reddish and dull violet—are usually recognised as true shades, but as purple is a color particularly susceptible to light, it is to be feared that some so-called shades are really fades.

The gum used on these stamps is dark brown in color and very pliable. Adhesiveness was not its strong point, as most stamps on covers can be easily removed with most of the gum intact.

The three plates from which the stamps were printed remained in the possession of Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. until August, 1889, when they were handed to the Dominion Government. The original dies are, we believe, still in the custody of that firm.

such rates as 4½d, 7½d, 8d, 1s1d, etc., it was perhaps quite natural that resort was made to bi-secting with the result that New Brunswick furnishes quite a number of interesting provisionals. While no official notice is known to have been published giving permission to bisect the 3d value, much bisection must have been authorized to make up the United Kingdom packet postage—one of the most generally used rates. As these split 3d were necessary it followed as a matter of course that other bisects were made—usually for no more laudable reason than that of saving trouble. Thus if a 3d stamp were desired and only a 6d one were on hand that 6d was promptly severed and each portion did duty as 3d or, a shilling might be halved for 6d or quartered to make 3d stamps—it all saved the trouble of going to the post-office for the exact denomination required and as official-dom apparently made no objections, everybody was satisfied. There was, of course, some slight danger of an unobliterated half of a cancelled stamp doing duty again, but this possibility evidently did not cause the post-office Department any anxiety.

No list of these bi-sected stamps can be considered complete, as it is always possible that new varieties or combinations may be discovered, but in the following list we have mentioned all the varieties that have been recorded from time to time on good authority.

TO OUR PATRONS

Following our statement made in MEKEEL'S, we are glad to say that we will resume the stamp business on January 1st, and hope by the middle of the month to have all of our orders and exchanges caught up. We will also have an exceptionally fine line of stamps on approval. If you care to look them over, let your request come now and we will give you the choice of our selections.

We again thank our patrons for their kind indulgence.

ALBERTA LAW STAMPS.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

I confess to a deep and abiding affection for the Revenue Stamps of Canada. The beauty of the design, the comparative freedom from minor varieties, and the certainty of non-speculative issues, combines to give the collector heart to seek for the stamps and the joy of adding them to his growing treasure-trove.

All this, I may say, relates to the earlier issues. For the later ones, of the distant provinces, the exigencies of the moment precluded any the least artistic designing. Haste in issuing and necessity for simplicity considering the materials at hand, were the rule, in the remote districts.

The Alberta law stamps are conspicuous examples of this condition in affairs. The first issue of these stamps was printed at the office of the Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta, in sheets containing four rows of three stamps each, making a total of twelve stamps to the sheet. The paper is unwatermarked, medium weight, light wove, cream-white. Some of the sheets are imperforate on one side, some on two sides, and some on three. There was, apparently, more than one printing, as is evidenced by the different colored inks used.

The stamps of this issue were printed on an ordinary printing press. The design measures 33x24½ millimetres. It consists of a fancy scroll background made up of six blocks of similar design, so arranged as to give the appearance of a continuous, or solid, design. Upon examination, however, it will be perceived these blocks are not always arranged in the same way, consequently there are several minor varieties throughout the series. The background was first printed on the sheets in the following known colors: red, bright red, brown red, mauve, yellow, olive yellow, gray, gray green, and olive green. The sheets were then run through the press the second time to designate the purpose for which the stamps were to be used as well as for the denomination. The words "Alberta" and Law Stamp" in old English type appear in the center of each stamp in two lines; the word "cents" is printed near the top and bottom of each stamp, in an old-style Roman type, and the value in figures of similar series, though a size larger type, is inserted in each corner opposite the word "cents."

There is a variation, however, in the dollar stamp. In one printing the value appears in the form of the words "one dollar," printed in plain type across the top and bottom of the stamp. In a second printing the dollar sign accompanied by the figure one ($1) is used, and is inserted in each corner.

Following is a list of the stamps issued in the first series so far as known to the writer:

1. 10c, mauve background, green lettering.
2. 10c, olive yellow background, green lettering.
3. 10c, red background, green lettering.
4. 10c, red background, black lettering.
5. 10c, yellow background, black lettering.
6. 10c, brown red background, black lettering.
7. 20c, brown red background, green lettering.
8. 25c, gray background, black lettering.
9. 25c, mauve background, black lettering.
10. 25c, red background, black lettering.
11. 25c, olive yellow background, black lettering.
12. 25c, gray green background, black lettering.
13. 25c, yellow background, black lettering.

The primitive methods used in the production of these stamps naturally resulted in a great many varieties. Following are some of the most noticeable:

1. On each sheet throughout the entire series the fifth, tenth, and twelfth stamps have an extra line in the right in the letter "L" in the word "Law".

2. In several of the stamps throughout the series the figures denoting the value are not always in line, some being slightly raised, and others lowered.

3. Owing to the methods of perforation, some stamps are perforated on all four sieds, some on three sides, and some on two adjacent sides.

4. The scroll background on the "one dollar" is known to have been distinctly double printed. It is probable the same error occurs in other denominations.

5. Following is a list of varieties in the setting of the scroll background: (a) In some sheets, all the designs have rounded corners in the four corners of each stamp, except in the case of the eighth in each sheet, which has three points in the northeast corner of the stamp. This, too, is apparently the case in all the 10c, 20c, 50c, 75c, and $1 stamps, and some of the 25c. (b) In some sheets, all the designs have rounded corners except the northeast corner, all of which on each sheet have three points. This setting will be found in some of the 25c stamps, and in the $1 value as well.

6. Minor varieties resulting from broken or defective scrolls and broken letters are also known.

It will be seen, then, there is ample scope for the specialist in Canada revenues to satisfy his bent, while the tyro need not be concerned that he, too, will be denied the pleasure of search. I may say, however, that the stamps are very scarce, and others very rare, especially in used condition. Those I have seen are punched. This form of cancellation should not deter the collector of Canada revenues, however, as many of the rarities are known in no other condition.

I may say, in closing this paper, that I am indebted generally for fact and form and substance to Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, of Westmount, Quebec, who is a specialist in the revenue stamps of Canada. Her knowledge of varieties and other essential qualifications relating to these interesting bits of paper are wide and profound as her pleasure in imparting her information to others is great. Philately owes her a debt that will be difficult to liquidate.

THE MARKET.

A regular air mail service between London and Paris is now an established fact, and once more the question crops up of an air stamp to frank such correspondence. If Newfoundland may be cited as an example, the issue of a special stamp for this route should prove a source of revenue to the Authorities—not to forget also a source of joy to collectors.

The Falkland 1s, of course, is by far the best, and even the new printing (pale shade) may not be so common. The new local Turks Island are difficult to buy in quantity at any sort of a reasonable price.

The old classic imperfs. appear to be rapidly soaring up in price. Their rarity plus their prices will shortly place many of these desirable right out of reach of almost everyone. Only this week a dealer showed me—just to take an example—a copy of the first 1s Nova Scotia, superb used, and a copy of the 1s New Brunswick used and close on one side. Both stamps were finely used and fine colour. What do you think he had to pay for these two stamps? £90 the pair!

I notice several advertisements offering Polish "Levant" stamps. This strikes me as being rather a far-fetched issue—what has Poland to do with the Levant? It certainly seems a case of a special issue for sale to collectors. Does the Polish Consulate at Constantinople really require this weird issue?

New issues of stamps are all very nice and help our hobby along, but there is a touch of the overdoing things in this direction in some of the new States. If Poland and some of these new districts go on as they have started, we shall have to devote an entire album to each year's issue of this and that State.

The ¼ anna Iraq is still fetching an enormous percentage over face. The main supplies are in the hands of speculators.—Stamp Collecting.

EDITORIAL.

"At Christmas play, and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year."

Christmas—From a philatelic viewpoint this Christmas is the merriest one that we have ever known. If our world within a world could influence the outside one, there would be a leaven of joy in the big world, but as the little one of fancy must defer to the big, it receives as well some of the back-wash from the unsettled conditions that confront the nations. The WEEKLY has been made aware of the approach of the holiday by a happy series of events. We have received a goose and a rabbit from a sapient subscriber who knows that an empty stomach often is a concomitant of editorial employment. Another reader sends a handsome card-case and bill-fold of just the right size to immure the dollars that come from subscriptions. Cards and greetings have found their way to us from home and from abroad and we take this means to say that our Christmas is made the more merry by the thoughts from near and from far that have winged their way to us.

* * *

Covers—From Mr. Ted J. Tyrrell, Lake City, Minn., we have received an addition to our lot of Sanitary Fair and U. S. Christian Commission envelopes that were used by soldiers through the courtesy of these philanthropic agencies during the civil war. The particular envelope has "U. S. Christian Commission" enclosed in a bannerette, under which are the words, "Soldier's Letter." Judging from the Old Point Comfort, Va., postmark on the letter, the envelope was sent from a prisoner in a northern prison to his home in the south, although the letter is addressed to Quitman P. O., Nodaway Co., Mo. Old Point Comfort was an office of exchange for correspondence sent by prisoners on either side of the line.

Useless—It appears that the revenue stamps that have been prepared for stamping liquor that was to be taken out of bond will prove to be a vain accomplishment if the period of war prohibition extends over to that of national prohibition. We expect to have some particulars of these stamps for the next number.

* * *

Poland—We are pleased to receive the first number of Filatelista Polski, dated Cracow, October 10, 1919, a monthly stamp journal of good appearance and undoubtedly interesting contents. We should judge that philatelic activites in new Poland are such as to make a most animated season. Predictions are made that Poland will be a leader among the philatelic nations; and we notice that an exhibition of Polish stamps is announced under the auspices of the Cracow society.

* * *

Lettland—In connection with the chronicling of a new value variety of the first issue of Lettland, 25k, grey, imperforate, honeycomb watermark, the news has come through a Swedish paper that the Lettish post office department is preparing a new series of stamps of more appropriate design and artistic merit than the stamps now extant. It is reported that the most prominent artists in Lettland, Messrs. W. Purviet, Janis Kuga and others are devoting themselves fervently to the task of making the new stamps a valuable contribution to postal and philatelic utility. The new issue will depict the most beautiful natural scenes in Lettland.

Russia—From a German stamp journal we learn that the use of the postage stamps has practically been suspended in Russia and that some of the mails carry letters free of charge. Our informant doubts, however, that a free service has been established, but it avers that the scheme for the distribution and for transporting of mails has become so disorganized that much of the mail never reaches its destination; and for that reason the inhabitants prefer to entrust letters and other mail to travelers when there is a chance to do so. In support of the claim that postage stamps are no longer used, the argument is advanced that with prices in Russia so high that even a bill of one hundred rubles is deemed small change, the few kopecs asked for a stamp dwindle into nothingness and have no power to command even the slightest service. In fact, the returns from their sale would not defer the printing costs. The conclusion that is drawn is that soviet Russia has no postage stamps or organized post office and that the conveniences of registered letters and money orders do not exist.

* * *

Going—The collector who keeps aloof from the philatelic concerns of the times is passing and we do not hear so much at present of the man who has a fine collection but who is so exclusive in his enjoyment of it that he will have no point of contact with other collectors or the stamp press. The individualistic idea of pursuing philately in a solitary way is giving way to what may be called a collective affiliation with public philately. This tendency is desirable, as it develops strength in philately. To hasten this movement it is incumbent that the "practice of philately" in this country become more inviting through the concerted action of the well-wishers of the pursuit to eliminate the petty and reactionary influences that spring from selfishness in its various forms. Progress has been made and the genial aspect of collecting must be emphasized as the class of people who enlist under the philatelic standard is responsive to cheerful surroundings.

* * *

Press—Several of our contemporaries have been buffeted by the winds of circumstance and for the information of their readers who shall chart their whereabouts on the "sea of journalism." The publisher of the Philatelic West says that printing troubles have conspired to keep his journal in limbo but he promises that it will soon be free to greet its readers as of yore. The publisher of Philatelic Gossip by reason of sickness in his family is hampered in preparing his paper for its monthly bow and we trust that the cause of the pause happily will soon be removed. The publisher of the Philatelic Index has a stout heart and while he says that for two years past he has issued his paper at a financial loss, he will persevere; and he has prevailed, as two copies of his compilation of auction prices have recently come. However, he has changed from weekly to semi-monthly form. The annual Collectors' Digest for 1919 may be expected daily according to its promoter, the delay in its coming having been due to disappointments that are attributed to that calloused soul, the printer.

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

JUGO-SLAVIA.

By HENRY KUH.

I again wish to return to Mr. James F. Hamill's article in Nos. 40 and 41, and to his last reply in No. 47. He again states that "naturally Carniola and Slovenia both come under Slavonia." No, Mr. Hamill, this is not natural. You are obsessed with the same error as many thousands. I said in my article that Slovenia and Slavonia are two different things. Jugo-Slav stamps were never issued by Slavonia, if you please!

While the Austro-Hungarian Empire existed Croatia and Slavonia were under one administration, the seat of the government being located at Zagreb (German Agram), the capital city of Slavonia being Osijek (Essegg in German), on the river Drava (Dran). This latter city had absolutely no voice in the administration of the country, since Croatia and Slavonia are in fact one country and always were so. You might as well call them Upper and Lower Croatia, the same as Upper and Lower Austria, there being no difference between a Croatian and Slavonian, neither is there any between an Upper and a Lower Austrian, that is to say, I have not been able to discover any, although I have lived among these people. But it may be that a contradictory statement will be found in Funk and Wagnall's Standard Dictionary, yet this would not change my conviction at all.

I again refer to Agram not being a city of cathedrals and universities, although the above-mentioned dictionary (Mr. Hamill's source of information) says so. I think that I am as familiar with the former Austro-Hungarian Empire as the editors of this reference work, who have never been in Agram and get their information second hand. Mr. Hamill and others—who have implicit faith in such a reference book—would wager their last shirt on such a statement. I wish to emphasize right here that to my knowledge there is not one city in the former dual monarchy having two cathedrals, even Vienna, a city of about two million, is content with one cathedral and one university! Austria (without Hungary) has eight universities, and the only city having two universities is Prague, one in Bohemian and the other in German language.

There is no city in Germany that has two universities, and I doubt if there be any that has two cathedrals. In Agram there are about a dozen Roman Catholic churches at most, one Greek ortho dox (Serbian) and one synagogue. There is only one university in Agram, no matter what anybody says. The Archbishop has his residence in Agram, consequently there is a cathedral.

In No. 48, Mr. Henry A. Meyer also tackles Jugo-Slavia. If he had taken the trouble to read my answer to Mr. Hamill in No. 43 he would have found all the inscriptions on the Croatian stamps explained. Although I explained DRZAVA and DRZAVNA, I did not go far enough in regard to the second form. I wish to inform Mr. Meyer—with absolutely no ill-feeling on my part—that there is nothing unstable in the character of the Croatian language; it is a language founded on evolution, just the same as any other tongue, and everything is quite logical and natural, although it may puzzle those not conversant with it. I said in my article: Drzava means the State (drzat = hold, govern); consequently, it also stands for government. DRZAVNA in this case means governmental. There is another word meaning government: VLADA, but it cannot be applied in this instance, and a vladar is a ruler. I suspect that Mr. Meyer will also see the point when I say that Drzava is the same as der Staat (Regierrung; Drzavna=staatlich), so DRZAVNA POSTA means either Staatspost or Regierungspost.

Finally, I again wish to inform those who want to know, that Slavonia never issued any stamps and that Slovenia (Carniola) is something entirely different, this in spite of contradictory statements.

NEW ISSUES SNOOZE.

By R. U. LETTS.

Christmas Island.—This stamp has recently appeared surcharged "Happy New Year." It will be chronicled by Ganley Stibbons of London, along with the U. S. War stamps.

Latvija.—Latest issues of this country are printed on fly paper, so they will stick. The maps, writing paper, and cigarette paper issues having been exhausted, it was proposed that sandpaper be used, but the Postmaster General thought that collectors had had enough of the rough stuff, so Tanglefoot will be used next.

Poland.—A recent series has appeared in suit-case length, printed on split bamboo. It is fine for fish.

Barbados.—The design of the current set is to be changed. The chariot with paddle-wheels is to be fitted with twin screws, and will be turbine operated, instead of with a two horsepower drive.

Hejaz.—The country that put the jazz in postage stamps will produce future issues on 12-inch graphophone records. The rug design is to be discarded for one showing a waxed floor.

Australia.—An explanation has just been made regarding the 6d 1915. This is called the "kookaburro" stamp, "burro" being the classic word for "donkey". The "kookoo" part of it means a giggler. Hence in combination we have the name of the bird pictured, that is, "laughing jackass."

Albania.—Having run out of comets, the next surcharged issue will depict Saturn and his rings, Jupiter and his moons, and Mars and his irrigating system.

Jugo-Slavia.—Several inquiries have been made recently regarding the meaning of S. H. S. From authentic sources we learn that this inscription means "stamp hinges stick." Another solution is "Seven Hundred Surcharges."

Fiume. — The Romulus-Remus-Wolf issue is to be withdrawn, and hereafter will be used as milk tickets only.

Mr. Collector

The Advertisement which I have been running in the WEEKLY for the last three weeks has not brought to light anything in my line worth having. Good stamps are getting scarcer every day and no one realizes this better than the dealer. If you have any blank spaces in your U. S. Collection take my tip and fill them at once before prices advance.

Send me your want list for your wants in these and it will have my personal attention.

Of course, references are required if you have not had approvals from me before.

HAR, HAR.

Permit me to submit to your attention the following notice, and I trust that you will give it the widest publicity as a warning to all dishonest stamp dealers that their double dealing has been discovered and that if they do not turn to Philatelic Righteousness they must suffer the consequences. Tob. Wilkins, who lives in our midst and and whom I have converted to the use of hinges instead of varnish, sent twelve cents for 2,000 hinges, postage prepaid, and he informs me that when he counted them he only found 1998, and one of them had no gum on the back.

Believe me or no, this is a fact, and when I had calmed Tobias down a little, he promised not to inform the postal authorities, but if such a thing happens again,—well, their blood be upon their own heads.

I believe your able Bill Bloss should incorporate this warning in every copy of "How to Deal in Stamps," as he is the only person I know of that is competent to handle so serious a situation.

Happy New Year

I wish to take this opportunity as the old year draws to an end of wishing my many philatelic friends and clients a very happy and prosperous New Year. I have appreciated their many kind letters and only hope that as the years draw on we will come closer together. While it is true that stamps are only a side issue with me I am always pleased to meet any of my visiting stamp friends when they are in Philadelphia. My business offices are located in the Philadelphia Stock Exchange Building, in the heart of the city, less than a five minute walk from the stations, so do not forget to call when in town.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS
Beverly, Mass. Portland, Me.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our chronicle for November 8th mention was made of the loss by Col. Greene of his wonderful collection of stamps through the sinking of his yacht. We are now informed by The Albemarle Stamp Collector that "The private steam yacht of Col. E. H. R. Greene that was sunk off New Haven last August has been raised and is now in dry dock. The safe that was on board contained a large portion of the Colonel's valuable stamp collection. A recent examination shows that the action of the salt water has severely damaged the stamps. It had been hoped that the safe was water tight, an element that will be well considered in the future in selecting depositories for installation in private yachts."

We quote this paragraph, for since the appearance of our previous notes we have received numerous requests for further details. Several correspondents have asked that we advise them as to the present value of the 24c invert in view of the loss of those held by Col. Greene. While placing values upon stamps does not fall into the field of a "chronicle," nevertheless we are pleased to present a few facts that will enable the reader to draw his own conclusions.

At the present time there are about 65 copies of the 2c Pan-American invert, and the stamps readily sell around $550. The 24c invert has every advantage of the 2c, that is, it will be sought after by every advanced specialist of United States stamps, every advanced collector of 20th Century, etc. The 24c will have the additional advantage of being classed as a war stamp and will consequently appeal to that vast throng collecting war issues. As value is created by supply and demand, the new catalogue would not be amiss in showing the 24c invert to be a $750 error.

Some months back we spoke of a sheet of the 3c surface print, type IV, with a distinct double print, that is, one impression was from plate No. 9374 and the other from No. 9396. Numerous other doubles have been found, but this is the only instance brought to our attention where the sheet was actually run through the press twice. The other 3c doubles, as is well known, are caused by a mechanical imperfection in the press. Mr. B. K. Miller now informs us that he has located a sheet of the 1c surface print, perforated 11, no watermark, which has gone through the press a second time. His pane is from the southeast corner, one impression being from sheet No. 9674 and the second impression from No. 967?. The second impression is quite possibly such that the last figure of the plate number is undecipherable.

The same gentleman tells us that he has obtained a "vertical strip of six of the 2c perf. 11 unwatermarked, imperforated horizontally, with an extra (3rd) perforation vertically through the stamps." That is, the strip has the regular vertical perforations on the right and the left sides of the stamps, and in addition a third row of vertical perforations through the center of the stamps.

Mr. P. M. Mann informs us that Mr. Sumner Gary has shown him several good sized blocks with margins of the 1912 9c pink without any visible watermark. We are advised that Messrs. J. M. Bartels and J. B. Leavy have seen the same blocks and classify them as watermarked. We have not seen these stamps, consequently are presenting these facts just as they were given us. We judge these varieties will fall into the same class as the 30c perf. 10 unwatermarked, and as Sir Roger de Coverly would say, "much can be said on both sides." Four such sheets were found in the Grand Rapids some years back, so Mr. Gary states.

Your editor has just located a block of the 2c compounds perforated 11x10 from the "S 20" plates. It will be recalled that these plates were from a die not cut quite as deeply as the "S 30" plates, from which most of the compounds come. It was at first thought that the stamps from the different type of plates were identical, but this does not happen to be the case. Details as to the differences will be given in our next chronicle.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—The 4d value, King George, wmk. Crown over A, has appeared in a distinctly new shade—bright orange.—Stamp Collecting.

AUSTRIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a copy of the 10 krone of the new Deutschosterreich type. The stamp is oblong in shape, with the word just mentioned at the top and "10 Kronen 10" at the base of the stamp. In the center is a likeness of the palace. The colors are green and brown.

BARBADOS.—We are advised by the Colonial Postmaster that it is proposed to issue a Victory series in about April or May of next year, and the values will be the same as the present issue.

BELGIUM.—Stamp Collecting prints the following: "Some interesting information concerning the artist whose portrait of King Albert in steel helmet has made such a striking subject for the new stamps of Belgium appears in a Brussels paper, Le Soir. This journal says that the artist in question, Jean de Bast, during the war carried on the extremely risky occupation of engraving forged seals and the like for passports and similar documents used in carrying on espionage against the German Government of Occupation. He also illustrated certain clandestine publications, such as the Ame Belge, and on one occasion he even indulged in the pleasantry of introducing his signature in the arabesques of the design—an act of daring which would doubtless have made him the object of a firing squad at short notice if anyone had discovered the signature."

BULGARIA.—Mr. Fred Meeker has shown us a copy of the new 15s violet stamp recently put on sale. The portrait of Czar Boris III is in the center with the usual Bulgarian characters at the top with "15 stotinki 15" at the base. We are also informed that the 10s rose has appeared in the same type.

ESTHONIA.—The Economsit Stamp Co. has shown us the 10 penni stamp, numeral type, imperforate.

FRANCE.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 1c stamp, current issue, surcharged in two lines "½—centime" in red.

KEDAH.—Mr. A. Brun informs us that he has received, among a supply of the new 1c brown, one entire sheet of 120 stamps with inverted watermark—the only sheet found, so far, with the "cap-sized Crown."—Stamp Collecting.

LUXEMBURG.—We are informed by Adjt. Henry Hooreman that he has received official news stating that a set of stamps is contemplated for his Grand Duchy, and the new set will probably be issued in January.

MALTA.—We learn that the 5s King George stamp is out of issue and is not to be had in any post office in Malta. The next examples will probably be in a new shade.

The 2s 6d and 10s, Mult. CA, have not yet been reinstated, and, pending their advent, the stocks of the old Single CA stamps are being used up.—Stamp Collecting.

MOSUL.—The Stamp Lover supplies the following information: "The ½ anna is perf. 11½; all other values perf. 12. All values may be found with clean cut perfs. and with rough perfs. from which a large number of the small circular pieces are not cut out, and also in a range of shades. The 4 annas rough perf. is the scarcest variety out here. The 1 anna is printed from two plates, on coloured paper. One plate has a large monogram and the other a small one. The 2½ annas—all have small monogram. The annas on white paper—large monogram. The 3 annas, yellow network—small monogram. The 4 annas on white paper—large monogram. The 8 annas on white paper—large monogram. The overprint 'Postage I.E.F. "D" ½ anna' on ½ anna and 2½ annas is 19½ mm.; on all other values 18 mm."

NEW ZEALAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has also shown us the new set of Victory stamps of this colony. It is one of the finest sets of stamps that we have received for a long time and is a pictorial issue in which the country may well take pride.

The ½d stamp depicts Peace, resting upon a lion, and holding out the victor's crown of laurel. The picture is within an arched frame with ½d in each upper corner, "New Zealand Victory Stamp" in the arch, and at the bottom "1914 Postage and Revenue 1919."

The 1d value is an upright stamp with Peace standing beside the lion waving the laurel wreath. At the top is "Victory Stamp," while at the base is the "1d New Zealand." Just above, "Postage & Revenue."

The 1½d has a portrait of a Maori, and is intended as a tribute to the splendid co-operation of this race in the war. In the left frame are two Teko-Teko heads believed in by the tribe to ward off evil spirits from their homes.

The 3d value is a wonderfully striking stamp and pictures a lion resting in a sitting position with the sun's rays in the background.

The last two stamps of this set show an image representing Victory leading a child through an arch, and King George, respectively. Some contemporaries suggest that the former figure is leading what may be symbolical of the League of Nations, that new understanding among men that will bring all nations closer together for the common good. The 1sh value has in each upper corner the same two Teko-Teko heads as in the 6d stamp, while just below and on each side of the King's portrait is a lion and a spray of Maori fern. The set is the work of Messrs. de la Rue & Co. and is typographed on paper watermarked "N Z." and star. The perforation is 14.

NORTH WEST PACIFIC ISLANDS. — The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 2½, 5, 6 and 9d values with the corrected setting, and also advise us that they had received the 5sh value with the same setting. Mr. J. H. Smyth has sent us copies of the ½d and 3d in addition with the same surcharge.

PORTUGUESE INDIA.—We are indebted to Mr. Peter N. de Souza for copies of the three new War Tax stamps. He informs us that they have now ceased to be used for postal purposes, and adds the following notes regarding the three values:—

1 reis—This was used on letters addressed to Portugal and Portuguese Colonies.

4 reis—This was used to cover an additional tax on telegrams.

5 reis—This was used on parcels, as well as for revenue purposes.

It would appear, therefore, that the 4 reis value is purely a telegraph stamp, unless, of course, it was permissible to use the 1 reis and 4 reis together on parcels.

No doubt the above remarks apply to the corresponding denominations of the War Tax issues for Macao and Portuguese Africa, which we chronicled on pages 55 and 56 of our current volume. —Stamp Lover.

RAROTONGA.—The Stamp Lover prints the following from a correspondent:— "I am informed that towards the end of 1918 it was found that the plates from which the Cook Islands were printed were fast becoming worn, and the question arose of procuring new plates. After considering the great expense this would mean, it was decided to have the New Zealand overprinted in a similar way as is done for the other islands (Niue, Aitutaki and Penrhyn). The reason for the word 'Raratonga' nobody seems to know, although I think it suggests more of the beauty of these tropical islands than the old name. These stamps will undoubtedly be of great value; already the threepenny has undergone a slight alteration."

SAMOA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us a copy of the 3d New Zealand, surface printed, surcharged SAMOA in blue.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS. — The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the 2c value which was mentioned some time ago as having been forwarded from London. The color is a dark dull green.

NO RIGHT TO TAP, PUNCH OR KNOCK.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

There's an ad, Nov. 15, which makes me very tired: why take a crack at Middle Europe? Is it good policy for any dealer to knock any phase of the stamp collecting game? Is he so absolutely faultless that he can build his glass house next door to a brickyard and never have to buy any shades?

If he means to insinuate that the bloomin' Colonies are sans peur et sans reproche, why not hold up, as examples equally horrible with those of Mittel Europa, all the multityped atrocties of Trinidad, the infinity of Bahamas, local and otherwise, the stellar infinity of the G.R.I.'s, and a few other pieces of philatelic sodomy that the poor collector has to stand for? Really, he makes me very tired when he talks thus: why should he endeavor to pull out any props? A lot of people like to collect new Europe and will continue to like to do so, and a lot more may leave off trying to get three kinds of perforations, two kinds of watermarks, no watermarks at all, imperfs., and K.C. roulettes, to collect this same "junk." It gives a collector of moderate means an opportunity to make a beautiful showing of stamps which are intimately connected, as stamps never were before, and let us hope never will be again in this way, with history and geography in the making.

Personally, I'd much prefer to handle first issues of Luxembourg, Netherlands, "Penny Blax," 10c, '47, and Mauritius Postoffices, but there are not enough of any of those things to go even half-way around, and when any dealer gets one of any of them, he immediately sends it to some plute client, while the pauvre poisson who has only a few shekels fusses around with a bundle of Bosnia pictures and a hatful of Ecuador triangles. It seems to me that the best thing for all of us is to say nothing about the other man's stamps as long as they are genuine and legitimate. If they are postage stamps, no one has any right to tap, punch, uppercut, or knock. Every collector has a right to spend his money as he sees fit: no dealer has a right to tell him where to head in or get off. And the hammer is not going to do any phase of the sport any good.

Which is enough from me for one shot.

AMERICAN RELIEF FUND FOR CENTRAL EUROPE

NEBRASKA BRANCH.

Several years ago we ran an advertisement in this paper soliciting donations of postage stamps for the benefit of German soldier prisoners in Japan and Liberia. The results were very gratifying. We now appeal to stamp collectors to send their duplicates or such other donations of stamps as may be possible to help the poor starving children of Central Europe. They are crying for help and in the midst of our prosperity we should help them. At this particular season of the year our hearts go out in sympathy to all who are unfortunate, and this appeal should not be made in vain. We are able to dispose of all stamps sent us at favorable terms and the work that our organization has done is our best recommendation for support.

Attend to this matter today and make your response a liberal one.

AS SEEN IN SHEBOYGAN, WIS.

By ARTHUR W. KADE.

I have just recenty moved to Sheboygan, a city of about 30,000 population, and knew no collectors here, so I ran an adv. in one of the local papers in an endeavor to meet the philatelists of the city. So far I have met five of them, one of whom is a subscriber to MEKEEL'S. I may possibly be able to get other subscribers, as we expect to organize a philatelic club.

Regarding the advance in subscription price, would state that I have often wondered why you hadn't raised long ago, in fact, I never could see how you could "break even" at 50c per year. I subscribe to a great many weekly and monthly magazines, but there isn't one of them which I look forward to receiving nor which I enjoy as much as I do MEKEEL'S. Of all the magazines I take, I glance through them and read only the parts which interest me. With the WEEKLY I read every word of the reading matter and every word of the advertisements every week. Some of the advertisers who do not change their ads very often ought to take a "tip" and change their ads often, as there are some ads I know by memory. Of course, this may be figured as an advantage by the advertiser. Possibly some advertisers consider this result as their objective, but at the same time if all advertisers ran the same ad year in and year out the result would be that we wouldn't read any of them over very often.

Some of the advertisers change their ads quite often, and I don't doubt but that they secure the best results. Then there is the advertiser who makes his ad interesting by putting in a personal touch and using some reading matter or topic of interest regarding the material he has to offer. To me the ad which contains some reading matter is considerably more interesting than the dry, strictly formal, stiff advertisement. I am not criticizing, but just giving my views after reading MEKEEL'S advertisements from cover to cover for the past six years.

I have enjoyed the humorous writings, "Whisperings and Whimperings of a Philatelic Nut," by Cotton C. Doyle, very much, as I believe humor gives the proper seasoning to any reading matter. Then, too, an occasional story relating the experiences of collecting and philatelic incidents are also very interesting. You have had some very interesting writers of philatelic fiction and non-fiction, and I believe the experiences and incidents in a great many histories of collections would prove very interesting.

Primarily a collector is supposed to collect stamps for the love of the hobby alone, but at the same time I am sure we all find it a great deal more interesting when the price of our stamps goes up, in the event that we might some day find it necessary to cash it, which I trust we all shall be fortunate enough to never have happen. It is interesting to know that some of our stamps are increasing in value, and any items obtained at stamp auctions, also notes regarding the trend of the market, also notes of the increase or decrease in value of the stamps or entire countries, prove of great interest to quite a few of your readers.

AT HOME AND ABROAD.

By PERCY C. BISHOP.

On Rotary Stamp Printing.—Mr. Stickney, the American expert on the printing of postage stamps by rotary presses, has been visiting London, and the Evening News has interviewed him on the subject of the machine with which his name is identified—the Intaglis Security machine. Mr. Stickney, by the way, received and asked for no royalties upon his invention. He turned the machine over voluntarily as a contribution to the Government.

Asked whether it was the newspaper rotary press that gave him the idea, Mr. Stickney said, "No; the principle of web presses does not apply in any sense. The idea struck me when I was seeking ways of reducing the cost of printing stamps, which was very high. Also, there was a pressing demand for coiled stamps printed and rolled in continuous strips, for use in automatic stamp affixing and stamp vending machines.

The output of stamps by the rotary machines has increased in the last four years from one million a day to seven millions. Under the old flat bed method it took from 7 to 9 days from the beginning of operations to produce the finished stamp. Now we can fill a requisition of this kind in a day."

About one-seventh of the total output of the United States stamps is now printed by the rotary machines, and films showing the new machines at work have been shown in many parts of the country. Plans are now being pushed to completion for installing additional Stickney rotary machines on which will be printed the entire output of United States postage and revenue stamps.

The rotary press has reduced the employees required in stamp-printing operations in the proportion of five to one.

"Throughout America," said Mr. Stickney, "automatic stamp affixing machines are being used very largely, and within a few years, in my opinion, they will be universal.

"It is necessary to have stamps in coils for these machines. Some of the larger mail order houses in the States have machines that automatically affix the stamps at a speed of 250 envelopes per minute."

All of which is, of course, very interesting and a great feather-in-the-cap of Mr. Stickney; but if the U. S. A. stamps now coming over are the product of the Stickney process—as presumably they are—then one may be forgiven a pious hope that the use of that process will not extend to this country. The present 1 cent U. S. A. is surely the worst-printed of all current postage stamps—and that is saying much. It is a washed-out, badly-centered daub.

The Oldest Specialist Firm.—In a chat the other day with Mr. Charles Nissen, I was reminded that he first established himself as a dealer in British Stamps as long ago as 1894. Thus, therefore, in his Silver Jubilee year.

How time flies, to be sure! The house of Charles Nissen & Co., Limited, is unique in the annals of stamp-dealing as a firm that has specialised unswervingly in the stamps of Great Britain for a quarter of a century. Mr. Nissen, of course, has had occasional deals in Colonials, and during recent years has established a department for the purchase and sale of collections, but his mainstay, his sheet anchor, has always been British stamps. I think if I owned about one per cent. of the Penny Blacks alone that have passed through his hands I could retire from active journalism tomorrow!

Twentieth vs. Nineteenth.—Do you collect nineteenth or twentieth century stamps? The question is often heard just now, partly, perhaps, on account of Mr. Charles J. Phillips' recent interesting revelations concerning the dividing-up of American philatelic business between the London and New York houses of the great Gibbons firm. Under a new agreement Stanley Gibbons, of London, will have the right to deal direct with American Philatelists in nineteenth century stamps only, while all business in twentieth century stamps will be handled by the New York house. At first glance it seems an odd arrangement, but is nevertheless quite in accordance with the modern tendency towards specialism.

For a generation or more it has been accepted as a truism among amateurs that no single philatelist can collect everything, and by the same token the trend is towards specialism among the dealers. Already one can tick off the leading London dealers and give a label to each—A. for old Europeans, B. for British, C. for Edwardian Colonials, and so forth.

Which house has the better of the argument with regard to this new Stanley Gibbons agreement, think you?—London with its nineteenth century department or New York with its twentieth century counter? I know more than one London dealer who would plump for the "twen-cents" without a moment's hesitation. The old rare stamps are a safe "proposition," but because of their safety they show, as a rule, a narrower margin of profit. When one deals in gilt-edged securities one has to be content with a relatively smaller turn on each transaction.

Philately in Periods.—The fact is, the stamp hobby is being more and more cut up into periods. The philatelist to whom a too narrow field makes no appeal, now turns his attention to general collecting for a special period only:—the reign of Queen Victoria or King Edward; the nineteenth or twentieth century; the period of the Great War or the period of the Armistice, if such a period as the last name can be exactly defined. The most recent period of all may be defined as the post war Period, and, in the programme of a friend whom I have in mind at the moment of writing, it dates from the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of eleventh month of the year 1918. He, the friend in question, is striving manfully and I believe so far successfully, to secure every variety issued throughout the world from that date onwards. Rich man though he is, some of the "alarmistice" prices he has been called upon to pay for the productions of 1918-1919 have given him a sharp twinge in the region of the pocketbook. —*Stamp Coll. ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—25c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $10.00, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

FIRST ISSUES OF JAPAN.

By CHARLES PIENS.

The first thing to be done in testing Japanese stamps of the first two issues, is to look for the two Japanese characters signifying "facsimile." They are always very minute and frequently hidden away among the design, or covered up by a faked postmark. All such stamps are, of course, forgeries pure and simple.

The stamps of the first two issues were divided in the sheet by very fine lines in the same colour as that of the stamp. If this line, or parts of it, or an indication of it, is visible on the stamp under examination, it is a very fair test of its genuineness, very few forgeries existing which show this line.

The first and second issues are usually cancelled with the well-known box cancellation, [ ] which is made of wood, and used in the coast ports in the early days of postal business in Japan. A circular cancellation on these two issues condemns a stamp at once.

An important test for all Japanese stamps is the size, all known forgeries being either too small or too large. If those excellent type plates published in Germany are not available for the purpose of measurement, carefully measure the illustrations in Gibbons' with the compass, and reject at once all specimens which differ in size.

It is frequently very difficult to decide as regards the issues under review, whether the paper is laid or wove, even in a whole sheet. In the former case the lines are often very faint and seen with difficulty; but benzine will always reveal traces of them, even in a single specimen.

From experience, I feel inclined to look favourably on a copy of the first two issues on "laid" paper, though it is by no means a reliable test.

Distrust all stamps on supposed original cover, no matter how genuine they look. As regards the first two issues, these are invariably fakes, but may deceive many, even experienced collectors.

Also distrust all Japanese stamps of the older issues offered at much under catalogue value.

Gibbons' catalogue valuation for these two issues I consider extremely moderate. In reality, the stamps are much scarcer than one would believe from the catalogue valuations, and in Japan itself frequently double Gibbons' prices are paid by Japanese collectors.

One of the greatest difficulties about these two issues is the paper. It is useless for the general collector to bother about this. Only a Chinese or Japanese paper expert would be in a position to decide its intricacies.—Stamp Collecting.

PRECANCEL NOTES.

Mr. George Thompson reports the 3c victory precancelled Los Angeles, Cal., reading up, in the current type.

A new one for me. North St. Paul, Minn., all lower-case type, but similar to U-16 on the 1c offset.

Two new revenues have been reported this week. The 2c from Troy, N. Y., in the usual block type, reading up. Also the 2c from Bay City, Mich., in U-8 type, reading down.

The 1c offset, inverted, in the three-line type from New York City is also reported.

The 3c victory from Abilene, Kans., in a type similar to U-1, reading down. It is a rubber roller.

Mr. W. H. Field reports the 3, 4, 5, and 30c in the new type of Cincinnati and also the 3c perf. 11 inverted from Huntington, West Virginia.

Mr. Frank C. Brown was in town last Sunday and spent the night with the publisher and the best item he showed me was Chicago, No. 342 double inverted, which he picked up on the west coast on this trip.

Mr. H. D. Watkins says that Atlanta, Ga., is now using the 50c, perf. 11, precancelled.

Mr. Chas. Wilson reports the 3c offset in the new Kansas City type. Mr. Black reports the 2c due, perf. 11.

The $2.00 blue, perforated 10, is now appearing precancelled San Francisco, Calif., in the current type.

Mr. Fred Allen says that he has the 3c victory Minneapolis, Minn., reading up. He also sends proof of the Grand Forks, N. D., precancelling stamp. It is U-Type 16, the usual ten-at-a-time rubber stamp.

It will no doubt be interesting to my readers to learn that Mr. Theodore M. Lincoln has purchased the collection that Dr. Newton offered for sale some time ago. I understand that Mr. Lincoln will sell everything that he cannot use in his collection.—Bushnell's Magazine.

THE COLLECTOR'S LAMENT.

By A. ATLAS LEVE.

Gosh! Have ye heard the news?
Strikes me 'tis worse 'n booze.
All our bills and funny notes!
Might as well take our goats.
Notes we've saved for many years,
Notes we'll part with—but in tears;
Bills of old Colonial days,
Printed in such funny ways;
All the bills made by Revere—
Say, 'tis a sorry thing to hear.
Wildcats that were never tamed
Busted banks, now B. B. named;
Bills our Uncle Sammy made,
Bills of every type and shade,
Long ones, short ones, on the square,
Thick and thin—some thin as hair;
Bills that tell the story grand
Of our own beloved land;
Bills with pictures of the great,
Bills from every blessed state.
Gee! It makes a feller sick
To give 'em up—take their pick
Of our treasures that for years
Were our pleasures. Why, the dears
Are to us like children gay,
Yes, to some of us, real play
To sit and sort and count 'em,
Study, search and mount 'em,
Search for errors, search for misprints,
Till we find the note that hints
Of our pockets that are emptied,
And the dealer only tempted
Us to buy and buy and then—slam!
Give 'em back to Uncle Sam!!
Good night!!!

SALVADOR 1899 "TRANSITO TERRITORIAL".

In surveying the surcharged and overprinted stamps of Salvador, one cannot help being arrested by the words "Transito Territorial," which have been applied to the 5c green of the 1898 issue. Having recently had the opportunity of examining some large blocks of the overprinted stamps, it will not be amiss to give a description of this overprint, the more so, as there does not appear to be any previous detailed record of same in philatelic papers. The words "Transito Territorial" were type-set in two lines. A complete setting consists of fifty stamps arranged in ten horizontal rows of five. It must be admitted that the type is very neat and that more than the usual amount of care has been exercised in setting it up. There are no glarring errors, and, as a result, the plating of a setting presents some difficulties.

The following few varieties, however, occur:—

No. 2.—The third "r" in "Territorial" is slanting (Gibbons 291).

Nos. 13 and 49.—A short figure "1" surmounted by a dot does duty for "i" in "Transito".

No. 14.—A small rather crude "r" in "Transito."

No. 27.—The "a" of "Territorial" has an open top (in all others the ball of the "a" practically touches the body of the "a").

No. 34.—A short figure "1" surmounted by a dot does duty for "i" in "Territorial."

Nos. 38, 42 and 49.—The serifs at head of the capital "T" of "Transito" are not vertical, but are spread outwards.

There are a few other very minute variations, such as broken letters &c., which are not constant and are therefore omitted.

The overprint was applied vertically, reading either upwards or downwards, to a block of fifty stamps—i. e. five horizontal rows of ten stamps. The usual colour of the overprint was black, but it also exists in red, violet, purple, yellow, or black and yellow.

At various times other values of the 1898 set, such as the 1, 2, 3, 10, 12, and 13 centavos, have been recorded in philatelic journals as having been issued with the "Transito Territorial" overprint. There being, however, no proof to substantiate their official existence, they have been quite rightly excluded from all standard catalogues. The raison d'être of the 5c with overprint can briefly be stated as follows:—A new route for letter mails to the U.S.A. and Europe was inaugurated from Salvador overland via Zacapa in Guatemala to Puerto Barrios. This shortened the time of transit by several days, but on the other hand enhanced the costs of transmission to such an extent that the Government, on February 22nd, 1899, issued a decree authorizing the Postmaster-General to levy a supertax of 5c in addition to the ordinary postage on every letter of 15 grammes, which was sent by the new overland route in order to cover the expenses of the innovation. The Postmaster-General thereupon notified the public to this effect on April 6th, 1899, and the order came into force on that day. A translation of both the above orders will be found in "Der Philatelist," October, 1901, page 277.

This arrangement did not, however, last very long, as the Universal Postal Union stepped in and vetoed the practice as being against the provisions of the regulations agreed upon by members of that body. The overprinted 5c stamp therefore only had a very short life, and is, consequently, always a difficult stamp to obtain owing to the small number used and prepared for use. The catalogue price of 3s unused appears on the face of it absurdly low. In Yvert's catalogue this stamp is priced at 20 francs.—Griebert's Phil. Notes and Offers.

THE ORDER OF PHILATELIC MERIT.

In the north transept of St. Paul's Cathedral there is a famous inscription: "Lector, si monumentum requiris circumspice." Now, as of Wren, no monument has hitherto been needed to testify to the greatness of the leading lights of the philatelic cult. Their researches, their constructive and deductive investigations, their synthetic and analytical studies, have placed philately on a pinnacle, and we philatelists of today profit by the pioneer spadework of a bygone generation. "By their works we have come to know them," and their names are a household word.

It may, then, be considered that such virtue is its own reward. On the other hand, we have often overheard the remark that there ought to be some international means of honouring all the distinguished disciples of the stamp album. At present there is no such distinction available. Therefore an influential body of enthusiasts, backed by Stamp Collecting, have decided to institute one.

The proposal to establish a philatelic ORDER OF MERIT was introduced by Mr. Percy C. Bishop at the meeting of the London Stamp Club, held on Thursday, October 30th, when we were bid remember that there ought to be some way of rewarding and paying honour to those who had so ceaselessly worked for the advancement of our hobby—who had worked without thought of fee or reward, and often at great self-sacrifice. There was, of course, the Lindenberg Medal, which before the war was given by our late arch-enemies, and also occasional medals, given to societies for best papers, &c., but there should undoubtedly be some world-wide recognition for those whose research had helped to place, and was keeping, philately on the high pedestal it occupies today.

Unlike the British Order of Merit, which, instituted on June 26th, 1902, is composed of two classes—civil and military—it seems to us that there should not be any such division in philately, but that a very limited number of Orders should be awarded, to collector and dealer alike, purely in recognition of sterling services rendered to the Royal Hobby and its devotees.

It is, of course, obvious that some of the awards will have to be retrospective, for we cannot ignore the glorious past, though it is not the intention to advocate any posthumous holders of the Order.

It is not intended that the ORDER OF PHILATELIC MERIT shall compete with any existing philatelic distinction, for it has a much wider application than any award yet devised to honour individual philatelists, and it should also be understood that there are no expenses or fees attached to the new Order.

A Council has been formed of distinguished philatelists, and we hope to be able to make a definite announcement as to their deliberations in the near future.—Stamp Collecting.
